PARENTS LEAGUE MEETING TONIGHT

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Parents League of Virginia Beach High School will hold its final meeting tonight at 8 o'clock. The meeting will feature two speakers from the school, Mrs. Dorothy Kerns of the English Department, and Carlton Boyer, head of the Athletic Department.

Boyer will assume new duties as administrative assistant to James M. Helmer, Principal, for the year 1964-65. In this position, Boyer will meet the challenging and difficult problem of student discipline with a program of guidance, training and direction.

One of the most important reports to be given during the evening, will be on the need of a Junior High school for this area which will be decided at the time of the next bond issue. The Parents League of Virginia Beach High School requests that parents make known their wishes on this matter. Unless adequate study is made or views expressed concerning the need, those interested and concerned with education will find themselves handicapped at the moment of decision. To quote the U.S. Commissioner of Education "The making of educational policy is not a spectator sport."

BIKE SALE BRINGS MANY INQUIRIES

VIRGINIA BEACH — Since the City Council voted to allow the director of public safety to sell unclaimed property held by the police, over a hundred people have clamored about getting a bicycle. Only about 25 to 28 bikes will be available for sale.

While some of the bikes are junk, there are several very nice ones waiting for lucky youngsters. All property in this sale must have been held by the police for a period of six months. Each item is checked against lists of stolen property and will be displayed near the court house before sale to give every possible chance to the rightful owners to reclaim.

Safety Chief Reeves Johnson said the police are now compiling inventory lists of the goods. These lists will be ready Monday, and will be published on two consecutive weeks in the Sun-News.

After due advertisements, the sale will take place during the last week of June. Claims of ownership must be made during this advertisement period or the items would be subject to sale, Johnson said.

Shown are only part of the unclaimed bikes stored in the police garage. Some of these will be offered for sale this month. (Staff photo by Hardy)

The parent of every student is asked to evaluate and judge the schooling in this area and make known his wishes.

A report to the fiscal minded parent on an organized "used book sale" so that the economy of the home is not disrupted at the beginning of the school year will be presented. The budget of the Virginia Beach High School band will be discussed by D. W. Bailey and ways and means to assist the band in the coming year.

Members of the Parents League state that the purpose of the league is to assist the school in its growth.

Beach Doctor Is New Heart Group Prexy

VIRGINIA BEACH — Dr. Robert J. Robertson, Virginia Beach Cardiologist, is the new president of Tidewater Heart Association, succeeding Dr. Bernard H. Miller of Norfolk.

The installation took place at the Twelfth Annual Meeting Thursday, May 28, at the Golden Triangle Motor Hotel.

William Campbell, vice president, announced that a new total of $88,000 for the 1964 drive is an increase of $31,000 over the last year. Yet to be included in the total is the Heart Association's share in the United Health Agency Campaign on Federal Installations.

Taking office with Dr. Robertson were William M. Campbell of Virginia Beach, first vice president; William P. Kellam, Virginia Beach, second vice president; Robert G. Appenzeller of Portsmouth; treasurer, and Steven D. Carnes, Jr. of Suffolk, secretary.

New members on the board include George E. Abbott, Jr., Virginia Beach; Dr. Ben L. Crittizer, Portsmouth; C. Emmette Adams, III, Portsmouth; George P. Leigh, Jr., Virginia Beach; Judge L. Travis Branch, Virginia Beach; Keith Hamilton, Portsmouth; Antonio B. Niemeyer, Jr., Chesapeake; Guy R. Beale, Jr., Norfolk; M. E. Floyd, Jr., Suffolk; Dr. Eugene Poutasse, Norfolk and Captain R. J. Pearson, USN, Portsmouth.

Special guest speaker was Dr. Robert F. Bondurant, president of the Virginia Heart Association. Certificates of appreciation were awarded to Key Chairmen of the Heart Fund Campaign.

Letter Carriers Praised For Safe Driving

This group of letter carriers, members of Virginia Beach Branch 2819 National Association of Letter Carriers, were praised for their work Thursday night during Safe Driving Award ceremonies at the Sea Horse Club at Oceana with R. E. Paden as master of ceremonies. City Manager W. Russell Hatchett lauded the local post office group for a "job well done, in light of the numerous street and number changes made after the merger." Virginia Beach Postmaster J. T. Crosswhite Jr. extended his appreciation for the assistance the carriers had given him during the merger transition. Speakers from the Post Office Dept. in Washington were W. G. Milstead, E. C. Kraft and A. E. Newton. Newton presented the awards. The group pictured here represents over 200 years of safe driving hours.

Plaque Honors Dead Workers On Bay Span

BAYSIDE — A plaque honoring the men who lost their lives building the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel will be unveiled in a ceremony in the parking lot adjacent to the south toll plaza of the recently opened bay crossing on June 17 at 2:30 p.m. Following the ceremony, the plaque will be permanently erected on the north wall of the ventilation building on South Thimble Shoal Island.

S. E. Liles, Jr., president of Tidewater Construction Corporation and chairman of the executive committee for the joint venture contractors who built the bridge-tunnel, announced that the plaque will be erected by the contractors with the cooperation of the Bridge-Tunnel Commission and the Norfolk Building and Construction Trades Council.

Six men were killed on the project while it was under construction. They were Donald P. Cartwright, Johnnie Davis, Hubert B. Dycus, John A. Federowicz, Will A. Sawyer, Jr. and James A. Werner.

In addition to members of the deceased men's families, those who will be present include representatives of the companies for whom they worked, Bridge-Tunnel Commission members and business representatives of the building trades unions.

Jet Practice Hours Increase

OCEANA — The Navy's Pentress Field in Virginia Beach which is used by jet pilots for daylight and night carrier landing practice will increase its hours of operation during the next few weeks.

The Navy gives two reasons for this: The fewer hours of darkness available during the summer for night carrier landing practice and a training program underway at Naval Air Station Oceana that requires even greater use of the facility than normal.

Pentress Field is operated and maintained by U.S. Naval Air Station Oceana for use by the operating aircraft squadrons of the Atlantic Fleet while they are stationed at a NAS Oceana, and NAS Norfolk.

Newnam Will Participate In Safety Forum

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Gaither T. Newnam of Virginia Beach, Director of Insurance & Safety of Smith-Douglass Company, Incorporated has been invited to take part in the ninth biennial President's Conference on Occupational Safety in Washington June 23-25.

The meeting, to be opened by President Lyndon B. Johnson, will bring together leaders of all segments of the economy from all parts of the Nation, to consider ways to reduce the toll of occupational accidents.

The conference theme is "Mobilizing Leadership for a Safety Breakthrough." It recognizes that the Nation's job safety efforts have reached an apparent plateau. Overall accident rates have remained close to the present level in recent years. In 3 plenary sessions and 13 workshops, the participants will try to devise new techniques, and new applications of tested procedures, to start accident rates again on their long-time downward trend.

National Mag. Features This Resort City

VIRGINIA BEACH — This resort city has once again been spotlighted in "Ford Times," the national travel publication put out by the Ford Motor Company.

Well-known writer Pete Martin discusses Virginia Beach in an article entitled "Virginia Holiday" in the April issue of the magazine. A painting of the surf at Virginia Beach by Peter Rex Denby is featured inside the back cover.

Martin writes of his visit: "From Yorktown I headed for Virginia Beach, remembering vividly when the old wooden Princess Anne Hotel was still the 'grande dame' there, although even then the Cavalier, with its impressive brick walls, golf course, riding trails and open-air beach club, was beginning to overshadow the fading grandeur of the Princess Anne."

"But the Virginia Beach that officially opens its 1964 season in May has changed. Where the rambling wooden boarding houses called 'cottages' once stood, luxury motels, motor courts and motor inns are being stitched to the beach. In fact, the community recently merged with 272-year-old Princess Anne County, to become (in area) the ninth largest city in the United States, hence the present title: 'Largest resort in the world.'"

The Virginia Beach Boardwalk Art Show was featured in the same magazine last June.

They will hear President Johnson re-state his continuing interest in the problem, and new insights into its various phases from scientists and leaders of business, labor, and education.

W. Willard Wirtz, Secretary of Labor, is general chairman of the Conference. Reed O. Hunt, chairman of the board of Crown-Zellerbach Corporation, is executive director. More than 100 volunteer leaders of business, labor, government, and other fields are engaged in planning the many sessions involved.

Women Voters Hear Report On Meeting

VIRGINIA BEACH — A report on the national convention of the League of Women Voters was presented Wednesday by Mrs. Ephraim Spivek and Mrs. Robert Nusbauer to a general meeting of the League of Women Voters of Norfolk-Virginia Beach at a luncheon at the Cavalier Hotel.

A tape of Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz's speech and President Johnson's surprise speech to the convention was played.

Wirtz stated that fifth of a ground roots level would be necessary to effect a solution to the problems facing the world today and that the women were particularly well-suited to carry out the legislative measures of this level.

President Johnson, who had requested that he be allowed to speak at the convention at the beginning of his Appalachian trip, stressed the fact that he hoped women would take more part in higher government offices, though he didn't mean for them to go to the extreme of Margaret Chase Smith.

He announced that he would declare a week for women voters Sept. 13.

About 45 Norfolk and Virginia Beach women attended Wednesday's meeting.

The League now has a new study item: "Human Resources." Continuing topics include: United Nations, Foreign policy, and Water Resources.

W. Willard Wirtz, Secretary of Labor, is general chairman of the Conference. Reed O. Hunt, chairman of the board of Crown-Zellerbach Corporation, is executive director. More than 100 volunteer leaders of business, labor, government, and other fields are engaged in planning the many sessions involved.

Beach K of C Wins Awards At State Meet

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Knights of Columbus State Convention representing 6000 members in Virginia, which was held in Arlington on May 22, 23, and 24, awarded Virginia Beach Council Knights of Columbus No. 4692 four of the top six awards given.

The local council was judged the outstanding one in the entire state by the Supreme Council of New Haven, Connecticut on the basis of percentage increase in membership over suspensions during the year. In addition, the Star Council award was given on the basis of performing certain goals in Fraternal, Council, Catholic, Youth, Membership, and Publicity Activities. Other awards were for insurance and membership increases.

Postmaster General John Gronuski was the featured speaker at the Awards Banquet on Saturday, May 23. Other speakers included Bishop John Russell of Richmond and Supreme Secretary D. F. Sullivan of New Haven, Connecticut.

Members and their wives attended a special wreath laying ceremony at the grave of John F. Kennedy, which featured an honor guard of Fourth Degree Knights. A private tour of the White House and the Catholic Shrine of the Immaculate Conception were also given.

Delegates from Virginia Beach that attended were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph DeMarco, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Terver, and Mr. and Mrs. Hal Cuskey. Terver is currently Grand Knight of the local council, which boasts a membership of 175.

BEACH MEN ARE NAVAL ENSIGNS

NEWPORT, R.I. — Two Virginia Beach men were commissioned Navy Ensigns recently upon graduation from Naval Officer Candidate School at the Naval Station, Newport, R.I.

They were Lawrence W. Flood, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Flood, 1404 DelRay Court, and Richard G. Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Rice, 406 Southside Road.

TRAVEL CONFERENCE TO STRESS TOURIST INFO, HOSPITALITY

VIRGINIA BEACH — A 2-day travel conference, geared to help local residents assist visitors to Virginia by stressing hospitality and travel attraction information, will be held at Virginia Beach High School June 11-12 at 9:30 a.m.

Registration for the conference may be made through George L. Coffey, Distributive Education supervisor, at 428-2272.

The idea for disseminating this information through local training sessions under the supervision of local Distributive Education supervisors was a result of the Governor's Travel Conference held last fall. The Virginia Travel Council and the State Department of Education are cooperating in this endeavor.

The conference set for this area will be aimed primarily to local hotel and motel, retailing, restaurant, service station, police department and other personnel who have frequent contact with the visitor to Virginia.

George L. Coffey, DE Supervisor, and Roy LaMere, chairman of the local travel conference have worked with an advisory board of business civic leaders and the Chamber of Commerce to set speakers and program material for Virginia Beach. In addition to practical information about location and history of travel attraction, the sessions here will include helpful hints on courtesy, service and hospitality.

One of some 50 travel conferences being held in communities throughout the Old Dominion this spring, the local program follows the urging of Governor Albertis S. Harrison, Jr. to Virginia employers in the travel trade and related service industries. Harrison said: "During the coming year Virginia will be host to millions of visitors from other states. Many will be enroute to the New York World's Fair and others to such destinations as Florida and Canada."

"These people will form their opinion of Virginia from the people they meet and the friendly courtesy of their reception. A great many of them might be influenced to stay another day or so in Virginia, if those who greet them are familiar with the State's attractions and encourage the visitors to see them."

"...If all of our visitors stopped only an extra day in Virginia, it would mean more than $200 million to Virginia."

The governor asked that employers see that their personnel have the opportunity to attend area Travel Conferences set for their areas.

In cooperation with the Governor's request, Thomas G. McCaskey has been named to serve as State Chairman for the meetings and has appointed a statewide committee of 26 persons to assist the local planning committees.

In addition, twelve state trade associations have agreed to co-sponsor area programs. These are: Automobile Club of Virginia, Automotive Trade Association of Virginia, Virginia Department of Conservation and Economic Development, Virginia Hotel and Motel Association, Inc., Virginia Motel Association, Virginia Petroleum Jobber Association, Virginia Pharmaceutical Association, Virginia Restaurant Association, Virginia Retail Council, Virginia Retail Hardware Association, Virginia Retail Merchants Association and Virginia State Chamber of Commerce.

Thirty leaders in the field of travel and business have been organized to form a State Travel Panel. Members of this panel are available as top level speakers for the morning session of local conferences. Speakers for Virginia Beach will be announced at a later date.

LAW STUDENTS TO AID CITY POLICE

VIRGINIA BEACH — City police again this year will be among the most highly educated in the United States. The force has already accepted 30 law students for summer employment.

Each year law schools are visited on a number of campuses and students are given the opportunity of serving as police during the crowded tourist season.

In the past, some of these law students have become heavily interested in police work.

HAWAIIAN PAGEANT AT FRIENDS SCHOOL

VIRGINIA BEACH — Virginia Beach Friends School presented a pageant, Aloha Hawaii, on the lawn at the school for parents and friends, Tuesday afternoon at 4:50.

Mary Hunt, a special Indian student, was the Queen and Robert Brooks, Seventh Grader, was the King.

Afterwards everyone enjoyed supper on the grounds.

Thalia Garden Club Observes 9th Anniversary

THALIA — The Thalia Garden Club members celebrated its ninth anniversary recently at the Holiday Inn Motel. Mrs. H. O. Freeman gave the invocation after which lunch was served. Guests were welcomed by the president, Mrs. E. K. Eakes.

Mrs. June Black presented the program, "The Basic Dress". She stressed the use of silk linen material and the combination of black and white for day-time look, which is always conventional. She said "There is never a time when pearls are incorrect and color is your most inexpensive accessory."

The Club Historian, Mrs. A. T. Castleman read the club's history for the past year.

Mrs. J. L. Craig, Exhibit Chairman, awarded the following gifts.

Mrs. N. P. Amato—most blue ribbons in arrangement classes.

Mrs. Eakes—second in arrangement classes.

Mrs. Graydon Early—most blue ribbons in horticulture classes.

Mrs. Freeman, second in horticulture class.

Mrs. Percy H. Carroll, past president of Garden Clubs of Norfolk and vicinity, Inc., installed the following new officers:

Mrs. J. D. Matthews, president; Mrs. J. W. Fowler, 1st Vice-president; Mrs. H. W. Niles, second vice president; Mrs. H. N. Gladden, recording secretary; Mrs. E. K. Land, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. W. C. Moore, treasurer.

Mrs. Amato, luncheon chairman, presented a gift to the outgoing president, Mrs. Eakes, from the club.

Mrs. Early and Mrs. Matthews will be delegates to the annual meeting and luncheon of the Federation of Garden Clubs of Norfolk and vicinity, Inc., to be held at the Lafayette Country Club on June 4.

Mrs. H. O. Freeman was in charge of table arrangements assisted by her committee, Mrs. R. S. White, Mrs. Matthews, Mrs. M. M. Bateman, Mrs. C. H. Buegard and Mrs. Fowler.

The Table Arrangements were awarded as door prizes and favors given to the members were very attractive artificial birds sitting on branches that were decorated with greens.

KEMPSVILLE CLUB INSTALLS NEW OFFICERS

KEMPSVILLE — The Kempsville Garden Club held its annual banquet and installation of officers on May 25th at the Pine Tree Inn.

Mrs. Francis S. Blanchard installed the following officers: Mrs. Warren Shaffer, president; Mrs. Calvin Lilley, 1st vice pres.; Mrs. W. A. Stallings, 2nd vice pres.; Mrs. John W. Moore, recording secretary; Mrs. Andrew Johnson, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. R. A. Pollack, Treasurer.

The theme for the evening was hats and the centerpiece was a hat made of styrofoam and covered in carnations leaves with yellow gladioli, red roses and purple statice. The hospitality committee had made the programs in the form of miniature hats.

Judges from the Thalia Garden Club awarded the gold ribbon for the best hat to Mrs. C. A. Bamforth and the gold ribbon for the funniest hat to Mrs. J. W. Moore.

Blue ribbons for decorated hats were awarded to Mrs. Wesley Hardison, Mrs. Beulah Humphries, Mrs. Andrew Johnson, Mrs. W. A. Stallings and Miss Ann Purdy.

The awards for the year were announced by Mrs. Calvin Lilley and she presented the following winners with gifts from the club: Horticulture sweepstakes, Miss Ann Purdy; Arrangement sweepstakes, Mrs. W. A. Stallings; and Novice, Mrs. Leona Ayldette.

Simmons Among Hershey Seniors

HERSHEY, Pa. — William Simmons, nephew of Mrs. Beatie Hale, 7424 Carnation Avenue, Virginia Beach, Virginia, will be graduated from Milton Hershey School, Hershey, Pa., on June 1.

Bill, who is 18, entered the private all-boy school in the 8th grade. Prior to that time he attended Blair Junior High School in Norfolk, Va. He has taken the Vocational curriculum, specializing in Plumbing and Heating, and, although definite post-graduation arrangements have not been completed, plans to work for a plumbing contractor and go to a Technical School in the fall.

At Milton Hershey School he was on the Football, Basketball and Track teams, winning his varsity letter in each sport.

Mrs. Hale will attend the Commencement Exercises, which will be held in the Hershey Community Theatre.

Speaker for the occasion will be The Honorable Eugene M. Zuckert, Secretary of the Air Force.

PEACE CORPS TESTS JUNE 13

NORFOLK — The Peace Corps has announced that the next nationwide Peace Corps Placement Test is to be given on Saturday, June 13. It will be administered by the U.S. Civil Service Commission in the Norfolk Post Office at 8:30 a.m.

Plans are being made to train some 1,200 men and women beginning this September and October. Applicants who desire to get into one of these fall training programs should take the June 13 test, the Peace Corps said.

Training takes place at various American colleges and universities, on contract with the Peace Corps, and is generally of about three months duration.

No one is invited to training, however, until he has first sent in a completed Questionnaire and taken the Placement Test. Applicants may obtain Questionnaire forms at most post offices, from college Peace Corps liaison officers, or by writing directly to the Peace Corps, Washington, D.C. 20525. If the completed Questionnaire has not already been mailed to Washington, applicants must submit them to the examiner at the time of the test.

The non-competitive Placement Test, which includes a general aptitude test, takes about one and a half hours to complete. Knowledge of a foreign language is not required, but applicants with a knowledge of Spanish or French should take an additional one hour language achievement test.

There are no passing or failing marks to this Test, and no scores are given the applicants. The results are used, along with the character references and Questionnaires, to determine an applicant's overall qualifications and most appropriate type of overseas assignment.

All applicants to the Peace Corps must be American citizens at least 18 years of age. Married couples may apply if they have no dependents under 18. A college degree is not required.

Those who cannot take the June 13 test should know that subsequent examinations are scheduled for August 8, and for the second Saturday of every month throughout next autumn.

Peace Corps Volunteers are working at hundreds of different kinds of jobs overseas, and applicants who have a desire to serve in the Peace Corps should not rule themselves out because they are not highly skilled specialists.

CAVALIERS TO TEST STATE'S GOLFERS

VIRGINIA BEACH — When Virginia Golfers play the Cavalier Golf and Yacht Club course in the June 25-28 State Open, they'll be testing a course that has a reputation for records.

Some of the past greats of golf have played the Cavalier, and some of the game's most spectacular records have been set there.

In 1955, for a starter, Wally Ulich breezed around the Cavalier's 6,065 yards in 60 strokes, tying the PGA's existing 18-hole record at that time.

Doug Ford, a relatively unknown pro on the PGA circuit in 1953, fired a 54-hole total of 196 en route to victory in the Virginia Beach Open that year.

Dick Metz shot a 61 at the Cavalier in 1953 only to lose out to Ford in the final round.

In the 1948 Cavalier Specialist tournament, in which the U.S. Ryder Cup team competed, Lew Worsham won the 54-hole event with a total of 198. This stood as the three-round record until Ford recorded his 196 five years later.

Bobby Locke, the old master putter from South Africa, won the 1949 Special tournament with a 202 total.

Perhaps the classic of all the Cavalier records is the 72-hole 260 which won the 1955 Virginia Beach Open for Chandler Harper.

Harper, who has won the State Open six times and will be seeking a record seventh title this time, formerly held the PGA record for 54 holes . . . three straight 63s in the Texas Open for 198.

His 260 at the Cavalier in 1955, when he beat out Ed Furgol for first money in the $10,000 VBO, was six strokes under the present State Open record 266, set by the late George Payton of Hampton, Virginia, at the Cavalier in 1947.

Lou Shue, the Cavalier club professional, says Payton's 17-year old record seems in jeopardy in this year's State Open. "The course has been improved and it plays faster now. It will measure about 6,100 yards, shorter than most courses today. It is, however, a tight course with some tricky dog-legging fairways and a couple of tough par three holes."

The 18th hole is regarded as one of the best par threes in the land. It is a 200-yard par three with trees on the right of the fairway and Linkhorn Bay on the left. The green juts well out into the Bay.

It was on the 18th hole in the 1954 Virginia Beach Open that Doug Ford, Tommy Bolt and Shelley Mayfield, each in the lead at the moment he teed off on the 72nd hole, hit into the bay and left the door open for Pete Cooper to win the tournament with a finishing par.

Sam Snead, Lew Worsham and Jimmy Demaret once pulled off a "triple eagle" at the Cavalier's sixth hole, a left dogleg par five measuring only 450 yards. These three pros fired three straight eagles on No. 6 playing in the same threesome.

The ladies left their mark also at the Cavalier. In the 1956 Round-Robin, Kathy Cornelius holed out a No. 4 iron second shot for the only eagle recorded in competition on the Cavalier's first hole, a 390-yard par four.

The course was built in 1930 and is approaching its 34th birthday. The State Open, on the other hand, will be celebrating its 40th birthday when it returns to the Cavalier Course.

Jaycee Junior Golf June 15

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce Local Junior Golf Tournament will be held June 15th at the Cavalier Yacht and Country Club. The dates that appeared in the Sun-News, May 26, were incorrect.

Among those entered are members of the golf teams of the following high schools: Cox, Virginia Beach, Kellam, and Princess Anne.

The 36-hole, medal play will be open to all boys who haven't reached their 18th birthday by Aug. 15. Trophies will be awarded to the winner and runner-up and to the winner and runner-up in the age 12 and under group.

Entry blanks are available at local golf pro shops. There is no entry fee.

The top four golfers in the local tourney will qualify for the Virginia State Junior Chamber of Commerce Junior Golf Tournament to be held in Danville on July 20, 21, and 22.

Local Jaycee Golf Chairman is Bob Johnson.

FISH SURVEY IS EXPECTED IN JULY

VIRGINIA BEACH — The recently completed Fish & Wildlife Survey of the area is expected to be released in July. It's hoped that the study will shed light on the relationship between the percentage of salt water and the amount of wild life.

Besides being of help in correcting the decreasing wild life population of Back Bay, the study should be of great interest to planners of the proposed drainage canals.

SIMPLE PIT

Outdoor fun need not be expensive. Build a deep barbecue pit in the back yard with a brick collar, way from the pit, erect a sturdy bench big enough for 30 people. Use Douglas fir 1x4 inch strips on edge set slightly apart to form an interesting pattern for the bench seat, with heavier 4x4s for legs and framing.

Radar Might Be Helpful In Curbing Speed On City Streets

A letter this week from a visitor to Virginia Beach is worthy of attention by the traffic safety division of the Virginia Beach Police Department. The writer complains of speeding motorists on Pacific avenue.

We must agree that, at times, Pacific avenue looks like a "drag strip" rather than a major street in a busy, crowded city. It is always easy to point the finger of guilt at the young driver, but the condition the writer refers to is definitely a problem among teenage drivers. The wide street with its median strip invites speed among all drivers, but particularly among the youthful racers. This is a contributing factor in the problem but it does not mean that the practice should be condoned.

What is the answer? It has been suggested that at various points radar detection could be installed. At the present time traffic signal lights are located at three intersections on Pacific avenue. It may be that more traffic lights are needed to slow the flow of traffic.

The problem of speeding on city streets can only get worse through the summer months and we know that the traffic safety officials are aware of the problem. We trust that some steps might be taken to lessen the danger to the many pedestrians on our streets.

Radar control points, traffic lights or more patrol cars through the city might be the answer.

Socialism Defeated

The recent election in Saskatchewan, Canada, was a significant one. It resulted in a victory for the Liberal Party. And, in the words of an Associated Press news report, it also resulted in the "ouster of the only Socialist regime on the North American continent."

The defeated socialist government had imposed compulsory medical insurance, along with a government hospital plan, and this was one of the major issues at stake in the election. The voters turned this down, as well as the other socialist policies the government espoused. And this fact should certainly give pause to the American advocates of Medicare—which amounts to compulsory medical insurance for the entire segment of the population which is drawing social security payments. All of these people would have to accept it, and all the rest of us would have to help pay the bill through increased social security taxes.

The truth is that the financial situation of people in the 65-and-over bracket has been vastly misrepresented. Factually surveys show that most of them are much better off than the Medicare advocates claim. For the less fortunate, there are all manner of welfare plans designed to take care of their needs—medical and other. And the organized medical profession is pledged to provide services for all, regardless of ability to pay.

Compulsory medical care insurance—by any name—is a threat to free medicine. It is a threat to the great and constant progress that only free medicine can provide. That was what the Saskatchewan voters felt, and they acted accordingly. And it's a safe bet that, given the chance, American voters would do precisely the same thing.

John Capps Is Among Seniors At N.C. School

JOHN T. CAPPS II

VIRGINIA BEACH — John Thomas Capps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt W. Capps 1417 Crystal Parkway, Virginia Beach, received his Bachelor of Science Degree in Business Administration from Atlantic Christian College, Wilson, N.C. May 24. Mr. Capps is the grandson and namesake of the late John T. Capps of Princess Anne County.

Mr. Capps attended elementary schools in Birmingham, Michigan and Cleveland, Ohio. He graduated from Randolph-Macon Military Academy, Front Royal, Virginia, and Chowan College, Murfreesboro, N.C., prior to receiving his degree last Sunday.

Mr. Capps worked one summer at The Gay Vacationer and four summers at The Thunderbird Motor Lodge and will pursue his career in the Hotel-Motel field. Subsequent to June 1, he, his wife, Melinda, and daughter, Monet, will reside in Richmond, where he will become affiliated with Richmond Hotels, Inc.

Tony Charroli, choreographer of "The Danny Kaye Show," holds an Emmy award for his "Your Hit Parade" dance creations over a five-year span.

VNB ENGAGES REALTY FIRM

NORFOLK — The firm of Goodman-Segar-Hogan, Inc., of Norfolk has been appointed renting agent for the new headquarters building of Virginia National Bank, which is projected for completion in 1967. This announcement was made today by R. Coby Moore, VNB chairman.

Plans for the new structure, to be built on land in the redeveloped area of downtown Norfolk extending along the south side of Main Street across from the bank's present location, were unveiled last month. This area lies between Atlantic Street on the west and current redevelopment projects on the east.

According to the architectural plans prepared by Skidmore, Owings, and Merrill of New York, and Williams and Tazewell of Norfolk, the new headquarters is planned to be the equivalent of 23 stories with 365,000 square feet of space. It is estimated the bank will occupy one-third of that space. There will be 18 rentable floors above a projected main banking floor with approximately 12,000 net square feet of rentable space per floor. Diagrams of typical floor plans of rentable space are currently being shown by Goodman-Segar-Hogan.

BEACH STUDENT GETS TOP HONOR

MURFREESBORO, N.C. — Patricia Ann Etheridge of Virginia Beach has been awarded Chowan College's Highest Scholastic Average for One-Year Business Student.

After the award, came the dedication and presentation of the annual "The Chowanoka."

Susie Harpold, of Virginia Beach, editor for the annual, escorted the recipient to the platform.

FIRING PERIOD SET FOR CAMP PENDLETON

CAMP PENDLETON — This headquarters will conduct weapons firing at the State Military Reservation, Camp Pendleton, Virginia. To be fired are .30 caliber rifles, 3.5 inch rockets, and .50 caliber machine guns. Schedule of firing are as follows, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday 27 June 1964 and 8 a.m. to 12 p.m. 28 June 1964.

The danger zone is that area of the Atlantic Ocean off Camp Pendleton described as follows:

"All of the water area seaward of the main high water shore line within a sector between the radial lines extending 8,000 yards and bearing 55° true and 158° true, respectively, from a point on shore at Latitude 36° 49' 09" N, Longitude 75° 48' 45" W.

The following regulations will be in effect:

a. Firing shall be suspended as long as any vessel is within the danger zone. To this end, lookouts shall remain posted at all times during firing periods. Vessels may transit the area, but may not remain therein except in case of emergency.

b. No firing shall be done during hours of darkness or low visibility.

c. When firing is in progress, red flags shall be displayed at conspicuous locations along the beach.

It is requested that the foregoing information be published in local papers as NOTICE TO MARINERS by appropriate addresses before the first day of firing. Your cooperation in this public notice will be greatly appreciated.

Alcohol Group Meets Thursday

NORFOLK — The Norfolk Council on Alcoholism announces its Fourth Annual Dinner Meeting on Thursday, June 4, at 6:30 p.m., in the Terrace Room, Commodore Maury Hotel, Norfolk.

The theme for this year's dinner meeting will be "Community Action on Alcoholism," and the program will include the following addresses with regard to the theme, namely: "The Goals of the Norfolk Council on Alcoholism," "The Clergyman Confronts the Alcoholic," "The Medical Aspects of Alcoholism," and "Alcoholism, The Disease and A.A.'s Treatment."

Participating on the program for the evening will be Captain G. A. Wright, ChC, USN, District Chaplain who will act as Master of Ceremonies, and make presentation of awards; Mr. W. Farley Powers, Vice-President of the Norfolk Council on Alcoholism; Cdr. E. H. Rickel, ChC, USN; Dr. Bernard H. Miller, Medical Director of the Division of Alcohol Studies & Rehabilitation, and Rev. Leon E. Whitley.

The Norfolk Council on Alcoholism is a voluntary health agency, a member agency of the United Communities' Fund of the Tidewater area, and an affiliate of the National Council on Alcoholism. The Council provides the community with consultation and referral services to alcoholics, their families, friends, and employers. It seeks to inform the public about alcoholism and current methods of handling the problem; stimulate concern among community leaders, and serve as a resource for social agencies, professional groups, and others.

The Annual Dinner meeting planned by the Norfolk Council on Alcoholism will inform the gathering that alcoholism is a progressive illness which results when drinking causes a continuing problem in various aspects of a person's life. The alcoholic is one whose excessive drinking creates serious problems in his daily functional activities. His work, family life, alcoholics are found in all walks of life, and the average alcoholic is a family man, has a home, is employed, and often has superior intelligence and exceptional skills.

What can the community do for the alcoholic? It can create the climate and opportunity for his rehabilitation; by the sustaining of existing clinics, by fostering understanding among fellow-workers and friends of his, and by supporting educational and informational programs sponsored by the Norfolk Council on Alcoholism.

The Norfolk Council on Alcoholism promises an interesting and challenging program at its Annual Meeting, and reservations for the event can be obtained by calling the office, 627-8298, by June 2. Tickets which include the dinner meal the $3.00 per person.

TELEPHONE IS BIG BUSINESS FIGURES SHOW

VIRGINIA BEACH — L. F. Patrick, local manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia, said that the Western Electric Company, manufacturing arm of the Bell System, spent over $2.1 billion in 1963 for purchases, payroll and major construction. Of this total amount, almost $17.5-million was spent in Virginia representing a substantial contribution to the state's economy. Over $8.7-million was paid to supplier of products and carriers and a little over $8.7 million was used to meet Western Electric's payroll in the State. Western Electric also has a large distribution center at Arlington to supply the C & P companies with materials.

The C & P manager said that the purchases were made from 309 suppliers in 58 towns and cities throughout the Commonwealth. The products bought by Western ranged from small paper clips and file cabinets to large telephone poles.

In all, Western Electric, during 1963, did business with some 42,615 suppliers and carriers in some 3,749 towns and cities in the 50 states of the union. In the same period, Western Electric did business with some 184 firms in 19 foreign countries and territories.

COAST GUARD LOSES RELIC

VIRGINIA BEACH—Found a cannon lately? The U.S. Coast Guard Station on Atlantic Ave. is missing its historic life-saving gun from the front lawn.

Missing since last Saturday, the 90-year old Lyle gun has a 20-in barrel, six inches thick. This type of gun was used in older days to shoot rescue lines to vessels having trouble in waters close to shore.

Once the line reached the ship, those aboard could use it as an aid in evacuation. Guns of this type were popular up and down the coast, but the missing one had been replaced by a shoulder gun, and was only used as an ornament in front of the Station.

The gun weighs around 100 pounds and is believed to have been stolen by pranksters.

BRIDGE CASE TOMORROW

CHESAPEAKE BEACH — Chief Fred Quist of the Chesapeake Beach Volunteer Fire Department, who assisted in tearing down the now famous bridge over Pleasure House Lake, didn't have his day in court after all.

Quist was scheduled to appear in Municipal Court last Friday on two charges filed against him by two merchants charging destruction of public property. But the case has been continued until this Friday.

The merchants involved are Elmer King, owner of a snack bar, restaurant, parking lot and ballroom 200 feet from the beach, and Mrs. Charles F. Belch, manager of the Casino on Jocelin Street near the lake.

Chief Quist and the volunteer firemen tore the bridge down after the small son of one of the firemen was found drowned beneath it.

The fire chief said at the time he had the city's permission to destroy the bridge which he believed was a safety hazard.

The destroyed bridge was located on property owned by the A. E. Ewell estate, according to Public Works Director Richard J. Webbon, who has a letter dated last September from Mrs. Ewell authorizing the city to remove the bridge.

The city was to pay for tearing down the bridge as a public service because the bridge was said to be a safety hazard. Mrs. Ewell's nephew is City Councilman Swindell Pollock.

Given as the reason for the continuance was that the lawyers couldn't get together.

CITY ELECTION HERE TUESDAY

VIRGINIA BEACH—Voters in the Borough of Virginia Beach will go to the polls next Tuesday to vote for two members of the City Council.

Running for re-election and unopposed are Mayor Frank A. Dusch and Councilman John W. McCombs. The two polling precincts will open at 6 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

Brooke Given Testimonial

Wind Takes Crab Pots

VIRGINIA BEACH—More than one thousand crab pots, having a total value of about $5,000 were swept away by a Northeast wind over the weekend.

The crab pots belonged to six Tangier Island watermen who were using them in an experiment off Virginia Beach, between late May and Sept. 15, commercial crabbers may not set their pots in the area from the Nansemond Hotel at Ocean View in a northerly direction to Thimble Shoal lighthouse, and then in a northeasterly direction to Cape Charles lighthouse, southeast to Cape Henry lighthouse and thence along the shoreline back to Ocean View.

However, Douglas L. Davenport, district inspector for the State Commission of Fisheries, said it is legal for crabbers to set their pots several hundred feet off the shoreline, outside the bathing area.

The crabbing was fair during the first week of the experiment. But then came the winds sweeping the pots beyond recovery. The crabbers are expected to now try their luck in the lower James River.

Number's Right This Time

VIRGINIA BEACH — There apparently is a great deal of interest in the scheduled 2-day travel conference here next week. Many calls have been pouring in for registration. Unfortunately, the calls are going to the wrong person.

The article that ran in Tuesday's edition of the Virginia Beach Sun-News outlining the conference carried the wrong telephone number.

Registration may be made with Distributive Education Supervisor George L. Coffey at 497-2272.

The conference will be held June 11-12 at 9:30 a.m. at Virginia Beach High School. It will stress hospitality and travel attraction information so that local residents will be better equipped to aid out-of-state visitors.

It will be aimed primarily to local hotel and motel, retailing, restaurant, service station, police department and other personnel who have frequent contact with visitors from other states.

The Virginia Travel Council and the State Department of Education are co-sponsoring such conferences all over the state.

On the local level Coffey will serve as chairman for the Department of Education and Chamber of Commerce Executive Director Roy LaMere will be chairman for the Travel Council.

The Virginia Beach Produce Market, which opens today, is located on a 11.13 acre site across from the Virginia Truck Experiment Station, at Junction U. S. 13 and 166—about 5 miles from the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel.

TUNNEL TRAFFIC HEAVY OVER HOLIDAY WEEK-END

BAYSIDE — The Memorial Day weekend may have been damp and chilly but it didn't curtail traffic across the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel. More than 22,000 vehicles traveled the span between Thursday and Monday.

The daily average for the new span during its first month of operation was 3,401 vehicles but there were never less than 4,000 vehicles a day reported last weekend.

Thursday started off with 4,159; Friday, 4,913; Saturday, 4,178; Sunday, 5,194; and Monday, 4,022.

During its first month of operation, the bridge-tunnel brought in a revenue total of $637,881.70, more than $200,000 over the ferry system's total during the same period last year.

Between April 15 and May 15, the bridge-tunnel was used by 103,026 vehicles carrying 268,310 passengers. Of this figure, 79,061 were automobiles and 15,488 were trucks.

During this period in 1963 the ferries transported 58,727 vehicles and 157,683 passengers for a revenue total of $401,927.14.

The daily average of vehicles on the ferries was 1,939. Their daily revenue was $13,269.30 as compared to the bridge-tunnel's $21,059.15.

City Operated

Produce Mart Opening Today

DIAMOND SPRINGS — The new Virginia Beach Produce Market will open today at 4:30 p.m. Any bona fide producers of fruits and vegetables may sell their produce, and anyone may buy. "A good production season is coming up, so the opening timing is perfect," said agricultural agent E. R. Cockrell.

City officials are very optimistic about the future of the market—enough to have voted $10,000 recently for a 90-day trial period. All expenses must come out of this money, including land improvements and salaries. This 90-day period should show what is desired in permanent facilities.

Cockrell stated that the market is "called temporary only in that the minimum facilities have been set up to allow the market to open while work is still being done. At this moment this is the best facility farmers have had in a long time."

The market will operate 16 hours a day, from 4 p.m. until 8 a.m. While plans now call for the market to close from 8 a.m. Saturday until 4 p.m. Monday, the schedule is flexible and may be changed to meet the needs of buyers and sellers.

The market day is expected to be divided roughly as follows:

4 p.m. to 7 p.m.—consumer buying
7 p.m. to 10 p.m.—retail buying
2 a.m. to 6 a.m.—retail & wholesale buying

However, anyone may buy at any time.

A staff of three has been hired so that someone will be on the site at all hours. Earl Kingsbury will be the market manager. He is president of the Aragona Civic League and is also active with the Little League in the community.

Ben Oldham, who has retired from 10 years with the Treasurer's Office, will assist Kingsbury. Oldham was associated at one time with the Eastern Shore Growers Exchange. He lives in Acredale.

Wayne Munden of Pungo will be the third man during the summer. Munden was raised on a farm and attends Old Dominion College where he will be a Junior next fall.

Among their duties will be the collecting of fees from sellers as follows:

- 1) pick up trucks $2
- 2) Standard size trucks $4
- 3) 10 wheelers & trailers $6

The fees are paid when the truck enters, and are good for anytime during the 16 hour period. For example a truck entering at 4 p.m. is entitled to remain until 8 a.m. next day. But if the truck doesn't enter until late that evening, it would still have to leave by 8 a.m.

"There are very few items that could stay overnight and be fresh the next day," said Cockrell. "And we expect the produce to move fast, so we don't think farmers are going to object to the schedule."

"No one needs to make advanced reservations," Cockrell added. "Just drive in and pay the fee. The market will be on a day to day basis only at this time."

Among the expected produce available this week will be various greens: salads, cabbage, radishes, late strawberries and late May peas.

White potatoes will come along soon with snap beans, squash, and cucumbers.

"When the farmers planted last fall, they didn't know about the market and weren't able to plan crops to meet the market's needs," Cockrell pointed out. "So we may have a slow start in comparison with the future. We expect double or triple next fall."

"A producer won't grow that which he's doubtful of selling. But now with the opening, they'll go into market gardening." This means there'll be more intensive use of the land.

Until November 1, 1963 there had always been a farmers market somewhere nearby. When the one on Wood and Church Street closed, the need for a new one was so obvious that this new market was planned.

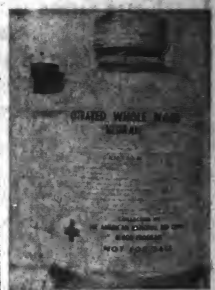

The new market is called a produce market rather than a farmers' market because it is as much a consumers' market as a farmers'.

Robert Heffernan, marketing specialist with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, came down from Washington recently to discuss administrative details.

Letters have been sent to many growers inviting them to use the new market. The response has been favorable. Not one grower expressed any opposition.

In order to sell produce, a growers certificate from the Agricultural Agent is needed.

Blood Visit At P.A. Hi

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will visit Princess Anne High School Friday between noon and 6 p.m.

Many people in our community are going to need blood this year. It could be you or another member of your family. Unless some of us roll up our sleeves tomorrow, this bottle and desperately needed others like it are going to remain empty. And then what?

So many of us have waited for George to do it that now our local blood supply is too low. We've been so lax about donating, our 1000 quota isn't even half filled. If we're to do on saving our neighbors' lives, it's time for each of us to do our own part.

Remember that each donor is an individual like yourself. If each one of us doesn't do our part, there will be no blood!

Now a quota isn't decided upon by the Red Cross drawing up a figure and saying this is what we'd like to have. A quota is how much blood must be raised to keep alive area residents—yours.

If you want to save a life, go to Princess Anne High School between noon and 6 p.m. It doesn't hurt to become a "quiet hero."

Hawaiian Trip For Graduates

VIRGINIA BEACH — Two Virginia Beach High School seniors will leave later this month for a 10-day trip to Hawaii as graduation gifts from their parents.

Susan Blosser and Pam Crutchfield will meet in Los Angeles then fly to Hawaii.

Susan will travel to California with her parents, Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. G. R. Blosser, and they will wait on the West Coast until she returns from Hawaii. On the return trip to Virginia Beach they will tour most of the mid-western states. They plan to be away about five weeks.

Pam will meet Susan in Los Angeles since her parents, Capt. and Mrs. R. R. Crutchfield, are moving to the West Coast.

Did I hear you say "Mother I just don't have a thing to wear to Jane's wedding?"

Well perhaps you don't, and how may be the time to select just the right outfit. Before you get started, though, let's get straight on what is properly worn to a wedding.

The hour of the day determines the formality of the wedding. The wedding invitation will indicate the formality simply by stating the time. Generally formal weddings are held after 6:00 o'clock.

Bare-shoulder dresses are not appropriate for any wedding, no matter how formal. Your best party dress usually will suit the occasion for a formal wedding.

For an informal evening or afternoon ceremony, a silk or dressy cotton date dress is appropriate. A morning or early afternoon wedding calls for donning your go-to-church clothes.

Hats and gloves should be worn at all marriage ceremonies. A little veil is appropriate for an evening wedding and it may be removed at the reception.

If you are attending your first wedding just use your common sense, and watch what the other guests are doing.

Arrive at the church, synagogue, or home 10 or 15 minutes before the ceremony is scheduled to begin, signified by the hour mentioned in the invitation. Tell the usher who meets you whether you're a relative or a friend of the bride's or the groom's so he can escort you to a seat on the proper side of the aisle. He will offer his right arm for you to take before he directs you to your seat.

At the first strains of the wedding march, usually the guests rise and turn slightly toward the entering wedding party. The length of time the guests remain standing depends on the practice of the particular religion. Simply watch what others do and follow suit.

After the recessional, remain standing at your seat until the parents of the newlyweds and the honored guests have been escorted up the aisle. Right after the ceremony or at the wedding reception, you must "go through" the receiving line where you will meet and greet the two families. Introduce yourself to those you have not met before, and say a few words of congratulations to each, such as, "It was a lovely wedding," or "Congratulations, you have a wonderful daughter-in-law (or son-in-law)!" Don't hold up the line by engaging in more than a few seconds of conversation with each member.

After going through the receiving line, you will want to move to the reception table for some punch and wedding cake.

You will probably want to wait until the bride and groom have departed before leaving. If you are single you may want to be among those who wait to catch the bride's bouquet.

Above everything, have a good time. Weddings are supposed to be happy events.

Home Danger Spot In Child Accidents

Where do you think most of the fatal accidents of childhood and early adolescence take place? Not on the highways, railroad tracks or in boy-bulk tree houses, but in those legendary havens—our own homes!

Incredibly, home is the scene of more accidents to people of all age groups than our much-touted turnpikes and thoroughways! What causes these accidents? Falls, most frequently. Other common causes are fires, suffocation, poison and electric shock.

Jean Kinkadee, woman's consultant to The Travelers Insurance Companies, tells us that The Travelers alone paid out more than $11,000,000 over a recent five-year period to accident policyholders injured in household mishaps. Safety experts at The Travelers have helped Miss Kinkadee compile a check-list for householders, the use of which might just help to save your life!

Precautions for preventing falls: 1. Be sure all small rugs are skid-proof. (Anchor them with small suction cups or a liquid spray.) 2. Repair wobbly legs on all chairs, sofas, tables, beds and ladders. 3. Mop up wet floors immediately, and use non-skid floor wax. 4. Be absolutely positive your stairs are well lighted, well banistered, uncluttered and non-skid. 5. Protect toddlers from stair falls with a barrier gate. 6. Have grab bars above your bathtub. 7. Put non-skid mats in your tub and shower.

Precautions against fire accidents: Be sure your wiring system is adequate for the load you're putting on it. (Your Fire Department can help you here.)

2. Install one of the new inexpensive fire alarm systems (Your Fire Department will advise you here, too.) 3. Replace all frayed cords on electrical appliances. 4. Be sure all fire places are protected with "good fire screens. 5. Destroy oily paint rags. 6. Store inflammable products safely in a well-ventilated space. 7. Be utterly firm about the no smoking in bed rule. 8. Invest in several dry chemical fire extinguishers, and keep them handy.

Precautions against poisoning: 1. Store all poisons safely. This means cleaning agents of all kinds, i.e., weed killer, insecticides, as well as all your drugs and medicines. 2. Keep a first aid manual in your bathroom and kitchen.

Precautions against electric shocks: 1. Never touch any electrical connections with wet hands or when standing on a wet surface. 2. Keep all electrical devices—radios, heaters, etc.—far, far away from bathtubs and sinks. 3. Don't be a do-it-yourself electrician.

Precautions against suffocation: 1. Don't use flame-type heaters, as they deplete the oxygen supply. 2. Teach children that they may absolutely not play with the knobs on your gas stove. 3. Keep bike-size toys and other small objects away from your little one. 4. Do not leave a small child unattended in the tub even for a minute. 5. Never leave the motor running in your car once you've put it in the garage.

In spite of our very best efforts, there is just no such thing as a completely accident-proof house. This being the case, The Travelers' Miss Kinkadee reminds us to stay on the safe side of financial disaster with up-to-date fire, theft and liability insurance.

The 'Y' of It

Guest Writer
Mrs. Alvin K. Candell

In what greater way can the women of the great city of Virginia Beach get to know one another than through the fellowship of the YWCA? We can also learn by sharing our experiences and talents. Any woman may be a member.

The Virginia Beach and Kempsville Councils, now merged into one and known as the Virginia Beach Council, will be traveling up and down Virginia Beach Blvd., in order to take advantage of the opportunities offered to them. New friendships will be made in newly formed car pools. The "Y" women will be drawn closer together — those without transportation will find it available to them. The distance between the opposite ends of the Boulevard will diminish as we get to know one another.

The "Y" has members throughout the city who are willing to share their knowledge with those of you who may not be familiar with its programs. Every fall and spring, the YWCA Ladies-Day-Out Programs offer classes in beginner and advanced Bridge; Art, beginner and advanced; Knitting; Sewing, beginner and tailoring; Millinery; Ceramics; Cake Decorating; Flower Arranging; Golf; Tennis; Swimming; and many others.

Throughout this area, there are women who have enjoyed their memberships in the "Y" in other parts of the world. We would be delighted to meet you. All of us are anxious to have you work, learn, and enjoy the Christian fellowship.

The current event, which will be of interest to mothers of children ages 4 to 17 years, will be the swimming classes to be held during June, July, and August. Two pools in Thoroughgood have been made available to us and also the Cavalier pool. Registration will be held June 1 at the Galilee Episcopal Church, 40th and Pacific Ave. If anyone may want additional information, please call 428-8228.

The fall series will begin with the registration for classes on September 23, at the LeKies Methodist Church, Virginia Beach Blvd., at Davis Corner. Plan to take one or more of the classes, while the children are in school and meet some of the ladies in your community who have the same interests.

Call the "Y" office at 428-8228 and join with us. Summer office hours, June 1 to August 1, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

YOUR DRUGGIST SAYS

THAT MYSTERIOUS TERM

That mysterious term "apothecary shop," is just another way of saying "drug store." The story behind it is interesting—and significant to everyone who gets a prescription filled. "Apothecary shop" comes from the ancient Greek word meaning "storehouse." That's exactly what our prescription department is—a storehouse of healthgiving, life-saving drugs... thousands upon thousands of drugs gathered from all over the world and kept on hand so that you can instantly get the one drug your doctor prescribes for you. That's why we say...

TODAY'S PRESCRIPTION IS THE BIGGEST BARGAIN IN HISTORY.

Las Vegas Trip Winners

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Perry of Virginia Beach are shown in Las Vegas where they were guests of Remington Office Machines, Division of Sperry Rand Corporation at a conference held at the Flamingo Hotel. Mr. Perry went to Las Vegas to accept an award plaque for National Leadership. He won the plaque, as well as the trip, for himself and his wife because of the outstanding performance of his dealership during fiscal 1964. During the 5-day trip, Mr. and Mrs. Perry enjoyed the sights of the resort and its environs when the business meetings were not in session.

DEY TO PRESENT G&S OPERA

GREAT NECK — Boys and girls of the 7th grade chorus at John B. Dey Elementary School on Great Neck Road will present an abbreviated version of Gilbert and Sullivan's "H.M.S. Pinafore," Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

George Stockton will sing the role of Ralph Rackstraw, an able seaman who is hopelessly in love with the Captain's daughter. Laurie Ann Rasnick will sing the role of Josephine, "the lass that loved a sailor." Bill Bobstay will be sung by Larry Long, Captain Corcoran by Kevin Davis, the Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B. by Michael Falkner, Little Buttercup by Jane Broadbent, and Dick Deadeye by Terry Moore. The boys of the chorus will be the crew of the H.M.S. Pinafore, and the girls of the chorus the sisters, cousins, and aunts of Sir Joseph.

The same evening the Sixth Grade Chorus will present a group of choral numbers including "Kentucky Babe," Christopher Robin Is Saying His Prayers, "The Yankee Doodle Boy," "America, Our Heritage," "The Navy Hymn," and "The Lord Bless You and Keep You." The public is cordially invited to attend this evening of music under the direction of Mrs. Irene A. Korte, school music teacher. There is no admission charge.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN ENJOY BUFFET

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Branch of the American Association of University Women held a picnic buffet supper Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Easton Townsend.

Mrs. Townsend is the second vice president of the local branch and newly elected vice president of the Tidewater District Mental Health Association.

Mrs. Joseph Sadler, another member, is the recently elected president of the mental health group.

After the buffet, husbands of members participated in the impromptu reading of an avant garde play directed by Mrs. John Bradshaw Jr.

This program concluded the branch's activities for the season but persons wishing to join may contact Mrs. Townsend at 428-7800.

The next meeting will be held the third Wednesday in September at Country Day School for Girls. Mrs. Ray Shield Jr. is president.

Bridges Speaks To Malibu Club

MALIBU — Bartow Bridges, Jr., of Coleman Nursery in Portsmouth, lectured recently at the Malibu Garden Clubs May meeting at the home of Mrs. T. S. Bryant. Co-hostess was Mrs. J. R. Driver.

Mr. Bridges stressed that one of the most important points to remember when planting is the actual size of trees and shrubs at maturity. This will prevent overcrowding. Colored slides accompanied his lecture.

Four representatives from Girl Scout Troop No. 368, accompanied by their leader, Mrs. Bruce P. Gordon, were presented with an outdoor grill and a cook-out pot by the club.

Ribbon winners in the Artistic Arrangement class were awarded to: Mrs. D. F. Wiggins, Mrs. D. L. Brittingham, Mrs. Driver, Mrs. J. R. Sand, Mrs. Juan Watts, Mrs. Noce, Mrs. Smiley, Mrs. H. G. Williamson and Mrs. Pedersen, red. Yellow, Mrs. T. B. Semans.

Award winners in the Horticulture Division were: Blue, Mrs. Watts, Mrs. Noce, Mrs. Smiley, Mrs. H. G. Williamson and Mrs. Pedersen.

The garden club closed the season with an installation banquet held at the Oceana Chiefs Club. Installing officer was Mrs. Norma Spencer.

The club presented Mrs. D. F. Wiggins, outgoing president, with a lovely silver vegetable dish.

Mrs. Pedersen won both the Arrangement and Horticulture awards having the most blue ribbons in each class.

ENGAGEMENTS JENNINGS—RUSSELL

Mr. and Mrs. William Harvey Jennings of Virginia Beach, announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Elizabeth Jennings to Ronald Allard Russell of Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. Russell is the son of Capt. and Mrs. Allard Guy Russell, USN ret., of Buffalo, N. Y.

Miss Jennings is a graduate of Virginia Beach High School. She attended the Medical College of Virginia and graduated from The Pan American School, Richmond, in May. Mr. Russell graduated from George Mason High School, Falls Church, Va. and is now on active duty with the United States Marine Corps.

Travel Conference Deserves Support Of Local Interests

On June 11 and 12 a travel conference will be held in the Virginia Beach High School and its importance should not be overlooked. To the average person this announcement probably means that a group of people will get together for two days and talk over their problems in the tourist field. This is not the case.

The travel conference scheduled here next week could be one of the most meaningful meetings of the entire year for the resort and travel industry of Virginia Beach. The conference is designed as an information meeting aimed at those persons in Virginia Beach who, because of the nature of their jobs, come into direct contact with the visiting tourist.

The conference is aimed at hotel-motel, restaurant, service station, police department and other personnel who have frequent contact with the visitor. It is designed to acquaint these individuals with the many attractions in the area and the State and to make them so well informed that they will be in a position to answer almost any question put to them by the visitor.

Leaders in the field of travel will speak at the morning sessions and a fine program has been arranged. It would appear that the travel conference here is well organized, but its success will lie with the business leaders of the community. They must be willing to release enough employees to attend the meetings to make the purpose of the conference profitable. In the past too few persons attended the sessions. It can only have real meaning when the hotel-motel operators and others similarly situated in the travel picture send a majority of their employees to the conference. Then, those who do attend can impart the knowledge they have gained to fellow employees.

Good support for this important meeting here will pay dividends in the future. It is all a part of keeping up with the times and preparing ourselves for receiving and serving the visitor. After all if it weren't for the visitor to our city we might not be a city so it is up to all of us to see that our friends who visit will be favorably impressed.

BASKIN, IN THE SUN

By GORDON BASKIN

The summertime magic is upon us. The livin' is easy (it says here) and the cotton is high. Fish are jumpin' and the babes are on the beach with the new bathing suits. By the way—don't you think a kid that in spite of the new swim suits with those very blousy tops that they seem even more revealing than a bikini? I don't suppose you do. I guess it is just me. Anyway—back to the original thought. The summer brings all sorts of fringe benefits, but hand-in-hand brings some terrors, like spiders, snakes, bugs that bite, tennis shots, stabbed toes and things like that there. The most difficult thing to bear in the hot weather is television. Millions of words have been written about the programs, I want to talk about the summer commercials.

The commercials are re-runs too. If I see that same old advertisement with his head-tilted look as he extols the virtues of a kind of stomach tablet, I think I'll have to have one. I'm tired to death of those old, worn out, gay-nineties deals about a popular mouthwash. No. Please excuse me! A beer! The pecking camera at the pour soul in the laundry is getting old. I will never believe that people talk like that when they're washing their clothes. I'll bet at any odds that you couldn't get a grant out of a dame about a soap when she's fighting for her turn at the dryer—or has run out of dimes for the washing machine. She'd probably belt anyone who asked her a question about what kind of soap she used.

I'm positive that the high school girl who flings down her bike and charges in to the house screaming, "Hey Mom! Look! No cavities!" is now a grandmother and drawing her social security. The mouthwash ads are beyond the pale, and the less said about the laxative ads the better.

I do, however, pine for those mother and daughter commercials where the grown daughter says, "Please! Mother! I'd rather do it myself!" I've sat through hundreds of these deals and I nurse the fond hope that one of these days the mother will turn on the foul-mouthed little beast and give her such a shot in the mouth that all the ungrateful daughters in the world will feel a sharp pain in the upper lip.

Training Clinic Aids Summer Job Seekers

VIRGINIA BEACH — A "Pre-Employment Training Clinic" was held recently at Princess Anne High School for the purpose of training high school juniors and seniors for summer employment.

The students spent an entire Saturday learning such things as the principles of good grooming, job interview and application, human relations, salesmanship and store policies. Some of the students attending were new Distributive Education cooperative students from the four participating high schools in the city of Virginia Beach.

Each student completing the course was awarded a certificate which will be readily recognized by their prospective employer. When interviewing part-time employees, managers may ask for the certificate to be assured of obtaining a trained student.

Shipyard Will Seek New Job Applications

PORTSMOUTH—The Naval Shipyard will begin taking applications today for apprentice to establish a new civil service register to fill its future needs. Application card form 5000-AB will be received for a two-week period ending June 15 under Announcement No. PH-133-6(64).

Herry L. Gray, shipyard employment division head, said that a written test will be given all applicants to measure aptitude for learning and performing the duties of apprentice. The examinations will be held at the shipyard in July.

Upon establishment of the new register for apprentices, a previous apprentice register set up last August will expire. Gray pointed out that persons on the previous register should apply for the new apprentice test if they are interested in future employment.

Starting rate of pay for apprentice is $1.96 per hour. One examination is given for all trades in the shipyard, and applicants are called for employment from the top eligibles on the register and given their choice of trades available.

Application forms may be secured from the Shipyard or the Norfolk Post Office, or persons may apply at any post office for information as to where the forms may be obtained.

AWARD PRESENTED

VIRGINIA BEACH — Emphas Ford Company of Virginia Beach has been presented Ford Motor Company's Gold Truck Award.

The presentation was made at a luncheon Thursday in Washington, D. C.

Fireworks At Seaside Park

This Saturday, June 6, Seaside Amusement Park at Virginia Beach, will present a fireworks display at 10 p.m. as a free attraction.

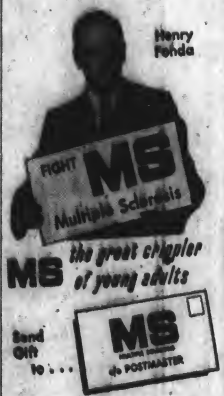

On Sunday, Candy-the-Crown, popular local circus personality, will appear, also as a free attraction, at 2:30 p.m. on the park's outdoor stage with laughs and prizes for the youngsters.

Myriam France, aerialist whose "Cloud Swing" is among the classics of circus thrillers, will inaugurate the 1964 schedule of free acts Monday, June 15. A new act will premiere every Monday.

The circus acts and fireworks displays are only a part of the many free attractions to be offered at Seaside Amusement Park this summer. There will be the annual beauty contests in which Miss and Mrs. Seaside Park will be selected, with gala prizes given to the winners. Flag Day will be still another occasion for a big free presentation, and special events, also of a competitive order, with prizes, are planned for Father's Day. All these events will take place on the park's outdoor stage.

Picnickers also are invited to make full use of the large covered area equipped with tables, benches and water fountains for their convenience, without charge.

Admission to Seaside Amusement Park is free.

Herzer School Presents Three Recitals June 14

NORFOLK — The Clifford Herzer Piano School of Norfolk and Virginia Beach will set somewhat of a record June 14 by presenting three recitals during one afternoon.

The recitals will be held at 2:30, 4 and 5:30 p.m. at the school's Norfolk location, 748 Shirley Avenue.

Many Virginia Beach pupils will be featured in all three recitals.

The schedule will be: 2:30 p.m., students from the classes of Carol and Walter Noona; 4 p.m., from the elementary and intermediate classes of Walter Noona and Clifford Herzer; and 5:30 p.m., from the advanced classes of Walter Noona and Clifford Herzer.

The last recital will feature the playing of Lori Nelson of Virginia Beach and graduating student Nancy Nesson of Norfolk.

The public is invited to attend.

Active Child Needs Summer Play Area

Whether he is in the city, the suburbs or a country area, facilities should be found for active children during the summer months.

Frank Cox, Local Director of the Tidewater Automobile Association, has pointed out that "Seven per cent of all urban pedestrian deaths occurred while children played in the roadway. In rural areas, the figure was 3%. July and August have very high tolls of child traffic accident deaths."

Mr. Cox listed the following suggestions when asked how parents and other adults can help keep children safe while at play.

1. Supervise play activity when you can.
2. Early in the vacation period, walk with your children to the nearest play-ground—helping to find the safest route to and from the area.
3. Construct play facilities in your own yard, if none exist nearby.
4. Encourage children to practice the rules of safe behavior being taught in school.

A new safety poster, Play Away From Traffic, a first-place winner in the AAA National Traffic Poster Contest, is being distributed to the schools by Tidewater Automobile Association. It was designed by Judy Dunham, 12, Edison Junior High School, Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

VIRGINIA BEACH — John Ernest Clausen, 64, husband of Mrs. Liberty Virginia Clausen and son of the late Carl Johann and Mrs. Alville Clausen, died in his home, 3445 Virginia Beach Blvd., Tuesday at 7 a.m.

Mr. Clausen was a native of Norfolk and had been a lifelong resident of the Norfolk-Virginia Beach area. He was a member of St. Timothy's Lutheran Church and Kempsville Masonic Lodge 196. He was retired from the Records Office of Virginia Electric & Power Co. after 37 years.

Besides his widow he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Patricia Ann Forbes of Norfolk; a son, John E. Clausen Jr. of Virginia Beach; a sister, Mrs. Helen Wright of Cleveland; a brother, Erle Clausen; and four grandchildren. A funeral service will be conducted in Hollomon-Brown Funeral Home Friday at 3 p.m. by Navy Chaplain D. M. Wilson. Burial will be in Forest Lawn Cemetery with Masonic rites.

MRS. FRANK P. WALLER

BAYSIDE — Mrs. Frank Pearsall Waller, 67, of 4205 John Silver Road, Baylake Pines, daughter of Franklin and Mrs. Margaret Smith Pearsall, died in a Norfolk hospital Tuesday at 9:30 p.m.

Mrs. Waller, a native of Mount Olive, N.C., lived in the Norfolk-Virginia Beach area most of her life.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Doris Phillips and Mrs. Margaret Cash of Virginia Beach, and three grandchildren.

A funeral service will be conducted in Hollomon-Brown Funeral Home Friday at 2 p.m. by the Rev. John E. Johnson of Bayside Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

CHARLES W. NORRIS

VIRGINIA BEACH — Charles William Norris, 39, of 1704 Duncan Lane, husband of Mrs. Elizabeth Sydenstricker Norris and a son of Mrs. Alice Smith Norris and the late William N. Norris, died in a Norfolk hospital Monday at 4 p.m.

A lifelong resident of the Norfolk-Virginia Beach area, he was a member of Fox Hall Baptist Church, and worked in the steam plant of Little Creek Amphibious Base.

Besides his widow and mother, he is survived by a daughter, Miss Kathy Marie Norris, and a son, David Charles Norris, both of Virginia Beach; and four sisters, Mrs. W. E. Reitelbach of Virginia Beach, Mrs. Willie Whitehurst of Deland, Fla., Mrs. H. T. Smart of Baltimore, and Mrs. Norris Crockett of the Eastern Shore.

A funeral service was conducted in Hollomon-Brown Funeral Home Wednesday at 4 p.m. Burial was in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Tigers, Sports

Win L.L. Games

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Rotarians lost to the Tigers 7 to 4 in the American Little League competition Friday night at Virginia Beach High School.

Johnny Johnson pitched the Tigers to victory and Charles Martin doubled in the 5th. The team made every hit count, chalkin up seven for seven runs.

Losing pitchers were Bill Almond and Bill Johnson. The Rotarians made their four runs on six hits. Dave Donahoe hit a double in the 3rd with one on base.

In Saturday's game, the Cubs fell to the Sports 8 to 4. Mike Dennis was winning pitcher and Dave Shedivy was the loser.

Dennis doubled in the 1st and Tommy English doubled in the 5th and 6th.

The Cubs made 4 runs on 5 hits; the Sports 8 runs on 8 hits.

Tides Host To

Baseball Clown

PORTSMOUTH — One of the first big attractions of the 1964 season comes to Frank D. Lawrence stadium on Friday night, June 5, as Max Patkin makes an appearance as the Tides play the Raleigh Cardinals.

Patkin, the Clown Prince of Baseball has delighted baseball fans in Tidewater and through out the nation for many years since giving up a serious career as a player. After reaching the big leagues as a pitcher and suffering a sore arm, Patkin found that his natural flair for comedy and pantomime would bring enjoyment to baseball fans every where.

Those that have seen Patkin in the past enjoy his act more each time and those who have not seen Max in action won't want to miss it.

CONTRAST

A new idea in fences is to build your fence frame of sturdy western red cedar and then set large opaque panels in the frame to create a background for exquisite gardens with complete privacy.

CHECK JOISTS

One way to find out what kind of home you are buying is to go to the basement and thoroughly check the exposed floor joists. If they are of Douglas fir and firmly set and properly spaced, your home will last for years.

Johnson, Bow Creek Golf and Country Club; John Kelly, Rt. 2, Box 180; Claude King and Arthur Shue, Cavalier Golf and Yacht Club; Tom Strange, Bow Creek; Tommy Whillock, Little Creek Naval Base; and Leo and Tommy Kernan, Princess Anne Golf and Country Club.

Some 600 invitations have been extended to professionals in the Philadelphia, New York and Middle Atlantic PGA area. All professionals from Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina have been invited along with 100 from the touring ranks.

Local golf pros who have been invited include: Sam Bates, Kempville Meadows Country Club; James Ellis, Rt. 2 Box 180; Jack Harvey, Oceana Naval Air Station; T. S. Johnson, Bow Creek Golf and Country Club; John Kelly, Rt. 2, Box 180; Claude King and Arthur Shue, Cavalier Golf and Yacht Club; Tom Strange, Bow Creek; Tommy Whillock, Little Creek Naval Base; and Leo and Tommy Kernan, Princess Anne Golf and Country Club.

Annual Tennis

Tournament

Set At Capes

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor its annual tennis tournament next Tuesday and Wednesday, June 9th and 10th, at the Capes Motel Courts at Virginia Beach.

This year's tournament will be open to boys living in Norfolk and Virginia Beach.

Two age divisions will be offered. The Boys' Division will consist of those youngsters not reaching their 16th birthday by January 1, 1964 and the Junior Division will be open to boys who have not reached their 18th birthday by January 1, 1964. The winner and runner up in each division will represent the Tidewater area in the state championships to be played in Lynchburg June 16, 17 and 18.

First round play will begin at 2:00 Tuesday afternoon. Deadline for entries is Sunday, June 7th. Interested parties should contact Duck Darden at GA 8-8458.

Anglers Plan

Youth Program

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Anglers Club will conduct a youth program starting at the club's regular business meeting, tonight at 8 o'clock in the Virginia Beach High School Cafeteria.

This program will be under the supervision of Floyd Krabenbill, Juvenile Officer of the Virginia Beach Police Department, who has been named chairman by President Kadas.

The program is opened to any teen-ager attending high school and will feature Surf-Casting techniques as well as fresh and salt-water fishing instructions. Special instructors will be members of the Champion Ocean City Surf Casting team and other members of the club.

The use of balanced fishing tackle, knot tying, and proper safety measures will also be emphasized.

Any youth interested should plan to attend the club meeting tonight a which time all details will be given as to when and where each schedule event will be held.

OLD MANSION ONCE PLEASED PRESIDENT

by

Pete Hardy

VIRGINIA BEACH—Graystone almost became the "Summer Whitehouse" when President Calvin Coolidge considered buying the estate. Located at the end of 52nd Street, the graceful mansion and four plus acres are now owned by Mrs. William S. Wilder.

Built in the style of an old English country manor, the main house has, among a great many other things, 11 bedrooms, 7 1/2 baths, countless closets, and nine fireplaces—two of which were closed when the President considered it as his summer home.

Granite, imported from Italy, covers the lower part of the outside, while the upper part is covered with slate. The roof is red terra-cotta tile.

First known as the Masury Mansion after Dr. Masury who had it built, the mansion was started in 1905 and was completed in 1907. Later, it became The Crystal Club.

When the Wilders bought the estate in 1941, it was from Mrs. Samuel Patterson. Mrs. Wilder renamed it Graystone.

Entering through the large double doors, one finds himself in a spacious hall. To the left is a parlor, to the right is a television room and bath. Straight ahead is the huge living room.

Measuring 24' x 40', this living room could make a first class skating rink with the furniture removed! But by tasteful furnishing, Mrs. Wilder has made a most inviting room. At the front end, nestled between the hall door on one side and the parlor door on the other, is a fireplace.

To the left of the living room is a glass enclosed porch, used as a game room. On the right of the living room climbs a stair case leading to a landing, then branching on either side forming two equally large stairways. Hanging, between these two cases and just above the middle stairway, is a grand crystal chandelier. The ceiling had to be specially reinforced to support the 900 pound chandelier.

Under the stairs is a sitting room as large as most living rooms.

Walking through the living room, one comes to the dining room. This room features another sparkling chandelier and one of the two fireplaces closed for the President.

If one can tear oneself away from the excellent view of Crystal Lake, he could enter a door to the far right and see the breakfast room and the two-room kitchen.

silent reminder of the champion horses of which the estate once proudly boasted.

At the end of this hall are the back stairs and another glass-enclosed porch through which the maid's room may be reached.

The maid's quarters consist of a bedroom, closet, and bath.

Down in the large basement, several wooden floored rooms stand ready to hold all the items any family is likely to acquire in several lifetimes. Mostly, the walls are red brick, but in some areas the brick walls have been painted white. This basement could be turned into an excellent game room—as if more space could possibly be needed in this huge four-story house!

Then comes the second floor—seven bedrooms, three baths, two porches, several fireplaces, and umpteen closets, several quite large.

If one wants to take the tour, there is a back bedroom by itself. Another with a passageway through a sizable bath leading to the master bedroom. Then comes still another bedroom with one of those endless closets. This bedroom is connected to another by a bath. Walking through this room, without going into the hall, one comes into another and another bedroom. The last has a working fireplace.

Going up to the third floor hall and facing toward the front, one comes to a bedroom with a garage-size storage area. This bedroom appears to have the familiar size walk-in closet—but with one exception—a door in the back of the closet opens to a storage area large enough to park a tractor-trailer truck.

There is a bath off the hall for those who get lost trying to find their way through the maze of bedrooms.

Another third floor bedroom sports a monstrous closet. A small sitting room, overlooking the lake, is in the tower-like corner of a back bedroom. All told, there are four third floor bedrooms.

The hallway here, as elsewhere, was constructed a wide six feet.

Open storage space and a cedar closet compose the fourth floor.

The owners can call any of their three servants by means of an intercom.

Back outside, there's a pet house with a small door for the 18 cats which call it home. "Once we had about 30 cats," said Mrs. Wilder, "but some grew old and died and others wandered away."

Over the four-car garage is an apartment with a bedroom, living room, bath and kitchen.

Fire destroyed the stables in 1958. Of the 11 horses inside, only three escaped. Just two months before, Mrs. Wilder had turned down an offer of $10,000 for one of the lost horses.

"The three show horses I lost were valued at $18,000," Mrs. Wilder said. "Now I only have one horse on the estate. Shawnee's one of the horses which survived the fire."

Mr. Wilder died in 1946. The children have since grown into adults with homes of their own.

"Living here alone now with my 94 year old mother, I've too much room for my needs. That's why I've decided to sell Graystone," Mrs. Wilder said.

Just in case any reader is interested, the price is a mere $275,000.

SEVEN VIE FOR QUEEN TITLE

SANDBRIDGE—While the giant lotus plants that fill Tabernacle Creek get ready to burst into golden bloom, the Cape Henry Woman's Club continues to make preparations for the annual festival that heralds the blooming.

For the 10th year, the club and the Virginia Department of Conservation and Economic Development will sponsor the Annual Lotus Festival to be held this year July 15-22.

A contest to select the 1964 Lotus Queen got underway May 15 with seven girls competing for the title. The penny-a-vote contest will close the night of the Lotus Ball and Coronation, scheduled July 15 at 9:30 p.m. at the Cavalier Beach and Cabana Club.

The queen contestants are Nancy Holland, Linda Gomez, Linda Cooper, Sharon Craig, Yvette Carpenter, Mary Lou Coates and Anne Hefflin.

The girl receiving the most votes will wear the crown. Half of the money collected will go to the contestants' sponsoring organization, the other half to the Cape Henry Woman's Club.

On July 19 a special church service will be held at Tabernacle Methodist Church, located adjacent to the water lily-filled Creek, at 11 a.m. The following day will be club day when all clubwomen are invited to visit the Lotus Gardens between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

The Fort Eustis Army Band will bring the festivities to a close on July 22 with a band concert in Virginia Beach.

During the week-long festival, the public will be invited to visit the Lotus Gardens to see the rare native American flower and enjoy motorboat rides along the 3-mile stretch where the plants bloom in such profusion.

Tabernacle Creek is south of Virginia Beach, near Sandbridge, and five acres of the creek is covered with what is thought to be the largest remaining growth of American lotus in the world.

The pale gold blooms measure about six to 10 inches across and stand above the water on single stems rising from dark blue-green leaves about 18 to 24 inches in diameter. The wild flowers open each morning and close in the late afternoon.

Conservation of these treasured plants, which once grew in slow streams, ponds and lakes over most of the eastern half of the country, has been a major project of the Cape Henry Woman's Club since its founding 10 years ago.

MISS YVETTE CARPENTER—Sponsored by Cavalier Jr. Woman's Club. Daughter of Dr. & Mrs. M. Y. Carpenter, 3817 Thalia Drive, Va. Beach. Sophomore at Princess Anne High School, Class President, President of Thalia Trinity Tri-Y.

MISS LINDA ANNE COOPER—Sponsored by Tabernacle Methodist Youth Fellowship, Tabernacle Methodist Church. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin D. Cooper, Rt. 1, Box 1125, Virginia Beach. A Senior at Princess Anne High School, President of MYF of Tabernacle Methodist Church.

MISS MARY LOU COATES—Sponsored by Bayside Jr. Woman's Club. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Coates, 2225 Maple St. East, Virginia Beach. Sophomore at Frank W. Cox High School, member of Y-Teens, Youth Fellowship of Old Donation Episcopal Church.

DR. ROBERT H. HARTMAN
MOVING AND HOME

The love of home makes all the world a home. In Xenophon's Anabasis, which I once struggled through in Greek, I told how the 10,000 Greeks under Xenophon who had delivered Cyrus into the hands of Persia and, after his death in battle there, had fought their way back, the remnants of them, through terrible hardships and almost insurmountable foes, went into transports of joy when they came within sight of the sea that would bear them home, crying, "We see the sea!"

And I told how a domestic American turned away from the horrors of Paris and climbed to the top of the Eiffel Tower to see the city of France from above.

And I told how a young man, a student at the University of Chicago, had been told by his father to go to Paris and see the city of France from above.

Health Tips

Is your family already beginning to plan for a vacation trip this summer?

Your doctor recommends a real vacation for the entire family, to get away from ordinary life and office stress, forget your day-to-day worries for a short time, and generally get re-invigorated and ready to face another year.

Whether your vacation will be a short trip to a nearby lake, camping out in a national park, a plane trip abroad, or what have you, there are a few things to keep in mind that will help avoid having the holiday spoiled by illness.

Depending on where you're going, you may need some vaccination shots. Tetanus, certainly, for anyone who expects to be in close contact with outdoors activities. Typhoid, if your journey includes areas where the water supply is uncertain. Shingles, if you're planning to leave the United States to visit a foreign land, and want to re-enter the United States. Ask your doctor about these, and possibly other, immunizations.

Use common sense about your vacation diet. Many a family trip has been spoiled by too many rich, fatty, greasy, and soft drinks. A sound rule while driving cross-country is to eat lightly. The custom about heavy, rich meals, particularly if you're not accustomed to such fare at home.

Know what sort of climate you will encounter at your vacation spot and dress accordingly. It can get cold in the mountains at night, even in midsummer. Good walking shoes are important to the travel wardrobe.

If you wear glasses, take along an extra pair. Or, at least a copy of your prescription. If you're taking a regular medication, make certain of your supply before you leave.

Andis . . . Okinawa . . . Two Jims? On which beachhead did they find it, that cross crudely drawn in the sand?

No doubt it appeared on every blood-stained shore where gallant men of Christian faith have fallen wounded or dying!

For the Cross on which Christ died has ever stood as the symbol of His Life and Truth. And often it has spoken eloquently what human lips could not frame.

Is it not too little simply to honor those who have fought and died for our freedom? Each generation must inscribe its own prayer on the beachhead of history.

Religious freedom is the heart of our heritage. In a world in which Liberty must be armed to endure, faith must be expected to be preserved.

Pray for yourself, your family, your nation, your world . . . in the church of your choice next Sunday.

CLIP AND SAVE THIS CHART
Just because you have a small baby is no reason you can't take a vacation trip in your auto this summer. Take heart ladies! People who make babies their business tell us that your child is harder than you think.

With the help of some common-sense precautions and intelligent use of modern conveniences for baby care, little Bobby or Susan can go along on your vacation with no risk to their safety or to your sanity. Two of the thorniest problems — feeding and laundry — have been solved by recent research and development. It has been pointed out by Bauer & Black division of the Kendall Company, makers of Curly baby products.

"Lightweight plastic bottles with overcaps are the ideal solution for short trips," said W. O. Elson, medical research director for Bauer & Black.

"Mothers can make up an entire batch of formula before leaving, and sterilize all at once by the 'terminal' method. A small cooler filled with ice will keep the formula safe."

For longer trips, Elson recommends that mothers rely on sterile nursery water plus six-ounce cans of evaporated milk or prepared formula base. This eliminates the need for refrigeration, yet guarantees safety — and you can buy as you go.

"Don't worry about your baby becoming a traveling laundry hamper," Elson said. "Disposable diapers and diaper liners are the answer. Each time the baby is changed, place the disposable diaper in a plastic bag and throw it away next time you stop."

Other hints from the baby care expert on how to make your trip pleasant and easier are:

Slick to your baby's schedule. Aim at 250 to 300 miles a day and stop driving by 5:00 p.m.

Use a car bed for the infant, and set up a "play or sleep" platform for the older child; make sure either one is fastened securely, and pad all protruding knobs, arm rests, etc.

Some old, familiar toys for security and a couple of new ones for diversion are a must. Toys should be soft and pliable.

Remember that your baby is a true conformist — he wants life on the highway to go on as usual, and needs his regular amount of cuddling and playing.

Whatever you do, don't stay at home on his account — a little careful planning, and baby will enjoy the trip as much as you.

Westward Ho — A New Salad

A Western salad that's working its way East is this citrus and onion salad served on western iceberg lettuce with a choice of two dressings. One dressing is real mayonnaise thinned with orange juice and the other is a mixture of sour cream and real mayonnaise. For the salad, use orange and grapefruit sections and rings of mild onions and serve on crisp lettuce cups.

Orange Mayonnaise Dressing

1/2 cup corn syrup
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup real mayonnaise
1/2 teaspoon grated onion
Gradually stir corn syrup into mayonnaise. Mix in orange juice and onion. Makes 1 1/2 cups.

Mayonnaise Sour Cream Dressing

1/2 cup real mayonnaise
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
1/2 teaspoon vinegar
1/2 teaspoon sugar
Blend all ingredients together. Chill. Serve over chilled raw or cooked vegetables. Makes about 1 cup dressing.
To prepare lettuce cups cut out core from lettuce head. Hold cored side up under running water to loosen leaves. Slip leaves off and drain on absorbent paper. Chill until ready to use.

If your family likes asparagus, they will love this creamy-smooth molded salad. It's called a Molded Souffle Salad because it has the light airiness generally associated with souffles. Actually, it is a delightful blend of asparagus and cream cheese with enough crunchy celery for texture appeal.

The canned cut green asparagus you use for this salad is as handy as your cupboard shelf. The tender, plump, delicately flavored pieces are a bright color contrast to the creamy white salad base.

You can make your salad ahead, ready for unmolding just before you serve dinner. And wouldn't this salad be a handsome addition to a buffet table? Pretty if up with canned green asparagus spears and hard cooked egg slices arranged in a flower pattern.

Molded Souffle Salad

One 10-oz. can cream of asparagus soup, undiluted
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon (1 envelope) unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
Heat soup in medium-sized saucepan. Stir in lemon juice, salt and gelatin which has been softened in cold water. Beat in cream cheese and sour cream. Chill until partially set. Fold in remaining ingredients; pour into an oiled 1-quart loaf mold. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with canned whole asparagus spears and hard cooked egg slices, if desired. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Appetizing soup and salad mates provide interesting and taste-tantalizing fare for lunch or supper. For instance, this shimmering salad of tuna, green peas, and crisp diced apples molded in orange-pineapple flavor gelatin is a satisfying entrée, preceded by mugs of steaming hot Cheddar cheese soup and crusty toasted bread.

Molded Sea Jewel Salad

1 package (3 ounces) orange-pineapple flavor gelatin
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 can (7 ounces) tuna, drained and flaked
1 cup drained cooked peas
1/2 cup chopped red apple
Dissolve gelatin, salt, and pepper in boiling water. Add cold water and vinegar. Stir in mayonnaise and blend well. Chill until very thick. Fold in remaining ingredients and pour into a 1-quart mold. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Quick! Pick a Chevrolet and fill in the spaces

Now's the time to see the great outdoors in a great Chevrolet buy!

Here you are on the brink of vacation time. There's your Chevrolet dealer in the midst of Trade 'N' Travel Time. You two should get together! Object—celebrating the joys of summer in a new Chevrolet.

Why a Chevrolet? Well, with 15 models in four series, what possible reason is there to look further?

Take the Impala Super Sport (and a lot of people do just that). Comes as a Sport Coupe or Convertible. Has trimmings like front bucket seats, center console, special trim—all as standard equipment. And offers a typically Chevrolet array of extra-cost options.

Plain Impalas are anything but. They come in all popular body styles, including wagons. They're dressed up to a fare-thee-well; fully carpeted interiors included.

Bel Airs and Biscaynes, the lower priced Chevrolets, make a practice of hiding it. All the conveniences, no sacrificing comfort or style.

Did we mention that Trade 'N' Travel Time won't last forever? It won't. So see your Chevrolet dealer. Then go fill in the spaces.

4-H Activities and Events

C. FRANCIS LAY
Assistant Agent

Judicious praise is to children what the sun is to flowers—Bovee

Hello, there. Today I will address most of my column to the parents of 4-H Club members. Your interest in your child is important if he or she is to obtain the maximum benefits from the 4-H Club program.

If you encourage and guide, you'll find your 4-H Club member maturing with responsibility, growing mentally strong through mastering knowledge and skills, and increasing understanding of the world about him. Through group activity, your child will learn to adjust to new and different situations. Four-H Clubs help produce useful citizens and train young people for leadership.

Parents Are Important to 4-H

You can assist with the 4-H program in many ways:

1. By cooperating with the club members, leaders and agent. Furnishing transportation, refreshments, your home for 4-H meetings. Give encouragement, recognition and support.
2. By keeping informed. Contacting local leaders and Extension Agents for correct information. Ask for printed material that will help your club member. Get acquainted with other club members and parents of 4-Hers.
3. By giving your club member varied experiences. Help with arrangements for tours, demonstrations, camps, fairs, and other group activities.

Parents Help Club Members Select Project

You can be of valuable help in assisting your club member in selecting a project that will be suitable to his interests and needs by asking yourself the following questions: Is he mature enough for the project he selects? Does the project fit into the home situation? Does he have a keen interest in developing this project? Can you furnish materials and financial assistance to help him complete this project?

You will be able to look with pride upon your 4-H Club member as he develops into a mature, responsible, useful young adult if you help him to take advantage of all the opportunities in the 4-H program.

You can help the local 4-H leaders (most of whom are parents of club members themselves) by taking an active interest in what your club member is doing in the 4-H program.

LIVESTOCK JUDGING TEAM WILL GO TO STATE 4-H SHORT COURSE

Last week I told you that the Virginia Beach 4-H Livestock Judging Team might go to the State 4-H Short Course, for having placed third in the District Contest. We have received confirmation that they will go. The team members are Lee Durham, Lee B. Parker, Jr., and Johnny Moulton. They will compete with 15 other teams from across Virginia for the honor of representing the state at the National Livestock Judging Contest in Chicago, this fall. These 4-H boys will be travelling to Blacksburg June 22 with the Land Judging Team, plus other outstanding 4-H Club members from Virginia Beach.

COMING EVENTS

Cmdr. Goodwin Reviews For Y

LONDON BRIDGE — More than 50 members and guests of the YWCA book review class were treated to a series of short dramatic sketches and readings by Cmdr. Ian Goodwin, British Royal Navy (Ret.), recently at Eastern Shore Chapel.

Mrs. Sam Mason welcomed the group and Mrs. Heyward Denney introduced Cmdr. Goodwin.

Cmdr. Goodwin read passages from a variety of books by different authors, explaining that his selections were based on his own preferences.

He opened with the Biblical reading of Shadrach, Meshack and Abednego's experience in the fiery furnace when a vision of Christ came to them, followed by a quotation from "Hamlet" in which Hamlet speaks.

He took descriptive lines from "Lola" to emphasize the beauty of children's voices and equally descriptive passages from "Travel with Charley" and "Henry V." Ogden Nash's excerpts gave clever spoofs on Britishers while the dialogue between Cloris and Tarrington from "Sally" provoked appreciative laughter from the audience.

Cmdr. Goodwin read short passages from Lewis Carroll's "White Knight's Tales" and Coleridge's "Ozymandias".

He closed the program with Robert Frost's serene "Swinger of Birch", a poem about a small boy's joy in the simple pastime of riding down a young sapling rather than more sophisticated play.

A buffet luncheon followed the program with Mrs. Mason serving. The book review committee will continue its activities during the summer. For further information may be obtained at the local YWCA office, 438-8228.

SOIL SERVICE AIDS URBANITES

RICHMOND — During the past fiscal year the Soil Conservation Service in Virginia rendered nearly 2,000 consultative services to urban residents.

Service to urban and suburban residents on soil and water problems, outdoor recreation, and resource conservation increased during the past year. State Conservationist Tom F. McGourin announced today in reviewing the year-end report of the Soil Conservation Service.

At the same time, assistance to rural landowners in soil conservation districts continued at about the same rate, and work in watershed projects and other Rural Areas Development activities increased. As of today, approximately seven major KAD projects have been launched with the aid of all USDA agencies, State agencies and soil conservation districts.

The Soil Conservation Service assisted more than 17,500 landowners and operators in planning and applying soil and water conservation practices.

State Conservationist McGourin said that increasing numbers of municipal and county officials and citizens' groups are using soil surveys and related information in guiding urban expansion and combating runoff, erosion, and sediment problems in urban fringe areas.

In response to this growing demand, SCS and Virginia Agricultural Experiment Station conducted soil surveys in five counties under formal cost-sharing agreements with county boards of supervisors in fiscal year 1963, and made limited surveys for urban and agricultural uses in 81 counties that do not have completed soil surveys.

Brownie Troop In Park Visit

PEMBROKE MANOR—Brownie Troop 670 of Pembroke Manor had an all day outing last Saturday at the City Park in Norfolk. The girls prepared and cooked their meal in the open. Birthday cupcakes were furnished by the May birthday girls, Susan Kennedy and Maryann Marotta.

Each girl took along a sketch pad and crayons to try her skill at free hand drawing of scenes in the park.

Also attending were Karen Olney, Kathy Schuts, Pat Seals, Pat Weidrick, Susan Weldon, Melanie Whissel, Carla Williams, Penmie Williams, Gwen Wooten, and Jody Wright.

Leader for the Brownie Troop is Mrs. Joan Kennedy and Mrs. Nancy Jennings serves as committee woman for the group.

SPECIAL WASHINGTON REPORT

Rural Economic Gains Help War On Poverty

By U.S. Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex.)
Chairman, House Banking and Currency Committee

The march of technology has created a strange paradox in our land.

On the one hand it has created a standard of living for many which was undreamed of a generation ago. On the other hand it has damaged the economic base of hundreds of rural areas.

In 1961, per capita farm income was $1,573, of which $474 came from non-farm sources. In comparison, per capita income of the non-farm population for the same year was $2,347, or 41.4 per cent greater than the average net income of farm people.

Some prominent economists and business leaders believe that the solution to the rural problem is to move unemployed and under-employed farmers and rural people to the cities.

Generally, our cities have more problems than they can handle now, including unemployment, housing, and schools.

In my opinion, it makes better sense to help rural people develop new opportunities at home. And this can be done through the cooperation of government and people.

We have made a good start in this direction.

The results since early in 1961 when the administration and Congress launched a nationwide rural redevelopment effort are impressive. More important than Federal assistance, however, is the amount of funds and effort that local people have invested in rebuilding their communities.

A survey by the Rural Electrification Administration of the activities of rural electric systems in rural area development shows that rural electric helped launch 402 projects between July 1961 and December 1962. These projects involved more than a quarter-billion dollars in financing, of which more than 90 per cent came from non-Government sources. These projects are providing 30,000 new jobs plus another 20,000 indirect jobs.

As a result of these new programs, there are millions of dollars worth of new factories, new homes, new water systems, new sewer systems, and new recreational facilities giving hope and a better life to rural areas.

Unless Congress approves legislation pending before it to provide more funds for loans, plans for developing new job-producing enterprises will have to be abandoned in many rural areas.

That would be a severe blow to the hopes of distressed sections of our Nation — and to President Johnson's war on poverty.

Experience of the last 2 1/2 years shows that this approach can produce successful results, and indicates that helping local people solve their own problems is the most practical and economical way to keep much of rural America from becoming a ward of the state.

I am proud that the Nation's rural electric systems are providing important assistance in rural redevelopment.

Basically, rural redevelopment is much like the rural electric story—doing a job local people are unable to do by themselves.

The combination of local initiative and Government loans brought modern electric living to rural areas.

This same combination can save rural America from economic collapse.

U.V.A. COURSES BEING OFFERED

NORFOLK — Registration for the University of Virginia's summer extension courses in the Hampton Road area, are now being accepted at the Center's office, 120 The Mall, JANAF Shopping Center, Norfolk.

Hours for registration are from 8:00 to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Registrants have been asked to enroll in advance because of restriction in class size in some courses.

An eight-week undergraduate education course in modern mathematics for elementary school teachers and one graduate course in psychology of exceptional children will be offered at Granby High School, beginning June 15. Two noncredit courses for kindergarten teachers will also be held at Granby High School, commencing June 15 and 17.

One graduate education course in mental hygiene, an undergraduate course in abnormal psychology, and two remedial reading courses, designed to increase speed and comprehension, will be held at the JANAF Center, beginning June 15 and 16 respectively.

The University of Virginia will conduct four workshops for the Norfolk City schools as part of the regular summer schedule. The workshops will be in science, music, arts and crafts, and mathematics. Workshop registrations will be accepted at Campostella Junior High School on Friday, June 12, between the hours of 1:30 and 4:00 p.m.

At the Little Creek Amphibious Base Training school a graduate course in physical education will be offered. Also, courses in economics, Virginia history, and college algebra and trigonometry. The beginning date for these courses is June 16.

On the Peninsula, courses will be offered at Fort Eustis and Langley Air Force Base. Undergraduate courses in principles of transportation, abnormal psychology, and contemporary social problems will begin at Fort Eustis on June 16. Courses in college algebra and analytical geometry-calculus will begin at Langley on June 11 and 13 respectively.

Further information concerning these courses may be obtained from the Hampton Roads Center office, telephone number 855-2001.

Drama Names NBC News Tech Staff Teams Cover GOP, Demos

WILLIAMSBURG — Albert Haak, Technical Director for the new outdoor drama, "The Founders—The Jamestown Story," has announced the appointment of the technical staff for the production which is scheduled to open June 22 at the Mitoaka Lake Amphitheatre.

Haak, an Associate Professor of Theatre and Speech at the College of William and Mary, will be R. Bruce Jonson of Richmond, Assistant Technical Director; Rachel Hitchens of Williamsburg, Costume Mistress; Frank R. Brister of Hartford, Conn., Sound Engineer; Jerry Davis of Williamsburg, Lighting Technician; William Hitchens of Williamsburg, Special Effects and Stage Carpenter; and Martin Thiel of Yorktown and Jesse Hawks, a student at William and Mary, Assistant Lighting Technician.

Mrs. Hitchens, Johnson and Technical Director Haak are all veterans of seventeen years on the technical staff of "The Common Glory," and they held the same positions with the original afternoon production of "The Founders" presented in 1957 and 1958.

This spring, Haak has been busy constructing the new scenery to be used in the play, and Mrs. Hitchens has been working with Costume Designer Sue Sherman and a staff of seamstresses making the colorful, authentic costumes featured in the production.

"The Founders—The Jamestown Story" will be presented each night from June 22 through September 5, Sundays exclusive. For reservations contact the Jamestown Corporation, P. O. Box 488, Williamsburg, Va.

ROTHENBERG NOW WITH BEACH FIRM

ODC MUSIC RECITAL SAT.

NORFOLK — The Old Dominion College Department of Music will present Herbert Watson, clarinetist, in recital Saturday, at 8:15 p.m. in the Hughes Library Assembly Hall. Watson, a senior music major, has a double major in clarinet and composition. He is a clarinet student of Professor Herbert L. Sebrun, member of the ODC college faculty and first clarinetist with the Norfolk Symphony Orchestra. He has studied composition under Dr. Charles Vogan, chairman of the ODC Department of Music. The recital will mark the first for the college by a music graduate in clarinet.

Suntan Not Good For TV Color Program

As a former chorus girl in Sam Snyder's Water Folies, Carleen Anderson is living proof that chlorine in swimming pools has no ill effects on a girl's complexion.

Carleen is one of NBC-TV's "color girls," a job that involves sitting before color TV cameras while technicians electronically adjust color tones, using her complexion as a base color. This takes place before every color program and requires anywhere from three to 25 minutes, depending upon lighting and camera requirements.

Thus, Carleen's talents are virtually skin deep. Her complexion is—and must be at all times—flawless.

She wears special makeup. "My lipstick does not tint the lips but lets the natural skin color show through," she explained. "I wear special powder that is transparent. But the eye liner and mascara I use is the same as that sold in any drug store."

It is important Carleen not expose herself to the sun for any excessive length of time. She recalls, "Once I came back from Florida with a lovely tan and the color video man was quite upset. He wants my complexion as it is, with no tan."

When she's before the color cameras, Carleen usually wears a gray scarf. Gray is a natural color and brings out the color of her hair, eyes, lips and skin.

"One of the most beautiful women I've ever seen on color television," she says, "was Maureen O'Hara, with her cream-colored skin, green eyes and red hair."

Carleen is a Natick, Mass., girl who began a career in show-business with Sam Snyder's Water Folies. "I was an aqua belle," she said, "which means I swam in the chorus. I joined the show in Boston because I thought it was coming to Madison Square Garden in New York."

When the show hit Newfoundland, Carleen jumped pool and came to New York. She heard of an opening for NBC's "color girl," applied for the job and was hired. That was 1957 and the job was supposed to last two weeks.

She has since had more time before the color cameras than most established TV stars. Her "color girl" duties have enabled her to meet Laurence Olivier, Alec Guinness, Rosalind Russell and Ethel Merman.

Carleen has no special remedy for developing a beautiful complexion. "I don't even remember eating spinach when I was a kid."

Her dietary habits are rather omnivorous for a model professionally dependent upon her skin texture. She says:

"I do drink lots of milk but I eat about anything I want. I eat wheat germ every morning to give me energy and I keep my skin as clean as possible at all times."

SOME GAME... TV and film starlet Chris Noel is said to have created greater interest in golf by appearing as queen of the recent Tournament of Champions golf classic.

Beautiful Shirley Knight plays Richard Widmark's ill-fated wife in "Flight From Ashiya," opening in Eastman-color and Panavision today at the Princess Theatre, through United Artists release.

Round Table: What Hope for Commuters? • Great Fishing Around the World
We Need More Bicycle Paths BY PAUL DUDLEY WHITE, M.D.

Suburbia Today

In This Issue . . .

Hope for Commuters?

... page 8

Part of the price of living in the peaceful suburbs is the not-so-peaceful task of getting to work and home again. For this month's Round Table we asked the editors of suburban papers across the country how their communities were handling the commutation problem. See how their answers size up with the progress in your town.

Go on Bicycle Paths

Dr. Paul Dudley White, who runs a one-man campaign to get the nation on two wheels, tells why he loves the simple sport of cycling and why he wants to build more paths to make it safe for others to enjoy. (Watch out, he'll sell you on the idea, and you'll want a bicycle under the Christmas tree, too.)

... page 20

The next time your wife groans when you mention a fishing trip—here's a shock device that will get her packing to go in minutes. Promise her a cruise to New Zealand, stopping in on Hawaii, Tahiti, and Samoa; or a romantic jaunt to Bolivia (Lake Titicaca) or the Irish glens. That's where the big ones are, according to a champion who has seen 30-lb. rainbows down under.

... page 28

It's June, time for some good healthy gardening. Healthy, perhaps, but relaxing, no, because likely your sty neighbor will be out to grow a better garden than yours, that will baffle your All-American marrow. Take heart. We're on your side and have prepared a blow-by-blow guide to victory.

On the Cover

Artist Don Higgins shows Dad attempting to have a man-to-man talk with his suddenly very adult offspring. (It was lots easier to get the multiplication table across, Dad thinks.) And how does Junior feel about this mature study? He wonders how he's going to get Dad straightened on a few essential points.

GETTING AROUND

... to Our Pleasant Places and People

LYRICISTS TAKE NOTE! Earle J. Grant of Doraville, Georgia, has seen a genuine "moonbow." "It's a rainbowlike arc formed in the mist of Cumberland Falls near Corvin, Kentucky," he says. "That's the only place in the United States where you can see it." And—an added romantic touch—it only appears on a full moon.

A small friend of ours from Flossmoor, Illinois, was busily typing a "thank you" letter to her grandmother the other day when her mother walked in.

"How are you doing, dear?" the girl was asked. "Fine, Mommy," answered our small friend. "But how do you make an excitement mark on the typewriter?"

Teen-age volunteers in Richfield, Minnesota, will save money for their town this summer by repainting the six concrete warming houses at the public skating rinks and the 14 wooden ones and by clearing a path around Wood Lake. The idea came to the Village Council when they discovered that it would cost $10,000 for the concrete houses alone, and now the kids in Richfield, who will be directed by the recreation department, are eager to get started. The Boy Scouts and the American Youth Hostel members are among those volunteering time and strength. As an added incentive (although these boys and girls don't seem to need one), Mayor Stanley W. Olson says that they might be given free tickets to the municipal swimming pool and to the major-league ball games played in nearby Bloomington.

How would you like to own a castle? Germany has about 15,000 of them to give away—free. Stephen Goertl of Bedford Hills, New York, has just returned with a report on one of them—Hans Horst, built in Rheydt on the lower Rhine in 1618 and now owned by the municipality, which can no longer afford repairs. In fact, this is the catch with all of them. You must pay for upkeep (no minor job with a castle that's 500 years old or more). But if you're game, write to Professor Hans Spiegel of the German Castles Society, Deutsche Burgenvereinigung, 5423 Brunsbach-on-Rhine, Marksburg, Germany, and he'll set you up with the real thing—turrets, a moat, and maybe even a ghost.

First on the Atlantic... First on the Pacific... First in Latin America... First 'Round the World

That wonderful Pan Am feeling

It's a feeling reserved for travelers who choose Pan Am.

Wherever they go—Europe, Africa, the Caribbean, Central or South America, Asia, throughout the Pacific or 'Round the World—they feel better because they're flying Pan Am. No wonder. Pan Am is the World's Most Experienced Airline.

Pan Am's Experience means more to them—and to you—than all that we or anyone else can offer you on a Jet trip.

It means more than the convenience of hundreds of Pan Am flights linking major U.S. cities with the world, more than cuisine by Maxim's of Paris and matchless cabin service.

It goes much deeper than the fact that Pan Am's flight and maintenance crews are trained to U.S. standards, highest in the world.

It goes far beyond the fact that Pan Am can be your home away from home, where you can get travel help—and get it in English—in 900 offices throughout the world.

It has everything to do with your frame of mind—the sure feeling that's yours when you know that you've chosen to fly the very best there is: the World's Most Experienced Airline.

Anyone who has ever tried to lose 10 pounds would sympathize with Robert A. Platt of Lincolnwood, Illinois. Mr. Platt, however, has had literally tons of help in breaking the eating habit ever since he became a member of PLAY, INC., a nonprofit organization of fat men meeting every Tuesday night in Skokie. Through mass therapy the PLAYERS have been able to encourage one another to shake a total of 2,400 pounds in their first year, without pills, exercise, or starvation diets. Comparatively, Mr. Platt, who took the pledge at 181 pounds—he now weighs 178—is emaciated, and as the thinnest one in the group he has become a conversation piece. A baker who weighs in at 348 pounds claims he weighed more when he was born than Robert Platt does now, and a 237-pound process server says he has lost more than Platt weighs—which is perfectly true!

Remember a little batch of "businesses" we ran in our April issue? They inspired L. Redig of Garfield Heights, Ohio, to further excesses, as follows:

How's the lollipop business? Taking a licking.

How's the dressmaking business? So, so.

How's the diaper business? Hitting bottom.

How's the bakery business? Needs dough.

How's the beauty parlor business? Cut and dried.

Just in time for June comes this king-size romantic story from Anne Myers Allison of Oak Park, Illinois, about her former classmate, Mrs. Joseph Catalano. When Mrs. Catalano, a widow, went to a church conference for widows and widowers, she met a Mr. Frank Infanger with whom she found she had a lot in common. He had five children under 10 and as luck would have it, so did she. Soon wedding bells chimed and all 12 Infangers went house hunting in Oak Park, where they found a roomy Victorian house which had been waiting for a family such as theirs. So he sold his old house and she sold hers, and they moved into the new one and set up on a scale that would do credit to a small hotel. Mrs. Infanger, a cheery size-10 blonde, now cooks 24 eggs for breakfast in her roomy Victorian kitchen.

MERCURY... THE CAR THAT MADE THE STATION WAGON BEAUTIFUL

At one time you had to sacrifice beauty to gain the extra room in a wagon. Over the years, Mercury led the way in changing that. The room was kept, in fact increased (now 99.2 cu. ft. — just about the biggest there is). But Mercury knew that with most owners the station wagon is their only car. It has to do triple duty... as a family car, a "dress-up" car, and a cargo carrier. Mercury made it beautiful... luxurious inside. Just how beautiful you can see in the picture above. GETTING AROUND Continued from page 5

Pete is a 14-month-old squirrel monkey who lives in Glendale, Wisconsin, with his owners, Billy and Johnny Reicherts. Recently we heard about the boys being given a dice and checkers game which they love to play whenever they have a chance. Pete—who is out of his cage much of the time—always watched. Then one evening he disappeared and so did the game. They finally found him under the couch with the checkerboard in front of him, madly rolling the dice toward six checkers neatly arranged in a row. And so it went for 45 minutes—monkey see, monkey do. Pete knows how to turn the lights on, too.

You may have heard of the cure for insomnia in which you have some fresh lettuce or parsley and a cup of warm milk before you go to bed, and then you settle down to concentrate on the sounds of your own breathing. Presto—dreamland! But Mrs. F. B. Van Dyke of North Merrick, New York, uses more dramatic means. Putting her head calmly on the pillows, she closes her eyes and imagines a huge black wall. Then starting way up at the top (that's right, stretch), she pretends to paint on it very, very slowly a huge white "3." Thankfully, she admits, she never has to finish it because she's fast asleep before she gets to the bottom.

Sally Ruft of Birmingham, Michigan, writes about a friend whose son appeared at the breakfast table one morning in a white shirt, tie, and his best sports jacket. "What on earth is going on at school today?" asked his startled mother. "Well, see, there's this girl—she's a cheerleader for the team we're playing today," he mumbled, then dashed off. When he returned that night his mother asked, "Did you have a good time—at the dance after the game, I mean—with, er, the little cheerleader?" "Well, sort of," he replied. "I saw her and she said 'Hi.' So then I said 'Hi,' too."

A Marletta, Georgia, minister was telling his congregation where he got the material for his sermons and how "outside interest" groups deluge clergymen with topics to expound from the pulpit. "For example," he said, "the fire chief regularly urges me to emphasize fire prevention—what else does he think I've been doing all these years?"

Back from the days of Tin Lizzies, white flannels, and handsome moustaches come the band concerts in the park, which are going to be held this summer in Ladue, Des Peres, Lemay, and other suburbs of St. Louis, Missouri. Gus Popstingl and his Viennese Grenadiers will open in Lemay, June 16th, and there will be 12 other bands giving concerts in other parks all through the summer. Admission will be free, just as it was in the good old days, part of a public service presented by a civic-minded brewing corporation in cooperation with the American Federation of Musicians and the St. Louis Department of Parks and Recreation.

WHAT HOPE

Edited by GEORGE FIELDING ELIOT

TODAY'S COMMUTER has plenty of problems—a survey of conditions all over the country, made through local papers, leaves no doubt about that. The wonder perhaps is that we manage to get back and forth as well as we do.

The people who have it the best nowadays, by their own account, are the ones who are still riding the rails. Where the standard pattern of the 7:55 a.m.-5:25 p.m. surge to and from the city prevails, the towns which still have rail service are trying hard to hang on to it or to revive it where it has been discontinued. But rail service for commuters does not pay; railroads are in business to make money, which they do by hauling freight. So the railroads, with few exceptions, want "out" of the commuter business.

There are other problems for the rail commuter, too. Congestion at suburban stations is one; on the Boston and Philadelphia services the railroads are issuing park-and-ride tickets which help this problem—at a price. Getting to and from the station is another problem—usually it means a twice-a-day chauffeuring chore for the little woman, or a two-car family with Daddy parking his jalopy at the station all day. Then there is the trip to and from the office once a man is in the big city. Redwood City tells us the terminal in San Francisco averages so far from job locations that it often takes their commuters longer to get from station to office than to make the 27-mile rail journey.

Over all hangs the dark cloud of how to make the railroads go on losing money. This involves what one of our correspondents calls a deadly cycle: Poorer service, higher fares, declining patronage, still poorer service, and so on. Many bus companies appear to be in much the same spot.

The answer seems to be that if rail service is to keep the flow of commuters moving, it will have to be subsidized or wholly maintained, even newly built, by public funds. When faced with these costs, there has been much taxpayer resistance, notably in California but also around Washington, D.C., Atlanta, and Detroit, where large-scale rapid transit systems are being considered. In the Boston, Pittsburgh, and St. Louis metropolitan regions, some plans include making use of abandoned tracks and right of ways which are still available.

But even if adequate rail service were restored the trains couldn't provide all the answers now. With so many industries and offices moving out of the city, more and more people would be unable to get to work by taking a train direct from one point to another. They need their cars to fan out from home to the new places of business that are locating all over the countryside.

Finally, most Americans love automobiles and prefer to drive themselves to work if they can. Out of 56 publishers reporting from all over the country, two-thirds said that commuting by car was the method of choice in the towns they cover—and they speak for hundreds of thousands of commuters. Most often, it is one man to one car (have you ever driven into Detroit on Woodward Avenue on a weekday morning between 8 and 9?), so it's a twice-a-day "bump and grind," mile after fuming mile, to say nothing of the expense and trouble of arranging for all-day parking in the choked city. And while the volume of traffic grows, new road building lags well behind. Total motor-vehicle registration in the United States rose 50%, 1950 to 1960; mileage of surfaced roads rose only 33 1/4 %.

THE JAM-UPS are real, and they seem likely to continue. From Richfield, Minnesota, we hear that "heroic police work reduces a colossal problem to one that is merely tremendous" on a twice-a-day, five-days-a-week basis. Two cars per family is standard equipment in many places. Group riding, popular during wartime when gas was in short supply, is still used, but sparingly. Graylake, Illinois, among other places, reports that groups of riders will sometimes buy a special car which they use just for commuting. From points as far apart as La Grange Park, Illinois, and Los Gatos, California, complaints are registered (presumably of feminine origin) that the strains and stresses of the daily struggle on the freeway result in increased martini consumption before dinner can be served.

Delays due to weather conditions are noted in many reports as adversely affecting commutation by car. From Buechel, Kentucky, we hear of "Operation Snow," a plan by the mayor of Louisville in which business firms stagger working hours during bad-weather periods, so no peak volume of traffic is reached during the day.

There is no one answer that fits all the situations, but when you get down to cases there are some bright spots.

Consider the two happy Barringtons—Rhode Island and Illinois. Barrington, Rhode Island, has good, fast motor roads to Providence, also waterways to the city which are open for use all through the fair-weather months, and a helicopter service is coming up for executives of a plant which has moved into the country. Barrington, Illinois, is on the Chicago & North Western, one of the few railroads which do a good job for commuters and still manage to break even, by using freight-hauling diesel locomotives for commuter service in between long-distance freight runs.

LA GRANGE PARK, ILLINOIS, speaks well of the Burlington's service; the Southern Pacific gets a pat on the back from Redwood City, California; and Somerville, New Jersey, has a love affair with the Jersey Central, which is shared by other communities along that line.

Many of the publishers we queried feel that new freeways are the best answer for their local jams, and certainly they will help absorb some of the pressure, especially as more employment opens up in the suburbs, making a more flexible pattern and reducing congestion on the road net that centers on the city. Yet from Shaker Heights, Ohio, which has a fine rapid-transit line right into downtown Cleveland, we hear that "all the eastern suburbs are now battling to prevent the building of unwanted, unneeded freeways by the county engineer, that would butcher the communities these freeways would profess to serve. We prefer our lakes, homes, and woodlands to concrete ribbons which are proposed just because Federal funds are available to take care of 90% of the cost."

FOR COMMUTERS?

For some, commuting is a breeze, our countrywide survey shows—for many others it bites three solid weeks of time out of every year

Lafayette, in California's Bay Area, has doubts about its proposed rapid-transit system, however: "Many homes will eventually have to be vacated for track and stations." But the planning engineers in this area say that a freeway system with the same peak-load capacity would eat up four times as much land as the proposed rail system (1,360 acres as against 325), besides costing five times as much. A four-lane freeway occupies about 15 acres of ground per mile of road, not counting the extra space needed for interchanges and approaches. The city of San Francisco itself is thoroughly fed up with state-built freeways that have invaded its streets on huge elevated steel structures "while the shining city slept" and obstruct ("deface" is the local word) the view of many historic structures.

THE MOST PRACTICAL immediate relief for some of us appears to be in the direction of tax-supported rapid-transit radiating from the central city to suburban stations or the subsidizing of existing rail service where heavy local traffic to and from the city seems likely to continue. Elsewhere, especially where job locations are becoming widely scattered, the automobile will have to do the commuter hauling, along with buses.

For the future, some highly interesting prospects are almost within reach. These eventually may bring about great changes. Engineers are working on an automated highway, on which cars can be electronically controlled to move at high-speeds without driver attention till they arrive at the side roads leading to their destination. Increased use of water courses, with hydro-foil-type high-speed vehicles, is another improvement to come. Our Highland Park publisher reports that the Chicago & North Western is already selling a summertime ticket which provides a boat ride on the Chicago River to enable east-of-the-Loop commuters to reach the station pleasantly. Helicopters and short-take-off planes will be cheaper and facilities for them more widely available. Upcoming, too, are ground-effect machines. They move over land or water on a bubble of air, requiring no expensive right of ways.

But for right now, the commuter must ride the rails or ride the roads, and if he travels by car to a job in the city, he has to face the question of parking when he gets to town. For many, the twice-a-day rush hour remains part of the price of suburban living—and more and more seem willing to pay the price cheerfully and even to see the ante raised if that has to happen.

A famous doctor says

We Need More Bicycle Paths—

Let's Go!

BY PAUL DUDLEY WHITE, M. D. with Curtis Mitchell

OUR SOUL is in our brain—a fact to which our clergy and psychiatrists should pay more attention. Our brain is nourished by our heart and our active muscles. Bicycles are an answer for both brain and body. If more of us rode them, we would have a sharp reduction in the use of tranquilizers and sleeping pills.

As a physician, I have recommended cycling to many patients as a way of keeping fit, provided their condition is suitable and provided they can cycle safely. And I advise cycling for healthy people to help keep them healthy.

In the first place, it is an aid to good muscle tone, much needed by the American people today. It aids the circulation, and thereby the work, by keeping the blood moving.

It aids the lungs through good tone of the diaphragm and makes it easier to bring oxygen into the body and pump out carbon dioxide.

It aids the nerves by improving sleep and maintaining equanimity and sanity.

It aids our digestion and it may even protect against peptic ulcers provided we don't try to establish a new speed record every day.

It aids our weight control if, at the same time, we keep the caloric and fat content of our diet where they belong.

It probably aids our longevity (like any other healthful exercise) in reducing the amount of high blood pressure, coronary thrombosis, and diabetes which have engulfed us, although the certainty of this must be further determined by research.

And there are other benefits:

The bicycle costs little to own and operate. It can stand hard use. It requires no fuel. It can traverse all types of roads; if a road is blocked, the rider can walk and remount at the next clearing. Accidents are rare. And it saves acres of parking space, too.

Most important, I feel, is that the bicycle permits us to become acquainted again with the beauties of nature and with people. Though we get places fastest by airplane, it is a common experience that we see the least en route. But the bicycle, of all methods of transportation, gives us a chance to enjoy the countryside through which we ride and to meet its citizens.

I speak from personal experience. As a boy, I had a bicycle and used it in play and in going to school and doing errands. In those days, 50 or more years ago, there were few automobiles in the streets and cycling was relatively safe. As a freshman going to college, I used to ride my bicycle to Cambridge from where I lived in Roxbury and back again, a distance of five miles each way, and this was easy and practical. In later years, I took many bicycle trips with my wife in Europe, where they had developed much better facilities. This was especially true, in Holland where we spent a week cycling around the country on paths both broad and narrow reserved entirely for cyclists.

Finally, in our personal experience, our family continues to ride bicycles, although more in the country where we have a small place at Harvard, Massachusetts, 35 miles outside Boston. During recent summers, my son and I have cycled around Martha's Vineyard. We put our bicycles on the train leaving Boston for Woods Hole, transport them across a short bit of water by boat to Vineyard Haven, and after a good night's sleep, we start off and cycle via Tisbury, Squibnocket, and Gay Head to Edgartown, where we spend the second night. One day's ride covers about 35 miles. It is easy and pleasant and because we are not accustomed to cycling very much, it leaves us pleasantly tired at the end of the day.

Which brings me to the vital issue. How do we get such trips? How can this wonderful means of transportation and exercise be made safe today and tomorrow?

OBVIOUSLY, we need many more bicycle paths. We need them in every town, in every park, municipal or national, and in every state. When my father was a young man, he and his friends once rode from Boston to Albany to New York and back to Boston, completing a triangular journey of hundreds of miles. It is impossible to conceive of such a trip today, with trucks and motorcars roaring along at 70 miles per hour. But a similar opportunity should be re-established, though on the less-traveled ways.

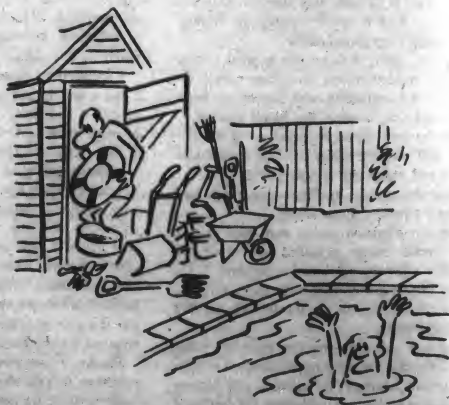

It can be done and it is being done in small beginnings in many places. A case in point is Homestead, Florida, where just one bicycle-riding couple became imbued with the idea of establishing safe routes through their town for exercise and

BUY FOOD SECURITY! BUY A FRIGIDAIRE FREEZER!

Hundreds of dollars worth of meat, fruit and vegetables will go into the food freezer you buy. So you need the sure knowledge that your freezer has the quality, features and built-in performance that can mean food security. Food security—that's what you get—with every Frigidaire freezer.

Who else could know as much about refrigeration? Who else has quality features like these for years and years of quiet, reliable zero-some cold... years and years of food security.

REAL FOOD PROTECTION Frigidaire insulation is specially installed to prevent "warm spots" which can result in costly food spoilage. And the seal around the door edges has a continuous magnet built in to insure tighter door closing.

LOW OPERATING COSTS Every Frigidaire freezer has the Motor-Mixer, one of the most efficient types of refrigerating devices ever invented. And every model has the Frigidaire Non-Clog condenser which never clogs with dirt or lint, never needs cleaning, never uses extra electricity to overcome a clogged condition.

STURDIER CONSTRUCTION Cabinet corners are reinforced for extra strength. Doors are cross-braced inside to help prevent warp and to help keep them tight and true for years.

FACTORY-TRAINED SERVICE It's unlikely that your Frigidaire freezer will ever need servicing, but it's reassuring to know that there are factory trained servicemen throughout the country.

PICNIC TABLE

... Under a Blue Sky

ON-THE-WING APPETIZERS

- 30 (about 2½ lbs.) chicken wing drums (thickest portion of wing)
- | | |
|--------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| ¼ teaspoon salt | ¼ teaspoon monosodium glutamate |
| ¼ cup soy sauce | ¼ teaspoon ground ginger |
| ¼ cup spiced peach sirup | 1 tablespoon lemon juice |
| 2 tablespoons sugar | 5 drops liquid hot pepper seasoning |
| | 1 clove garlic, minced |

1. Put the chicken wing drums on rack on an aluminum foil-lined baking sheet or broiler pan; sprinkle with salt.
2. Mix remaining ingredients together thoroughly; brush sauce generously on wing drums.
3. Roast at 350°F about 1 hr., or until wing drums are golden brown and tender, turning and brushing the chicken pieces frequently with the sauce. Cool.
4. For easy toting to the picnic, pile appetizers into a casserole and cover.

About 10 servings

HAM WITH CREAMY FROSTING

- | | |
|---------------------------------|---------------------------|
| 1 tablespoon cold water | ¼ teaspoon sugar |
| 1 tablespoon wine vinegar | ¼ teaspoon garlic salt |
| 1½ teaspoons unflavored gelatin | ¼ teaspoon dry mustard |
| 1½ cups dairy sour cream | ¼ teaspoon water |
| 3 tablespoons mayonnaise | ½ cup unipped water cress |
| | Canned ham, chilled |

1. Sprinkle gelatin evenly over the 1 tablespoon water and vinegar; let stand 5 min. to soften. Dissolve gelatin completely over very hot water.
2. Meanwhile, blend together the next four ingredients and a mixture of the dry mustard and ¼ teaspoon water.
3. Add dissolved gelatin gradually, stirring until thoroughly blended. Chill until mixture begins to gel (becomes slightly thicker). If chilled over ice and water, stir frequently; if chilled in refrigerator, stir occasionally.
4. When gelatin mixture is of desired consistency, blend in the water cress thoroughly.
5. Spread frosting evenly over the sides and top of a canned ham.

*One frosted ham
(About 1½ cups frosting)*

Note: The ham may be frosted at home and kept chilled until time for the picnic, or the ham and frosting may be packed separately and the ham frosted just before serving.

KIDNEY BEAN SALAD

Combine drained kidney beans, chopped sweet pickles, hard-cooked eggs, and onions; toss lightly with salad dressing thinned with a small amount of the sweet pickle liquid. Chill salad thoroughly and serve garnished with water cress or other salad greens, if desired.

Note: For additional flavor, allow the drained kidney beans to marinate in some of the pickle liquid for several hours.

Choose a spot as pretty as this for a gay, successful picnic. Along with food that has been readied at home, such favorites as grilled hot dogs, buns, relishes, corn-on-the-cob, potato chips, chocolate marshmallows for toasting, and a giant pot of coffee are all part of a bountiful table for outdoor dining.

POTATO SALAD IN WINE DRESSING

- | | |
|---|---|
| 6 large potatoes (about 3 lbs.), cooked, peeled, and sliced or cubed while warm | 1½ cups salad oil |
| ½ lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced lengthwise through caps and stems | 1½ teaspoons salt |
| 2 env. Italian salad dressing mix | ¼ teaspoon black pepper |
| ¾ cup dry white wine | 6 slices bacon, cut in pieces and fried |
| | 1 cup sliced or cubed pared cucumber |
| | ½ cup chopped onion |
| | ¼ cup chopped pimiento |

1. Combine salad dressing mix, wine, salad oil, salt, and pepper. Shake vigorously until thoroughly blended.
2. Toss warm sliced potatoes and mushrooms in a large bowl with the wine dressing. Marinate about 2 hrs. at room temperature, tossing occasionally.
3. Add bacon, cucumber, onion, and pimiento to marinated potatoes. Toss lightly. Chill thoroughly.
4. Turn salad into a chilled serving dish and arrange deviled eggs and green pepper rings with carrot sticks in center around the salad, if desired.

8 to 10 servings

FRESH FRUIT PUNCH

Pour chilled ginger ale or lemon-lime carbonated beverage over ice and assorted fresh fruits in a glass pitcher. The colorful pieces of fruit floating in the carbonated beverage in the pitcher add to the fiesta mood of the picnic.

- | | |
|------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| 3 cups sifted cake flour | ¼ teaspoon ground cloves |
| 1½ teaspoons baking powder | ¼ cup butter |
| ¼ teaspoon baking soda | 1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar |
| ¼ teaspoon salt | 1 cup sugar |
| 1½ teaspoons ground cinnamon | 5 eggs, well beaten |
| ¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg | 1½ cups buttermilk |
| ½ teaspoon ground allspice | |

1. Grease bottom only of a 13 x 9½ x 2-in. pan; set aside.
2. Sift the first eight ingredients together; set aside.
3. Cream the butter until softened. Add the sugars gradually, creaming well after each addition.
4. Add the well-beaten eggs in thirds, beating thoroughly after each addition.
5. Beating only until smooth after each addition, alternately add dry ingredients in fourths and buttermilk in thirds to creamed mixture. Turn batter into pan and spread to corners.
6. Bake at 350°F 40 to 45 min., or until cake tester or wooden pick inserted in center of cake comes out clean. Remove to cooling rack; cool completely in pan.
7. Frost with Caramel Frosting and decorate with walnut halves.

(Adolph's helps keep meat juicy even over hot barbecue fires)

Instant Adolph's does much more than simply make meat tender. It reduces cooking time and cuts meat shrinkage up to 25%. Adolph's holds the good, natural, flavor-making meat juices inside... so they don't sizzle away over hot barbecue fires. Preparation time takes less than a minute. Simply follow other directions on label. Use Instant Adolph's Meat Tenderizer, either Seasoned or Unseasoned, on any meat every time you barbecue. Look for the Adolph's "Cookout Service Center" in your supermarket.

CARAMEL FROSTING

- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup butter
- 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup cream
- $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups sifted confectioners' sugar

1. Melt butter in a heavy skillet over low heat. Blend in the brown sugar and cream. Stirring constantly, bring to boiling and cook for 1 min., or until sugar is completely dissolved.

2. Remove from heat, transfer to a bowl, and cool to lukewarm (110°F).

3. When sirup is cooled, gradually add the confectioners' sugar, beating until blended after each addition. If necessary, continue beating until thick enough to spread. $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups frosting

MAPLE ICE CREAM SUPERB

- $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups maple sirup
- 6 cups chilled cream
- 1 tablespoon vanilla extract
- $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt

1. Wash, scald, and drain the cover, container, and dasher of a 4-qt. ice cream freezer; chill thoroughly before using. Crushed ice and rock salt will be needed for use in freezer tub.

2. Pour maple sirup into a medium-sized saucepan. Bring rapidly to boiling and boil to reduce to $1\frac{1}{4}$ cups, about 15 min. Remove from heat and cool.

3. Blend together the cream, extract, and salt. Add the cooled maple sirup gradually, while stirring constantly until thoroughly blended.

4. Fill freezer container two-thirds full with ice-cream mixture. Cover tightly. Set in freezer tub. (For electric freezer, follow manufacturer's directions.) Fill tub with alternate layers of 8 parts crushed ice and 1 part rock salt.

5. Turn freezer handle slowly 5 min. Turn rapidly until handle becomes difficult to turn, adding more ice and salt as needed. Wipe lid free of ice and salt and remove dasher. Pack down ice cream and cover with aluminum foil or other moisture-vaporproof material. Replace lid and fill opening for dasher with cork. Carefully pour water out of freezer tub, if necessary. Repeat freezer using 4 parts crushed ice and 1 part rock salt. Cover with heavy paper or cloth. Allow to ripen 2 to 3 hrs. About 3 qts. ice cream

STRAWBERRY ICE CREAM SUPERB

Follow recipe for Maple Ice Cream Superb omitting maple sirup and decreasing vanilla extract to 1 teaspoon. Force $1\frac{1}{4}$ qts. fresh strawberries through a sieve or food mill. Blend in $2\frac{3}{4}$ cups sugar and 1 tablespoon lemon juice, then the mixture of cream, extract, and salt.

BRINGING UP BABY,*
HINTS COLLECTED
BY MRS. DAN GERBER
MOTHER OF FIVE

who's an adventurer?

Your baby, of course. As you watch his progress you'll see how daring your darling can be...reaching, grabbing, pushing, pulling, rolling over, sitting up, "fourwalking," standing. Know any adult who has so many projects going?

Adventures in eating
According to a baby expert I know, babies in the 4-to-18-months group are more apt to be adventurous about trying new food varieties than those in the 2-to-3-year group. What better reason for serving a variety of Gerber taste delights to develop a future "gourmet"? And, if you rotate colors and kinds of food you really stimulate appetite interest.

Meat of the matter
Adventurers need plenty of get-up-and-grow foods. Protein foods, the big contributors to growth and strength. Gerber Strained and Junior Meats are high in protein, also offer significant amounts of iron and B-vitamins. Made from special cuts selected by Armour, they're carefully processed to preserve true-meat flavors and insure a smooth, moist texture. Nine strained and seven junior meats, including Meat and Chicken Sticks.

P.S. For a rather nice change of taste, you might try mixing baby's meat with mashed potato. For a toddler, any junior meat added to a stuffed baked potato is marvelous.

Specialty Story

As a mother, it should be reassuring to know that your baby's meats are the result of the efforts of two specialists—Gerber, famous for fine baby foods and Armour, famous for fine meats. Together they developed an exclusive cooking method that makes these meats so gloriously good. Together Gerber and Armour experts control the quality during every step of processing.

Up and at 'em
Once your baby gets the least bit mobile, assorted bumps, plops and bruises are unavoidable. Comfort is in order but it isn't wise to oversympathize. Being too protective may actually instill a fear of trying new adventures.

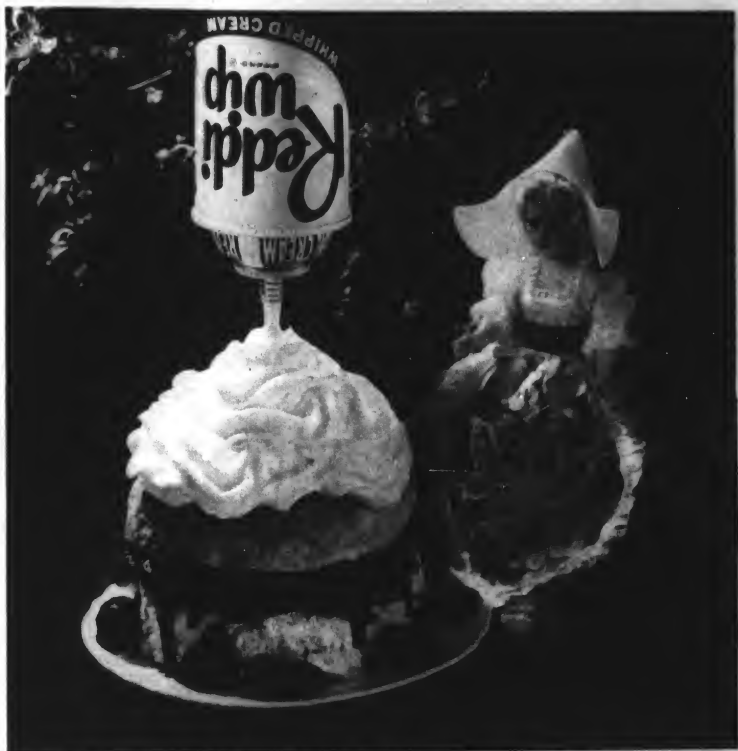

Variety review

Gerber prepares over 100 baby foods—infant formulas, cereals, strained and junior foods—to meet your baby's nutritional needs. We're proud to say:

Where in the World Are the BIG ONES?

The rainbows weighed 10 ... 20 ... 30 pounds—take an armchair trip with this truthful fisherman

BY CHARLES R. MEYER

THE WORLD is small now and the fish are big—just as it should be. And I believe any fisherman in his senses should contemplate fantastic prospects—the crystal rivers of New Zealand, Lake Titicaca, the misty Decade—because these great fishing grounds, after all, are as near in time as our own north woods, and contemplation might very well end with a vaccination and a passport and a trip you'll never regret.

Where, for instance, would you go fishing?

I'd head for New Zealand as fast as a plane or one of the cruise ships will travel. You'll get there most quickly by jet, of course. On the other hand, consider the pleasures of the "slow-down" approach, sailing across the Pacific and stopping at Hawaii, Tahiti, and Samoa.

Zane Grey called New Zealand the angler's "El Dorado" when he explored the area years ago. Having just got back from a long fishing trip of my own, I know he was right—those rainbows and browns give you the best of all trout fishing.

The most popular angling area is Lake Taupo on North Island and nearby Rotorua. In a normal season, over five hundred tons of trout are taken from Taupo and its tributaries! The lake is 25 miles long and 17 miles at its widest point with a depth averaging about 400 to 500 feet. Draining into the waterway through scrub and brush are rivers like the Tongariro, famous for its beautiful and productive trout pools.

New Zealanders, nicknamed "Kiwis" after a flightless bird found in the country, troll deep in the lake and fly-cast the rivers. Four-pound fish are average; 20- and 30-pound rainbows are not unknown. I have seen a brown weighing 13 pounds, caught one tipping the scales at 10, and lost a few that might (and might not) have been bigger.

How do they grow so big? Perhaps the size of the fishing population is part of the answer. The Kiwi population, fewer than 2,000,000, makes little impression on fish inhabiting the countless waterways of a country covering over 100,000 square miles.

As an angler goes south, brown trout become more plentiful. In rivers like the Clinton and the Cledau, where the waters run crystal clear, you can see them against the sandy beds. Quinnet salmon run in the streams from the Southern Alps to the Canterbury Plains—the Waimakariri, Hurunui, Rakai, Rangitikei, and Waitaki. The Atlantic salmon is confined to the Waiata River system with the best sport to be found at the outlets from Lakes Te Anau and Manapouri.

IT'S A GORGEOUS prospect, but you may not make the most of it your first time down under because there's a ski run in the Mt. Cook area that starts with an airplane ride and ends after a 15-mile run down the face of a glacier . . . a huge underground chamber at Waiatomo that's dimly lit by the glow of a small worm called Arachnocampa luminosa . . . a waterfall in the Milford Sound region that cascades in great leaps in a two thousand-foot drop . . . a section in the Southern Alps with 27 peaks soaring over 10,000 feet . . . a golf course in almost every town and village . . . and horse and trotting races almost every day of the year.

Tasmania is 1,000 miles due east of Wellington, and once you're in the area, maybe you should go there. It's one of the most mountainous islands in the world, but much of the landscape bears a close resemblance to the English countryside, hawthorn hedges included. The lower Mersey River and Lake Crescent produce 15-pound trout annually. In this part of the world the big ones are all around you. You could do equally well, for that matter, in Australia, in the Snowy Mountain region of New South Wales.

For another great fishing trip I recommend Lake Titicaca—the Incas thought it was sacred, and to fishermen it should be. Lying to the west of La Paz, Bolivia, about three hours by car or train, it is the highest navigable body of water in the Gordon's & Tonic: English invention for coping with the noonday sun.

A retired English colonel, vividly recalling the heat of India, created the first Gin & Tonic nearly 75 years ago. Did he use Gordon's? Undoubtedly. For Gordon's had already been a favoured English gin for over a century. Since then, gin-drinkers have found Gordon's & Tonic refreshing as a sun-downer, too. And they have found that Gordon's is the indispensable ingredient in a host of summer drinks, from Tom Collin's to Orange Blossoms. Not to mention the cocktail-for-all-seasons, the glorious Gordon's Martini. Hot enough for you? Tell the man "Gordon's", the biggest-selling gin in England, America, the world.

world and the largest lake on the continent. There are the ruins of lost civilizations moldering in the jungles round the shores, and in its depths you'll find 20- to 30-pound catfish waiting.

Since there are few insects at this high altitude, the trout show more preference for spoons and plugs than flies. Boats are available at the Bolivian Yacht Club at Pustajata; Indian reed craft at Tiquina Narrows or Copacabana. Breathing the thin high-country air at altitudes where the native Aymaran Indians have developed outside hungs in order to survive, you may be content with trolling rather than wading the tributary streams.

For that matter, don't expect record fish in most of South America without considerable physical discomfort. Aside from isolated spots like Titicaca and such Chilean lakes as Villarrica or the San Pedro River, the best fishing is way off the beaten track. If you visit Argentina, by all means try the Nahuel Huapi Lake on the Andean border near Chile. The Llao-Llao Hotel runs a charter service, guaranteeing trout as well as an occasional salmon.

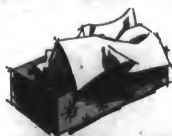

FINALLY, I DON'T KNOW ANY PLACE in the world where I'd rather fish than the British Isles. Perhaps it's the picturesque surroundings and creature comforts; perhaps the long and cherished tradition of sports and the out of doors. The old snobbery and waterway restrictions have largely been eliminated and the tourist-angler is welcomed now—really welcomed. You can take salmon in Scotland on the Tweed, Tay, Dee, Spey, and Helmsdale. In Wales, try the Wye, Usk, Welsh Dee, Dovey, Teifi, Clwyd or the Towy. Northern Ireland has the Claudy, Agivey, the feeders of the Lough Neagh such as the Main. The Glens of Antrim rivers have good runs.

Wherever you go fishing, make your plans for your vacation abroad well in advance so that you have reservations before arriving. Ask your travel agent and the government bureau for all the help you can get. Carry your own basic tackle since replacement parts and lures won't be easy to secure in some spots. As a last word of advice, when you start out on a foreign stream, stick a chocolate bar or a few sourballs in your fishing jacket. Time has a way of slipping by when the fish are rising or a red sunset lights up the sky on the rim of the horizon, and you may prefer to miss a few meals rather than leave. You might even need an energy brace to help you land an enormous trout. I sincerely hope you do.

Three Quick Tricks in Outdoor Lighting

PROBABLY even in Roman times outdoor lighting was old stuff—witness the sculptured alabaster head with a lamp inside that an archaeologist dug up in a Pompeian garden. What is new today, however, is the way we are using lights to create moods of peace, of drama, of excitement. We pick out a good feature and highlight it, sometimes using colored light to enhance the effect. We see our way clear after dark, thanks to lighted terraces, steps, and walks, and we improve the cool night hours with good lights on croquet lawns and shuffleboard beds. There's the right light for every purpose, and here are three tips to help you get started:

1. Avoid "Hot Spots": A series of widely spaced brilliant lights can be very trying to the eyes. A big hot glare of light (if used head-on) may flatten out your picture. It is better to use lamps of varying intensity, sidelighting the features—bright on one side, soft on the other—to bring out modelling and to give depth to the composition with a subtle play of light and shadow. Don't attempt to simulate daylight. Half the charm of night lighting lies in contrasting the statue, the irregular tree, the flower bed, with the mystery of the darkness beyond it.

Conceal light sources as much as possible, placing lamps high in trees, on poles, in boxes on or below ground, or behind shrubbery in planting beds, or use indirect lighting, often most effective of all. Try a weatherproof fluorescent light fixture or a series of small spotlights trained on the base of a wall or fence. Lamps are concealed by day by the shrubbery; at night the plants are silhouetted against the glow on the wall. Garden pools can gleam softly at night with waterproof underwater lights enhancing water lilies and other aquatic plants.

2. Place Your Lights Carefully: Experiment first with portable lamps to be sure the effects are right before you make the lighting permanent. Steps, walks, low flower beds, and other plantings are best illuminated below eye level. Any of the wide-shaded or "mushroom" lights are good for this purpose, using only a 25-or 50-watt bulb. Recessed lighting units can be set into walls of houses or set into risers for ground-level lighting of paths, steps, etc.

For general illumination, use floodlights. A new sort recently introduced has a well-designed housing with a plastic diffuser; it fits on poles or it can be mounted on buildings or clamped on pipes. It can be used at terrace level. The other type of outdoor floodlight most frequently used is a 150-watt bulb which screws into a weatherproof outdoor housing. Placed 10 to 20 feet above ground, the light should be concealed in a tree or mounted on a high pole or pipe. A clamp-on burred shield will protect the eyes of persons below and reduce the glare in the lighted area. Use floodlights to pick out a picturesque tree or shrub or to bring out a good architectural feature; for this purpose colored 100-watt spotlight bulbs are often effective. Be careful to set lamps at least a foot away from evergreens or other plants, otherwise the heat the light generates could injure leaves and branches.

3. Take Advantage of the Novelty: Generally white light is best for bringing out nature's colors, but subtleties can be obtained by the use of colored light. A green or blue-green light on lawns or shrubs enables a gardener to catch up on neglected work or to do chores in the cool of evening hours. Clip-on portables will allow you to experiment with different effects or to move lights to bring out each particular treasure as the season advances. You can use strings of outdoor Christmas lights to provide a gay party atmosphere any time, using all one color or mixing lights in confetti fashion. White strings give a soft illumination, while yellow ones strung among trees and high shrubs produce a starry brilliance that is most pleasant to see.

Kerosene-burning lamps on poles which can be set in the lawn give a lovely, soft flickering glow and can be moved at will. They can be bought in garden centers and you can also make your own holders—ask for a free pattern in the sheet-aluminum section of your hardware store. Long-burning plumbers' candles glowing through glass or paper lanterns give a lovely light, as Edna St. Vincent Millay remarked. Lights attract insects, it is true, but if you use the kerosene lamps, add a teaspoonful of citronella to each oil tank in order to repel mosquitoes and other insects as the oil burns.

If you plan for more than a few outdoor lights, whether temporary or permanent, it is, of course, wise to consult your electrician about the advisability of a circuit separate from your house panel. But don't call him till you've made your experiments with degrees of light, with placing, and with equipment, and discovered how to display grounds and garden for the best effect.

ALL DRESSED UP

ON WARM NIGHTS and days this summer when you're entertaining on the patio and around the swimming pool, nothing will feel cooler or look more partylike than these new cottons—a romantic long skirt, a crisp calico sundress, and a dramatic pair of hostess pajamas (wonderful fun to run around in). Don't save these party cottons just for big evenings, either—splurge, and wear them for your family, too. Just the right thing for dishing up the ice cream at an important five-year-old's birthday party, for instance, and he'll be so pleased to have you all dressed up for him.

Beginning in July, we will list a number of the fine stores in your area where you can find the fashions shown in SUBURRIA TODAY.

When You Garden, How to make yourself the envy and "LIFE HAS BECOME so competitive," our next-door neighbor sighed. "You struggle and strain to get ahead in your job, to buy everything that everybody else thinks you should have. You worry about who's ahead in the space race, the education race, the political race, and the National League. It's hell. But when you get to stroll around in your own lawn and garden, your whole outlook changes."

Smart man, our neighbor. But not quite smart enough. If he thinks a cheap trick like this is going to throw us off guard, he's mistaken, as he'll soon learn when he finds that we've wedged an herb garden between our rose garden and perennial bed while he was away for the weekend.

You have to stay on your toes every minute to keep the jump on your fellow gardeners. You have to sleep with one eye open and your trowel close by.

The Technological Race

Some homeowners imagine, when they step outside with a 15-year-old lawn rake or a hose with friction tape over the leaks, that contemptuous gazes are fixed on their shoddy equipment from behind curtains and pitter clumps throughout the neighborhood. They're right.

They are being snickered at because they have fallen behind in the escalating house-to-house competition in lawn and garden technology. Fichforks and sickles may have frightened a few British regulars at Concord Bridge, but they're no match for a neighbor with a self-propelled four-horsepower rotary mower with a grass catcher and a leaf mulcher.

Spraying the hydrangea on a Saturday morning with a window-cleaner bottle is just as damaging to your rank and stature as having bagworms in your saplings or chinch bugs in your vetch.

What complicates this struggle for prestige is the unwritten law that you never buy a piece of equipment that is identical to one that your neighbor already owns. You have to leapfrog. They get a power mower; you get a self-propelled power mower; they get a sit-down mower with a 24-inch blade; you get a small tractor with a gang mower. If they get a goat, you may have to move away, but the other neighbors will know that you won.

Keeping Up Appearances

If you have a flair for the dramatic and are willing to take a chance, try showing up with a hypodermic needle ("it kills ragweed painlessly") or mention that you've developed a new insecticide from common household products such as table salt, corn starch, powdered gelatin, ammonia, and carbon tetrachloride or that you're using a spraying mixture enriched with heavy hydrogen, so that the weeds will grow upside-down and never reach the surface. The risk is that one of the neighbors who has studied a little chemistry might cause an ugly scene.

Now's Your GNP?

But don't let chemical warfare take up all your time. There are other battles to be waged. How do you stand in the production race, for example?

Is your gross natural product

Win!

BY ALAN C. VAN DINE

admiration of the neighbors higher than your neighbor's? This is the total of all fruits, vegetables, herbs, and nuts that you raise in a year. As surprising as it may seem, there are still neighborhoods in this country where a peck of tomatoes counts more than a variegated tuberous-root begonia.

You can keep careful notes and arrive at a total annual yield, but a more effective method of scoring high on GNP is to give boxes, baskets, and bowls of your garden produce to neighbors.

This warmhearted gesture lets them know that you're thinking of them and that what you're thinking is that they couldn't raise an edible carrot on a bet.

If you intend to dominate—and you do—you can't afford to neglect the battle for the birds which is raging in neighborhoods across the country. The grim fact is that there are just so many birds in this world, and every one your neighbor has is one you have not.

Feathering Your Nest

There is an effective bird-winning technique, but it should be used only in desperation. It requires some electrical conduit and a little work.

Install two electrodes in some soft, lush spot in the lawn or garden, and hook them up to a switch in the house. Then invite the neighbors over for a cookout.

An hour before they arrive, flip the switch, and when the first guests show, turn the electrodes off. By that time, you will have galvanized all the worms to the surface, and you'll have so many birds descending on this crawly feast that the neighbors will not only be impressed, they'll lose their appetites and save you a lot of hamburger money.

So much for the major battles. Once you have mechanized the tool shed, excelled in the war of words over chemicals, raised your gross natural product (and won credit for this yield with effective propaganda), and enticed all the local birds, then you will probably be envied and/or admired by all the neighbors, regardless of how your lot actually looks.

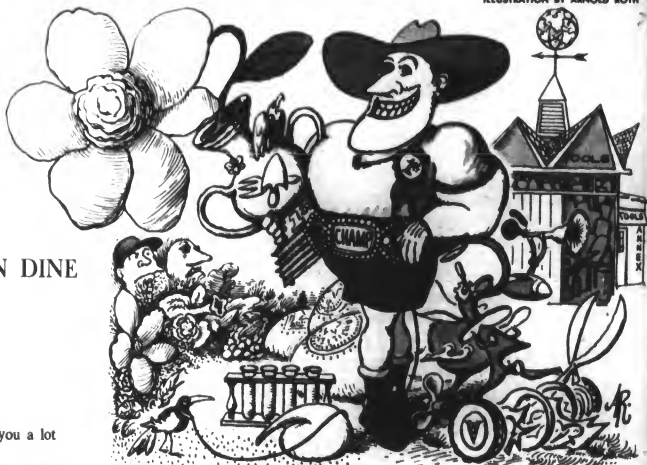

How to Stay on Top

Be prepared, though, to drop everything to meet an unexpected challenge, however small. For example, one small but important contest is the camouflage of garbage cans. The garbage man spent three minutes searching for our neighbor's cans, according to Joan, the nonautomatic sprinkler and wife at our house, and I knew we were in trouble: our cans were still faintly visible, on clear winter days, behind a screen of yew and forsythia. At the risk of bragging, I can report that before dawn the next morning I had bought and installed an in-the-ground can with a green lid.

As you parry and thrust, keep calm. Try to appear relaxed at all times. In fact, resolve to take a day or two each summer to be relaxed.

After all, the real purpose of lawn and garden puttering is your own leisure-time enjoyment. The rest of life may be demanding and frustrating, one long series of thwarted hopes.

When you garden, however, forget the rest of life, the frustrations and defeats; when you garden, win, and you'll really enjoy it.

Let your neighbor think of you like this: a champ who knows all the tricks.

There's a stowaway in the new KitchenAid dishwasher

It's a box of Calgonite® dishwasher detergent. Try it—it's free. Know how that Calgonite gets inside? The KitchenAid people pack stowaway sample boxes of Calgonite in all their 1964 dishwashers because they're sure you'll want your new dishwasher ready to go as soon as it's installed. And they're certain you'll like the combination of Calgonite and KitchenAid for sparkling clean glassware and china. KitchenAid has been recommending Calgonite for years.

enjoyment. After discussing it with several neighbors, they formed a small committee. Next, they enlisted the aid of the city administration and business, school, and civic groups. With this support, they went directly to the public, asking for the establishment of marked bikeways.

When they brought the matter before the town government, it was approved. Engineers and traffic experts laid out bikeways and 300 large blue-and-white metal markers were installed. The total cost was $1,000, raised by subscription, candy sales, and carnivals.

When the routes were confirmed, maps were printed and given to every school child, along with literature on safe riding and rules of the road. It was my pleasure to assist last year in opening the Homestead Bikeways and to bicycle through the town accompanied by scores of other enthusiastic cyclists.

Is the project a success? Is Homestead satisfied?

I am told that the parents of younger bicyclists now enjoy a peace of mind they have never known. More students are riding to school because the bikeway has become the best and quickest way to travel. Mothers like it because they are relieved of the burden of serving as family chauffeur. Fathers like it because they save money on oil and gas and tires. Given the choice of driving or biking to a shopping center, adults are using bikes more because they have discovered that it can be a safe and comfortable way to travel.

A SIMILAR PROGRAM can be introduced anywhere. All it takes for a starter is a dedicated person or an enthusiastic couple who enjoy riding. In Holyoke, Massachusetts, I am glad to say, young and old are using the new Healthway Bicycle Paths recently laid out around the reservoir. Chicago has opened 36 different bicycle paths along its famous lake shore, and Boston has granted a sidewalk bike path to Cambridge along the Charles River.

If cycling can be fully restored to the daily life of all Americans, it can become a vital step toward rebuilding health and vigor in all of us for the important days ahead.

Let us bequeath our children more than the gadgets that surround us. The bicycle alone will not do this, but it can become a symbol of the red-blooded vigor, personal independence, and healthy mind in a healthy body that are so much needed in our beloved country today.

Handsome as a car

Useful as a truck

The broad appeal of Chevrolet El Camino

How often have you loaded something into your car wishing you had a truck?

Or how often have you been caught short for personal transportation with only a commercial vehicle handy, which you were reluctant to use?

There's no question about it. There was a very definite need for Chevrolet El Camino—the beautiful double purpose pickup with the Fisher Body. The way El Caminos are being ordered now is further confirmation that their beauty and usefulness are needed by all sorts of families and businesses.

As you can see, El Camino is so handsome you can drive it anywhere, any time, on any occasion. And at the same time, it's strong enough to handle up to 1,200 lbs. of payload.

You can order El Camino as plain or as fancy as you wish. Some of its extra-cost options are bucket seats, 4-speed transmission, air conditioning, power windows, tinted glass, transistorized radio and a 250-hp V8 engine. . . . Chevrolet Division of General Motors, Detroit, Michigan.

Plaza Midway Makes Hit With Everyone

PLAZA — There's a brighter light at the Plaza this week than ever came from any flood light. It's the sparkle in hundreds of kids' eyes. Quite a twinkle has been seen in parents' eyes, too, as they listen to the wild squeals and happy screams of their children whirling and plunging and just plain having fun on the visiting amusement rides.

Sponsored by the Fraternal Order of Police Lodge No. 7, Endy's Amusements are here for a two week visit and 50,000 discount tickets to the various rides will be distributed by Plaza merchants to their customers.

Endy's has just completed a six week tour of North Carolina. From Virginia Beach, they'll work their way as far north as Maryland. After a stay there, Endy's will begin to work southward toward their Miami headquarters.

Inside the mobile office works Mrs. Elizabeth Murphy. Although she's only been with Endy's for about a year, she's worked and lived with traveling amusement type shows for 30 years.

"My husband had a shooting gallery with a carnival. When I married him, I naturally joined. I've been in the business ever since," Mrs. Murphy said.

Her grey hair and warm friendly smile don't betray the hardships that sometimes come with carnival life.

"Mostly," she smiled, "working on shows is just like working anywhere else. Only difference comes when your place of employment moves from town to town. Once I thought about retiring. I tried. But this traveling life gets in your blood. So, here I am, back again."

This show is different from carnivals. There are rides for all age groups. "But no side-shows!" Mrs. Murphy is quick to point out. "Our appeal is to families. We draw a better class of people than the carnivals—not that a lot of fine people don't go to carnivals, but they've been known to draw the other type, too."

"I really enjoy being with this group. Besides, when you get older, you like to settle down—stay two weeks in one place," she grinned.

BURKE HONOR STUDENT

CHARLOTTESVILLE — Michael Burke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Burke of 103 Parson's Lane, Virginia Beach, received the Williams Prize as one of two outstanding students in the honors program at the University of Virginia's College of Arts and Science. Burke and another student will share the $1,000 award.

City Will Seek Federal, State Aid For Road

City Council Monday voted to seek federal and state funds to assist in the construction of proposed Independence Boulevard, Virginia Beach Boulevard with Route 60.

Council's application to the state and federal road authorities asks that the two bodies make the new boulevard into a primary route. The 4-lane highway will divide Pembroke Manor.

Council also issued $500,000 in bonds for capital outlay for street improvements throughout the city.

In other action council:

- Reversed the Planning Commission's recommendation that no change of zoning be made in Bayside Borough near the L&J subdivision sites. Council voted to change the zoning for all residential, no commercial.

- Deferred for further study an application by Lacy L. Redd for a use permit to operate two temporary borrow pits in Bayside Borough.

Approved the following applications:

- A use permit by John William Fitzgerald to operate a dog kennel in Milburn Manor in Bayside Borough.

- Use permit by Allen Sobie to operate a Par 3 golf course and allied golf facilities at the southeast intersection of Diamond Springs Road and Shore Drive in Bayside.

- A change of zoning from limited commercial to general commercial in Bayside west of Witchduck Road. A use permit for the operation of new and used car franchise had been changed to include trailer sales and council agreed that this permit must be resubmitted before action could be taken.

- Change of zoning from residence duplex district to limited commercial south of Bonney Road in Kempsville Borough made by George M. Holmes.

- Use permit by Robert G. and Evelyn Von Elm to operate a private non-profit riding facility north of Providence Road in Kempsville Borough.

- Use permit by Emmanuel Lutheran Church to build a church at the northwest intersection of Lynn Shores Drive and Virginia Beach Boulevard in Kempsville Borough.

- Change of zoning from residence duplex to residence suburban in the subdivision of Croatan Beach in Lynnhaven Borough.

- Use permit by Shirley Buckner to operate a riding academy west of Holland Road in Princess Anne Borough.

Plaza Site Of VNB Bank Office

PLAZA — Final approval for a Virginia National Bank office in the Princess Anne Plaza Shopping Center came through this week.

Announcement of the Comptroller of the Currency's approval of the office came from R. Cosby Moore, the bank's board chairman.

The new office will be the 47th in the bank's statewide system and the second in the City of Virginia Beach. Its location was selected by the bank's Virginia Beach City Board.

Plans call for the construction of a modern bank building on the south side of Virginia Beach Boulevard at the eastern boundary of the shopping center. The office will offer a full range of financial services.

Taylor Heads King's Grant Civic Group

KING'S GRANT — Charles Taylor will take over the presidency of the King's Grant Community League when the group resumes its monthly meetings in September.

Also elected with Taylor recently were Clifford Stokes, vice president; Mrs. James Hutchinson, secretary; and Dixon Sturtz treasurer.

The board of directors is composed of Charles P. Eldridge, Fred Bozard, Mrs. A. Mancini, Dr. E. J. Schick and D. M. Whitaker.

At the last meeting, awards were presented to the two basketball teams sponsored by the league. The coaches, L. J. Britton and Bozard, praised the players for their hard work and fine week city employees were busy

Mrs. Phillips Will Receive Editing Award

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mrs. Ruby Jean Phillips, news editor of the Virginia Beach Sun-News has won a weekly or semi-weekly newspaper regularly edited by a woman.

The award will be presented tonight in Richmond at a convention of the National Federation of Press Women, sponsors of the nation-wide competition.

Mrs. Phillips also won first place in the same category, as well as second place for feature writing, in the state contest sponsored by the Virginia Association of Press Women. These awards will be presented in October in Roanoke.

'Carousel' Heads New Playhouse Schedule; Starts Next Month

VIRGINIA BEACH — "Carousel," the highly acclaimed Virginia Beach Civic Chorus production, will launch the Summer Sands Playhouse's first season when it opens June 30 at 19th Street and Arctic Avenue.

The musical, which received so much recognition for its professionalism by a non-professional cast, will again be directed by Charles Oliver.

Following "Carousel" will be "Oh Men, Oh Women," July 7 through July 12; "Guys and Dolls," July 14-18; "Sunday in New York," July 30-August 4; "Bye-Bye Birdie," Aug. 6-20; "Two for the Seesaw," Aug. 21-26; and either a musical or comedy will be scheduled Aug. 26-Sept. 10.

This semi-professional playhouse will present this outstanding program of events in the round under a specially built tent with terraced seating arrangements.

John Chester, president of the new playhouse, said that the tent and arena-style acting was selected for this resort area "because it is natural, unself-conscious and lends itself to the outdoor atmosphere of Virginia Beach."

Oliver directed the "Carousel" production in April in the confines of the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center but he has agreed with Chester that the in-the-round arrangement will be very adaptable for the musical.

"The actors will be much closer to the audience than on a stage," he said, "and no one will need to crane to see. I expect the performers will use the aisles, rim of the tent, outside the tent and top of the tent, if necessary. There will be no limitations."

"Tiny" Hutton of Hampton, well-known director on the peninsula, will produce "Guys and Dolls" and also feels that the arena style method will benefit his play.

"The aisles will be the streets of New York," he said, "with all the bustle of the real thing. This is a show I love. All of its songs are good—'Bushel and a Peck,' 'I've Never Been in Love Before,' 'Luck Be a Lady' and the one that stops the show, 'More I Cannot Wish You.'"

Other directors will include: Mark Thomas of Portsmouth for "Oh Men, Oh Women" and "Two for the Seesaw"; T. C. Hook of Cargill Productions for "Bye, Bye, Birdie"; and Dan Harvey, who has been associated

STAGECOACH STILL TRAVELIN'

WILSON, N.C. — "Cowboy" Frank Luter and his Frontier City stagecoach caravan are now in Wilson, N.C. and still planning to hit Virginia Beach on schedule on July 4.

The caravan is making a trip from Florida to Virginia Beach pioneer-style, using the stagecoach and horses as transportation and camping along the way.

The latest communique from Luter states he is "getting 30 miles to the bale...have had wonderful luck. No breakdowns, same nudes."

Luter's arrival back in Virginia Beach will be highlighted with a rodeo and fireworks display at Frontier City.

Bridge-Tunnel Tourist Center Opening Friday

VIRGINIA BEACH — A temporary area-wide tourist information center is scheduled to open Friday on the south approach of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel, according to a spokesman for a special committee formed to establish the center.

While the official opening ceremony will be held Friday at noon full operation of the center will not commence until Saturday morning.

Tentative hours for the information center have been set from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. daily. It is expected that this schedule will be observed through the summer and until mid-September.

A trailer will be used as a temporary building for the tourist information center. It is expected that before next summer a permanent building will be erected.

The Mayors of the various Tidewater cities have been invited for ribbon cutting festivities on Friday.

Hundreds Of Service Personnel Enjoy Lounge

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Servicemen's Lounge at the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd did a booming business over the weekend.

More than 450 members of the Armed Forces used the lounge facilities over Saturday and Sunday. Many of them were German sailors from a ship presently docked in Norfolk.

The servicemen's Lounge offers bathhouse and recreational facilities free of charge.

City Gets New Road Machine

VIRGINIA BEACH — The city's brand new $10,000 striping machine arrived, and last week city employees were busy being trained by a representative of Wall Industries, the maker of the machine.

Designated the Model 1019, the machine will be used to paint the stripes down the middle of city roads.

Noting that this is the first one the city has ever owned, Safety Chief Reeves Johnson said the machine is capable of painting stripes on the right edge of the road and the middle all at the same time. "If it weren't for the traffic danger, we could also paint the left road edge at this same time."

Simultaneously, solid, broken, white, and yellow lines can be painted, and coated with glass beads for high reflection.

It's five spray guns are fed by two 60 gallon tanks and one 750 pound glass bead tank.

The stripper is mounted on the back of a new truck, bringing the total cost to $13,000. This includes such features as an intercom connecting driver and crew, automatic paint agitator, and push button controls.

There's also a cleaning tank so the machine can clean itself at the end of the day.

RODNEY OFF TO N.Y. HOSPITAL

KEMPSVILLE — Little Rodney Messenger, the handsome youngster fighting for survival over a malignancy behind his left eye, will leave today for a routine treatment at the Presbyterian Hospital's Institute of Ophthalmology in New York City.

His mother, Mrs. Charles E. Messenger, told the Sun-News Monday that Rodney has been "doing very well and the treatment should be just routine."

Rodney's plight came before the public last January in a Sun-News story and caused much interest throughout the area.

Several organizations, including the Kempsville Lions Club and a Sunday School class from the Kempsville Baptist Church, have assisted the Messenger family in the past.

In order to keep their blonde-headed youngster alive, the Messengers must get him to New York City every three months for expensive, but life-giving, radium treatments. Specialists in this area have said the New York center is the only place Rodney can receive the highly specialized treatments that may arrest the disease.

Two Unopposed For Reelection

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mayor Frank A. Dusch and Virginia Beach Councilman John McCombs are running unopposed today for reelection to City Council.

The election is confined to Virginia Beach Borough. The first voting precinct is located at the fire station and the second at Virginia Beach High School.

Both polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. The borough's two ABC stores, on Pacific and Atlantic Avenues, will be closed today for the election.

Mayor Dusch and McCombs will serve three years rather than the usual four since their terms, along with all other council terms, will expire September 1, 1967.

The terms were staggered after the merger of former Princess Anne County with Virginia Beach in 1963.

LITTLE CREEK — The Amphibious Force Officers' Wives Club is conducting a contest for a title and masthead design for its club newspaper.

Deadline for entries is July 15 and they should be sent to Mrs. M. O. Muncie, editor-in-chief, 319 Beacon Hill Courts, Norfolk.

Ten dollars will be given to the winning entry. The contest is limited to Amphibious Force Officers' wives only.

Mrs. Muncie has also issued an appeal for volunteers for a staff of typists, copywriters and proof-readers. She may be contacted at 855-1832.

The club has also announced that it will pay the cost of babysitting at the Little Creek Base Nursery for interviews and office workers at Navy Relief Headquarters.

Arrangements in this may be made with Mrs. N. P. Watkins at 464-1611, extension 630.

Women Now Wear Sheets

Women will wear anything—provided it's stylish, colorful, comfortable, and different.

Take sheets, for example. They've turned so fashionable that women are stitching them up into elegant-looking lounge-wear and hostess outfits, according to the National Cotton Council.

A New York dress designer took one look at a new collection of cotton percale sheets in brilliant south-of-the-border colors and patterns, picked up her sketch pad, and promptly created a delightful series of at-home separates.

Fashionable two-piece hostess pajamas were inspired by one of the sheet patterns, "Daisy Dream," in the golden earthy tones of the Spanish countryside. The top was fashioned from a pillowcase, slit across the end for a halter-style neckline and down the sides for deep armholes. A drawstring tie in the neck forms soft gathers in the loose-fitting top.

For wide, almost bell bottom pajama trousers, the designer used a single size stretch-fit top sheet with a 26-inch floral turn-back. The elastic stretch makes an ideal pajama waist, and the floral turnback gives a scattering of daisies from ankle to thigh. For added glamour, she dotted the daisy centers with amber and jet beads.

Matador pink sheets—a close cousin in color to the matador's cape—were the inspiration for mother-daughter coordinates. The "sheet gowns" are sashed with wide ribbon in a deep shade of green. Reminiscent of a Goya painting, the mother's hostess gown features wide sleeves made from a pillowcase in a go-together stripe. The daughter's version is sleeveless and can be worn for a nightie or a long party dress.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Guy and children have arrived from Fort Lauderdale, Florida, for the summer and have taken a cottage at 87th Street.

Miss Gayle McKnight left Sunday for Chowan College where she will attend summer classes. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. McKnight of Bay Colony.

Martha Herzer of Mayflower Apartments is in New York attending fabric fashion shows from which she will glean new ideas for her shop.

HOSTESS PJS—Cotton percale sheets and pillowcases have turned so fashionable that women are wearing them. These hostess pajamas were made from a fitted sheet and pillowcase in Lady Pepperell's Daisy Dream design.

Suggestions For Safe Operation Of Boats

- Do not overload your boat.
- Do not leave shore in a leaky or poorly constructed boat.
- Liquor and safe boating do not mix.
- Observe the pilot rules.
- Instruct at least one member of the crew in the rudiments of handling the boat should you become disabled.
- Use caution choosing equipment and supplies.
- Familiarize yourself with the locale you're boating in.
- Have life preservers handy and wear them when conditions warrant.
- Check weather and tides before going out and have due regard for them.
- Have adequate water filter.
- Do not use gasoline stoves.
- Do not operate near swimmers in the water.
- Don't use kapok-filled life preservers to sit on.
- Do not fail to provide life-belts for children.
- Do not forget your wake can damage others.
- Do not fail to reduce speed through anchorage areas.
- Check all electrical equipment and fuel tanks.
- Do not tie at anchor with short cable; allow sufficient scope.

Two Sailing Regattas Set For Weekend

VIRGINIA BEACH — Racing sailboats will cut through local waters next weekend as two major sailing regattas get underway with boats from throughout the East Coast.

The races are the third annual Aqua-Cat regatta in the Atlantic between 15th and 24th Street, and the Broad Bay Sailing Association's annual regatta on Broad Bay behind the oceanfront.

The event will begin with a skipper's meeting at 10 a.m. Saturday. Two races will be held each day, one at 10:30 a.m. and another at 2 p.m. Regatta chairman P. Ferebee Trafton anticipates more than 15 of the little boats will compete for first, second and third prizes.

The schedule is as follows: registration at the Narrows (64th Street extended), 8 to 10:45 p.m.; skippers meeting at the Narrows, 10:45; warning signal for first race, noon and second race when announced. The warning signal for the third race will be at noon Sunday.

State Open To Feature Hole In One Prize

SPORTS—State Golf Tour.

VIRGINIA BEACH — A total of $2,750 will be offered for holes-in-one scored during the June 25-28 Virginia State Open Golf Tournament at the Cavalier Golf and Yacht Club.

This "bonus" money will be in addition to the $3,000 (minimum) regular purse.

The top prize for an ace will be $750 ... for an ace on the difficult 200-yard 18th hole.

An ace on any of the four other par 3 holes will be worth $500. Five local business firms are sponsoring the hole-in-one contest, which will be in effect only during the four day, 72 hole tournament.

Outside of the 18th, the par threes at Cavalier play these distances: No. 3, 205 yards; No. 5, 218 yards; No. 8, 148 yards; No. 11, 174 yards. The 18 hole distance measures 6,065 with a par 35-34-69.

You don't need to be a master mechanic to get your outboard motor ready for this boating season. All you need are a few basic tools and the average knowledge of what makes the motor work, plus an hour or so of your spare time.

First, let's start by removing the spark plugs from the motor. Check the plugs for fouling, cracking and burning. If the plugs do not appear to be in good shape, throw them away and replace them. On the other hand if your plugs appear to be in good shape they can be cleaned, gapped, and replaced in your motor. Be sure that the plug wires are not broken and there are no bare spots that could cause a short or possibly an explosion.

The fuel lines should be examined to be sure that they have no breaks or pin holes in them. Drain your fuel tank to be sure that no water has accumulated during lay up. Remove the fuel filter bowl and remove all of the sediment and replace the gaskets if they are deteriorated.

Check the propeller on your motor for nicks and bends. A nicked or bent prop can cause damage to your motor as well as a loss of power. Replace if necessary.

One thing that a great many of us fail to do is to lubricate our motor. See that all parts are oiled or greased with the proper lubrication recommended by your dealer. This is a MUST.

Make a visual inspection of the entire motor to insure that all screws, nuts and tie down are tight.

You should inspect your electrical system to be sure that all the required lights are working. Check your battery. If you have not recharged your battery since you put your boat up for the winter, more than likely the battery is dead.

Your life preservers, anchor lines, steering cables and emergency equipment should be examined to insure that they are in good shape and working order.

Now that did not take long after all. More than likely you did not have to replace a thing. But you have taken a long step toward insuring yourself, and others who will be boating with you, of a trip that will be pleasant and unmarred by mechanical breakdown.

Waterfowl Site Purchased In Back Bay Area

BACK BAY — The Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries Friday announced purchase of a 500 acre tract in the Back Bay Area formerly known as Trojan Club Marsh for development as a public waterfowl shooting area.

The newly acquired marsh tract will supplement facilities at the 800 acre Pocahontas Marsh Area purchased last fall. The two will be operated together as a public waterfowl hunting area this fall.

As authorized by the 1964 General Assembly, the Commission will make a daily charge of $3 for hunting on the combined areas. This fee will help defray the cost of blinds, boats and other equipment necessary for this type of managed hunting.

Current plans call for the operation of at least five blinds on the Pocahontas Area as a package deal including guide and shooting rig. Hunters will be assessed a guide fee in addition to the $3 daily blind fee and the Commission will arrange for guides, boats and decoys for those who reserve blinds on this basis.

On the Trojan Marsh Area the Commission plans to maintain 6 point blinds and 7 water blinds. Only the $3 daily shooting fee will be assessed on this area, which will be operated for hunters who have their own shooting rigs or wish to arrange for their own guide service.

More men than women died of cancer last year. This has been true since 1949, according to the American Cancer Society. The ratio this year is expected to be about 55 men to 45 women. See your doctor annually for a health checkup to help reduce the cancer death rate.

Rotarians Beat Cubs; Tigers Top Sports

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Tigers beat the Sports 13 to 2 and the Rotarians downed the Cubs 19 to 4 in an American Little League double-header Friday night at Virginia Beach High School's athletic field.

Winning pitchers were John Johnson for the Tigers, who struck out 12, and Rotarian Bill Johnson, who struck out 1. Losers were Mike Dennis, Sports, and Dave Shediv, Gray Hodgson and Shipper Etheridge, Cubs.

Tigers

The Tigers had 13 hits, 13 runs and 1 error. John Johnson's two doubles brought in three runs and he scored once himself. Harding doubled in the 2nd with one on; Mike Martin's four times at bat netted four hits and drove in two runs; Kampfmuller scored three runs.

Rotarians

The Rotarians had 25 hits; 19 runs, 1 error. Bill Almond had four hits and scored three times. Dave Donahoe had two doubles, scored four times. Butch Palmer had a double and a hit to drive in five runs and scored four himself. Bill Johnson doubled four times, drove in five runs and scored four times. Cris Fanney doubled three, scored three; Ira Spector doubled in the third with one, scored twice; and John Dewitt drove in three runs on three hits.

Sports

The Sports had 4 hits, 2 runs, 5 errors. Tommy English doubled in the 2nd. Lacouture scored the first run in the 3rd on Dennis' hit. Dennis scored the second run in the 6th on Gentry's double.

Cubs

The Cubs had 4 hits, 4 runs, 3 errors. Gray Hodgson doubled in the third and Etheridge came in for the first Cub run. Rhac Adams' hit in the third scored Hodgson. Adams and Shediv both stole home for the third and fourth runs.

EDITORIAL SPEAKING

Automation Can Be Managed

No one denies that automation has brought problems with it—both human and material. But, in the view of President Keith Funston of the New York Stock Exchange, "... we can manage automation. I believe that it has done a lot of good—and that it offers tremendous opportunities for improving the human condition."

Mr. Funston speaks with authority—for the Exchange and its member firms are making more and more use of automation to better their services to their millions of customers and clients. Late this year, for instance, the Exchange will begin operating a new stock ticker system nearly twice as fast as the commercial telegraphic ticker now in use.

Basically, the fear of automation lies in what its impact is and will be on employment. Without minimizing this issue, it is a fact, as Mr. Funston also points out, that many jobs have been created by the very companies most deeply involved in automation and technological advancement. And even when it comes to "hard-core" unemployment, he observes, "automation may contribute a new dimension to this problem, but it is rarely the basic cause. Any misguided effort to hold back technological progress would not relieve the problem, but intensify it."

The point is, of course, that automation can do a multitude of tasks with almost incredible efficiency, accuracy and speed. It can and does eliminate much paperwork drudgery, long the bane of business and government and just about all active organizations and enterprises. The ills it has produced are far outweighed by the good and one way or another its benefits touch the lives of almost all of us. It must be managed—no machine can be the master of man. But it is here to stay and to grow, and we must make the most of it.

A Matter Of Record

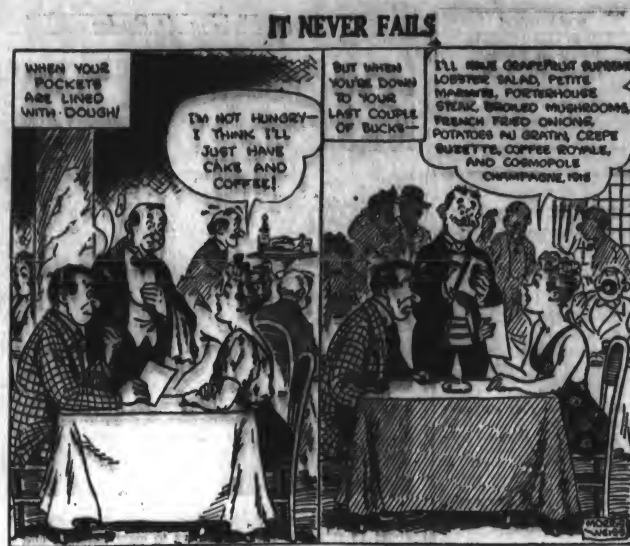

"The trouble with your drug prices is that they go down year in and year out, and nobody takes notice."

The words are those of Dr. Austin Smith, president of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association. He spoke them to industry executives at the Association's 6th annual meeting. And they highlight a fact which has been obscured, so far as public notice and knowledge are concerned, by charges, often politically inspired, that drug prices have soared and have gone beyond the reach of multitudes of sufferers from one illness or another.

What are the facts? Wholesale price indexes for drugs were collected and analyzed for the Association by City College of New York economics professor John M. Firestone. And it was found that these prices declined last year for the fifth successive year. The index stands at the record low of 86.2—and, let it be remembered, the prices of innumerable goods in common use have increased over that period. Prescription products that were offered at $2.30 in 1949 are now available at exactly $2. Moreover, as Dr. Smith emphasized, today's products are far superior to those of 1949—and hundreds of thousands of people are alive because of that.

He said still another thing of vital importance. It has been charged that patent rights keep the prices of many drugs excessively high. But the truth is that, since 1949, patented drug price levels have declined by about 24 per cent, while the nonpatented ones are down less than 2 per cent. In this field, as in so many others, the patent system has proven its necessity. This is a matter of record—and the people at large should know it.

Realty Board Graduates 37

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Real Estate Board recently concluded a 20-hour Real Estate Institute which offered professional training for new as well as experienced real estate salespeople. The final session was a banquet meeting held at the Pine Tree Inn.

The institute, designed to cover the many facets of real estate selling, was coordinated by the Distributive Education Service. A total of sixteen instructors, each a specialist in his own field, were invited to speak.

Thirty-seven members of the school graduated and were awarded certificates by the State Department of Education through the local school board.

Those graduating were: Jack A. Morton, Jane C. Morton, William R. Branyon, George L. Haggarty, James L. Adams, Volie S. Moore, Miriam W. Gray, Ruby E. McSpadden, Ruby P. Ramsey, John W. Ainslie and Leslie R. O'Hara, Jr., all of Virginia Beach Realty; Doris W. Makins and Dorothy Newton of Anchor Realty; Olympia Treschow and J. W. Wood of Wainwright Realty; Maryalice Bassett and Alva C. Bryant of Wetherington Realty; Alford W. Wells of Larasan Realty; Frederick G. Howard, Betty L. Fross and Edward A. Hannagan of Whitehurst Realty; Robert E. Malmfeldt, Joseph E. Battan and Richard L. Naujoks of Cunningham and Associates; Mrs. Franklin E. Hearne of Cooper Realty; John H. Bell of Bell Realty; Dallas E. Entsminger and Marcia S. Coupland of Duck Realty; John C. Moran and H. D. Short of Dream Custom Builders; Horace Culpepper and Guy G. Narter of Dave Miller Realty; Robert C. Courant Realty; Donald E. Scott of Commonwealth and Realty and Edith W. Burden of Burden Realty.

At the final meeting Robert Wainwright, president of the Virginia Beach Real Estate Board, congratulated the newly graduating "Realtors". He emphasized the importance of maintaining a professional attitude toward their chosen profession. He was also most emphatic in suggesting that the graduates emphasize the term "Realtor" and thus create a desirable image in the eyes of the consuming public.

Roy LaMere, executive director of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce, spoke briefly to the group, congratulating them on their choice of their profession and especially for choosing Virginia Beach as a "home base". "Virginia Beach is a 'boom town'," LaMere said.

George L. Coffey, supervisor of the Distributive Education Service, in congratulating the group and commending them for their untiring participation in the institute, suggested that this was a step in the right direction. "This is merely a beginning, we can offer further instruction in any facet of the ever-expanding field of real estate selling," Coffey said.

Further courses are being considered by the Education Committee and the DE Service.

FIRE, RESCUE CALL

VIRGINIA BEACH — During May the city's fire departments answered 118 fire calls, used 276 pieces of equipment and the rescue units answered 360 ambulance calls, two of which were drownings.

These monthly figures were released Tuesday by Chief Dispatcher G. M. Held of the city's Public Safety Communications Division.

MISS WELTON ENDS JUNIOR CLASS WORK

New Gift Shop Opening Here House Joins duPont Firm

VIRGINIA BEACH — Two Virginia Beach women, Mrs. Algy Cohen and Mrs. Sam Tabet, will open a gift shop Wednesday that will feature and offer instruction in needlepoint.

The shop has been named Mary Adelaide, Inc., using the first names of its owners, and is located at 407 Laskin Road, at the corner of Laskin and Holly Road.

During the next few days, Mary Michael of Park Avenue, New York City, will display a trunk showing of fine linens. The shop will carry imported and domestic linens and specialize in monogram and embroidery work.

The shop will also introduce to the area cosmetics by Buddy Maurice of Miami Beach and New York. A representative from Miami will instruct patrons in the art of make-up as a free service during the grand opening.

Many imported items will be carried by the new shop, including articles from Siam, Hong Kong and all over the Far East as well as various American items.

Free parking will be available at the rear of the building and coffee will be served to those who visit the shop.

It will open Wednesday at 10 a.m. and will hold special hours opening night between 8 and 10 p.m. The shop will be open daily on a regular basis from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

NORFOLK — Layton House of 217 Lynnhaven Drive, Virginia Beach, has joined Francis I. duPont & Co., as a registered representative, after graduating from a six month training program in New York.

House served as a high school counselor in Middletown, Delaware before joining Francis I. duPont. He became interested in the investment field when he began buying stocks as part of his savings program.

An army veteran House was born and raised in Durham, N.C. He received a bachelor of arts degree in history from Greenville (Ill.) College in 1955, and also did graduate work in personnel and guidance at the University of North Carolina.

FUNERALS

WILSON HEYWOOD BELL

OCEANA — Wilson Heywood Bell, 72, of 1556 Indiana Avenue, Oceana, died Sunday at noon in his home.

A native of Moyock, North Carolina, he was a son of John and Mrs. Caroline Lee Bell and the husband of Mrs. Agnes Etheridge Bell.

He was a member of Shady Grove Baptist Church of Moyock and had lived here for the past 44 years. He served in the U.S. Army during World War I. Before his retirement he was a building contractor.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two daughters, Miss Irma E. Bell and Mrs. Ellis J. Mills, both of Virginia Beach; a sister, Mrs. George N. Hathaway of Chesapeake; and two grandchildren.

A funeral service will be conducted today at 2 p.m. in the Maestas Funeral Home by the Rev. G. E. Hughes, pastor of the London Bridge Baptist Church. Burial will be in Rosewood Memorial Park.

IN MEMORIAM

In remembrance of our son and brother, Frank Watson Land, who left us twelve years ago today, June 10, 1952.

He had a smile for everyone. A heart as pure as gold. We often sit and wonder, Why he had to go.

We think of him in silence And often whisper his fond name

But there is nothing left to answer But his dear picture in the frame

Even though our family circle is broken And we miss him more and more

We hope to meet you dear Frank On that bright and happy shore

His devoted Mama, Daddy, sister and brothers.

South ruffed the four of diamonds on dummy's ace of clubs, then cleared the trump suit ending in the closed hand. The ten of spades was covered by West's king and the ace won in the dummy. South then led the jack of spades which West won with the queen. West returned the six of diamonds and the remaining tricks belonged to South. South was very aggressive with his jump to six hearts and was lucky to find a good fit for his weak spade suit.

Huntley, Brinkley Now Doctors

Now it's Dr. Chet Huntley and Dr. David Brinkley. The famed NBC News team received the titles recently at its annual commencement exercises of Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa. During the ceremonies, they were awarded honorary Doctor of Letters degrees.

Here, in the words of the educators, is why: "Chester Robert Huntley: A graduate of the University of Washington, he has been carefully reporting and studiously analyzing important news since his undergraduate days. A veteran of three networks, two

Cara Williams Returns To TV

Comedienne Cara Williams, who portrayed the wacky but lovable wife on the popular "Pete and Gladys" series, returns to television, starring with Frank Aletter, in "The Cara Williams Show," new half-hour situation comedy series starting Wednesday, Sept. 23 (9:30-10 p.m., EDT) on the CBS television network. It was announced today by Michael H. Dann, Vice President-Programs.

The series will be sponsored by General Foods Corp. and The Proctor & Gamble Company, represented by Benton and Bowles, Inc.

On "The Cara Williams Show," Miss Williams and Aletter portray Cara and Fred Bridges, office workers for a company with a rigid rule against the employment of married couples. This leads to hilariously complex situations as Cara and Fred try to keep their marriage a secret. At work, they are known as Miss Wilton, a file clerk, and Mr. Bridges, an efficiency expert.

Miss Williams is one of television's most popular comedienne. Her performance, with Red Skelton in a pantomime Christmas story, presented for the past three seasons on "The Red Skelton Show" on the network, has become a comedy classic. She also is remembered by movie audiences for her dramatic role in "The Defiant Ones," for which she won an Oscar nomination for best supporting actress.

Aletter played the nephew of two well-meaning maiden aunts on the "Bringing Up Buddy" series on the CBS television network and has appeared in a variety of guest roles on television. He appeared on Broadway in "Mister Roberts" and "Wish You Were Here." He also was in the movie version of "Mister Roberts."

"The Cara Williams Show" is produced by Richelieu Productions in association with the CBS television network. Phil Sharp is producer of the series, which will be filmed at Studio Center in Hollywood. Larry Markes and Michael Morris are the script consultants and will write some of the episodes.

News Woman Prepared For '64 Conventions

Nancy Dickerson of NBC News didn't wait for an election year to prepare for her role at the 1964 national political conventions. Instead, she has been gathering material on the subject for most of her 10 years in the capital.

"Collecting information for convention use is a continuous process," says the attractive Washington correspondent. "The people you know and the things you learn over the years can all be very helpful at convention time."

Nancy will be putting her knowledge to good use this summer, when she will have an important part in NBC News' convention coverage. She will be covering the Republican Party headquarters at the Hilton Hotel in San Francisco, and will be assigned to an equally strategic post at the Democratic convention in Atlantic City.

Nancy's Washington beat extends from the White House to Capitol Hill and includes the various government departments and foreign embassies. As a result, she knows personally many of the Washington political leaders who will play important roles at the conventions.

Since joining NBC News in May 1963, Nancy has covered the Civil Rights March on Washington and President Kennedy's funeral, two of the year's major news stories. In January, 1964, Nancy was granted the first extensive television interview with Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson since she became the nation's First Lady. The interview was presented on NBC-TV's "Sunday" program, on which Nancy appears regularly. Nancy was also the first to break the story that the pilot of a San Francisco-bound air liner that crashed May 7 had been shot. In addition to "Sunday," Nancy also appears on NBC-TV's "Today" show and is heard on NBC Radio's "Emphasis."

Last January, she was voted "Woman of the Year" for her news reporting on the Kennedy assassination in the annual All-American Awards Poll by Radio-TV Daily.

Nancy who has the distinction of being the only full-time woman news correspondent assigned by a radio-television network to cover the capital, began her news career in 1954 when she joined CBS News in Washington. Before that she had worked three years as a staff assistant to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. She produced "The Leading Question" and "Capitol Cloakroom," and was associate producer for "Face the Nation."

In 1960 she became a correspondent, her initial assignment being the Presidential campaign and election. In November, 1960, she started a radio network program, "One Woman's Washington."

The next Spring she was a member of the press party that accompanied President Johnson, then Vice President, on a 'round-the-world tour. She became acquainted with Bashir, the camel driver, and when he paid a return visit to this country he saw Nancy and told her, "When you smile, it is like petals falling from a flower."

A fashion-conscious woman, Nancy has also applied advance planning to her convention wardrobe. She has already selected the dresses, suits and gowns she will be wearing in the Summer by fitting her shopping expeditions between her many news assignments.

But she won't be wearing hats because, she explains, "I have to leave room for ear-phones."

Nancy was born in Wauwatosa, Wis., and was graduated from the University of Wisconsin, where she had majored in languages. She took graduate work at Harvard, then spent two years teaching school in Milwaukee before she went to Washington.

On Feb. 24, 1962, she married Washington businessman C. Wyatt Dickerson, a widower with three teenage daughters. The Dickersons have an infant son.

Nancy is a member of the Women's National Press Club, the American Newspaper Women's Club, the Radio-Television Correspondents' Association and the American Women in Radio and Television.

Andrey Peters, star of "Love of Life," appeared several years ago in comedy sketches on Jackie Gleason's variety show.

BOROUGH REDISTRICTING DEPOSITIONS TAKEN

VIRGINIA BEACH — Depositions were taken Monday to be filed with the court in the suit for borough redistricting. The suit asks that the City Council be required to redraw the present borough boundaries to comply with the city code, the Virginia code, the Constitution of Virginia, and the 14th Amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

The charter states that "At such time as may be determined by the affirmative vote of seven councilmen, which shall not be earlier than five years after the effective date of this charter (which was Jan. 1, 1963) but not later than Sept. 1, 1971, the council shall submit to the qualified voters of the city a new plan for election of councilmen."

This is believed to be the first suit in Virginia seeking reapportionment of a political subdivision as small as a city since the U. S. Supreme Court ruling in the Tennessee reapportionment case.

Four residents of the heavily populated Lynnhaven, Bayside and Kempville boroughs are bringing the suit. They are J. E. Clayton Davis, restaurant owner; Rolland B. Winter, electronics executive; Cornelius D. Scully, insurance salesman; and Howard W. Martin, real estate developer.

The borough population figures, according to the 1960 census: Blackwater, 733; Pungo, 2,504; Seaboard (now Princess Anne Borough), 7,211; Kempville, 13,900; Lynnhaven, 23,731; and Bayside, 28,045. Each borough has one representative on the council except Virginia Beach, which has five.

In December 1961 Littleton B. Walker filed a challenge to the constitutionality of the forthcoming merger of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County in Circuit Court. One of Walker's allegations was that the charter endowed the old city of Virginia Beach with "wholly disproportionate power" because of its five councilmen. Walker's suit was dismissed.

Metropolitan Phone Books Are Ready

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company's new metropolitan directory will be delivered to Virginia Beach residents starting Friday.

The small Virginia Beach directory has been done away with, from this issue on, there will be one book for all four cities—Norfolk, Portsmouth, Chesapeake, and Virginia Beach.

According to Patrick, the new metropolitan service will permit phone customers to dial local calls to more than 220,000 telephones.

Existing long distance charges in the new calling area will cease—except calls to and from Princess Anne numbers.

Calls to these Princess Anne numbers (426) will continue on a toll charge basis until a later date.

The Princess Anne Telephone Co. was to have cut over on July 5, but due to a delay in installation of certain equipment in their new building at Pungo, there will be a postponement of Metropolitan Service for Princess Anne customers.

Customers are asked not to use the directory until July 5.

It is expected to take the Reuben H. Donnelley Co. about three days to complete delivery of the 16,500 books going to subscribers having 440- and 428- numbers.

Commercial manager of the Virginia Beach office L. F. Patrick said, "Customers will be asked to sign a receipt when they receive their books. There will be one white page book, containing the alphabetical section (447 pages), delivered for each phone. Also one yellow page book delivered for each customer."

"The first listing will be AA and the last Zyzdik, followed by a few listings from Wallacetown, Va. and Knot's Island, N.C.—also toll free.

"This entire area will become the Norfolk Metropolitan Exchange. Virginia Beach, Portsmouth, Norfolk, and Chesapeake will become zones thereof."

Seaside Park Fireworks Set For Saturday

Seaside Park at Virginia Beach joins the thousands of school children in the Hampton Roads area in celebrating the closing of schools for the summer with a fireworks display Saturday at 10 P.M.

Three bands are now furnishing live music for the nightly dance sessions at the Park's air-conditioned ballroom. They are the Galaxies, the Impalas, and the Playboys. These groups rotate on the bandstand, and also provide music for the day-long jam sessions that start Saturday and Sunday mornings and run right on through to closing.

Bungles the Clown, local television favorite with the small fry, will be a special attraction on the Outdoor Stage Sunday afternoon at 2:30. He is a popular favorite not only for his routine of comedy and stunts, but also for the fact that he always has loads of gifts to distribute to many of the lucky ones.

Seaside Park will inaugurate its season of major circus attractions on Monday, June 15, when Myriam France, an aerialist from Europe, famous for her "cloud swing," will be the first attraction. Each act will play a week, with two performances daily, and all are free.

Admission to Seaside Park is always free.

Music Event Here Next Week

VIRGINIA BEACH—When the Third Annual Music Festival is held here next week, bands will compete from four states—Virginia, Tennessee, Alabama, and Georgia.

The ocean front will ring with music as eight high school bands gather at 5 p.m. Monday to play. Since each band will be playing a different selection, and all bands will be playing at the same time, this could prove quite interesting.

The bands will be covering eighteen blocks along the boardwalk. They're to play for one hour.

Later Monday night, the bands will be welcomed at the Civic Center by Sidney Kellam, Mayor Frank Dusch, City Manager W. Russell Hatchett, Miss Virginia Beach Abby Earle Hilton, and other festival officials.

Following the talks will be a concert by last year's winner and this year's Honor Band the Elmore County High School Band from Wetumpka, Ala.

Tuesday, bands will compete against one another. From 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., they will be tested in sight reading and concert. That night they will be treated to a dance at the Civic Center. The Elmore County Dance Band will provide the dance music.

Massed bands, totaling 730 pieces will play Wednesday at 11:30. Thursday, a parade will be staged starting at 10 a.m. The parade will march along Atlantic Avenue from 16th Street to 34th Street.

Awards will be presented Thursday night.

LYNNHAVEN FUNDS GETS APPROVAL OF HOUSE COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON — Congressman Thomas N. Downing has informed the Sun-News from his Washington office that construction funds for the navigation project at Lynnhaven Inlet and Bay have been approved by the House Public Works Appropriation Subcommittee.

Approximately $200,000 was approved by the subcommittee for the project for the fiscal year 1965—which begins July 1.

This amount represents construction funds which could be utilized by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers during the fiscal year.

Total cost of the project is estimated at $1,310,000. The balance of funds for the project, Downing said, will be requested during the fiscal year 1966 budget. This will be presented to Congress in early January.

Funds for the Lynnhaven project were not included in the budget submitted to Congress earlier this year by the Administration.

Sun-News was told by Downing that it was necessary for him to convince the House Appropriation Committee to add funds for the Lynnhaven project to the Public Works Budget.

Downing's Administrative Assistant Norman Dobyns said "This is rather difficult. The committee is always reluctant to approve funds for items not in the budget."

Downing was extremely pleased with the successful development on the local project. He said credit for the successful development should be given the Virginia Beach - Lynnhaven Committee which worked actively to encourage approval of the Lynnhaven project.

Members of the Lynnhaven committee named by city council are: Sidney Kellam, James Darden, Lawrence Marshall, Richard Webbon, Mason Gamage, R. E. Dorer, Carroll Clough, and W. Russell Hatchett.

Downing had very high praise for these men in their efforts in helping him gain House Subcommittee approval for the project.

Downing added that he is very encouraged to believe that all other Congressional approvals will follow and that construction will get underway before the end of the fiscal year 1965.

New College Group Holds Meeting Here

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Wesleyan College Campaign held an information dinner, Tuesday, at the Black Angus Restaurant.

Henry Shriver gave a description of Virginia Wesleyan College. Then Sidney Kellam spoke on the importance of the college to our community and why it should be supported.

C. C. Lane spoke of the challenge to the campaign workers. Present at the well-attended dinner were many of the community's outstanding leaders.

Forrest F. Cathey is General Chairman of the Campaign, and Sidney Kellam is Chairman for the City of Virginia Beach.

Borough Chairmen are as follows: Heyward T. Denyes, Virginia Beach; Swindell Pollock, Kempville; Richard Absalom, Lynnhaven; Lewis L. Dillon, Bayside; Mrs. Mildred Wilson, Princess Anne, Pungo, and Blackwater boroughs.

For this greater area — Norfolk, Virginia Beach, Portsmouth, Chesapeake — the fund raising campaign began Tuesday and will run to the end of the month.

The Virginia Conference of The Methodist Church will furnish $1,750,000 and this area is to raise $2,000,000. Those wishing to donate should contact their borough chairman.

A total of 177 voters visited the two polling precincts in the Borough of Virginia Beach. Each man garnered 50 votes at Princt Two.

Dusch received 176 votes while McCombs got two less at 174.

The vote total set a new record low for the Borough. The previous low was 333 votes in 1962. The terms of all 11 councilmen will expire in 1967.

The tract finally selected met the basic requirements better than any other and, in comparison with the cost of developing the other tracts, will save in development costs alone more than the total cost of the land purchased.

Light Vote Here Elects Two Officials

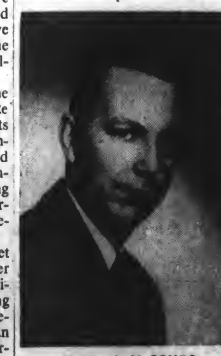

FRANK A. DUSCH

VIRGINIA BEACH — An expected light vote, here Tuesday saw the re-election of Frank A. Dusch and John W. McCombs to the Virginia Beach City Council. They sought re-election without opposition.

A total of 177 voters visited the two polling precincts in the Borough of Virginia Beach. Each man garnered 50 votes at Princt Two.

Dusch received 176 votes while McCombs got two less at 174.

Jaycees Give Teachers Apples

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce gave "an apple to the teacher" Monday—120 of them.

In keeping with its annual teacher appreciation project, the Jaycees gave the apples and a poem to 120 teachers at Virginia Beach High School and Cooke and Linkhorn Park Elementary Schools.

This project proved so popular last year it won a state award for the local organization.

The apples are given at the end of the school term to show appreciation. At the beginning of the term the Jaycees sponsor a "new teachers banquet" to get the newcomers acquainted.

The apple project was under the chairmanship of Paul Kist.

Plans Group Hears NASA Proposal

VIRGINIA BEACH — The City Planning Commission held a hearing Monday night about the construction of an optical tracking station.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Langley Research Center plans a $35,000 structure at the south end of Sandbridge Beach. The structure will support and cover a delicate camera used in observing the re-entry characteristics of rockets launched from Wallops Island.

Primarily because of the sites accessibility, two lots were leased in Back Bay Meadows below Sandbridge.

Langley public information officer Dan Wentz said last week the structure will not be permanent but will supplement two vans which have been used for nearly the same purpose since July 1963.

About five men will staff the facility during intermittent operations. It will consist of a 15x35-foot central building containing darkroom, office space and a camera building covered by a dome 15 feet in diameter.

TEEN TOPICS ... By Lucy S. Oliver
Asst. Home Demonstration Agent

"Men seldom make passes at girls who wear glasses." But that was once upon a time. Now, thanks to sunglasses, most girls wear spectacles the year round. And as for most things that girls do, they have both their practical and feminine reasons.

Not so long ago we talked about summer sun and sun bathing plus sun glasses. Here are some suggestions on how to choose and how to use sun glasses.

Despite all our fascination with them, the primary purpose for sun-glasses is not for fashion's sake alone, but also to reduce excessive brightness while still allowing the wearer to see clearly.

Although most inferior sunglasses will not harm the eyes, it is a fact that they will make the eyes uncomfortable and may cause headaches. So you see, it is important to choose a good pair.

According to the Medical Foundation, Inc., you want to look for four qualities which include: good transmission of light, freedom from lens distortion, complete eye coverage, and proper frame fit.

Lenses should transmit proper light. Sunglasses are spoken of as having transmission or density values, given as a percentage which is the amount of light that reaches the eye through the lenses. If lenses have a 30 percent transmission it means that 70 percent of the light is stopped by the sunglasses from reaching the eye. If the glasses have a 2 percent transmission rating, it would mean that the wearer would see almost nothing unless he were in excessive brightness. Therefore, lenses with a very low transmission are said to have high density and really do not allow the wearer to see clearly.

It is important, then, to select lenses according to where they will be worn.

The polarized lenses found in many of today's quality sunglasses benefit the eyes by allowing light rays to hit them from only one direction. Hence glare is reduced and clarity of objects seen is improved. However, these lenses have a light transmission of 12 to 16 percent and so are best suited for use in very bright sunlight.

Color of lenses is also an important consideration when selecting sunglasses. A wide variety of colored lenses is currently available. And while they might be effective as an accessory to a costume, it should be remembered that they can lessen the ability to distinguish other colors. This could be a hazard for either the driver or the pedestrian in ability to read traffic signals correctly. Neutral gray or greenish-tint lenses are better choices for most people, since these shades do not distort natural color.

Whether the lenses are curved or flat is another important consideration. Curved lenses are preferable, since they avoid distortion as the eyes rotate. They can also be fitted closer to the eyes, giving a more complete coverage.

Lenses should be free of distortion. Scratches, bubbles, and smudges on lenses can cause the eyes to see twisted or missshapen images. In turn, such distortions can cause eyestrain. Plastic lenses, as opposed to those made of glass, are more likely to develop these defects in use. They accumulate soil more quickly, they are harder to clean, and scratch more easily. Many lens distortions can be avoided by the use of an eyeglass case when the glasses are not being worn.

Lenses should cover the eyes completely. This means that the lenses should be large enough and so shaped as to give complete protection against glare. At the same time they should not be a safety hazard by blocking side vision. Lenses that are too small allow sunlight to hit the eyes at an angle. This often produces a sensation of glare which is not only uncomfortable, but reduces sharpness in vision.

Frames should fit properly. While selection of lenses should be the primary concern when choosing sun spectacles, well-fitting and becoming frames are important, too. Frames that fit well will feel comfortable and secure on the face when tried on. Lenses should be as close to the eyes as possible without having eyelashes brush against them. And side pieces should not block side vision. Plastic frames, unless they are solid dark colors, may allow light to pass through them and cause annoying bright spots in the field of vision. Therefore, colored plastic frames should be tried on and tested in the direct sunlight before they are purchased. If frames are made of metal, they are likely to be a more satisfactory choice if they are stamped 1/10 12K gold-filled.

Choosing frames that are becoming to the face is somewhat of a trial and error session! However, the following suggestions might prove helpful as a general guide. The round face looks better in frames with an angular line. The square face might like rounded lower rims, curving from a straight or slanted top to soften the squareness. Harlequin frames can look well on a triangular face while diamond-shaped faces look best with rounded lower frames or with glasses framed only on the top. Oval faces are the lucky ones. They can wear almost any style of frame.

People who must wear prescription eyeglasses have the choice of using prescription sunglasses or sunglasses made to "clip on" over the frames of their regular glasses. Clip-ons are likely to become heavy in wearing. Also, due to extra glass surfaces, they may cause disturbing glare spots. Therefore clip-ons are helpful only for short periods. In most instances, sunglasses ground to the individual's prescription are more satisfactory.

Remember to admire the beautiful sunrise and sunsets through sunglasses.

But for moon light it's not necessary! Ha!

STAUNTON — Mrs. Fenton F. Priest, of Virginia Beach, who came back for her 50th class reunion, went home the president of the national alumnae association of Mary Baldwin College.

The election and installation of officers took place Saturday in the association's annual business meeting.

This is the second time Mrs. Priest, a graduate in music in 1914, has headed the alumnae organization. She was formerly president 1944-46. She also was editor and publisher of the Virginia Beach News, 1941-48 and is currently president of the Garden Club of Norfolk. She also has been an officer of the King's Daughters Children's Hospital, the Needlework Guild, Norfolk Day Nursery, and Norfolk Symphony.

The Tidewater Chapter of the Alumnae Association, including the cities of Norfolk, Portsmouth and Virginia Beach, received the silver trophy for achievement based on its activities during the past year. The chapter was a winner also in 1962.

Past President Mrs. Russel Gimbirt of Virginia Beach represented the Chapter.

Miss Kellam received her Associate in Arts degree from Sullins on Sunday evening, May 31. The Commencement Exercises were held in the Sullins Theatre, college out-door theatre.

Miss Kellam was President of the Campus Chest and a member of the Science Club, the Spanish Club, the Hopalong Club, the Presidents' Council, the Orientation Committee, the Women's Recreation Association and the Campus Religious Organization. She was also a member of the 1963 Mardi Gras Court at Sullins.

The 'Y' of It

By Gretchen Koonitz

National conventions of the YWCA have been held every three years since 1906. The convention is a time and place where the program of the YWCA of the USA is considered and adopted by its members. No convention is an isolated process; each one is a part of a continuing process.

The 23rd National Convention held in Cleveland, Ohio this year had delegates from all over the world. Here they met to spearhead and confirm program priorities for the next three years. Women of all races and nations participated.

In its dedication to the task of helping women and girls build a full life, the YWCA is inevitably concerned with the changing world in which women live and work. The increasing rate of technological and scientific change, a mobile and expanding population, widening disparity between poverty and wealth, heightened tensions between races and nations, the ever present threat of mass destruction and a further disintegration of moral standards and values because of increased loss, for millions, of purpose and meaning in life.

Progress in science and technology has made it possible now to banish poverty, but the scientific progress has not been translated into social progress; hunger and disease stalk the vast majority of the world's population and the fruits of science contain seeds of potential destruction. We have not learned to mobilize our full resources for maximum and continuing output of goods and services. Most serious of all, we have not met the challenge of building more effective interracial, intergroup and international understanding and relationships nor helping persons know in their own experience the answer to basic questions of human destiny: "Who am I," and "Why am I here?"

Program priorities adopted for 1964-67 embrace education, employment, leisure, racial integration, sex morality, world responsibility, Christian faith, and leadership emphasis.

In the face of our burgeoning population—90 people are born every minute—a city the size of Chicago is born every month—the number of people seeking jobs is increasing—the number of jobs is decreasing—50,000 new jobs are needed every week to maintain our present level of employment.

Today's average high school girl will marry younger, have more children, and will complete her family by the age of 27. Her longer life span will provide her with an average of 30 years to live after her children are grown. She will work an average of 33 years of her life in an average of five different jobs. The change from housewife and mother to a life that includes more education and an average of 33 years as a breadwinner has altered the social life of women everywhere.

The YWCA makes an effort to appeal to the highest common denominator in people's lives and has an important job to do in communities all over the world. It gears itself to meet the needs of women and girls today, to increase their knowledge of the Christian faith as a basis for discerning life's meaning; for making responsible personal decisions and for engaging in civic responsibility and social action.

First Baptist Bible School Starts Monday

VIRGINIA BEACH — Vacation Bible School is scheduled to begin at the First Baptist Church Monday, and continue through June 26. The two-week school will be conducted for ages 4-16 daily 9 a.m. to noon.

Preparation Day is this Friday from 10 a.m. to noon. It is for everyone who is in any way involved with the 1964 Bible School: committee members, faculty and helpers, and all students who plan to enroll in Vacation Bible School. The purpose of Preparation Day is to register the boys and girls and orientate them to the general program.

General officers for his year's school include:

Principal, Miss Kay Hood; Pastor, Rev. H. Wadell Waters; secretary, Mrs. J. E. Nixon; music director, Mrs. H. T. White; pianist, Mrs. K. L. Jarl; transportation committee chairman, Mrs. H. W. Waters; refreshment committee chairman, Mrs. J. L. Vaughan.

In addition 30 faculty members will be serving in the Nursery through the Intermediate Departments.

A Transportation Committee has been organized to assist those who need a way to and from church. Please contact Mrs. H. W. Waters at GA 8-2346 who is chairman of this committee.

Intensive preparations have been made to insure a successful school, and a cordial invitation is extended to all community children.

MRS. HAUSER, LINLIER GC PRESIDENT

LINLIER — Mrs. C. J. Hauser was installed recently as president of the Linlier Garden Club at a luncheon meeting at the home of Mrs. W. J. Meagher. Installing officer was Mrs. Julian H. Gary of the Lakewood Garden Club.

Other officers installed were Mrs. W. A. Wood III, first vice president; Mrs. W. L. Myers, second vice president; Mrs. J. L. Kitchen, recording secretary; Mrs. Doris Montgomery, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H. L. Alverson, treasurer; and Mrs. E. P. Bragan, historian.

Mrs. J. L. Kitchen, outgoing president, gave a report for the year. She also presented arrangement award for the year to Mrs. Hauser.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Britton and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Martin have just returned from a nine-day vacation in Canada. While there, they toured Quebec, the Gaspé Peninsula, New Brunswick, and Nova Scotia.

MARRIAGES NOW LAST LONGER

In the year 1900, death put an end to 28 out of every 1,000 marriages, by ending the lives of one or both partners. But today, only 16 out of every 1,000 marriages are ended each year by death. This means not only longer and more productive lives—it also means that more children are raised to adulthood by their parents. Modern drugs have played a vital role in bringing about this change. EDITORIAL SPEAKING

The Election Is Over And It's Back To Serious Work

The voters (a few) went to the polls here Tuesday and re-elected Mayor Frank A. Dusch and Councilman John W. McCombs to the City Council to a new term beginning in September. Voters involved were those in the Borough of Virginia Beach and both incumbents were without opposition. It was more of a formality than anything else. It is good that the election is over and the present members can concentrate on the many problems facing it in the future months and years. With the rapid growth and development of Virginia Beach the 11-man City Council has more responsibility to the people than almost any similar group in all of Virginia. Although the vote Tuesday was light as expected it appears that the present city administration is doing a creditable job and that the people are showing the confidence in its leaders which is a necessary ingredient to the success of the planning and development of this great new city. We feel that the present city council has done an outstanding job in handling the many perplexing problems of the new city and we are happy to see Mayor Dusch and Councilman McCombs continue to serve on the city's governing body. A good team is working for the best interests of the city and this has helped greatly in the transition from county-city to the large city status brought about by the merger of the county and city in 1963.

Pardon Our Pride . . .

The news editor of this newspaper has been in Richmond for part of the week and we don't want to appear boastful but we are justifiably proud of Mrs. Ruby Jean Phillips, who edits the news and its presentation for the SUN-NEWS. Mrs. Phillips was honored Tuesday night in Richmond by the National Federation of Press Women with a third place award in a national competition sponsored by the Federation. Mrs. Phillips was cited as a third place winner among all weekly and semi-weekly newspapers throughout the United States for newspapers in this category regularly edited by a woman. That is quite a distinction and we are proud. Winning awards for her contributions to this newspaper is not new to Mrs. Phillips. The capable news editor previously was announced as first place winner in Virginia in the same category for a woman news editor and she was awarded second place in the State in the feature writing category. In other years Mrs. Phillips has been recognized for her newspaper work, but 1964 seems to be a banner year for her. Three awards so far this year and we wouldn't be surprised if others come her way before the year is over. You will pardon our pride, but it's bustin' out all over.

BASKIN, IN THE SUN

By GORDON BASKIN

This is the time of year when men of varying degrees of importance stand before large groups of young people and perform that fancy act commonly referred to as the Commencement Address. If the speaker happens to be in the public eye, the newspapers and television networks make certain that the words are heard around the world. After all, Churchill added the phrase "iron curtain" to our language while making such a speech, and the news media have been afraid ever since that they'd miss something. After all, perhaps a distinguished man will announce an important change in foreign policy on some college campus this month. I suspect that the seniors don't really care what the man says, provided he says it in a nice quiet voice. After all, they've been up 'til all hours, what with exams, parties, dances, and dates, and they need a quiet voice to insure that they'll catch a few minutes nap.

Most of these speakers ring a few hundred platitudes off of the skulls of the sleepy seniors and go back home and relax, secure in the knowledge that they have said nothing of importance to disturb the students on their last day of formal education. Often in a while a speaker will get carried away in the face of a captive audience and lay about him in all directions. This is frowned on by the President of the College, the Board of Visitors, the Faculty and everyone else connected with the college with the exception of the students, who really just want to get a little nap. They, too, may take a very dim view of this kind of speaker—but only if he is noisy. A few speakers build a sparkling tower of words about the importance of the teachers who have brought these seniors to their present level of achievement. They talk about how the teachers have, cajoled, wheedled, soft-soaped, begged, threatened, intimidated, frightened, cursed, blustered, badgered, warned, screamed, howled and used whatever considerable talent they had to make certain that their students were not complete mental basket cases. The speakers use words like "dedication" and "sacrifice", but they rarely mention better salaries.

I therefore hope that most commencement speakers will have kind words to say about the teachers of America. It will be small comfort, but it will beat a poke in the eye with a sharp stick; which is what they are accustomed to. At least, Dear Lord, don't let them say the kind of thing that was said last week in Nigeria by a student who was arrested while robbing a house. When the Police asked why, he blamed the whole thing on his teacher. Said that if his teacher had been any good, he wouldn't have done such a poor job of stealing.

Slattum Will Attend Class For Bankers

EARL V. SLATTUM
VIRGINIA BEACH — Earl V. Slattum, vice president at Virginia National Bank's Virginia Beach office is a member of the class of bank officers who will enter The Stonier Graduate School of Banking at its annual summer session in June. The sessions will be held at Rutgers — The State University, New Brunswick, N.J., June 8 through 19.

Slattum is one of 1,100 bankers who will attend the two-week session of the school, which is sponsored by The American Bankers Association. The student body—from 45 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Colombia, Venezuela and the Philippines—represents a capacity enrollment. The Stonier Graduate School was founded in 1935 to provide an opportunity to experienced bankers for advanced study in banking and related subjects. The faculty for the 1964 session numbers approximately 100 leading bankers, lawyers, educators, and Government representatives. During the two-week session, they will cover all phases of banking, economics, law, Government, and related fields. To qualify for graduation, Mr. Slattum must attend similar summer sessions again in 1965 and 1966. In addition, he must complete two years of extension work at home and will be required to write a thesis based upon original research in some phase of finance.

8-Year Old Writes LBJ A Letter

VIRGINIA BEACH—The grandparents of 8-year old Bruce Bole, who lives at Guilford College, N. C., are naturally proud of their grandson, but Bruce's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Holland, of 287 Sixty-ninth street, are doubly proud of their grandson's latest exploit. It seems that Bruce decided recently to write President Johnson a letter. It was Bruce's thinking that if Khrushchev can ask President Johnson to come to see him for a visit, why can't I? So, Bruce penned a letter to the White House. Two weeks passed and Bruce hadn't heard a word from Washington. He was thinking of switching over to the Republicans. But, then it happened. A letter came from the White House from Kenneth O'Donnell, special assistant to the president. The letter read: "Dear Bruce, The President has asked me to thank you for your letter. Although it is not possible for him to accept your kind invitation to visit you, he appreciates your friendliness in writing and sends you his best wishes." Bruce is naturally proud of the White House letter and Mr. and Mrs. Holland are overjoyed with the thinking and thoughtfulness of their grandson. The letter is understandable.

BBB Closes For Revision Of File Date

NORFOLK — Charles A. Martak, Manager of the Tidewater Better Business Bureau, announced today that their office will be closed to the public this week for a revision of Bureau files. This step has become necessary due to the tremendous number of requests for service which have caused their files to become overloaded. Martak stated that public demands for service are too great to permit the job to be performed while they are still open for business. Public phones will be placed on "suspended service" that week and the BBB door will be locked. Martak announced that mail requests will be honored and emergency requests for service may be placed in the mail slot at the BBB office, located at 114 W. York Street in Norfolk. The American Cancer Society reports that legacies and bequests have become a major factor in financing the fight against cancer through research, education and service programs. In 1952 the Society received $590,123 in bequests and legacies, and in 1963 more than $7,000,000.

PLAYGROUNDS NOW CLOSED

VIRGINIA BEACH — Friday, June 5th at 5:00 p.m. marked the close of another year of operation for the mushrooming Afternoon Playground Program. Twelve schools were involved in this, another attempt at providing supervised play for the city's children.

An average of 675 youngsters took advantage of this offering daily and this figure becomes more important when considering that the playgrounds operated only outdoors. During inclement weather, the operation was closed down.

Over the year these activities stood out: Leagues: basketball (14), football (10), soccer (18), softball (31), bowling (45). Individual Contests (cross-country, Fitness Meets, Horseshoe tournaments). Individual Activities (tetherball, croquet, table tennis, Box games, paddle tennis, skating).

Inter-Playground Play (Football, basketball, softball). According to Mr. William Garrison, Supervisor of this program, the afternoon playgrounds "have been very successful due to the individual supervision at the schools. With an expected increase to 18 schools next year, it is hoped to expand the offerings and install Challenge Courses at every school. I feel that more youngsters should take advantage of the program offerings and put into practice the things they have learned in their Physical Education Program."

BIG YARD

Some large yards are pretty hard to handle unless one wants to spend a great deal of money for landscaping. A simple way to break up these areas is with a section or two of fence set in saw tooth array along a path toward the middle of the yard. Use western red cedar for best results.

In Full Swing

VIRGINIA BEACH—With the organizational meetings over and exams finished, the Recreation Department Summer Leagues swing into week-night operation. Starting with Monday night, June 15 and continuing until the last week in July, the Midget, Intermediate and Junior Boys Baseball leagues will operate under the lights during the week. The Teen-Age Girls Softball League also starts their week-play on June 15, but runs until the 5th of August.

Mr. Richard Branch, Athletic Leagues Director feels this will be "The best yet." With the building of more lighted fields and the upgrading of the older ones, Mr. Branch feels the youngsters will have a better situation because the playing conditions are better. New guard rails, better playing surfaces and new dugouts should please participants and fans alike.

The Midget League doubled in size this year, and so there will be an "A" and "B" Division. This League will operate on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights utilizing 3 fields per night with 2 games being played nightly at each field. Each team will play approximately a 15-game season. Fields being used will be Woodstock, Kempsville, Lynnhaven, Kellam, and occasionally Creeds.

The Intermediate League also operates on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights at the Kempsville Field and occasionally utilizing Kellam Field. This same situation holds true for the Junior League, but this league will play more games at Kellam Field with four nights scheduled at Creeds Field.

The Teen-Girls Softball League operates on a variety of week nights but will be mainly confined to Tuesday and Thursday nights. Due to the City wide entries for this league, eight different fields will be utilized, from time to time, to equalize the travel situation for each team.

Age limits for these leagues are as follows: Midget—Boys cannot be 13 years old prior to Aug. 1, '64; Intermediate—Boys cannot be 15 years old prior to Aug. 1, '64; Junior—Boys cannot be 17 years old prior to Aug. 1, '64; Teen-Girls Softball—Girls must have reached their 13th birthday by the time the season begins and cannot have reached their 18th birthday before Aug. 1, '64. Married girls in this age bracket who desire to compete, must play in the women's league.

Virginia Beach SUN-NEWS, Thursday, June 11, 1964 Page 5-A

A few weeks ago headlines appeared in a newspaper that five persons were drowned in Virginia in a single week end. WHY? Did the occupants of the boats fail to have lifesaving devices on, or even in the boat, or was there a lack of boating knowledge on the part of the boat operators?

Most of us go under the assumption that it can not happen to me. But do we really think this or is it just because we don't THINK. Nearly all boating fatalities could have been avoided if the victims had been wearing a lifesaving device or by having a life preserver readily accessible.

Don't Start a Moored Boat Common sense tells us that we should never moor a boat to any fixed object and then attempt to start the motor in gear. This is the same as securing one end of a rope to a post, then running with the loose end until the rope is tight. The sudden stop would cause you to flip over. The same thing happens when you start a motor of a boat with the boat moored to a fixed object. Something has to give and usually it is the occupants of the boat who end up in the water, or are thrown violently to the deck.

Don't Overload Most boats today carry a capacity plate and this capacity should never be exceeded. If the load capacity for a 14 foot boat is 500 pounds including the passengers, motor and other equipment, DON'T exceed this weight. A few pounds could be the difference between a successful boating trip or tragedy.

Public Schools Serve As City Playgrounds

VIRGINIA BEACH — "Bigger, better and more!" This statement was issued by Stephen Chipok, Supervisor of Summer Playgrounds in response to questions concerning the opening of the Playgrounds for 1964. Mr. Chipok explained that all public schools will operate as a playground this summer except for Linkhorn Park, John B. Dey, Kempsville, Elementary, Pembroke, Courthouse and Princess Anne High School (however, "female" instruction will again be offered there). This situation brings the operating sites to 24—an increase of 4 sites over the 1963 operation. With a more experienced staff returning there will be more focus directed toward outdoor activities, emphasizing instruction and competition experiences—trying to support the theme of the summer, "Playing More in Sixty-four."

To support this thought, Mr. Chipok disclosed his plans for the Annual Summer Playground Institute. This institute, held prior to each Playground opening is a 2 day inservice program for all directors and assistant directors. It is designed to cover policies, organization, operation, and instruction necessary for the conduct of an interesting program. The institute will be held at King's Grant School on June 18 and 19 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The playgrounds will open on Tuesday, June 23 to service school-age youngsters only with the first day customarily devoted to registering the children. Directors will request verification should they question a child's age. The operating day will be: 9 a.m. - 12 noon (morning session) and 1 - 4 p.m. (afternoon session). The playgrounds will cease operation 12 noon, Friday, August 14.

Mr. Chipok is making a plea for Adult Volunteers to help meet the needs of an expanded program. Volunteers can help in many ways—from assisting with registration to officiating games; from helping with drama activities and puppetry projects to helping prepare and serve refreshments at special occasions.

If any parent is willing to help, they are requested to contact their school playground Director and make their intentions known. At any rate, parents should periodically visit the playgrounds to get acquainted with the Recreation Staff there. Only through this type of school-community relationship can a playground fulfill its desired objectives.

View Of Virginia Beach

Doris Padrick

Are you as pretty as you could be? Good looks come from good health, good nature, and good cosmetics. It is up to you to maintain your health, and your attitude toward life determines your disposition, but when it comes to good cosmetics, you should get the help of a trained cosmetician. A visit to a Merle Norman Studio will help you to discover the lovelier you.

Have you ever been made-up like a movie star...and for free? You get that treatment from Mrs. Helen Axelrod, manager of the Merle Norman Studio at 208 23rd Street in Virginia Beach. While this is a business of selling perfect formulated cosmetics, you are not expected to consider any purchase until you have been analyzed and given a beauty treatment you will not soon forget.

You will be seated at a brightly lighted dressing table while she expertly studies your features and the condition of your complexion.

There are only three basic steps to becoming a more vivid you. First is the cleansing which is a silken-soft all-purpose cold cream smoothed lightly over your face and quickly rinsed off removing all traces of old make-up and soil. Second step is the application of a cool pink liquid called Mira-cold which dries while stimulating circulation and working to clean all pores more deeply. This is rinsed off with cool water, and your skin just glows.

At this point, Mrs. Axelrod selects a shade of powder base which will match as nearly as possible your own skin tone plus a key tint—if your natural coloring is too dull, you will be given a rosy glow; if you are too florid, you will be subdued with ivory shades; if you need no additive, no detraction, you will sparkle with your own perfect beautifying, healing agent and the third step, your free demonstration does not stop here.

You look and feel relaxed and rejuvenated...now she makes you beautiful! A subtle touch of blush rouge is blended over the "smile area." Natural pigment brown eye shadow enriches the skin tone above the eye. Fluffy face powder is pressed in to set your make-up and all loose powder brushed off leaving a satiny finish to a perfect complexion. Your eyebrows are brushed then smoothed, and penciled into the proper shape. The eyeliner is in color to match your eyes or your costume. Mascara darkens your lashes to a length you may not know you possess. For the final touch, she will hand you a lip-stick brush for only you can fill in your own perfect lipline properly.

A miracle has happened right before your eyes and on your own face...and you couldn't be more pleased, and perhaps more surprised at how attractive you can be with expert help and advice.

The Merle Norman cosmetic industry began in November 1931, and the unique method of "getting it on your face" with free demonstrations has expanded till there are now studios all over the country and overseas as well. Besides the Studio at Virginia Beach, there are two more in the Tidewater area in Norfolk at Ward's Corner and at College Place. Anyone with a complexion problem—youthful girls with blemishes, older women with wrinkles and sagging skin, and even men—can benefit from the three steps to beauty. Mrs. Axelrod gives free demonstrations at the schools and club meetings as well as at the Virginia Beach Studio.

If you like the luxury of being fussed over and made more attractive, you can get a treatment as often as you can introduce a friend to Merle Norman cosmetics...for every friend you bring in for a demonstration, you can get beautified again. How can you lose?

Poor Response To Bloodmobile Noted Here

VIRGINIA BEACH — Despite a front page appeal in bold type by the Sun-News and ample coverage elsewhere, the citizens of Virginia Beach couldn't be bothered to take a few minutes out of their day, Friday, to save a life.

The Red Cross Bloodmobile was failed once more in the effort to collect the assigned quota. Chairman of the local blood program Mrs. Lois M. Nelson said, "It had been our hope that the needs of others could be remembered and donors would make this visit one of which we could be proud. But only 35 donors gave."

While Mrs. Nelson gave her 35th pint and Kenneth Buurma gave his first, most other people in town continued on their merry way. There were a few who cared, however. Below is a list of the names of donors, Friday, during the Bloodmobile visit to Princess Anne High School.

Mr. J. Frank East, 3rd; Miss Dorothy L. Ellen; Mrs. Barbara A. McGinnis; Mr. Kenneth D. Buurma; Mrs. Ruby E. Semans; Mrs. Mildred Mollenauer; Mr. Don W. Korte; Miss Emma Lou Pope; Miss Thelma Brock; Mr. Ernest R. Brock; Mrs. Ernestine S. Hoggard; Mr. Thomas Moore; Mrs. Laura J. O'Brien; Mrs. Joann Poindexter; Mr. Marshall Poindexter; Mrs. Lois M. Nelson; Mrs. Helen N. Martinson; Mrs. Mary Peskops; Mr. Samny Williams; Mrs. Winnie Morgan; Mrs. Sallie Y. Williams; Mrs. Sylvia R. Kalishman; Mrs. Eva Lou Bonney; Mrs. Vivian T. Petty; Dr. James P. Charlton; Mr. Foster E. Billingsley; Mrs. Angelo J. Rush; Mrs. Bernice G. Bullock; Mr. George M. Fuller; Mrs. Florence Turner; Mr. Richard McAndrews, 3rd; Mrs. Lucinda W. Cross; Mr. Phillip Flanagan; Mr. John R. Flanagan; Mr. Douglas G. Ebert.

"Since the last visit on April 27," said Mrs. Nelson, "residents have used 147 pints of blood, yet only 35 have been returned. 'One man has just received 20 pints of blood. He comes from a large family, yet not one member has donated. Many others have received smaller quantities without returning.'"

With so many taking and so few giving, the blood quota goes up while the number of donors goes down. Virginia Beach has to beg blood from those communities which meet their quotas. Starting July 8 and continuing for the next year, The Bloodmobile will visit on the second Wednesday of each month in an effort to meet the new and higher quota of 1,500 pints of blood for the year.

During the last visit, Woodbine Bar-B-Que and Sunbeam Bread supplied snacks for all donors. H. I. Jaffe donated his services as cook. Jaffe is president of the 10 gallon club.

RICHARD E. NORRIS

FERRUM — Richard E. Norris of Virginia Beach has been graduated from Ferrum Junior College, Ferrum, Virginia. Richard is the son of Mrs. Olivia E. Norris of Route 1, Virginia Beach.

He was awarded Ferrum's Associate in Arts degree, earned after a minimum of 64 hours class credit and 64 quality points. More than 80 per cent of this year's graduating class of 120 are expected to enroll as juniors in four-year colleges throughout the United States.

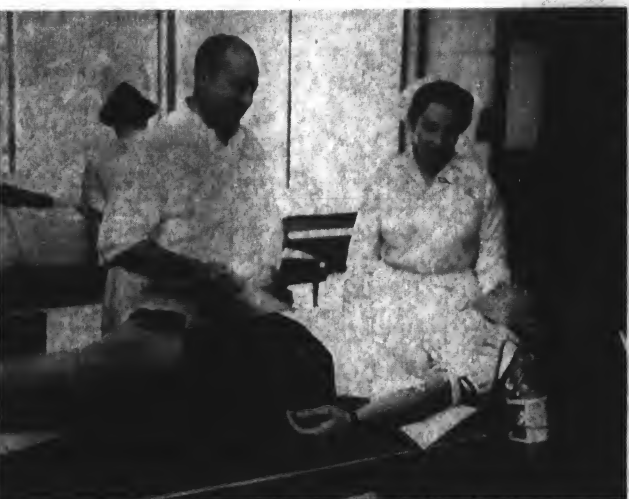

KHEDIVE TO PARADE

VIRGINIA BEACH — There'll be a parade along Atlantic Avenue starting about 10 a.m. Saturday with the Hillbilly Unit of the Khedive Temple, Norfolk.

Purpose of the parade is to promote the coming Shrine Circus, June 25 through 28 at the Norview Stadium.

The Virginia Beach Shrine Club will hold its monthly meeting at the Black Angus Restaurant, Friday. The social hour will start at 6:30 and dinner will be at 7:30.

This Friday's meeting will be Past Presidents' night, honoring all former presidents of the club.

When Ken Buurma, 18, a senior at Princess Anne High School, donated blood for the first time, Henry I. Jaffe came over to shake his hand. Jaffe was the first to receive the 10 gallon pin when the Red Cross began to issue them. "Officially I've given 11½ gallons of blood, but since 1932 I've donated 22 gallons," said Jaffe. Assistant Chief Nurse of the Tidewater Regional Blood Center Miss M. Cordovana looks on. Miss Cordovana has given blood about 10 times. (Staff photo by Hardy)

Two Churches Broken Into

PLAZA — Two churches within a block of each other, were broken into Thursday night. They were the Princess Anne Plaza Baptist, 245 Rosemont Road, and the Bow Creek Presbyterian on the corner of Rosemont and Plaza Trail.

Rev. Hughes of the Plaza Baptist said this was the fourth time his church had been broken into. "I don't know why they keep coming. We never keep any money here," he said.

Breaking the glass, the intruders entered through a window on the second floor of the educational building. From there they went down to break in the church office door and the pastor's study.

All drawers were ransacked, but no vandalism was reported other than in the way of forcing their way.

"Looks like they used a screwdriver on the doors," said Rev. Hughes. "Some of the doors were badly scratched. Nothing of value seems to be missing. They must've only been interested in money."

Rev. W. J. Miller of the Presbyterian Church said the same thing. "They were looking for money. Nothing else seemed to interest them."

"A small tool, we think a screwdriver, was used to pry open the side door to the sanctuary. There was only one tiny mark, indicating they knew the lock. I didn't even notice the mark until the police pointed it out to me."

The robbers revealed themselves to be two men when they entered the sanctuary. The tile floor there was so highly glossed that they left their distinct foot prints as well as grass from the bottom of their shoes.

Again these plunderers broke into an office looking for money.

Rev. Miller said he'd say one thing for the robbers—"They were neat. Didn't disturb anything. They also broke into the kitchen where a number of drinks were, but they didn't take anything here either."

"Where they broke in, they knew exactly where to pry. They appeared to know just where each lock was." "The church is open to the public each day and many people pass in and out it's doors."

Rev. ROBERT L. HARTER
A NEW CANAL

I recall hearing my father say of the famed builder of the Suez Canal, when he had failed at the Panama Canal, "Poor old de Lesseps! Perhaps he was somewhat like another great Frenchman, who was an Italian by blood, who was faced by a new enemy—NATURE, when he succeeded in digging a colossal ditch between two seas, failed to overcome the obstacles that nature placed in his way on the isthmus of Panama."

But the United States built a canal across the Isthmus, linking the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, providing for great ships a waterway through which thousands of ships have passed and returned through the years.

Now the Panamanians seem to think the time is ripe for them to take for themselves along the heavily laden but has been laid in their laps. We cannot escape the suspicion that a nation across the sea that invades against imperialism is following its own imperialistic desires in the New World.

However, these things may be, despite a new canal from the Gulf to the Pacific Ocean through our own territory might not cost any more than building many canals toward the moon.

Health Tips

Several million small boats will go back into the water this weekend after a winter in storage and several weeks of scraping, painting and refurbishing this spring.

Safety experts have said many times that most boating and fishing accidents could be prevented if outdoorers would observe a few simple precautions.

Good manners and common sense in boating will prevent most accidents. Don't overload the boat; have life preservers for each occupant; don't stand up or change seats in a small boat while underway; keep a watchful eye out for other boats, swimmers and fishermen; and give all a comfortably wide berth. These rules are repeated each boating season, but there still are drownings because someone ignored them. Most marine operators and many sporting goods stores have pamphlets on boating safety. Get one, study it, follow it.

Pleasure lakes and streams will be more crowded with boats this season than ever before, and there's even less room for the hot-rodder helmsman with an inclination to buzz the dock, dash through an anchorage or buzz another boat. The hot-rodder is just as dangerous on water as on land, both to others and to himself.

Fishing is highly recommended by your doctor as a healthy, relaxing sport that will get you out of doors into fresh air and sunshine, and help to clear those mental cobwebs left over from home and office worries. Fishing is not particularly hazardous, but there are some pointers to which to help avoid accidents.

Hooks, left lying in the bottom of a boat or on a dock are a real hazard. Many fishermen follow a simple rule with hooks: When not in use for fishing, cover the barbed point with a small cork.

Free as a Bird

No worries, no responsibilities! A lot of us would gladly trade places with Wendy, just to share that wonderful "joy of living" that children feel so often, and adults experience so rarely.

"But what is there to be happy about?" you may be thinking. "Maybe Wendy has no worries, but I certainly have!"

Perhaps we forget that this world is in God's hands . . . and that, with God, nothing is impossible. We wear ourselves out seeking human solutions to our problems, when Divine help is always available if we will only ask.

Try it. Try bringing your worries and doubts to God this Sunday in your neighborhood Church. Hear God's promise of guidance and comfort for all who will give their lives to him in childlike trust. And let the Holy Spirit fill your troubled heart with lasting joy.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor in earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

CHEVELLE by Chevrolet

FRISKY AS IT CAN BE... FINE A BUY AS YOU CAN GET (even finer now!)

Trade 'N' Travel Time is running out at your Chevrolet dealer's. This is about your last chance to get in a whole summer of fun with a beautiful buy like a Chevelle Malibu wagon. Let us point out some less obvious pleasures. It has curved side windows—not just for looks, but to give you more shoulder room. It has those self-cleaning rocker panels beneath the doors that resist rust.

Inside, the upholstery over its wide foam-cushioned seats is soft, durable vinyl. We don't want anything playing havoc with Chevelle's good looks if we can help it. All in all, there are 11 different Chevelles being offered during Trade 'N' Travel Time. Wagons, coupes, Super Sports, convertibles, sedans. One's as beautiful a buy as the other. It's up to you. But hurry, whatever you do!

"In" Crowd Loves White Elephant Inn!

Do you love historic Nantucket Island? Most everyone who has ever been there does! Shown here is the heated salt water swimming pool and patio at the White Elephant. With the colorful busy harbor right at its doorstep, you'll be "in" the swing of things—whether you are a fisherman, a yachtsman or just a lazy "looker-on." Small, friendly and convenient, the Island's newest luxury inn offers a choice of 26 rooms in the main building, rose covered honeymoon cottages for 2, and restored 2-story whaling captain's houses for the whole family. Season June 19 to September 7.

ALASKA COMES BACK

The four blocks of Anchorage hit hardest by the Alaskan earthquake looked like this a month later, with tons of rubble still to be removed.

Many Anchorage offices that escaped destruction look like New York Life's, where steel braces are welded to pillars to help prevent further shifting of the building.

Huge cranes remove concrete slabs that used to be part of the J. C. Penney store in downtown Anchorage.

Boys do men's work in the massive clean-up job. Here they dig into the debris in the high school at Seward.

Straw Hat Time In Strawberry Patch

Pick yourself some scarlet berries and make this pie. A sweet, transparent glaze filling brimful of berries nestles in a tender pie crust lined with softened cream cheese—delicious!

GLAZED STRAWBERRY PIE

Makes one 9-inch pie

Pie Crust:
One half 10-oz. pkg. (1 cup)
Flako Pie Crust Mix
2 tablespoons cold water Filling:
One 3-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
1/2 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
Sweetened whipped cream

Heat oven to hot (425°F.). For pie crust, measure 1 cup pie crust mix into bowl. Sprinkle cold water by tablespoons over mix; stir lightly with fork until just dampened. (If necessary, add another one-half tablespoon cold water to make dough hold together.) Form into ball. Roll dough out on lightly floured board or canvas to form 13-inch circle. Fit loosely into 9-inch pie plate. Trim; flute edges; prick bottom and sides. Bake in preheated oven (425°F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Cool.
Blend together cream cheese and confectioners' sugar; spread on bottom and sides of baked pie crust. Combine sugar and cornstarch in saucepan; stir in water and 1 cup strawberries. Cook over medium heat until thickened and clear; reduce heat to low and cook 10 minutes, stirring frequently. Cool 5 minutes. Arrange remaining strawberries in pie crust. Pour cooled glaze over strawberries. Just before serving, garnish with sweetened whipped cream.

STRAWBERRIES ROMANOFF

1/2 cup Cointreau
1 qt. strawberries, capped and washed
1/2 cup heavy cream
1/2 pint vanilla ice cream
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Pour half the liqueur over the strawberries and chill for 1 hour. Whip cream. Beat ice cream until soft. Add lemon juice and remaining liqueur. Fold in the whipped cream and strawberries. Serve at once. Serves about 6.

STRAWBERRY SOUFFLE

1 cup sugar
1 cup water
2 cups strawberries—fresh or frozen
4 egg yolks
2 cups light cream—scalded
2 cups heavy cream—whipped
Combine 1/2 cup sugar and the water in a saucepan. Cook until syrupy, about 5 minutes. Add berries and cook 5 minutes. Force through sieve. Beat egg yolks and remaining sugar in top of double boiler. Gradually add the light cream, stirring steadily. Place over hot water and cook, stirring constantly until thick. Strain. Add to strawberry syrup. Cool—fold in the whipped cream.

All honor and success to those who honor their father and mother.

Butter a band of wax paper and tie it around top of 1 1/2 qt. buttered soufflé dish so that it extends 2 inches above the top—pour mixture into dish. Place in freezing compartment and freeze 3-4 hours. Carefully remove collar and serve. Serves about 6.

OLD-FASHIONED SHORTCAKE

Old-fashioned shortcake is always made with a biscuit mixture rather than cake and is served unsweetened with heavy cream, not whipped cream. This type of shortcake is perfect for a leisurely Sunday brunch.

2 cups all purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
Dash nutmeg
1/2 stick soft butter (not melted)
3/4 cup milk (about)
2 Tablespoons melted butter (for brushing top)
Sift flour with baking powder, salt, sugar and nutmeg. Work in soft butter with fingers or fork. Stir in milk, little by little until mixture holds together but is still soft. Turn out on floured board and divide in two parts. Pat, roll out and cut with large biscuit cutter for individual short cakes, brush with melted butter and place in buttered baking pans. Bake 12 minutes at 425 degrees. These will puff up so when done and cool enough to handle, split and spread lightly with melted butter. Spread strawberries between layers and on top. Serve warm with heavy cream, plain or whipped as you desire. 1 quart of strawberries, capped and (wash and drained thoroughly) crushed slightly, sweetened to taste, will serve about 6. Save a few perfect berries for garnish if you'd like to.

NOTES FROM YOUR AGRICULTURAL AGENT

Burning Being Used As Management Tool

Fire, that horror of the forester, is now being used as a management tool. Under some conditions it enables control of undesirable hardwood, while at the same time improving food production for turkey, quail, and other wildlife.

Most of the work that has been done with prescribed burning has been in the Coastal Plain areas. Now a research project is underway to determine the effects of controlled burning in the Piedmont area.

Charles T. Cushman, wildlife biologist with the Southwestern Forest Experiment Station, Asheville, N.C., is now in residence at VPI, doing graduate work. His research thesis will be done in the area of prescribed burning.

This is a long-term effort by the research station, and is expected to extend over a 10-year period. This is a piece of research that is needed very badly.

Interested specialists met recently on the VPI campus to coordinate plans for the burning experiment.

Record Keeping Shows Way Toward Making Beef Better

Both purebred and commercial breeders need to use performance testing as a record-keeping tool to improve growth rate and quality of their animals.

Fortunately, both growth rate and carcass quality are heritable and can be readily improved through selection. Beef cattle of the future will no doubt be somewhat larger and faster gaining. They will be slaughtered at about the same weights as now, but will be less mature and have less outside fat. They must have sufficient marbling in the muscle and must have tenderness, flavor, and quality.

Performance records begin with joining the Virginia Beef Cattle Improvement Association. Purebred breeders need to go one step farther. They need to find lines of cattle that will grow and have desirable carcasses as well—through the use of carcass evaluation.

Carcass valuation takes a sire progeny group of eight or more heifers or steers, feeds them to a desirable market weight, and then after slaughter evaluates the carcasses for weight per day of age, muscling, fat marbling, and USDA grade.

Virginia BCIA members may conduct sire progeny carcass evaluation through this organization. The American Hereford Association and the American Angus Association have similar programs.

Sheep Revival in the Offing?

Sheep show signs of being the fair-haired child this year. Already wool has been sold for 70 to 75 cents per pound. A few lamb sales are above 25 cents a pound, western replacement ewes prices have advanced $2 per hundred in two months, and everybody I've seen wants sheep. The purebred sales held so far are averaging more than last year, and there is sheep enthusiasm for the first time in years.

There is one trouble. Many of the superior ewe lambs, out of the West went, to slaughter as lambs and were not kept as replacements. It is likely, therefore, in our zeal to stock up with sheep, we shall need to fine-tooth-comb them; to keep on the quality side. Better we should go a bit slower and wait a year to put them in, rather than expand with stinkers and have to begin over in a year or so. Sheep can be depended on to make a contribution in Appalachia's war on poverty; so a lot of forces may combine to make it a "sheep revival."

One explanation of such good wool prices is that our product is on the coarse side. Real fine wool doesn't fit the present style of bulky sweaters and fluffy stuff. It may not always be so, for style is a fickle critter; but it seems to me the coarser wool would wear rather than the too fine fleeced ones would have a point. Always though, we must remind ourselves not to get carried away with a minor point. Lamb production accounts for some 8 per cent of the proceeds from sheep, and since this is the big pay day, first priority goes to the ewe's ability to produce lambs.

VPI research has established which ewes are the sorriest, worst kind. They are the ones called "late lambs" that will not make satisfactory slaughter weights, so are kept over to use as replacements when they become a year old. This is, doing every possible reversal of genetic selection because they are from the poorest milking ewes, with slowest growth, and greatest susceptibility to parasites. They possess every trait of inefficiency and we select for undesirable production factors every time we keep one of this kind.

The best ewes in our test came from those lambs born early, twins where possible, from best milking mothers, and ready for market at the youngest ages. They are called "temptation" ewes. The temptation is so great to sell them that, mostly, they do get sold. But where they are kept, they easily prove that a producer can raise more productive sheep than he can buy. Nevertheless this doesn't offer much chance for a man to get into sheep who doesn't already have them, so we had to make other tests to find the next best source of replacements.

We found that ewes from the southwest, such as New Mexico and Texas, whose mothers were Rambouillet and whose sires were either Norfolk or Hampshire, or crosses of these, were the best lamb-producers in our climate. They have some drawbacks, such as having lighter fleeces, being somewhat wilder and having conformation that is not ideal. Thicker, heavier boned rams are required than if ewes were of similar breeding but from the northwest. Mainly the freight is less and prices less from Texas than from Montana.

The heaviest woolled ewes in our test were the white-faced northwest ones sired by Columbia or Lincoln rams out of grade Rambouillet ewes. They were not quite as satisfactory lamb producers, however. The highly wrinkled grade Rambouillet ewes for early spring lamb production are not as popular and do not fit as well as some other ewes of smoother conformation and more heavily muscled.

It is very likely that few or no black-faced yearlings will be available this year. You can buy them as lambs this fall. But yearlings of the white-faced variety are perhaps all you can get. So buy them as big, smooth-bodied, and heavy-boned as you can find, and that is about the best you can do until next year.

"Let me live in a house by the side of the road and be a friend to man."—S. W. Foss.

Hello folks. Several months ago I told you of the selection of Hunter Spence to represent Virginia Beach as a 4-H International Farm Youth Representative (IFYE) Delegate to Thailand. Since then a fund raising campaign has been successfully conducted. I want to take this opportunity to express the appreciation of the entire Agricultural Extension Service Staff and the 4-H Clubs of Virginia Beach to those who have made it possible for our City to participate in the IFYE program.

These organizations that contributed are: The Princess Anne Ruritan Club; Bayside Lions Club; Crocota Ruritan, the Virginia Beach Home Demonstration Club; Oceana Lions Club; Virginia Beach Rotary Club; Kempville Ruritan; North Thalia Club; League; Kempville Lions Club; George Tait & Sons Seed Co.; Blackwater Community 4-H Club; Virginia Beach Clovers 4-H Club; and Thalia 4-H Club.

C. F. Lay

The IFYE Fund Raising Committee members were: Beulah Humphries, Chairman, R. H. DeFord, Jr., Vice-Chairman; Mrs. Pauline Peterson, Secretary; Mrs. Josephine Charles, Treasurer; J. Roy Alphin, Ben J. Bowers, Miss Sharyn Braun, H. W. Cunningham, Jefferson Davis, Mrs. H. O. Freeman, Mrs. Foster Gilbert, Howard E. Jones, Mrs. Laura Lamb, Roy LaMere, H. N. Levitt, Al Mathies, Mrs. Edna Malbone, Miss Donna Murphy, William D. Nagg, J. Curtis Payne, Robert C. Stenzhorne, and L. Belmont Williams.

Hunter Spence will spend six months in Thailand, living with Thai families. He will learn of their habits and customs and in turn relate some of the United States habits and customs to the Thais.

Upon his return, Hunter will be available to relate his experiences to 4-H Clubs, Civic and business organizations, and others who will want to contribute to word understanding by learning of another country's culture.

In Virginia... at a picnic, beer is a natural

When you're relaxing at your favorite outdoor happy spot with friends or family, and your thirst is whetted by fresh air and exercise—that's the ideal time for a cool, refreshing glass of beer. In fact, you can name your recreation—swimming, hiking, or just watching TV—and chances are nothing in the world fits it quite as well as beer.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

In Virginia...Beer goes with fun, with relaxation

A Champ Shows How

Virginia Beach High School sophomore Doug Neil gets a few pointers from Carlos Rodriguez. Rodriguez was runner-up in the Mr. America contest and holds title to the Tri-State crown—New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania.

The students were being tested for the second time this year on the Marine Corps physical fitness test—the same one given at Paris Island. Major M. E. Mangum said Virginia Beach High School showed the highest percentage of improvement than any tested school in his district. Out of 300 students tested, 197 passed.

Home Best Place To Discipline Child

Television is the most promising influence of all the mass media, but the primary disciplines originate in the home, the church and the school, Robert W. Sarnoff said in Atlantic City today as he became the first recipient of the Southern Baptists' Distinguished Communications Medal.

Grouping TV with newspapers, movies, magazines, radio and books, the Chairman of the Board of NBC in an address prepared for delivery at the New Jersey resort's Convention Hall described all of them as "secondary influence" in American society but with television the leader among them.

Mr. Sarnoff's award was established this year by the Radio and Television Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention, whose Third Baptist Jubilee Year began its week-long observances Monday (May 18). It was presented by Dr. Paul M. Stevens, the Commission's Director. Dr. Stevens emphasized that the DCM "will not necessarily be awarded annually and only to individuals who have made an obvious and lasting contribution to radio and television communications."

Vital Roles of the 'Big Three'

"For all its powers of attraction, television is in fact a secondary influence on our society," Mr. Sarnoff said. "I think you will agree that the primary influences on the thought and behavior of the individual, and through him on society itself are that trinity of institutions that dates to the very beginnings of civilization—the home, the church and the school."

The roles of these institutions may sometimes be "obscured," he added, but in a time of worldwide social change they should be "more vital than ever in developing in individuals the instincts and interests that lead to higher levels of understanding. Each could make itself felt more fully, he asserted, by working through "those secondary influences of which television is the most promising."

'Distinctly Democratic Institution'

While acknowledging the power of television, he said that all who serve it and are served by it must have an understanding of the medium's "basic character and its place in the framework of our culture."

Mr. Sarnoff described TV, in its development in the United States, as a "distinctly democratic institution" in which broadcasting facilities are privately owned and operated for profit. "Yet we are reminded repeatedly and appropriately that broadcasting is a public trust that must be responsive to the public interest," he said.

"Television defies precise definition," he said, and "thrives upon the accommodation of a wide variety of elements that are sometimes in concert, sometimes in conflict."

"Television, in the last analysis, is a dialogue between free broadcasters and a free people," he said. "Each of our programs, whatever its content, is a question each audience, a response."

The principal mission of the medium is the communication of entertainment and information, he declared, but "it takes two to communicate, and television requires of its audience not only the act of viewing but of first selecting a program, and then judging its merit."

TV—A Reflection of our Society

"Millions of such active, individual choices are made each broadcast hour, hundreds of millions each day," he said, "and their combined effect is a continuous shaping and reshaping of the medium."

"The influences that produce these decisions are intimate and

SPECIAL WASHINGTON REPORT

Farm Income Up — Commodity Program Praised

By U.S. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.)
Senate Majority Whip

President Johnson, in his message on agriculture, has charted a practical course of action that will go far toward solving the problems of agriculture. He sees our task as threefold:

First, we need to maintain and improve farm income. This will provide the strength the family farm needs.

Second, we can use our food abundance to raise standards of living here at home and around the world.

Our third task is to accelerate the development and conservation of both material and human resources in rural America.

President Johnson recognizes that farm programs are an indispensable bulwark of our agricultural economy.

Our feed grain program, since 1961 shows with great clarity how farm programs can protect and strengthen the economy.

For eight years before 1961 production of feed grains, a steady rise in surplus stocks, and a steady decline in prices. With the 1960 crop, we saw Government stocks of feed grains climb to 45 million tons, and the price of corn fall to less than $1 a bushel.

We began in 1961 to consider the alternatives to a program that would not and could not work.

Fortunately, we did not choose to continue along the route to disaster, the route of flexible supports and no controls.

Rather, through the voluntary feed grain program, we have seen our feed grain surplus reduced by 22 million tons, around 800 million bushels.

Farmers have benefited from the feed grain program. Compared with their 1960 returns, improved market prices, plus diversion and support payments, have brought their average income per year up about $1.1 billion.

The savings to taxpayers, through reduction of the surplus stocks, from what they were, will amount to about $1.9 billion.

The feed-grain program is but one of several bright spots. In 1961, the support price of soybeans was raised to $2.30. Acreage went up. And the soybean grower, able to plant his crop with the expectation of a reasonable return, increased the acreage to meet expanding demand.

The soybean crop moved at good prices and in 1961, the first year of the Kennedy-Johnson Administration, farmers' returns from the soybean crops were $300 million higher than the year before.

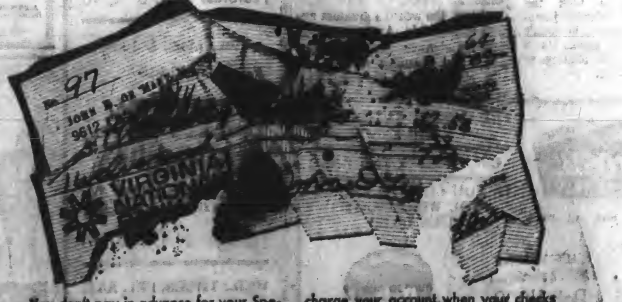

The cases of feed grains and soybeans illustrate that with administrative leadership, commodity programs do accomplish their objectives.

During the past three years, we have had some sound and realistic programs farmers need. We have enjoyed strong, competent administrative leadership at the Washington level.

One result has been $8 billion more gross income to farmers now than they would have realized at the 1960 level. The farm gross income for just the past year was $3.2 billion above that for 1960.

These billions of dollars have been a major contribution to the strength not only of farmers, but of business and labor.

LIKE A DIAMOND IN THE SKY

St. Louis offers a 40-ton section of steel being lifted 200 feet into air to form part of nation's newest monument. Now under construction in St. Louis, fabulous Gateway Arch will rise 630 feet—75 feet higher than Washington Monument. When completed next year, its gleaming surface will be visible for 30 miles. Arch was designed in stainless steel and other types of modern steels by late Eero Saarinen as enduring tribute to pioneers who pushed westward in last two centuries.

personal, as complex and varied as the American society itself. They produce in the end, a reflection of our society that displays our weaknesses as well as our strengths and our faults as well as our virtues. To look into the mirror of television may be disconcerting at times, exhilarating at others, but the reflection is a reasonably faithful one."

"Each of us on occasion must have watched an hour of television and labeled it the medium's 'finest'. On the other hand, we are sometimes moved to echo the rueful observation of Ecclesiastes: 'I have seen all the works that are done under the sun; and, behold, all is vanity and vexation of spirit.'"

The latter reaction sometimes leads to a demand that "something be done" to eliminate those moments "that do not appeal to the highest levels of taste or foster the clear spirit of culture and refinement," he said. "I suggest that at this point it is proper to ask whether we are not seeking an advanced degree of perfection in television that we do not demand of ourselves."

Pitfalls of Government 'Rein'

He reasoned that television can, "of course," be modified "to conform more closely to an image of our society not as it actually is, but as it, perhaps, ought, to be." He said that the most "obvious" way to effect this—"and it must be the most obvious because it is suggested, so often—is to tighten the regulatory rein of government."

"Less obvious, however, are the pitfalls of such an expedient," he declared. "Television is too powerful and persuasive an instrument to be placed in the hands of any central authority, however well-intentioned. The history of this century is replete with evidence that a people that relinquishes control of its communications ultimately relinquishes its liberty. More important, we would be assigning to government a task that we and our fellow citizens are capable of performing for ourselves, even as we have proven capable over the last 175 years of selecting our political leaders."

In that connection, he referred to a policy statement issued last year by "a large and highly respected church group calling for greater government involvement in broadcast programming."

'Incompatible With Heritage of Freedom'

He said that many broadcasters were "surprised" and disappointed by the statement. "My own view is that such a position is incompatible with our heritage of freedom of expression and freedom of choice," he stated.

"An approach better adapted to our needs and traditions is that favored by the Director of your Radio and Television Commission, Paul M. Stevens, who has endorsed the belief that the challenge to broadcasting is to raise the public taste, rather than appeal to a government czar."

"This challenge, which NBC accepted many years ago, recognizes the essential character of a broadcast system that has grown up in the tradition of the entire public, with offerings that range from pure diversion to the serious examination of events and issues of the day."

Unique Asset: Broad Popular Appeal

"Its broad popular appeal, regarded by some critics as a handicap, is in fact a unique asset; for the millions who are attracted to their sets week after week by entertainment can be exposed to experiences that once were not available or of little interest to the total public."

"In the current season alone, millions who might never attend a Broadway play or opera or an art exhibit, have seen our productions of 'Abe Lincoln in Illinois', 'Lucia di Lammermoor' and 'The Art of Collecting'."

"Hopefully, their appetites have been whetted for more. This is a gradual, indeed an endless process of enlightenment. And if the process seems too slow, it might be well to remember that although centuries have elapsed since the delivery of the Sermon on the Mount and even longer since the revelation of the Ten Commandments, neither has attained universal acceptance."

Camping Most Popular Among Vacationists

Trying to plan what kind of vacation to take this year?

If you decide on a camping trip, you'll join a growing clan of more than 12,000,000 Americans who are expected to take to the woods in 1964.

Properly planned and executed, a camping vacation is among the most rewarding of all—especially for a family. Families find a new kind of relationship in sharing the pleasures of the great outdoors. There's fun for everyone, and you'll find you will return to the monotonous pattern of city living with a fresh outlook.

In addition to the intangible benefits of camping, there are some very practical reasons for its increased popularity in recent years. It is relatively inexpensive, good campgrounds are within easy driving distance regardless of where you live, and modern gear has added a new note of comfort and convenience to the pastime.

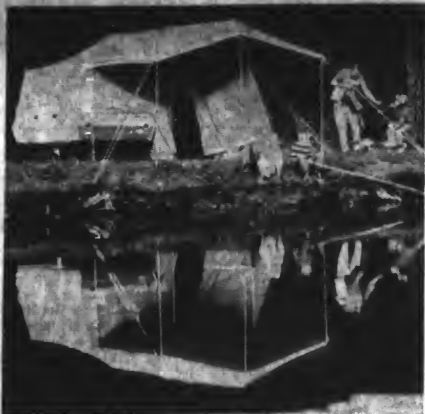

With the improved equipment available today, you can head for the open road with just about all the comforts of home, and some campers do. But follow the policy of experienced campers and take along only what's essential. It'll make the trip a lot more fun, and you won't have to spend a small fortune for equipment and supplies. You can outfit a family of four adequately and comfortably for about $250. If you spread your purchases over a period of years, the expense isn't burdensome.

Here's a quick list of the most essential articles needed for an extended camping trip: tent, sleeping bags, camp stove, portable icebox, lantern, flashlight, cooking equipment, and eating utensils, food, water jug, axe, gasoline can, and first aid kit.

The most important single article on the list is the tent, since it will furnish you with protection against the weather and provide you with a comfortable home away from home. Serious consideration should be given to its purchase.

Buy a tent with enough head room for the tallest member of the family and with enough floor space to accommodate the entire group. Don't overlook such additional desirable features as windows, zippered doors, and a sewn-in floor for protection against moisture and insects.

There's probably more variety and style in tents this year than ever before. Riding a wave of popularity are the styles with lightweight exterior poles for support. These tents are completely suspended from a jointed metal framework, and are held snugly to the frame by elastic cords and brass hooks.

The convenience and comfort of trailer tents, which blossom out with protective roofs and walls when the campsite is reached, win the approval of more campers every year. The compact, two-wheeled trailers can be pulled almost anywhere and set up in a matter of minutes.

The metal framework is set up under compression, which keeps the sewn-in floor spread flat and the tent drawn tight at all times. The elastic cords absorb wind shock and rain shrinkage.

Whether supported by exterior or interior poles, the most popular style continues to be the umbrella tent. It is available in the single room model, with adjoining rooms, or with breezeways. Some tents are designed to fit over the end of a station wagon, while others are specially made to carry and use atop your car.

Also creating a stir on campgrounds this year are the versatile tent-trailers, which literally provide the camper with a tent on wheels. Most tent-trailers blossom out with protective canvas roofs and walls when the campsite is reached. The canvas folds away compactly for traveling.

Whatever tent style you choose, chances are the fabric will be cotton. In fact, almost 98 per cent of all tents sold today are cotton canvas, a family of rugged fabrics that includes duck, drill, twill, and poplin.

While they vary in weight from heavy ducks to light, durable poplins, they all offer the camper the two most important features of a good tent—protection and comfort.

Canvas is a favorite of campers because its porous construction permits vapor-laden air to pass freely through so moisture will not condense inside the tent. While permitting a free passage of air, it also withstands heavy rain since each fiber swells when wet to form a water-resistant barrier. The natural water resistance of canvas is enhanced today by new, dry finishes that result in a softer, more manageable tent.

In addition, new and stronger weaves of lightweight canvas have been developed so you will find pitching your 1964 tent a quicker, easier job than ever.

Before going on vacation, it's a good idea to take a short "shakedown" trip to a nearby campground. Then you'll not only learn how to pitch your tent, but you'll learn if your equipment list is complete and the group can begin to establish some campfire routine.

Stamps Needed For Wheelchair

VIRGINIA BEACH — Gold Bond Stamps are being turned in at the rate of five to six thousand each week, yet more than half of the savers never ask for project certificates.

Virginia Beach resident Mrs. N. H. Palmer of the Parent's Council of United Cerebral Palsy of Norfolk, Inc. said that her group is still lacking just under 10,000 points in their drive to provide a wheelchair for at least one of the many area residents who can't otherwise secure one.

Area residents are asked to please help in obtaining these much-needed wheelchairs for handicapped children. The list of these needy cases is a long one, and the Parent's Council of UCP needs your help in seeking to reduce these tragedies through the stamp drive.

Mrs. Palmer explained that the point plan works as follows: filled stamp books, donated to the Council, will bring them 700 points. Books redeemed at the gift centers by individuals can also be used for points if the person will ask for a Validated Gift Project Certificate for each book turned in. The certificates are worth 10 points each.

And how many points are needed? It takes 53,200 points for each wheelchair, so the Council greatly needs your support.

If you wish to donate stamp books or validated certificates, you may mail them to: Parent's Council, UCP of Norfolk, Inc., 431 Brambleton Avenue, Norfolk, Virginia.

Or you may contact Mrs. N. H. Palmer at GA 8-1605. But whatever you do, don't waste those stamps. Pick up a certificate next time you redeem stamps.

FOUR DROWN IN TWO DAYS

VIRGINIA BEACH — "I was close to him in the water. Then I saw him go down. When I went to him, he was gone. I couldn't find him." Whispering these words, Roberta Minton's eyes swept out over the rough surf in which her 15-year-old brother had disappeared.

Three boys drowned Thursday afternoon within thirty minutes. They were playing in surf far too rough for even skilled swimmers to cope with.

About 3 p.m. Howard Barrett, 13, of 512 Austin Street, Norfolk, was lost off 7th Street. Robert W. Minton Jr. of 376 Dillon Drive, Princess Anne Plaza, drowned about 3:30 p.m. off 17th Street. Howard Lee Bohannon, 12, 1016 Kenneth Road, disappeared about this same time off 15th Street.

Gary O. Baugh, 19, of 1317 Bells Road, drowned Wednesday while surfing about 125 yards off the beach at 48th Street.

"Minton was swimming about 50 yards out and 50 yards away from the nearest manned tower," one life guard reported to Sun-News. "There was no life guard in the tower in front of the drowning. I happened to look up just as the boy was going under. I called several other life guards to help, but there wasn't anything anyone could do by then. He was too far away."

Just then the life guard speaking blew his whistle and ran to summon a young swimmer back closer to shore. "They never learn, do they?" remarked a bystander.

Bill Barkley was at 17th Street. He's not a life guard but a helper. "I looked up and saw him (Minton) struggling and kicking."

"There was one fellow on either side of him," continued Barkley. "But they didn't seem to see him struggling. They didn't do anything."

"The victim went down and came up. Went down again and didn't come up. That's when all three of us went into the water. We never found him."

Divers later reported the under water visibility very poor. "Can't see," said one, after searching the waters. "Too dark. Too rough. Can't see more than a foot." Police Captain R. K. Halstead said "There's about a four knot current out there. Currents much stronger on the bottom than on the top. Good a swimmer as you can put out there can't swim against it."

While the rescue operations were taking place, several more swimmers had been warned to keep close to shore.

Miss Minton, a Junior at Kellam High School, said her brother couldn't swim well. They'd been at the beach since noon.

Because the water was "thick" divers and a helicopter were forced to give up the search. The Coast Guard Lark, an amphibious boat, moved northward up the beach.

Shortly after the rescuers had left 17th Street, Mrs. D. R. Beasley spied a white object about 75 yards off shore. Could it be an arm? She borrowed a pair of binoculars.

"I thought it might be a bird. But it wasn't a bird!" She insisted.

"I saw it, too," said a man. "It was a human hand."

Several others were convinced after a look through the binoculars. Dozens of people stood along the boardwalk staring at the white object as it slowly drifted north.

Police Captain R. K. Halstead looked through the glasses, but wasn't convinced. Others began to express doubt. Mrs. Beasley and a few others still believed it to be an arm.

"Some men made an effort to swim out to the object. We'd take two strokes forward and get washed three back," said one of the parking swimmers. "It's too rough. We never had a chance of reaching it."

Whether or not the object was a human hand sticking up out of the rolling waves may never be known. But between 3 and 6 a.m., three bodies washed ashore north of where the white object was sighted—the same direction helpless witnesses watched the object drift.

Police kept patrol on the beach all night waiting for the bodies. The boy who drowned at 7th Street was found at 20th. The two who drowned in the waters off 17th and 15th Streets, were found at 30th and 32nd.

TOURIST INFO BOOTH OPENS

BAYSIDE — "The thing we need is community cooperation," Virginia Beach Mayor Frank A. Dusch told the group gathered for the official opening of the new information booth near the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-tunnel toll plaza. "This is the beginning of new cooperation between our cities."

The information booth is now located in a rented trailer. About September 15, it will move to permanent quarters.

The booth is sponsored by the cities of Virginia Beach, Portsmouth, Chesapeake, and Norfolk. Each city contributes according to its population.

Before the new facility opened, a septic tank, well, and special utility poles had to be installed. The land was also filled and graded for a parking lot.

It's hoped that tourist stopping at the booth can be convinced to spend a part of their vacation time here. If looks and charm can do the trick, then the booth is certain of success. Staffing it will be Miss Marcia Siegfried, Miss Beth Tignor, Miss Debbie Chappell, and Mrs. Eleanor Cosby.

Pre Mix Supervisor Pete Gibson said Coca Cola will install a Coke machine and free drinks will be given to visitors.

COX TEACHER IS FELLOW AT ECC

VIRGINIA BEACH — I. B. Dent, teacher at Cox High School, has been awarded a one year fellowship at Eastern Carolina College.

Dent will be studying in the geography department for his masters degree.

About June of 1965, Dent will leave to study in Southeast Asia. Dent is Key Club Chairman for Virginia Beach City and Kiwanis Club Divisional Chairman.

New Telephone Directory Being Distributed Here

VIRGINIA BEACH—A new telephone directory is now being distributed in the Tidewater area. L. F. Patrick, local manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia, said that the telephone directory, printed in gold tones, will be distributed to telephone customers in the Norfolk, Portsmouth, Chesapeake, and Virginia Beach areas.

Featured on the cover is the new local calling area map. As an aid to our customers when making direct distance dialing calls, instructions are shown for calls within Virginia and outside the State.

The metropolitan telephone directory has an important notice on the cover which is as follows: On Saturday, June 20, United States Government-Navy Department numbers will change and many extensions can be dialed Direct by dialing 444 plus the extension number.

The new toll-free calling area is shown on the Front Cover of this Directory and is described on Page 1. Toll-free call is effective July 5 to all numbers EXCEPT Princess Anne numbers beginning with 426. Calls to numbers beginning with 426 will be toll calls until further notice.

To place toll calls to Princess Anne numbers beginning with 426, dial 1 plus the old telephone number.

Old Norfolk-Virginia Beach telephone directories should be destroyed on June 20th.

Patrick said that all old C&P directories should be destroyed since many numbers have been changed; however, those customers in the Princess Anne Telephone Company exchange should continue to use their old directories until toll-free calling is provided for their area.

Twenty-one trucks will converge into the Tidewater area

Music In The Air Here As Annual Festival Opens

VIRGINIA BEACH—The streets of this resort city are filled this week with masses of uniformed youngsters and the sounds of waves breaking against the beach are playing second fiddle to the man-made music of marching bands as the Third Annual Virginia Beach Music Festival gets underway.

Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the Innkeepers of Virginia Beach and Forbes Candies, this popular event each year draws hundreds of young band students to the seashore for four days of musical demonstrations and just plain fun.

Festivities got underway Monday at 5 p.m. with the participating bands lining up along the boardwalk for an hour long concert.

Last year's winning band, the Elmore County High School Band from Wetumpka, Ala., is the Honor Band for this year's event and held the honor spot at the Norwegian Lady Park at 25th Street during the Monday night concert.

Later in the evening the honor band performed in concert at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center under the direction of George T. Welch.

EXHIBITS FOR PUBLIC

Exhibits opened in the Civic Center at 7 p.m. and welcoming remarks were made by Sidney S. Kellam. After the concert the band directors, judges, wives of the dignitaries and the festival committee were honored at a hospitality hour.

The exhibits will be open today and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Thursday at 7 p.m.

Today and Wednesday will be devoted to concerts and sight reading at the Civic Center and marching practice at the Virginia Beach High School Stadium.

A band director's clinic is scheduled today from 10:30 a.m. to noon at the Civic Center with both the visiting directors and interested students taking part.

A similar clinic on percussion instruments will be conducted Wednesday from 10:30 a.m. to noon by Phil Grant, vice president of the Fred Gretsch Manufacturing Company.

GOP NAMES 14 DELEGATES

The Virginia Beach Republican Committee has elected 14 delegates and 11 alternates to attend the Virginia Republican Convention at the Hotel John Marshall in Richmond, Friday and Saturday.

Among those expected to attend will be Mr. J. C. Nixon, Mr. William Nixon, Miss Catherine Nixon, Mrs. Virginia Fowler, Miss Ida May Esmond, Mr. and Mrs. Terry McNamee, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hefflin, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Archie White, Dr. Alfred Dickson, Mr. F. P. Prendergast, Mrs. Peter Bortnick, Mr. H. R. Sanford, Mr. John Bell, Mrs. Kathleen Ober, Mr. A. Gordon Stephenson, Mr. Claiborne Bryant.

A successor to Horace E. Henderson, State Chairman, from McLean will be named at the convention, and Delegates - at - Large to the National Republican Convention in San Francisco, will be elected.

The convention will open Friday with meetings of the Platform, Resolutions, and State Central Committees.

Representative Robert Wilson of California will be the speaker at the Friday night banquet.

Speakers Saturday will be Harold E. Stassen, Representative Richard H. Poff of the 6th District, and Representative Joel T. Broyhill from the 10th District.

A dance for the visiting band students will be held tonight from 9 o'clock to midnight at the Civic Center with music provided by the Elmore County High School Dance Band.

A lavish marching exhibition will be held Wednesday starting at 7 p.m. at the high school stadium with the Army Old Guard Fife & Drum Corps launching the festivities by leading the bands in a parade down Atlantic Avenue.

The Honor Band will lead the marching exhibition at the athletic field. The schedule will be: Martin (Tenn.) High School, 8:20 p.m.; Lanett (Ala.) High School, 8:40; Calhoun (Ga.) High School, 9 p.m.; Sidney Lanier High School, Montgomery, Ala., 9:20; Greenville County High School, Emporia, Va., 9:40; George Wythe High

Army Band To Spark Festival

VIRGINIA BEACH — The U. S. Army Fife & Drum Corp., the oldest military unit in the U. S. will spark the 1964 Virginia Beach Music Festival with special exhibition appearances on the 3-day program June 15-16-17.

The Army's 3rd Infantry Fife & Drum Corp dates back to the Revolution, was commissioned by George Washington and is colorfully dressed in Colonial costumes. Some of the Corps' musical instruments and uniforms are the originals presented by George Washington to the Command.

This marching unit led the Kennedy funeral cortege, has participated in all the inaugural parades, the American Heritage Pageant, the El Paso Sun Festival, and has performed on countless other auspicious occasions. The unit comes directly to Virginia Beach from the World's Fair for its first appearance in the Tidewater area.

Special appearances will be made on Wednesday, June 17th, with a concert at 7:00 p.m. at the Norwegian Lady and at 10:40 p.m. when they will put on a marching exhibition at the Virginia Beach High School stadium prior to the festival's mass concert.

CHAMBERS IS RE-ELECTED BY CIVIC CHORUS

VIRGINIA BEACH — Lee Chambers has been elected president of the Virginia Beach Civic Chorus for a second term.

Elected to serve with him were: Malcolm Ragan, vice president; Mrs. Ann Bragg, secretary; John Matthews, treasurer; and board members Mrs. Esther Hutcherson and John Steel.

Chambers announced at a recent meeting that all committees have been appointed and are now working toward objectives set for the chorus during the next year.

The group has adjourned for the summer but will resume its activities in the fall.

School, Wytheville, Va., 10 p.m.; Cohn High School, Nashville, Tenn., 10:20; and the Fife & Drum Corps, 10:40.

MASS CONCERT

A 730-piece band made up of all the bands in the festival will hold a mass concert at 11 p.m. The highlight of this concert will be the playing of "Virginia Beach," a band piece composed by Dr. Paul Yoder, president of the American Bandmasters Association, in honor of this festival.

An elaborate parade by all of the participating bands will be held along Atlantic Avenue, Thursday starting at 10 a.m. First will be band members from the city's senior high schools.

The principals, advisors, chaperones and parents of the Honor Band will ride in the parade aboard the Sunshine Special, the city's miniature boardwalk train.

The students will be free after the band for swimming, tours and other recreation.

Band directors will meet at the Martha Washington Hotel dining room Thursday at 12:30 p.m. to make an exchange of the events. Announcement of the winners will be made that night at 8 p.m. in the Civic Center as the festival draws to a close.

The 1964 Honor Band will receive a 35-inch replica of the permanent trophy that always remains in Virginia Beach. Second and third place winners will also receive trophies.

Vacation Special just ahead. Summer's the time for having fun at a relaxed pace. Stretch out in a patch of sunshine, make sure there are no problems to cloud the sky, and your vacation is under way.

You have been out of school almost a week—maybe you have already faced a tinge of boredom. Chances are, especially without a job, that boredom will strike before long. Maybe I can suggest some ideas to keep you occupied.

You might take advantage of what the city of Virginia Beach has to offer. A "Y" course in ceramics or leather tooling can be a start for a year round hobby. How about the summer theatre groups. Even if you can't act, maybe you can wield a paint brush.

Where ever you are, you can pour a cool lemonade and settle down to a project at home. Read, test your green thumb, sew for the fall, build a bookcase—You have the time to follow your interests. Make good use of it.

Try a regular schedule to avoid boredom in the summer. It should include doing something worthwhile, like working, or helping around the house, as well as fun activities for best results.

It is amazing how your morale works. If you have nothing to do but loaf you soon become bored. However, if you have a schedule of some type and look forward to free time to do with as you please, you seldom become bored.

Part-time work or volunteer work could be a good experience for a future job and career. Volunteer work can be done in the mornings and swimming in the afternoon.

Some young folks feel that there's nothing quite so frightening to a young person as a "day with nothing to do".

Here is a thought to ponder—Are we so spoiled by being entertained that we are not clever enough to use free time?

Time is not a burden to be borne; it is a gift. We should be grateful to receive a bit of it unblemished by structure and plan.

Some teenagers feel that keeping in touch with their school friends during the summer. Perhaps you could work up a little group of friends and periodically throughout the summer plan parties, get-togethers, picnics, or swimming together.

If you mix work and play in proper proportions you will find yourself hale, hearty, and relaxed by the time September arrives. And what is most important, you will have a feeling of worth instead of restlessness.

Here is a cute poem by Gloria Broten, Unity H. S., Petersburg, North Dakota that you might find interesting.

Don't waste time in boredom,
There is much for you to do,
Do try to find some steady work.
Small odd-jobs are fine, too,
Hobbies always use up time,
By reading, painting, collecting stamps,
Cooking, sewing, taking care of gardens,
Baby sitting, and attending camps.

Are you in for a boring vacation?
Stop and think a moment or two,
And remember . . .
Don't waste time in boredom,
For there's something worthwhile to do.

THOMPSON — COX

VIRGINIA BEACH — Miss Carol Ann Thompson and Norman Alexander Cox were married June 6 at 3 p.m. in St. Matthew's Catholic Church. The Rev. H. M. Findlay performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert John Thompson. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Thomas Cox of Norfolk.

The father of the bride gave her in marriage. Mrs. Robert M. Latimer was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Patti Dickson, Katy Crump and Kay Sutton, all of Norfolk.

Mr. Cox was best man for his son. Groomsmen were William Langston, Harry Davis, Don Cox and Eddie Vail, all of Norfolk.

A reception was held in the church social hall. After a northern wedding trip, the couple will live at 125 W. Belvedere Road.

24 Navy Wives Off To Europe

VIRGINIA BEACH — Five Virginia Beach women have joined forces with 19 other Navy wives to charter a flight to Europe to join their husbands in ports the Navy ships will visit during the cruise.

Their husbands are all members of Anti-Submarine Group Four.

Receiving a one-third reduction on round-trip fares due to their bulk reservation, the ladies will board an Air France jet June 17 at Kennedy Airport in New York City for a flight to Barcelona, Spain. There they will disperse among Mediterranean ports-of-call as dictated by the arrival of their husbands' commands.

The Navy wives of ASW Group FOUR will tour the Continent as their personal itineraries demand, traveling between ports by auto; bus and rail while their husbands are involved with their work at sea. Economical tours from port cities along the Mediterranean coast to inland culture centers such as Madrid, Paris and Rome will be available.

The women will rendezvous for the group's return flight stateside in late August—giving them time to spare to put their Navy households in order to welcome their husbands home early in September.

Traveling as members of ASW Group FOUR Wives' Club are: Mrs. William J. Callinan, Group Coordinator, 2104 Pallets Court; Mrs. Rodney L. Zapf, 5525 War Admiral Rd.; Mrs. A. L. Meints, 1412 Crystal Parkway; and Mrs. J. S. Herman, 1154 Windward Shore Drive.

The jewels (ribbons) the officers are wearing were presented by past president Mrs. Edward Simiele. Movies will be shown and refreshments will be served.

Swim Suits Varied-So Are Figures of gingham and all sorts of light, fun fabrics. Fashioned with a comfortable fit, trimmed with braid, gathered with a drawstring at the waist, they are flattering to the gal with the too-slim shape. Tailored versions show off a sturdy, well-proportioned figure to advantage, too, because their looseness helps hide small bulges you wish weren't there.

A decision on your figure type and the suit most flattering to it is the first step in your bathing suit decision. Now you must use something to good advantage too. According to McCall's Meg, fabric, color, trim, should all draw attention to your best feature in order to distract attention from weaker ones.

Pretty face, too-round or too-thin figure? Use a vivid lipstick, a gaudy swim cap, flowers for your hair, earrings, a wild and wicked beach hat to center attention on your face. The suit fabric should not distract by color or trim from your best feature.

Good legs? Use rick rack braid, or other notions, novelties or trimmings to cuff suit legs. Novelty sandals will draw eyes to this feature too.

Pretty arms? You can feature your shoulder straps, and use colored nails, bracelets, or a spectacular beach bag (McCall's 7270) to focus all eyes armward.

These are tricks that call attention to your best feature but there are others that minimize your weaker points.

Want longer-seeming legs? Vertical lines that keep the eye moving upward tend to lengthen you. Wish your waist were shorter? Contrasting color in top and bottom of suit will help accomplish this. There are too many tricks of this type to list them all, but Meg Carter, fashion expert, for McCall's Patterns.

The bathing suit comes first because it can make or break the beach beauty. In fact, it is all that stands between a girl and her figure problems! The suit should never be an impulsive or haphazard choice and if you can sew, says McCall's expert, you are well advised to make your own. Fashioning your own swimsuit is one way you can choose not only the style but the fabric that does the most for you—and be sure of a perfect fit to boot.

The five styles below are "in" this year. One of them can emphasize your best feature.

Dropped waistline: This is great for the girl with the long waist and slim hips. If you are broad-hipped, beware that horizontal line right across your widest proportion!

Two-piece: shows the very young girl off to advantage and is flattering to any woman with a trim, taut midriff and narrow ribcage. A great do-it-yourselfer in this style is McCall's 7244 in the Misses and Junior Surfer group, with an easy-does-it shift; do match.

Classic one-piece suit: this shows the well-rounded figure at its best when it is made of dull fabric, darker colors and is well-tailored. It doesn't do much for the figure that's on the very slim side.

Cuffed suit: Good for the girl with slimmer hips and thighs. Girls with thicker thighs are often tempted to wear it, thinking to hide that upper bulge, but the horizontal line of the cuff makes that risky!

Dressmaker suit: There are some excellent play-out-bathing suit garments that fit under this general category this year, made on the shower stall floor after your shower, and reach for the shower head ten times. If you can reach it, try for the ceiling. Turnmy In. Do this one in the shower too. As part of the morning ritual. Lie your arms in the air, suck your tummy in as hard as you can then much harder. Let go. Do that ten times too.

A tan is usually the last thing the bathing beauty acquires. But you can do what many models do—start indoors early with a little sun-lamping then move the tan outdoors for a final polish. Remember that having the darkest tan is not a wise girl's ambition. Your tan should give your skin a healthy glowing color but be coming to your hair, eye and skin coloring. A lovely skin you have tanned "just right" can soften angles and put bulges in the shade.

To insure a lovely, even glowing color do consult your doctor or beautician about a skin lotion for tanning, and try to be in the full sun for regular periods throughout the summer to keep your tan at your right shade.

Now you have a tan, a suit, and a figure spic and span—what more is the bathing beauty made of? Smiles, says McCall's fashion expert. That's what bathing beauties are made of.

Party Time—Whipped Strawberry Frosted Cake

It's springtime partytime... and our new idea for dressing up cakes made from a mix is delicious. Simply slice the cooled cake into layers and make light, fluffy Whipped Strawberry Frosted Cake. It's in the best tradition of "easy do" recipes, for the ingredients are few but the flavor is incomparable. The secret is Carnation—the milk you can whip like cream—at one-half the cost of cream!

Not only is Carnation ideal for all sorts of recipes, it's easier than ever to use because of a new, improved can design that permits you to open it with an ordinary beverage can opener. Now there's more reason than ever to make your evaporated milk Carnation—for coffee, for cooking and all your baking, too!

WHIPPED STRAWBERRY FROSTED CAKE

(Makes 13x9-inch cake)

1 package (10 ounces) frozen sliced California strawberries, thawed Water
1 package (3 ounces) lemon flavor gelatin
1/4 cup marshmallow whip
1 cup undiluted evaporated milk
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 (13x9-inch) lemon cake, cut crosswise into 2 layers

Drain strawberries; add enough water to measure 1 cup liquid. Heat liquid to boiling. Pour over gelatin in large bowl; stir until dissolved. Blend in marshmallow whip. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Chill evaporated milk in refrigerator tray until soft ice crystals form around edges (about 10 to 15 minutes). Whip until stiff (about 1 minute). Add lemon juice. Whip very stiff (about 2 minutes longer). Fold with strawberries into marshmallow mixture. Chill 10 minutes. Frost each layer. Allow to set in refrigerator 15 to 20 minutes. Stack layers; chill until serving time.

Health Tips

"Was my face red?" You won't have to say it this summer if you learn how to shun sunburn while courting a glowing, even tan. Here's what the experts recommend:

1. Start off slowly. If your skin is untanned, doctors recommend a 20-minute maximum for your first sun session of the season.

2. Be extra careful at the beach. Sand and water reflect sunlight; you can burn even under the shade of an umbrella!

3. Pick the right time of day. Go easy on sunbathing between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., when sunburn danger is greatest. Before 8 a.m. or after 4 p.m. there's little danger.

4. Use the suntan lotion that's best for you. Skin dry? Try a suntan cream or cream lotion. Clear-lotion fans can be sure of lasting protection with products that contain Dura-Sil. Sun Stop, for those who can't take the sun, screens out all burning and tanning rays.

5. Watch your eye. Always wear sunglasses at the beach; even when sunbathing, it's wise to protect your eyes with a hat brim or towel. Ultraviolet rays can penetrate your eyelids and impair vision.

6. Know when to reapply lotion. A good rule of thumb is to reapply every two hours; however, Bronzant Cream Lotion is said to give four-hour protection.

7. Double your dose of suntan lotion—or use a sun-blocking preparation—for thin-skinned areas like the nose, lips, ears, shoulders and knees. To speak baldly, this also applies to bare spots on the scalp!

8. Be suited to a tan. This one is for the gals to prevent those odd sunstains caused by the cut of some high-fashion bathing suits, alternate with a suit that exposes any areas covered up by the other.

9. Watch out for the weather. Many people get careless about the sun on an overcast day—but these "burning" ultraviolet rays can penetrate mist and clouds!

10. Use your head by wearing a hat when you're in the sun for any length of time. It protects hair from becoming dry and brittle; in the noonday sun, it may even save you from sunstroke!

EDITORIAL SPEAKING

Wings Of Understanding

The world's greatest danger lies in the fact that human beings have never succeeded in becoming the most rational of creatures. It remains easy to fight with a stranger whose viewpoint you don't understand and whose interests may be different. In the long run the peace of the world must be founded on the mutual acquaintance of its people. And in bringing this familiarity to ever greater numbers of people, the jet plane is the work horse of our time.

Six hundred mile-an-hour speeds mean that time no longer limits travel. A secretary working in Chicago finds that most of her two weeks vacation may just as easily be spent in India as in Indiana. Just over the horizon are jet transports capable of speeds in excess of 1500 miles an hour and the air traveler flying from East to West across time zones will find that he reaches his destination ahead of his departure time. Cost remains the only barrier to world travel and this barrier is being broken down. One of this country's major overseas airlines, Pan American World Airways, ever since its early days of pioneering overseas flight, has been an international leader in lowering the cost of air travel and the effectiveness of this course is demonstrated by the astonishing upsurge in air tourism in recent years.

As friends and commercial ties in other countries and the experience of "one world" become the province of the many and not the few, real peace will become possible. Helping in the attainment of this goal will be the jet airplane's greatest contribution to human welfare.

Taking Away The Vote

The Hermitage, Missouri, Index recently answered its own question as to what is an economic election by saying, "... this kind of election takes place each time one of us buys something. The dollars we spend are really 'votes' in favor of certain products and services that we prefer over others."

Many political leaders seem wholly unfamiliar with the competitive nature of business in its struggle to win the favor of the consumer. As the Index says, the consumer is in the enviable position of being boss. Regardless of this fact the government is creating new bureaus to control business—at both the production and retail levels—on behalf of the consumer. A Special for Consumer Affairs has been appointed, a "truth in packaging" bill has been introduced, and a Committee on Consumer Interests has been formed.

Th Index says, "Now, all this talk about government 'protecting' consumers sounds good, but it only results in interposing the heavy hand of government between producers and us consumers."

It looks like Washington is attempting to replace economic elections, determined by the consumer's choice in the market place, with politics. As a consequence, instead of the businessman changing his product to meet consumer wishes, government bureaucrats would be in a position to dictate what the producer could offer and what the consumer could buy.

Vaughan Is Travel Meet Speaker

The advertising director for the Virginia Beach Guide, Josh Vaughan will be keynote speaker for the local travel conference to be held here this week.

Vaughan will present "Virginia Beach's Valuable Guests" at 9:30 a.m., June 11, in the Virginia Beach High School Auditorium.

Some service personnel of the travel trade industry including retailers, service station attendants, hotel and motel employees from this area are expected to attend the session.

Vaughan was formerly manager of Williams Steel Pier.

The conference, spearheaded by Roy LaMere, local chairman, is sponsored by the State Department of Education and the Virginia Travel Council. Twelve state trade associations are co-sponsors of the event.

It is designed in answer to Governor Albertis S. Harrison's request to members of the 7½ million dollar travel industry in Virginia that personnel dealing directly with the traveling public attend local seminars stressing hospitality and travel attraction information. Harrison noted earlier this year that if visitors to Virginia stopped one extra day in Virginia, the annual economy of the state would be boosted by $200 million.

Other speakers and their topics slated for the local travel program include:

"What Do You Know About Virginia Beach?" Herbert Harrell Florist;

"What Do Our Guests Want?" Mr. Charles Gardner, Martha Washington Hotel;

"Seeing Virginia Through Our Visitors Eyes" Mr. Guy Cumby, Travel and Resort Department, Richmond Times Dispatch.

Also on the program is Mr. Vernon R. Cherry of the Virginia Beach Distributive Education Service.

LST Leaves For Cruise

LITTLE CREEK—The LST USS De Soto County left yesterday for a three-month cruise visiting 18 Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Seaway cities to give residents a look at the modern Navy-Marine Corps Team.

Vice Admiral John S. McCain, Jr. and Marine Corps General Berkley viewed the exhibits last Saturday. After inspecting an honor guard and several displays, the party was treated to a karate demonstration.

Karate team leader Glenn Premru of Pittsburgh, Pa., announced that no blows would be pulled. Then he and Frank Poilucci of Stoughton, Mass. began trading smashing blows to the body.

Several ladies winced and a few men flinched as the sharp blows echoed about the ship and Poilucci hit the mat after time after time. Just as Poilucci flew through the air for the last time, someone noticed the WVEC cameraman had run out of film. "Hold it! Hold it, men!" laughed a naval officer. "You mind going through that again?" They didn't.

Instead, two more team members—Garland Aaron, Winston-Salem, N. C., and Earl Christone, Westmont, Ill., took the floor. Each smashed a board with their bare hands.

Then Premru called Poilucci back to smash through three boards with a judo-like cut. Poilucci has only been studying eight months, but he made splinters of the wood.

"Who's paying for all the lumber—the Navy or the Marine Corps?" asked the Admiral.

"The Navy, I hope," grinned the General.

"We have 500 board feet aboard, Admiral," came a voice.

Next came a 25-voice chorus and then a Cini-Globe movie, which might be described as super-cinecrama as the screen covers 142'. This is the same type screen that is attracting large audiences at the Navy-Marine Corps

Beach Students U. Va. Grads.

VNB Selects Architects For New Facility

NORFOLK — In the development of its plans to build a new office in the city of Chesapeake, Virginia National Bank has selected the firm of Oliver and Smith as architects, according to R. Cosby Moore, chairman of the board.

The new facility will replace VNB's Chesapeake office, a structure dating from the 1920's. It will be built directly across the street from the present bank building on approximately three acres of land, which was purchased recently from the South Norfolk Redevelopment and Housing Authority. At the same time the Authority purchased the present bank building and parking lot.

The architectural firm of Oliver and Smith was established in 1950 by Louis A. Oliver and Herbert L. Smith III. Principals of the firm are registered in Virginia, North Carolina and Florida and are certified by the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards.

Oliver and Smith have received Design Awards for the Great Bridge Elementary School in Chesapeake, the Hughs Memorial Library at Old Dominion College and the Convention Center in Virginia Beach. The firm has done considerable work in the field of master site planning, schools, colleges, churches, and commercial buildings as well as motel and hotel projects extending from Florida to Michigan.

BACKSEAT DRIVER

How many times have you been "bawled out" for meekly offering suggestions to the driver of an automobile and called by that most scurrilous of all phrases, "backseat driver?"

The next time that happens, you can assume a superior attitude and just get the folks told off by advising them that you are within your rights and the law insists that you act in this manner.

Suppose you are a guest passenger in an automobile, and in the law this means in a very liberal sense that you are invited to ride, and the driver starts "acting up," speeding, cutting capers or performing in some other manner that you believe is dangerous to your safety as a passenger.

In order to protect your rights, you immediately must insist that he cease and desist.

The law reads that if you sit by and permit the driver to operate the car in a negligent manner without attempting to persuade him to quit by protest or other warning, you may be negligent yourself in failing to make reasonable precautions for your own protection and for the protection of the public.

It is your duty to demonstrate with the driver, and in extreme cases, you must leave the vehicle at the first available opportunity or even interfere with the driver where such a step is necessary in the exercise of reasonable care.

If you know the driver is intoxicated, you must take all reasonable measures to stop the car or leave the vehicle, or be guilty of contributory negligence.

Your duty as a guest and a backseat driver by no means stops here however. In some instances you are even charged with the duty of watching out for danger so that you can in turn warn the driver in time to avoid accidents.

So you can be a backseat driver, but don't overdo the privilege. Your constant squawking in itself could be so jarring to the nerves as to constitute a hazard in driving.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir,

My most sincere thanks to you and to all the members of the staff of The Sun-News for helping us tell the people of Virginia Beach the life-saving story of the Red Cross Blood Program. The front page story concerning this program on June 4, outlined the aims and service we are striving to bring to the people of this city.

We are sorry to report to you that the citizens of Virginia Beach did not fill the assigned quota for the Bloodmobile visit of June 5. It had been our hope that the needs of others could be remembered and donors would make this visit, the last one of this fiscal year, one we could be proud to record in our totals for the twelve month period. But—only 35 donors gave blood and 125 pints were needed. We cannot thank the donors who came to the Bloodmobile enough for their help. Far more important—they have the thanks of those persons the donation of this blood will be truly a gift of life.

The next Bloodmobile visit will take place on Wednesday, July 8. For the next twelve months we will have a Bloodmobile visit on the second Wednesday of each month in an effort to meet our quota of 1500 pints of blood for the year. Let us hope—and let us pray—that a renewed spirit of thought for the needs of others will help us to meet this quota.

Again

Thanks,
 Mrs. Lois M. Nelson

carrying some 281,000 directories with more than 200,000 to be distributed initially. This metropolitan directory contains 480 white pages and 476 Yellow Pages. In the alphabetical section there are more than 135,000 listings. On pages 401 and 402, listed under the Navy Department are 350 most-called numbers. The 5th Naval District and the Sewell's Point Naval Station area. The Navy, beginning June 20, will have a new telephone number beginning with 444. To complete a call to the Naval Base, all a calling party must do is dial the first three digits plus the four digit extension number. He then will bypass the switchboard operator and reach the extension number called.

For the first time, subscribers names in the Norfolk, Portsmouth, Chesapeake and Virginia Beach area will appear in combined alphabetical order. The first listing in the directory is AA with the last Zyzdik, P. E. And again here are more Smith listings than there are Jones.

Social Security Protects Family

Harvey J. Ridinger, Field Representative for the Virginia Beach area, advised that many people do not know about the family protection they have under the Social Security Program. "People seem to just naturally think of Social Security as something for 'old folks'," he said. They overlook two outstanding parts of the program, the Disability provision and the Survivors provision.

A worker who becomes disabled and has 5 years of social security credit in the 10 year period preceding the time he became disabled, may be approved for disability benefits if his disability is so severe that he is unable to do any substantial work and his condition is of a permanent nature. When a worker is approved for disability benefits, his wife and minor children may receive benefits on his record until the youngest child reaches age 18.

If a worker dies, his wife and minor children may receive monthly benefits until the youngest child reaches 18. Suppose, John Jones died when he was 35 and left Mrs. Jones and their two-year-old daughter, June. Mrs. Jones and June would receive monthly benefits for 16 years. If their benefit was $90 a month, they would receive a total of $1760 over this period. Mrs. Jones could resume receiving monthly benefits for herself when she reaches 62 if she has not remarried.

Also, benefits may be payable to unmarried children who are over 18 if they became severely disabled before age 18. This benefit is payable under both provisions. In addition, a 22-year-old dependent parent of a deceased worker may receive monthly benefits on the worker's account if the parent was receiving at least one-half of his support from the worker when he died.

Mr. Ridinger emphasizes that these provisions offer significant protection to a worker's family. The social security tax that a worker is paying now is building protection NOW, and is not just something laid away for use at retirement.

With this in mind Ridinger adds that each worker should make sure that he gets proper credit for his work by checking his social security account once every three years. Your social security office, located at 220 W. Brantleton Ave., Norfolk, Virginia, will provide a post card form for this purpose.

STRONG FIELD SET FOR STATE OPEN GOLF EVENT HERE

VIRGINIA BEACH — The 1964 Virginia State Open Golf Tournament at the Cavalier Golf and Yacht Club will present a course with a new shade of green and a field featuring some old favorites.

The Cavalier put in all new greens two years ago, all of Bermuda T-328 variety, a fine bladed grass that rewards fine putting. The greens are well covered and in excellent condition.

Testing the Cavalier greens will be a big field of pros and amateurs, expected to reach 150 to 175. Heading the list of entries will be at least three former champions... Tom Strange, the defending champ from Virginia Beach; Mac Main of Danville and Al Smith of Danville.

Chandler Harper, a six-time winner, will be back for a shot at a record seventh title if he recuperates in time from an illness. The Portsmouth pro has been suffering from shingles. He was forced to withdraw from the June 9th U.S. Open sectional qualifying in Washington.

Harper holds the Cavalier 72-hole record, a 260 set in the 1955 Virginia Beach Open, and he will be the favorite if he competes. Harper has predicted a new State Open record this time... "somewhere between 260 and 265."

The current record of 266 was set by the late George Payton of Hampton at the Cavalier course in 1947.

The short (6,065 yards with a par 69) Cavalier layout would seem to fit the golf games of Harper and Smith, neither overpowering but both efficient short-game players.

Strange and Main are the long-bau hitters. Perhaps they won't need all their power at the Cavalier, "rather it should be a putter's tourna ment," said Strange, who won last year at Roanoke's Club Hills course.

Among the early amateur entries were Fred Miller of Staunton, Mike Wynn of Portsmouth and the University of Houston, and Walter S. (Buddy) Clement of Virginia Beach, who won the State Open at the age of 17 in 1931.

A pro-amateur tournament on Tuesday, June 23, precedes the June 25-28 tournament.

Two new sand traps have been constructed at strategic points near the par five sixth hole green and one par three 18th. bunkers have also been enlarged at the par five fourth and par four 17th, making approach shots more difficult.

This will be the first State Open at Cavalier since 1951, when Harper was the winner.

Jim Moore Is Links Champ

HIGHLAND LINKS — Jim Moore, leading all the way and playing two-under-par golf, won the Highland Links club championship for the second year Sunday, defeating Bob Johnson 5 and 4, in the finals.

Moore, who defends his Norfolk Jaycee title today and Tuesday at Ocean View, took a commanding lead over Johnson on the front nine. Johnson played the last six holes one under par but didn't cut appreciatively into Moore's lead.

Other flight winners were M. T. Holland, Billy Doyle, Jack Meredith and Sam Abdenauer. The final round summaries:

Championship Flights — Jim Moore defeated Bob Johnson, 5 and 4.

First Flight — M. T. Holland def. F. B. Langerman, 5 and 4.

Second Flight — Bill Doyle def. S. V. Colley, 4 and 3.

Third Flight — Jack Meredith def. Harry Oliver, 3 and 2.

Fourth Flight — Sam Abdenauer def. Doug Reid, 1 up.

NEWS REPORT FROM THE UNIVERSITY

APPALACHIA IN EUROPE

Summers in Europe for American college students are not limited to those who attend expensive schools or whose parents are wealthy.

Six students of modern languages at Clinch Valley Colleges in Wise County, in the economically depressed Appalachians, will support themselves this summer by working in Europe. Four of them are the sons of Virginia coal miners.

The arrangement is the brainchild of Professor Brainerd Hatch, a tall-praying man who teaches all three of the modern languages offered to the 250 students at the two-year college, a regional branch established by the University of Virginia in 1954.

Private donors are providing travel funds for four of the six. Each of the other two students is paying the $300 travel cost with borrowed or family funds.

The group will leave Clinch Valley with Professor Hatch early on June 9 to drive 320 miles to Charlottesville, where they will meet with University President Edgar F. Shannon Jr. and visit the University's historic main site. The next day Professor Hatch will drive them the remaining 340 miles to New York, where they will fly to Europe.

Ernest Bryant, 19, son of a miner, will work in a youth camp in Spain, and Barry Willard, 19, son of a revenue commissioner, is scheduled to serve in a hospital in Germany. Selected in a competition, they will travel on gifts of $300 each provided by a retired admiral and a coke plant owner who responded to appeals of the college for private support of the project.

Sandra Duff, 20, daughter of a mine foreman, is paying her $300 travel costs. She will work in a hospital in Germany. Hubert Slusa, 20, one of nine children of a deceased miner, will travel on borrowed money, to be repaid from the wages he receives as the college's part-time janitor. He will work in a youth camp in Spain.

David Smith, 20, whose father is a retired miner now hospitalized, will go to Germany to work in a ceramics factory. Larry Baker, 19, son of a miner, will work in a youth camp in France. They also were selected in the competition for the top language students interested in the project.

And the $600 for them? The hoped-for money didn't come in from the college appeal.

But Professor Hatch felt the opportunity was too good for two fine language students to miss, so he is paying their fares from his own funds.

"We'll have a lot to talk about in September," he says.

Local Homes Featured By National Mag.

KEMPSVILLE — The beautiful homes at Huntington have features which women all across the country agree are most important in a new home, according to a nation-wide survey. This was borne out by a recent study conducted by "House and Garden" magazine and the National Association of Home Builders as a service to the home-building industry.

E. V. Hoffman, vice-president of Hallmark Construction Corporation, builders of the homes at Huntington, said: "We are happy that many of the features that were stressed by the women at their meetings are incorporated into the homes we build."

These seminars were held in several major cities; the participants were women who, with their families, had owned and lived in at least two homes.

"House and Garden" arranged for the meetings to cover every area of the home, starting with the kitchen. It was unanimously decided that the kitchen "is the most important room in the house," Hoffman said. "All Huntington homes feature completely equipped General Electric kitchens, which include oven, range, refrigerator-freezer, dishwasher, disposal, washer and dryer."

The model homes at Huntington, located off Kempsville Road, are open daily from 11 a.m. to dark.

COMMAND CHANGE IN SQUADRON 22

LITTLE CREEK — Commander William M. Campbell will relieve Commander Charles S. Buchanan as commanding officer of Tactical Air Control Squadron 22 here at 10 a.m. today.

Cmdr. Campbell is married to the former Miss Simone A. Lepelletier of Paris, France. They reside at 637 Caren Dr., Virginia Beach, with their two sons, Mark, 13, and William, 10.

Cmdr. Campbell served on board the attack aircraft carrier USS Independence before being ordered to command Tactical Air Control Squadron 22. From October 1961 to March 1962 he served with Utility Squadron Four at the Naval Air Station, Oceana.

State Farmer Degrees Go To Two From P.A.

BLACKSBURG — Joe Mattox, III and James Robert Porter, both of Princess Anne, were elected to receive the State Farmer degree in the Future Farmers of America here Monday.

The election was a part of the first session of the 38th Annual FFA Convention being held this week at Virginia Tech. The degree conferring ceremony and awarding of keys will take place at the Wednesday night session.

The State Farmer Degree is the highest honor a State Association may confer upon its members in recognition of accomplishments in farming as well as other high school and community activities. The number receiving the degree is limited to 2 per cent of the active membership. This year's membership is 9962 in 164 chapters.

Ray Brodeur, Kellam High School, has been selected to play in the State FFA band.

The Future Farmers of America is a national organization of boys enrolled in vocational agriculture classes in the public high schools. Virginia has 9,962 members in 164 chapters.

SORORITY SPRING DANCE FRIDAY

BAYSIDE — The Spring Dance of the Epsilon Chapter of the Alpha Nu Phi Sorority was held Friday night from 9:30 p.m. until 12:30 a.m. at the F.O.P. Club, Kempsville.

A buffet breakfast was served following the dance. Proceeds will go to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. Mrs. H. D. Phelps is chairman.

THREE FROM HERE ECC GRADUATES

GREENVILLE — Three Virginia Beach students are candidates for degrees from East Carolina this Sunday. They are: Anthony Katsias, 612 23rd St., Linda Anne Touchton, 219 Cheyenne Rd. (BS); Charles Atkins Perkinson, 523 21½ St. (MA).

Bayside Lions Learn About K-Nine Program

BAYSIDE — When the Bayside Lions Club met last week they were treated to an interesting account of the work of the K-9 Corps by guest speaker Sgt. D. M. Blair of the Norfolk Police and his associate officer R. W. Ange. Ange's dog, Brunk, was also along.

Blair said that these dogs save the city of Norfolk a great deal because one dog with one policeman can do more than two or more men. He cited cases in which one of these dogs has controlled large numbers of unruly citizens. He also told of the intensive training necessary to make these dogs and their handlers such a valuable asset to the Police Department. After his talk Sgt. Blair and Officer Ange demonstrated how the dogs are used in handling lawbreakers.

The following six new members were inducted into the club by International Counselor Lewis L. Dillon: William B. Donovan, Joseph Russo, James W. Hall, W. J. Hancock, Jr., Loren R. Humphrey and Louis E. Quackenbush.

Dillon gave the new members a brief history of the Bayside Club and some of the services which the Lions Club gives to the community. He stated that Lions International—the world's largest service club—now has a membership of over 715,000 in over 1,400 clubs located in 124 countries and geographical locations throughout the free world.

In speaking of the Bayside Club's activities Dillon mentioned the following in which the club helped the community during the 1963-64 club year: Contributed over $900.00 to eight conservation work (partly through local schools and partly through the Old Dominion Eye Bank.) Through the Bayside Joy Fund, which is sponsored annually by the club, distributed food, toys and clothing valued at about $3,500 to many needy families at Christmas time. Gave Savings Bonds to postal clerks who delivered mail in the Bayside area in recognition of their fine safety records. Helped the youth of the area by sponsoring teams in several sports. Helped the schools by making donations to the libraries and musical groups.

President McCoy announced that the next meeting will be held Friday night, June 26, at Shore Drive Inn, at which time the new officers will be installed. This will be a "Ladies Night" affair.

WEBBON SPEAKER AT OCEAN PARK

Bayside — R. J. Webbon, Director of Public Works for the City of Virginia Beach, was guest speaker of the Ocean Park Civic League, last week.

He talked to the club on the phenomenal growth of the area and "city water"—which so many of the residents are interested.

City water and city sewage is on the agenda for Ocean Park in the very near future. Webbon said that the more people that want it the sooner it will be available. It will cost each resident between $400 and $500 to hook into the service. According to Mr. Webbon, as soon as water and sewage goes in the area will be re-developed and rezoned.

CHURCH OBSERVING HOMECOMING DAY

BAYSIDE — The Ocean Park Community Church-Interdenominational observed "Homecoming Day" Sunday. A picnic lunch was served on the grounds following the Worship service. Rev. Paul McCollough is pastor of the church.

The Church's Vacation Bible School began on Monday, June 22. The sessions will begin each day at 9 a.m. and end at noon. Mrs. S. Shriver is in charge of the school.

BAYSIDE METHODIST

BAYSIDE — The Junior Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Baylake Methodist Church held a Beach Party Saturday from 2 until 9 p.m. at Baylake Beach. Mr. G. F. Heuser was in charge of arrangements.

May Sell To Anyone Under Wheat Program

PRINCESS ANNE — Under the 1964 wheat program, as in the past, a farmer may sell his wheat production to anyone at any price he can get, Chris Krahenbill, Chairman, ASC County Committee, said today. This applies whether or not a farmer is cooperating with the program and whether or not he is eligible for marketing certificates.

The Chairman pointed out that neither the domestic certificates, worth 70c, nor the export certificates, worth 25c, will follow the grain in trade channels. The farmer will receive the value of the certificates at the ASCS County Office as a part of the program designed to bolster farmers' income from wheat.

A grower who keeps his wheat acreage within his farm allotment will be eligible for price-support loan on his entire wheat crop, based on a national average of $1.30 per bushel. The rate in Virginia Beach has been announced as $1.46.

Thus, the total of the loan rate and the domestic certificate will price 1964-crop wheat for domestic consumption at from $2.13 to $2.16 per bushel in Virginia. The price producers are expected to receive for the export portion of their allocation will be from $1.68 to $1.71 per bushel in Virginia (including export certificates), which is about the world market price.

Mr. Krahenbill points out that the farm marketing allocation will provide certificates for the smaller of 90 per cent (45 per cent for domestic and 45 per cent for export) of the normal production of the farm's acreage allotment or the normal yield of the acreage planted for harvest if this is less. If the lesser figure applies, the amount of export certificates will be reduced first. There will be no reduction of the domestic certificates unless the acreage planted for harvest is below 45 per cent of the allotment.

Suggestions For Safe Operation Of Boats

- Do not overload your boat.
- Do not leave shore in a leaky or poorly constructed boat.
- Liquor and safe boating do not mix.
- Observe the pilot rules.
- Instruct at least one member of the crew in the rudiments of handling the boat should you become disabled.
- Use caution choosing equipment and supplies.
- Familiarize yourself with the locale you're boating in.
- Have life preservers handy and wear them when conditions warrant.
- Check weather and tides before going out and have due regard for them.
- Have adequate water filter.
- Do not use gasoline stoves.
- Do not operate near swimmers in the water.
- Don't use kapok-filled life preservers to sit on.
- Do not fail to provide life-belts for children.
- Do not forget your wake can damage others.
- Do not fail to reduce speed through anchorage areas.
- Check all electrical equipment and fuel tanks.
- Do not lie at anchor with short cable; allow sufficient scope.

BANDS PARADE HERE TODAY

VIRGINIA BEACH — Senior high school bands from the City of Virginia Beach will act as host in today's Third Annual Virginia Beach Music Festival Parade.

The parade at 10 a.m. today will be but one of the many events of this year's festival in which high school bands from several states are participating. Last night marching exhibitions and a mass band concert were held in the Virginia Beach High School Stadium.

The parade today will be along Atlantic Avenue from 16th Street.

PARADE LINE-UP

Officials
* Virginia — Bands from all Senior High Schools in the City of Virginia Beach will act as the Host Bands for the Virginia Beach Music Festival Parade.
* Alabama — Principals, Advisors, Chaperones and Parents of the Honor Bands aboard the Sunshine Special.
* Alabama — Lawett High School Band, Sidney Lanier

ODC SUMMER SCHOOL OPENING

Old Dominion College registration for the summer session will be held today, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the gymnasium in the main administration building.

Dr. Stanley Pliska, dean of the summer session, reports that 7000 summer session announcements have been distributed—a record number. Day students are being given registration appointments in the order in which their completed applications are received in the registrar's office.

Evening College students may register between 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. today without appointments. However, applications should be filed in the registrar's office prior to registration.

Classes will start Monday.

BOULEVARD BEING REPAIRED IN ARAGONA VILLAGE AREA

ARAGONA—Repairs to Virginia Beach Boulevard are underway. Road crews are now filling holes and smoothing rises. "If we didn't level things off," said crew chief William Voliva, "these rises would poke right through the repaving planned for later."

When questioned by the Sun-News, Streets and Highways Superintendent Clinton Teets estimated "The re-surfacing of Virginia Beach Boulevard should

High School Band.
Georgia — Calhoun High School Band.

Tennessee — Cohn High School Band, Martin High School Band.

Virginia — George Wythe High School Band, Greensville County High School Band.

* Non-competing
After the Parade, swimming, tours and recreation will be available to visiting bands.

Tonight at 7 p.m. exhibits will be open in the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center. At 8:30 the Honor Band, Elmore County High School Band, will perform. Awards will be given tonight.

Dr. Williams To Speak At Symposium

The Clergy Symposium on Comprehensive Rehabilitation Resources will be held at the Eastern Shore Chapel, 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday.

The symposium is sponsored by the Virginia Beach Ministerial Association in cooperation with community agencies.

Dr. James Williams and Mrs. Jessie Moon of the Atlantic Mental Hygiene Clinic will talk on psychiatric treatment resources in the Virginia Beach area.

Rev. Robert Wind, Institutional Chaplain of the Tidewater area, will speak on the area's alcoholic rehabilitation resources.

The Hampton Roads Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers will present a play, "When Orange Blossoms Wilt."

Rev. Cecil Clifton will speak on techniques of pastoral counseling of troubled people.

The public is invited. Registration and lunch are $1.50.

N.C. Law In Way Of Joint Road Venture

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Outer Banks Turnpike seems to have an uncertain status again. The Virginia end of a link between Virginia Beach and Kitty Hawk, N. C., can't be built until North Carolina gives assurance of building its section. "The law doesn't permit us to build this road as a joint project," Vernon James, Weeksville, N. C., farm official and member of the North Carolina Coastal Turnpike Authority, said Wednesday. "However, we can build our part alone, and we hope to be in a position to let the contract before the end of 1964." But it seems probable that North Carolina will try to build its 40-mile-long section of the toll road alone. This would link Duck, N. C., a fishing village on the Outer Banks north of Kitty Hawk, with Knott's Island, N.C.

The over-all cost would range between a low of $3,967,000 if the land is donated by the U.S. government and major land owners to a high of $4,333,000 without such grants.

Every five miles along the road landowners would be asked to donate property for public use areas. The land between would be for private use, and the public areas would extend a half mile each. Construction costs were said to be $2,717,300 with right-of-way costs ranging from $264,100 to $620,700 depending on how much property was donated.

Sidney S. Kellam, chairman of the Virginia group, said that enabling legislation for the Old Dominion section of the road required assurance that the North Carolina part of the road was to come to the Virginia line.

"If they say tomorrow they are coming there, we would know where we stand," Kellam said.

"I want to make one thing clear," James said, "and that is that the Virginia authorities cooperated with us in every way, but some of the problems have been matters of legislation."

James said that the only way for the two-state toll road financing to be feasible would be for new legislation in North Carolina.

P.A. Jaycees Will Install New Officers

The joint installation of officers of the Princess Anne Jay Cees and Jay Cee-ettes, will be held 6:30 p.m. Friday at the Princess Anne F.O.P. club.

Mr. Randy Vosbeck, past state director will install the Jay Cee officers and Mrs. Beth Bragg, president of the Virginia Beach Jay Cee-ettes, will install the new Jay-cee-ette officers.

The new officers of the Princess Anne Chapter will be, for the Jay-ces:
Mr. C. E. Harris, Jr., President; Mr. J. T. Buck, First Vice - President; Mr. Marvin Price, External Vice-President; Dr. L. Curtis Hall, Secretary; Mr. Richard Walker, Treasurer; Mr. Milton Clemmons, State Director; Mr. Larry Wicks, Director; Mr. Larry McClellan, Director; Mr. Gene Lassiter, Director; Mr. Paul Stelzner, Director.

For the Jay-cee-ettes:
Nancy Wicks, President; Jeanette Menden, First Vice-President; Helen White, Second Vice-President; Linda Walker, Secretary; Margaret Stelzner, Treasurer.

The installation banquet will start with a happy hour, followed by a buffet dinner and dancing until one (1) a.m. Admission will be $12.00 per couple, which includes everything for a very enjoyable evening.

Jail On Wheels At P.A. Plaza

PLAZA — The unique Jail on Wheels is visiting the Princess Anne Plaza this week. Built as a crime discouragement display, the bus features scientific crime detection and practical police equipment.

Tour Director Robert Parliament told Sun-News that "One of our main ways of discouraging crime is our display of scientific crime detection equipment."

"It's not like in the days of Jesse James. Crime detection today isn't just a guy behind a six-shooter, but hundreds of highly trained men behind test tubes."

"Everyone's heard that crime doesn't pay. Well, we show why."

To do this, the Jail on Wheels has traveled in 47 of the 50 states. Over 7 million visitors have seen the display in the last 16 years.

"We've got everything from a billy to an electric chair," said Parliament.

Visitors to the Plaza display will see an electronic lie detector, the Harger Drunk-o-meter and Breakalyzer instruments used in sobriety tests, soundscaper, electric speedometer, radar speedalyzer, electric gun lock, ultra violet light display, magnetic retriever, tear gas guns and grenades, and an actual electric chair.

This electric chair is an exact duplicate of the one used at the Connecticut State Prison.

"It's believed to have been constructed in the Connecticut State Prison by the inmates," said guide Ed Slater. "Part of a rehabilitation program," he smiled.

The current enters the condemned man's shaven head, in this type of chair, and exits at his feet. Death takes place in about four to ten seconds.

The Jail on Wheels idea grew out of a conversation between the late Calvin Kazanjian, president at that time of the Mounds Candy Bar Company, and Sheriff J. Edward Slavin of New Haven County, Connecticut.

"Sheriff, why don't you try to put something on wheels that could reach the Youngsters all over the country?" Kazanjian is quoted as saying.

Attempts to interest groups in assisting in the idea failed. So Slavin borrowed the money and built the specially designed vehicle himself.

From Princess Anne Plaza the Jail on Wheels will go to New Jersey. Until it leaves Saturday night, the display will be open free of charge to the public. Hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily.

Civic Leaders Will Tour City

VIRGINIA BEACH — Tomorrow afternoon about 75 leading citizens will board two buses for the Virginia Beach Development Council Tour.

Included in the tour group will be representatives of various civic clubs and 23 different civic leagues. Each representative will report back to his membership what he learned. In this manner, it's hoped that a wide section of city residents will come to know exactly what has been done, what is being done, and what will be done, throughout the city.

As 22 sites are to be covered in only a few hours, each bus will have a general commentator. This will be Frank Kellam on bus one, and Richard Webber on bus two.

Other commentators will be: Director of Parks and Recreation Harold Whitehurst, Superintendent of Highways Clinton Teets, Director of Farm, Home Demonstration Department E.R. Cockrell, Superintendent of Schools Frank Cox, Planning Commission Director F. M. Ganage, Aubrey Holmes of the Soil Conservation Service, and Dean Curtis.

Plans for the future at Rudee Inlet will be first on the tour. Next, the recreational programs at Cooke and Seatack schools will be discussed, followed by a drive to Laskin Road—the site of the Virginia Beach Toll Road, high level bridge, and proposed start of waterways.

After viewing the Bar Pit and a dredge at work on Long Creek, the tour will see the internationally known guernsey farm, Bayville Farm.

Cockrell will explain the new Virginia Beach Produce Market at Diamond Springs before the tour moves to the Virginia West-leyan College location. Then the group will see a new high school at Bayside, Independence Blvd. Shopping Center, a standard playground at Lynnhaven School, and Dozier's Bridge, which is another point in the waterways system.

At Seaside Neck, a modern engineered farm and the Lotus Garden will be seen. Also to be seen is Green Branch Causeway—another point in the Seaside Waterway.

Other points will be the proposed toll road from Sandbridge to North Carolina, open drainage canal at Indian River Road, Coast Guard Radio Station at Pungo, farms at Creeds, Oakum and Nawnays Creek Drainage Canals, and Corey Canal.

Dinner will be served on Knotts Island, after which City Manager W. Russell Hatchett will summarize the city's progress.

Girls From Episcopal Home Visit

VIRGINIA BEACH—Fourteen girls from the Jacksonville Episcopal Home at Jacksonville, Fla., spent this past weekend at the Beach as guests of Girl Scout Troop 575 sponsored by Callee Episcopal Church.

The school bus from Everett School brought the girls to Callee on Friday afternoon where they were met by their hostesses and taken for a swim. Again Saturday afternoon all were able to enjoy the nearly perfect sun, sand and surf of Virginia Beach.

One of the biggest hi-lites of the weekend was the Saturday morning trip to the Navy aircraft carrier, Randolph. Members of her crew showed the group a movie about the operations of a Naval task force, took them on a tour of the ship, gave them souvenirs and autographs. The visit was climaxed by a party for which a special cake was baked to welcome Jacksonville and Troop 575.

After a luncheon cookout, the girls were driven back to Jarrett Sunday afternoon. There they became hostesses to the Scouts showing them their lovely farm, the beautiful old home, and their fine new kitchen and dining unit.

TIM BARROW ON COLLEGE DEAN'S LIST

CHARLOTTESVILLE — Timothy E. Barrow of Virginia Beach was one of 33 students in the University of Virginia's School of Architecture to win places on the dean's list of distinguished students.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Garland E. Barrow of 203 Blueberry Road.

To make the list, students must have averaged a grade of "B" or better, passed all courses, and taken not less than 14 hours of courses.

Busting Buster's

The last trace of Buster's by a snack stand, was scraped from the sands of Chesapeake Beach last week. Three years ago a fire destroyed most of the building. Buster Reutt said when his snack bar burned to the ground again six weeks ago, it was a complete loss—although Miss Evelyn Garrison reported a resident, who objected to the music, called the fire "a blessed act of God." Reutt opened a 60-car parking lot over the week-end. With the beach season going into full swing, the off-street parking lot relieves some of the street congestion suffered each week-end at Chesapeake Beach. (Staff photo by Hardy)

Soldier Is Fifth Victim Of Drowning

VIRGINIA BEACH—Robert L. Adams, 20, became the Beach's fifth drowning victim within a week when he drowned Monday.

Spec. 4 Adams was stationed at Ft. Story. He and a friend were swimming about 5:30 p.m. Monday, when Adams drowned. From about 6 p.m. until almost midnight, Army searchers looked for the body. Tuesday about 1 p.m., the body was recovered in the waters near 83rd Street.

Adams had been in the Army two years.

FAMILY NOTEBOOK

BY MARY TROY
Homemaking Consultant
Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.

Instant picnic anyone? If your family has picnic on the mind and you haven't planned for one just then, make sure you're ready for the next safari. If it's only to the backyard.

First add a section to your shopping list for "picnic needs."
If you stick to canned foods, buy double quantities. Less summertime spent shopping, no need for refrigeration and you won't run out for a picnic or two.

Here's how to make ready for an instant picnic, with no cooking necessary:

1. Suggested shopping list — Sandwich makings — such as spread, chicken, tuna fish, sardines, pates, salmon and small sausages plus toothpicks for plucking right from the can.
2. A canned ham. Canned chicken, too. These ready-to-eat meats can go picnic-ing just as they are.
3. Canned potato sticks and olives for snacking, and appetizers.
4. Juices and soft drinks in cans.
5. Bread even comes in cans these days, white and whole wheat as well as the more familiar canned date and nut bread, for that instant extra loaf you sometimes need.

Don't forget a supply of can openers — they are instant-picnic essentials! (Hint for assembly-minded types: Keep extra can openers in the car.)

About 180,000 persons will be saved from cancer this year. According to the American Cancer Society, many of them will be saved because of improved methods of diagnosis and treatment. See your doctor each year for a health checkup.

The 'Y' of It

by Doris Montgomery

Did you know that the YWCA is an old, old organization established in London, England in 1855. It was first introduced in the United States shortly thereafter (1858) in New York City. Its primary objective is to promote the spiritual, mental, and physical well being of the women of the world.

The headquarters of the world-wide organization is in Geneva, Switzerland. The organization in the United States is administered from headquarters in New York City. There are approximately 5,400 offices throughout this country.

Recently, in April, the national convention was held in Cleveland, Ohio. Attending the convention as a delegate representing the Virginia Beach Branch was Mrs. C. E. Koonz. It was at this time that Mrs. Koonz was installed as the new chairman of the committee on administration for the Virginia Beach Branch YWCA. Mrs. Koonz came back from the convention with lots of new ideas for future programs for the "Y". We are eagerly awaiting her new enterprising ideas.

Already in process for the summer is an ambitious program for "Y" teens. Tennis classes are now in session for boys and girls, ages 13 thru 18 at the Virginia Beach High School Courts.
Separate classes have been arranged for ages 9 thru 12 and ages 13 thru 18. An exciting event which will be the end result of the tennis classes is a tournament which will be scheduled for the fall. So, why not become a CHAMP! Join the tennis classes now.

The "Y" is very much interested in enriching the lives of the teen-agers, that is why they have given priority to teen-age classes for the summer. A tentative schedule of programs will include typing, golf, sewing, and public speaking. Lucky teens!
A class in art will be taught by the "Y" teen Program Assistant, Kay Peck. Maybe you can become a great master. Join this class August 6.

In their efforts to fulfill the needs of the teen-agers, the "Y" has not entirely forgotten about the parents. They, too, can have tennis lessons during the month of July. Be sure to call the Virginia Beach Branch Office at 428-8228 for more information regarding any of the above classes.

Do you have any free time?
Are you civic-minded? Can you type or do clerical work? If you fill the picture, the "Y" needs
you. Although the Teens have generously volunteered their services for the months of July and August, additional help is needed for the month of June. Please answer the cry and call the "Y" office at Virginia Beach. Their summer hours are from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. This effort on your part will be greatly appreciated by the YWCA, and who knows, you might even enjoy it.

If the children keep you away from the summer classes, just remember that the "Ladies Day Out" series will be scheduled again this fall. These classes will be held at LeKies Methodist Church on Virginia Beach Boulever near Davis Corner. Classes will be held every Wednesday of each week, so reserve that day. These classes are many and varied, ranging from Bridge to sewing. This is your opportunity to take advantage of all the knowledge of the experts.
Be sure and put this on your list of "musts" for the fall.

Miss Betty Grace Smith

Betty Smith Graduate Of Retail School

Miss Betty Grace Smith will be graduated this month from the Dorothy E. Thomas School of Retailing in Philadelphia. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Smith.

The school's two year program is based on a co-operative plan, whereby, the students work full time for six weeks before Christmas and for four weeks before Easter. The remainder of the school year is spent in formal classes taught by a well trained educational and professional faculty.

During her work periods, Miss Smith sold in Bonwit Teller and John Wanamaker and was a Noel Girl and Sales Manager in Wanamaker's.

After graduation, Miss Smith will live in Philadelphia and be employed by John Wanamaker as a Training Supervisor in their Personnel Division.

Her duties will include training selling employees in the system of the store, setting up mystery shopping campaigns and various other things.

CARDINAL CLUB INSTALLS OFFICERS

Mrs. John W. Field, the retiring president of the Cardinal Garden Club was hostess to the members of the club at a social hour at her home on Oriole Drive for the June meeting. The following were installed as officers for the coming year:

President, Mrs. Walker C. Beaman; Vice President, Mrs. Gordon B. Potter; Secretary, Mrs. J. W. Field; Treasurer, Mrs. Irvin J. Upson; Cor. Sec'y, Mrs. Charles M. Reed.

Mrs. F. C. B. McCune from the Chesapeake Colony Garden Club was the installing officer.

After the social hour, the members enjoyed their annual luncheon at the Cavalier Golf and Yacht Club with Mrs. Dugger, Mrs. Reed and Mrs. George C. Talley as guest.

The club will resume its activities in September.

If you are a social security beneficiary planning to move to a new address, notify your social security office a month in advance to avoid delay in receiving your checks.

Hollow Hallowed Walls

Construction on the latest addition to Haygood Methodist Church is still underway. The Church is located on Bayshore Road, and is one of the older churches in the area.

ENGAGEMENTS

COLE — MAYER

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mr. and Mrs. Russell H. Cole announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Pamela Sue Cole, to Denis Roland Mayer.

Mr. Mayer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Mayer of Allentown, Pa.

Miss Cole was an honor graduate of Princess Anne High School in 1961. She attended Pennsylvania State University where she was on the dean's list and a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority. She will graduate from Old Dominion College in August. The recipient of a federal scholarship in rehabilitation counseling, Miss Cole will begin work on her master's degree at Penn State in September.

Mr. Mayer graduated from Allentown High School and Pennsylvania State University where he was on the dean's list and a member of the varsity golf team. He will be assistant project director of the Bureau of Land and Water Research, University Park, Pa., while completing requirements for his master's degree.

An August wedding is planned.

Mary M. Studds

WELLESLEY, Mass. — Mary M. Studds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Colin A. Studds, 3133 Virginia Beach Boulevard, Virginia Beach, is a member of the graduating class of Pine Manor Junior College, a two-year liberal arts college for women in Wellesley, Massachusetts.

The series of lectures was held on a trial basis to determine home owner's interest in this field in Virginia Beach. Future lectures of this type will be conducted only if enough additional requests are received in the Extension office, according to Mrs. Lucy S. Oliver, Ass't. Home Demonstration Agent.

PRINCESS ANNE — Mrs. Marie Tebault, Mrs. Elizabeth Langhorne, Mrs. Katie Davenport, Mrs. Pearl Godfrey, Mrs. Alice Hancock, Mrs. May Bonney, Mrs. Catherine Nixon and Mrs. Vivian McClannan attended the recent two day series of lawn and garden lectures held at the Home Demonstration club kitchen.

Lawn turf and soils, landscape planning, common insects and diseases, and vegetable gardening were the topics covered by E. R. Cockrell, city agricultural agent, Albert Beecher, V.P.I. horticulture specialist, Tom Nugent, Dr. Doug Greenwood, and Vernon Watts, of the Agricultural Experiment Station.

The series of lectures was held on a trial basis to determine home owner's interest in this field in Virginia Beach. Future lectures of this type will be conducted only if enough additional requests are received in the Extension office, according to Mrs. Lucy S. Oliver, Ass't. Home Demonstration Agent.

African Violet Society Meets

Mrs. Harry E. Billups of Lynnhaven was hostess to the recent meeting of the Princess Anne African Violet Society.

The business meeting followed a covered dish luncheon.

Mrs. Ella Whitfield, Chaplain, gave an opening prayer after which Mrs. Preston Breeden, president, gave an inspirational reading.

Mrs. Emma Mott, past president, and program chairman for the day, showed colored slides of the club's recent garden show here at the Civic Center.

The Violet Society participated in the Armed Forces Day Parade with members and their young "buds," the president and past presidents riding in three units.

ROSE SOCIETY

The Tidewater Rose Society will meet 3 p.m. Sunday at the administration building of the Norfolk Botanical Society.

New Garden Club Officers

Things Different After Army Service

THE WEEK'S LETTER: I recently returned home from Army service and find that things have changed. I joined the Army because of problems at home. My girlfriend knew about it, but resented the fact I joined just the same. We wrote often while I was in basic training and when I came home on holidays I saw her as often as possible, which, of course, wasn't too often as I had to visit with my family, too. Anyhow, now that I am home for good, things seem different. My former friends act too young for me. Even this girl acts different. I saw her at school and she would hardly talk to me. Next time I saw her, she was in a car with two other girls and some boys. I was extremely jealous and, after an argument, drove away. I haven't seen the girl since. One of my friends tried to talk to her for me, but she won't listen. I really care for this girl. What should I do?

OUR REPLY: Begin by realizing that things do change. Your friends have changed some while you were away, it's true. But, remember, you were the one who was away and consequently are more aware of the change.

Regardless of your reasons for going into the service, you did go away. You did not expect time to stand still for this girl until you returned, any more than you could have expected to come home after many months and pick right up as if you had been away only a day.

Jealousy and arguments accomplish nothing. Maybe your friends think you have changed. Show them you have not.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND BUSINESS PRESS SERVICE, FORT WORTH, TEX.

YOUR DRUGGIST SAYS

HE CARRIES 5,000 DRUGS... NOT 200

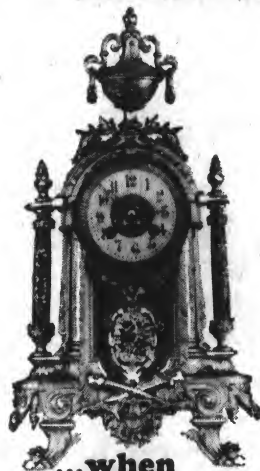

In most retail fields, the typical store carries only enough varieties of goods to satisfy most customers, most of the time. A pharmacy could do the same—by carrying only about 200 different prescription drugs. But today's pharmacist stocks more than 5,000 drugs, even the most obscure, so as to have on hand exactly what the doctor prescribes—for any customer, at any time. It costs the pharmacist a lot of money to maintain such a stock. But you pay only what your prescription is worth. That's why we say...

Keeping City Clean Is Real Problem In Summer Season

While most residents of Virginia Beach have a deep sense of civic pride there are far too many who look to the city government to take care of all our problems. One of these, and a pressing one, is keeping our city clean.

Despite the constant urging of garden clubs and the like and the national campaign to keep America Beautiful there are still far too many litterbugs in our midst. It is a monumental task to keep Virginia Beach clean and comparatively free of loose paper, bottles, cans and the like during the summer months. But, a good way to help the situation and to take some of the load off the city employees is for each local individual resident to do his part in keeping the litter from our streets and on the beach.

It is quite natural for the vacationer to become a bit careless away from home and drop trash and paper along our streets and on the beach. If each local resident would take it upon himself to help by picking up loose particles and putting it into the trash receptacles it would be no time at all before a marked improvement could be noted in the city's physical appearance.

So, if some of our visitors are careless and add to the problem of keeping our city clean let us not join in, but instead if each will wage a one-man campaign to keep our city clean we could all take more pride in our city.

Let's combat the litterbugs by picking up their litter.

The Power Of The Purse

The authoritative Congressional Quarterly reports: "Congress used the 'power of the purse' this past session to curb alleged 'empire-building' tendencies on the part of two power agencies, the Rural Electrification Administration and the Federal Power Commission.

"Furthermore, both agencies are on notice that unless they head 1963 congressional warnings they are going to have further troubles on Capitol Hill this year."

The details of the matters which have thus irritated Congress are complex. The principle is not. There is no doubt that congressional sentiment and public sentiment against the tax-paid progress of the socialized power movement has been growing, and is an accelerating rate. This is particularly true, as Congressional Quarterly also points out, about the REA lending policy. Some of these loans, it says, according to competent witnesses, "... would result in higher-cost power than if the co-ops had continued to buy their power from utilities." Also, it can be added, loans have been made for purposes—such as a ski lift—which have no conceivable connection with rural electrification.

Basically, the story is a simple one. Rural America is about 98 per cent electrified. The REA is a big and going concern whose job has been practically completed. But, like all bureaucracies, it is never satisfied. So it is branching out into areas of service which were never considered when it was created. And it is doing this with tax advantages denied private enterprise—and with public money which it loans at about half the going rate of interest.

The "power of the purse" that Congress has so far used to curb the federal power agencies deserves all commendation. But, as yet, it hasn't been used to nearly the needed extent.

IT NEVER FAILS

BASKIN IN THE SUN

By GORDON BASKIN

I read in the papers in letters these weeks tell that the bomb will go off some day and that there will be no more people. This headline—and others like it—appear in the news with every edition. As a matter of fact, they've cried wolf so often that I question if anyone ever reads beyond the first three words. We've learned to live with this rather bad "cold" war, and these doesn't seem to be any end to it. I worry about the bomb from time to time, but not very often. It's sort of like lightning. If you see it—it didn't get you. I guess we'll never know if it happens, and I think that's a good thing.

I'm far more worried about another matter which threatens us from all directions. This threat is not one which could cause us harm due to the state of Khrushchev's digestion, but something that is gnawing away at us from our side of the water. Most of it—the new threat—starts in Washington, and by the time it filters down to this level it has grown to such proportions that it will surely crush us. I'm talking about paper. One of the symptoms of our time is that everything has to be submitted in six copies. It won't be long before you have to file a duplicate copy of your grocery list with the local store before you pay out your hard-earned money to eat. I shudder to think of the reams of paper that must be filled out before you can have a new baby, and the thought of the three hundred copies requesting permission to die makes the thought positively attractive.

I don't suppose that there is any need to make any comment about the numbers that we have assigned to us from birth to death: Social Security, telephone, Zip Code, Area Code, Driver's License, Bank Deposit Number, License tag number, and so on, and on, and on, and on. We've learned to gripe about these things, but we are not doing anything about it, and won't.

I just hope that they run out of wood pulp one of these first days so the paper becomes too valuable to make ten copies of everything. I'll betcha that in three days not a living soul would notice the difference. Only one group of people would suffer. The file clerks in the government agencies. I see by the papers that they are divided into two classifications now. There is the standard file clerk, but also one called an Out File Clerk. This type can only take things OUT of files. He isn't allowed to put them back.

DONALD R. NORLAND

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Donald R. Norland, son of Mrs. Aletha Norland of 1113 Third St. SW, Mason City, Iowa, graduated Friday from the U. S. Air Force Command and Staff College at the Air University, Maxwell AFB, Ala.

Norland, a Department of State foreign service officer, was one of more than 500 graduates who marked the end of nine months of professional military education for career Air Force officers and selected government civilians.

His wife, Patricia, is the daughter of Mrs. A. H. Bannan, Mayflower, Virginia Beach, Va. Norland attended the State College of Iowa and received B.A. and M.A. degrees from the University of Minnesota.

The Air University is the senior Air Force educational institution which conducts the higher level professional military education program for the nation's aerospace force.

JAMES J. DAVIS III

U.S. AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo.—James J. Davis III, 21, of Virginia Beach will be commissioned an Air Force second lieutenant and received his bachelor of science degree at graduation ceremonies June 8 at the U.S. Air Force Academy.

Lieutenant Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Davis Jr. of 3900 Rufford Lane, Virginia Beach, will be assigned to pilot training at Moody AFB, Ga.

The new Air Force officer, a graduate of Northeast High School, Philadelphia, Pa., received special recognition at the ceremony for his academic and military achievement by being named to the superintendent's merit list. He majored in engineering science. Lieutenant Davis was a member of the academy's merit list. He majored in engineering science.

Lieutenant Davis was a member of the academy's sixth graduating class. Cadets must complete 18½ semester hours of college work during their four years.

GERALD W. DAVIS

WITH DESERT STRIKE FORCES IN THE SOUTHWEST U.S. — Airman Second Class Gerald W. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar W. Davis Sr. of 788 Woodstock Road, Virginia Beach, Va., is in the field with U.S. Air Force Tactical Air Command (TAC) units now engaged in Exercise Desert Strike being conducted by the U.S. Strategic Command. The realistic combat operation is the largest joint air-ground training maneuver in the southwest since World War II.

Airman Davis, a cook, and other members of TAC's jet fighter, reconnaissance, air assault and support units are providing firepower and other tactical air support for the U.S. Army battlefield troops participating. The exercise will be conducted on 13,000,000 acres of desert land in California, Arizona and Nevada. Major elements of the Military Air Transport Service and Air Force Communications Service, plus Strategic Air Command jet aerial refueling tankers, will be participating in firepower needed in the combat maneuver.

The airman, permanently assigned to George AFB, Calif., is a graduate of Princess Anne High School, Lynnhaven, Va. He attended Victor Valley College, Victorville, California.

OF INTEREST TO VETERANS

ROANOKE — Honors paid America's wartime dead on Memorial Day bring to mind that the War Between the States remains the most costly in American lives of all conflicts in which the nation has engaged. William J. Powers, manager of the Roanoke Veterans Administration Regional Office, said VA records show:

Both sides were composed of Americans in that struggle. Union deaths totaled 364,000. Confederate dead has been set at more than 200,000 by Dr. Joseph Jones, surgeon general, United Confederate Veterans.

This total, in excess of 564,000 is the largest American toll in a single war.

There were about 4,000 deaths in the American Revolution and 2,000 deaths in service in the War of 1812.

A thousand Americans died in the various Indian Wars between 1860 and 1898.

The Mexican War of 1846-48 recorded 13,000 deaths in service. Deaths in the Spanish-American War totaled 11,000.

Powers' said World War I deaths in service were 131,000 and there were 409,000 deaths in service in World War II.

The Korean Conflict saw 54,000 deaths in service. Total deaths in all America's wars were 1,189,000.

More than 368,000 widows and children of veterans who died from service-connected causes are receiving compensation payments from the Veterans Administration.

Your Social Security

Officials of the Norfolk social security office report that the following question is frequently received from people who have applied for benefits: How will my benefits be affected if I later find that I will earn more than I had previously estimated for the year?

"If you find that you will probably make more during the year than you previously estimated, notify the social security office as soon as you can. If you are eligible for social security payments, the amount of benefits you receive is related to your report of estimated earnings, which you make to the Social Security Administration early in the year. If you are going to earn more than you estimated at the beginning of the year, you can see that it is necessary to report that fact to avoid possible overpayment of benefits. The actual earnings you report at the end of the year serve as the basis for the final adjustment.

It is best to avoid any overpayments during the year as these would have to be paid back to the government—or future checks to which the beneficiary is entitled would have to be withheld until the overpayment is satisfied.

For these reasons, any beneficiary who has a question about a change in his estimated earnings for the year is urged to get in touch with the social security office as soon as possible.

ODC Nursing Course Offered

NORFOLK — "Fundamentals of School Nursing," a summer workshop for school nurses, public health nurses and other interested registered nurses and physicians, will be sponsored by Old Dominion College and the Norfolk Public Schools, Thursday and Friday, June 25-26, in the Hughes library assembly hall at the college.

Registration will be held at 8:45 a.m. Thursday. Miss Mary Frey, chairman of the department of nursing, Old Dominion College, will preside and greetings will be extended by Dr. Donna G. Morris, director of medical services, Norfolk Public Schools.

The programs on Thursday will include: "Health Services for Children of School Age," Miss Ruth Taylor, R.N., nursing section division of health services, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Washington, D. C.; "Personal and Professional Responsibilities of School Nurses," Mrs. Margaret B. Greck, R.N., chairman, school nurses section, Virginia Nurses' Association, Richmond, Virginia; "The Public Health Approach to School Nursing," Mrs. Patricia M. Murphy, R.N., instructor, public health nursing, Old Dominion College; and "Problem Solving Techniques," Miss Mary E. Bowden, R.N., associate professor of nursing, Old Dominion College.

Two films, "Sight for a Lifetime" and "The Public Health Nurse and the Retarded Child" will form a part of the day's program and a small work-group participation session directed by Mrs. Margaret B. Greck, R.N. is scheduled for the afternoon.

Friday topics will be: "Communications," Sam W. Ray, Ed.D., assistant superintendent of public schools, Norfolk; "Counseling techniques for Pupils and Parents," W. Herman Bell, Ph.D., director of counseling, Old Dominion College; and "Understanding the Emotionally Disturbed Child," Mrs. Jessie Moon, psychologist, Atlantic Mental Hygiene Center, Virginia Beach. There will also be a film, "Willie Catches On."

The planning committee, in addition to Miss Frey and Dr. Morris, are: Mrs. Faye Crumpler, R.N., Mrs. Mildred Hogard, R.N., Mrs. Lois Stephenson, R.N., and Mr. Leo Williams.

Advance registration is requested by June 18.

Additional information may be obtained by calling or writing the Dean of Summer School, Dr. Stanley R. Plika, Old Dominion College, Norfolk, Virginia.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMS LISTED

WASHINGTON — A new examination has been announced by the U. S. Civil Service Commission for filling positions of Patent Examiner, paying $5,650 to $11,725 a year. Most of the positions are in the U. S. Patent Office, Department of Commerce, in Washington, D. C. However, positions in other Federal agencies throughout the United States may also be filled from this examination where no other appropriate examination is announced.

Persons appointed to Patent Examiner positions will perform professional scientific and technical work in the examination of applications for United States Patents. To qualify, applicants must have had appropriate education in Engineering or Sciences, or a combination of education and pertinent experience. Additional professional experience is required for the higher paying positions. No written test is required.

Applications for these positions will be accepted until further notice and must be filed with the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, U. S. Patent Office, Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C. 20230. Full details are given in Announcement No. 39-B.

Announcements and appropriate application forms may be obtained from many post offices throughout the country or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C. 20415.

NEWS REPORT FROM THE UNIVERSITY

GETTING TO KNOW AMERICA

A University of Virginia professor of sociology and anthropology who once so immersed himself in the culture of the Apache Indians that he suffered "cultural shock" has recently finished building a bamboo house in a Philippine village in order to understand America better.

"The incident is inside American civilization and sees it from that viewpoint, but the anthropologist sees his culture from the outside," observed Dr. Charles Kaut, associate professor, before he left Charlottesville last August for the Philippines.

The Philippine village is Majayjay, at the foot of Mount Banahaw on the island of Luzon. It is a rural coconut-rice municipality of about 10,000 persons. Dr. Kaut will make a detailed study, "down to counting the number of cats per house."

The project is the second part of a long-range three-stage plan started in the 1950's when he did research on the culture of the American Apaches.

"Frankly I suffered 'cultural shock,'" Dr. Kaut said. "I'd had no idea what it was to belong to a group which wasn't really part of contemporary American culture. For a while I was thinking of chucking all this Ph.D. nonsense and living with the Apaches," he added with a smile.

An envisioned third aspect is the study of some Virginia community, unaffected as yet, and then the simultaneous study together for the rest of his career of the three kinds of communities—Apache, Philippine, Virginia—in the hope that generalizations can be made.

"What particularly interests me is the way people earn their livings and how this affects their view of life and the world and vice versa."

Kaut's work is not rummaging in esoteric ethnic and social groups.

"I'm interested in the relationship of basic social principles and the particular variations in social organization which can be produced by environment and social conditions interacting. What I'm trying to do is develop perspective on American society."

Dr. Kaut is the holder simultaneously of a Fulbright professorship for 1963-65 at the University of the Philippines and of a $35,000 National Science Foundation Grant.

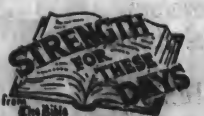

For Mrs. Kaut, while she shares the interests of her husband, she has particular problems concerning their two sons, Jonathan Edo, 6, and David, 3½. Jonathan will go into first grade in Majayjay soon, "although classes will be taught in the Tagalog language, which won't help him in his English reading very much," Mrs. Kaut said.

Century's Deepest Well

"This is the only 1600 foot well that's been drilled in this area since about 1898," said Garland Sydnor, president of Sydnor Pump & Well Co. "It's for a heat pump. The well takes the place of a boiler. Air is forced over the water to pick-up heat. The device will cool in summer and heat in winter in a new 13 story apartment building at 39th Street and Atlantic. Right now it's pumping 831 gallons of water, but it can pump 1800—that's upwards of 2,000,000 gallons a day."

Tennis Center At P.A. High

THALIA — Princess Anne High School will again be the site of the Recreation Department Sponsored Tennis Center. Mrs. Edith Shields, Girls Physical Education Chairman at Princess Anne will again be Director of the Center. This year, however, the courts will be lighted, thus providing more time for the courts to be in use.

Mrs. Shields will be available to give lessons to adults as well as youngsters and has directed the department to release the following information concerning the center: the number of people who register for instruction will dictate the number of courts that will be available for open play. She asks all adults who desire to be given instruction to contact the Recreation Department and register by phone (call 428-1686). All youngsters who wish instruction should register with their local playground Director. A limited number of rackets will be provided.

The Center will be open Monday through Friday and Mrs. Shields' hours of supervision will be dictated by participation. Tentative dates for starting instruction will be Monday, June 29.

The courts of Virginia Beach and Newlight playground will continue to be open to all who wish to take advantage of these facilities. The courts at Princess Anne High School are open for play at all times when instruction is not going on.

The tennis courts will be lighted until 10 p.m. and thus will be available until this time. It is hoped that all people will take advantage of these lighted courts Monday through Friday.

LESLIE WATSON WINS JAYCEE GOLF TITLE

Earlier in the year the improving youngster won the State High School crown for group two schools at Ingleside, near Staunton. He was a standout member of the winning Virginia Beach high school team the past season. He is a junior and will be back next year along with several other outstanding players.

The new Jaycee champion, who plays out of the Princess Anne Country Club, battled from behind to win the championship Monday. Watson, after a so-so 78 in the morning round, trailed by three strokes going into the final 18 holes.

Watson fired a brilliant one-over-par 70 in the afternoon to pull into a tie with Gene Medley, a member of the Princess Anne High School golf team. Watson scored a par on the 19th hole in a playoff with Medley, who bogeyed the hole.

A playoff was also needed to decide third place. Zack Clement defeated Archie McDowell on the 19th hole after both had tied with 149. Clement was the first round leader with a 75.

Jim Ellis Jr. son of the assistant pro at Kempsville Meadows, shot 87-84—171 to win the 12 and under division title. Mike Sachon was second with 177.

Aqua Cat Title To Art Zahn

VIRGINIA BEACH — Californian Art Zahn made his trip here to compete in the third annual Virginia Beach Aqua-Cat Sailing Regatta worthwhile Sunday by winning the fourth and deciding heat and overall first place.

Zahn, who flew in from New York City and borrowed an Aqua-Cat from a local dealer, won two of the four heats, was second in one and third in another.

TRACK CLINICS TO BE HELD

GREAT NECK — This summer another attempt will be made by the Recreation Department to hold clinics in Track & Field. These clinics would be conducted weekly on Thursday nights from 7 - 9 p.m. at Frank C. Cox High School and would be for the benefit of all persons who will be entering the eighth grade and up. This offering would also extend to people past the High School age group.

If enough interest is shown in the clinics, then weekly track meets can be conducted until the middle of August for various age groups.

Those persons that are interested can come to a Special Registration Night on Monday, June 22 at 7 p.m. at F. W. Cox High School Stadium. Mr. Bernie Shields of the City Physical Education and Recreation Department will operate the clinics.

McDowell Top Golfer

Inboard Races At Gloucester

The Third Annual Gloucester Inboard Regatta will be held again this year on the York River. Some of the nation's top inboard racing boats and drivers are scheduled to appear for two full days of thrilling and exciting racing.

Starting at 12:00 on Saturday, and at 12:30 on Sunday, this Regatta promises to be a bigger and better event than before.

The location is on the Gloucester Point side of the York River at the Beach Club. The club located under the Coleman Bridge has ample parking and spectator space.

The following classes of inboards will be scheduled for competition 48's, 145's, 150's, 280's, 225's, 266's, E and F Service Runabouts, and Ski Boats.

Many of these boats have speeds that exceed 100 mph and will be racing two heats each day. Entries are from all along the Atlantic Seaboard, from New York to Florida.

UPSETS HIGHLIGHT BROAD BAY EVENT

sets highlighted the third and final heat of the Broad Bay Sailing Regatta here Sunday, but leads built up in the first day's competition Saturday were enough to propel several favorites to over-all victories. Bob Harrell, Norfolk city engineer who seldom loses in the Hampton One class, had to settle for third place in Sunday's race, but he had piled up enough points with two Saturday victories to win first in his class.

One of the day's biggest upsets was suffered by Gloucester Point ace Roger Moorman in the Mobjack class which he feathered. Walt Mercer edged Moorman in the final heat, but like Harrell, the Middle Peninsula skipper ended up first in the final standings as a result of twin victories Saturday.

Young Rocky Meadows of Norfolk didn't finish in the top three in the final race, but he too had amassed enough early points to wind up first in the Penguin class.

Four of the regatta's overall winners had to fight for their victories, though, as each needed third-heat victories to claim their trophies.

Bob James Jr., another Gloucester Point skipper, sailed his Olympic class Flying Dutchman to first place. Dink Vail of Norfolk, who split honors with James Saturday, had to miss Sunday's race but was awarded second place on the basis of his Saturday showing.

The Dutchman, one of five classes of sailing yachts which compete in the Olympics, was making its first competitive appearance in the metropolitan Norfolk area.

Walter Collin in the Mobjack class, Bob Robertson in Comet and Gene Hinkel in Handicap were others who ended up first by virtue of victories in the third heat.

FINAL RESULTS

FUELING

Safe fueling is simple and easy if you follow these procedures. Extinguish all flames, cigarettes, cigars and pipes. Shut off spark producing machinery. Keep a fire extinguisher within easy reach. Prevent the possibility of a static spark by keeping the nozzle or fill can in contact with the tank. Don't risk an overflow by trying to fill the tank all the way to the top and be careful not to spill any fuel.

If your boat has a removable tank, play it safe, remove the tank from the boat, then fill it on the dock.

If your boat tanks are permanently installed be sure to close all ports and hatches before fueling. Upon completion, open all ports and hatches and run bilge blower for at least five minutes.

This should clear your boat of all fumes, but to be sure, try the sniff test in the lower part of your boat and engine compartment. If you detect any gasoline odor—DON'T START YOUR ENGINE.

HEALTH TIPS

The sunburn season is here again. It's a completely safe prediction that at least ten million people will succeed in roasting to a turn on the first long, hot weekend at the beach or pool, or even in the backyard garden.

If you want to get a sunburn, it's easy. Just stay out in the summer sun too long. However, do this with the knowledge that the physical benefits of tanning are at best dubious, and that there is solid evidence that continued exposure to sun weathers and ages the skin.

If you want to get tanned, the American Medical Association offers some pointers on how to do it without burning too much.

Gradual exposure to the sun is the safest and simplest method of acquiring an attractive tan. As a general rule, begin with 15 minutes exposure the first day, and increase the time by a few minutes a day. The time of day is important, with the mid-day period, when the sun is directly overhead, being the hottest for burning purposes.

Actually, the slim possible benefits of tanning are more than offset by its potential hazards. One skin specialist who has studied the problem said recently that he foresees the day when tanning will no longer be a status symbol and the fair, creamy complexion will once again be the vogue.

Continued tanning brings gradual changes in the blood vessels of the exposed surfaces. The connective tissue of the skin degenerates, causing wrinkles and a coarsening of texture. The "V" of the neck becomes permanently reddened and freckle-like dark spots appear on the skin. These spots can sometimes be the start of skin cancer.

Sun bleaches the hair, too, and over a period of time the sun-bleached hair becomes brittle and unmanageable. However, the damaged hair will eventually grow out.

The only really beneficial effect of sunlight on the skin is formation of vitamin D, but the American diet already provides an adequate supply of this vitamin.

Despite the adverse physical indications, doctors are well aware that many of their patients will continue to work on a sun-tan each summer. If you feel that you must get tanned, remember the basic rule for gradual tanning—15 minutes the first day, increased by about a third each day. With care, it may be possible to tan without too much burning and a minimum of peeling.

C of C OUTING IS SMASH HIT

Photos and Text By Robert Hardy

ALDO FARMS — Throngs flocked to Wednesday's Chamber of Commerce Outing despite a record setting heat wave. The 101 degree high made it the hottest June 10 since 1874.

But a little heat couldn't cool off the good times being had at the outing. Sipping iced drinks, the guests enjoyed pitching horseshoes in the sun and shaking the bull in the shade.

A few minutes after 5 p.m., the first of several horse races got underway. Among those racing, Wally Poole and Betty Curling had two extremely close races. In the first quarterhorse race, Poole came in first and Curling second. In the second race, Curling turned the tables to beat out Poole by the same few inches that he'd beat her by in the first race.

A very fine exhibition of horse jumping was provided by five Virginia Beach young ladies. They were: Barbara Batterton, Princess Anne senior; Kathleen Watson, Sweet Briar junior; Cathy Vogel, John B. Dey eighth grade; Linda Taylor, Virginia Beach High sophomore; and Marie Valkley, Country Day School ninth grade.

Trophies were awarded to winners of last month's Armed Forces Day prizes as follows:

Window Display Prize: The Oceana Naval Air Station.

Military Floats: 1st prize: Marine Corps U.S.A. School at Dam Neck; 2nd prize: Marine Recruiting Service.

Civilian Floats: 1st prize: Virginia Beach Moose Lodge; 2nd prize: Kiwanis Key Club at Cox High School.

Bands: 1st prize: Fredrick Military Academy Cadet Corps.

"The time and type of outing we enjoyed last week is good," said Roy LaMere of the Virginia Beach Chamber. "Al Taylor has agreed to have us back next year. Already plans are in the making for a bigger and better outing in '65."

Part of the crowd at the Chamber of Commerce outing. Shirt sleeves and cool drinks were the rule of the day.

SECTION B

33rd Meeting Of ARE Opens Here Sunday

VIRGINIA BEACH — The 33rd Annual Congress of the Association for Research and Enlightenment will be held at Association headquarters, 67th Street and Atlantic Avenue, Sunday through Saturday. The theme of the Congress will be "Love: Love of God for Man; Love of Man for God; Love of Man for Man."

Lecturers at the Congress will be Prof. Lewis A. Foster of the College of William and Mary and Dr. Gopal Joardar of Washington, D.C. Prof. Foster, who is associate professor of philosophy, will lecture on Monday, June 22nd, from 11 a.m. to noon and again from 8 to 9 p.m., also at the same hours on Tuesday, the 23rd. His subject will be "Love as a Principle of Soul Development." Dr. Joardar will lecture on Thursday, June 25, Friday, the 26th, and Saturday, the 27th from 11 a.m. to noon, also on Thursday, the 25th from 8 to 9 p.m. His subject will be "Love, the Unifying Element in Man's Concept of God." Dr. Joardar, a Hindu converted to Christianity, and educated in India, Europe and America, currently lectures at Johns Hopkins University and is Director of Cultural Studies at the Kohn Foundation.

On Wednesday evening, June 24th, from 8 to 9:30 a musical program will be led by the Rev. S. K. Emurian of Norfolk, who is noted for his many musical compositions.

These events will be open to the public. There will also be daytime classes on various subjects based on the Edgar Cayce readings.

The Congress will be preceded by a prayer retreat, June 18th through 20th.

Dear Fellow Citizens:

Vacation time is here and again many thousands of visitors are heading for our city. I, therefore, urge all of our citizens to inform themselves of our history and the many places of interest that are to be seen and enjoyed by our visitors.

As we all know, the ultimate benefits of our being courteous and friendly will be that of satisfied tourists which will in turn be a specific stimulant to our local economy. We would like to be remembered by the tourists as being a progressive and friendly community with many places of interest, so they will return often and stay longer.

Cordially yours,
Frank A. Dusch, Mayor

When the races were raced and the food was eaten there was still plenty of good fellowship. We don't know what the two horses are whispering about, but saying what a good time was had by all are the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce President A. B. Crews and the Chesapeake Chamber's President E. B. Lassiter.

L. F. Patrick, the man in sun glasses and checkered shirt, watches the finish of the first race. This and the second race were two of the closest. Frontier City Marshal Wally Poole came in first with Betty Curling inches behind. The same riders on the same horses raced a second time, and exchanged places. Betty Curling won the second race over Poole by a few scant inches.

TWO FROM HERE SELECTED AT FFA STATE CONVENTION

Virginia Beach is well represented at the State Convention of the Future Farmers of America, now being held at Blacksburg on the campus of V.P.I.

Last night the Delegates voted to confer the State Farmer Degree on Joseph M. Maltos III, and James Robert Porter, both of Princess Anne High School.

Kellam High School is represented by John Whitehurst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Whitehurst, Creeds Station, Randy Sherwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin R. Sherwood, Back Bay Station, and Jerry Matyko, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Matyko, Back Bay Station. John and Randy are delegates and will be on the livestock judging team from Kellam and the baseball team from Eastern Virginia. Jerry is a livestock judge and will represent Eastern Virginia along with Jim Porter in the soft ball league.

Joe Maltos had one year of Vocational Agriculture at Kempville Junior High School.

CHURCH BARBECUE

SET FOR HILLTOP

Tidewater Primitive Baptist Church will hold a barbecue at Virginia Jalousie Co., Inc., 1732 Laskin Road, Saturday evening. Services will be held.

Taking part in the service will be Eldr. F. R. Moore, Highpoint, N.C.; Eldr. Tuggle, Greensboro, N.C.; and Eldr. Kidd from Axton, Va.

Sunday at 9:30, baptismal services will be held near Hilltop after a short meeting at the Virginia Jalousie Co.

The public is invited to both events.

and three more years at Princess Anne High School. He worked part time in the Egg Factory, all during his high school years for his Dad and Uncle. He is outstanding in ability to see opportunities to make money by performing needed services to his neighbors. Custom work with his tractor, selling purebred watch dogs from his pet, pulverized chicken manure in plastic bags, raising veal calves, pasture, hogs, and rabbits were all profitable enterprises for Joe. This past year Joe was an officer in the Princess Anne Chapter FFA, and President of the Peanut Federation. He served as Master of Ceremonies at our Father and Son Banquet for the past three years and represented Princess Anne on many judging teams in forestry, crops, and livestock. He also has taken part in the Public Speaking Contest for the past two years.

Jim Porter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Porter of Bay-side, Virginia Beach. He has had valuable work experience on Bayville Farms each summer and over weekends. His profit on tomatoes was the best of any Future Farmer in our city last summer. He did well with poultry and truck crops during the past four years. This past year he was President of the Princess Anne Chapter Future Farmers of America. He served as a local officer during his sophomore and junior years in high school. He received the Star Chapter Award for his outstanding accomplishments at the Annual Father and Son Banquet in February.

LUTHERAN CHURCH SCHOOL JUNE 15-26

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Vacation Church School at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, 18th and Atlantic Avenue, will be in session June 15-26 with sessions each morning, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to noon.

The general theme is: "God, My Country, and I." The purpose of the material to be used is to lead the children to the realization that every Christian is a citizen of both God's kingdom, the heavenly one and the earthly one; and to encourage them, as they are led by the Holy Spirit, to develop the desire to live as loyal citizens of both kingdoms. Bible stories, memory passages, work-page exercises, handcraft items, songs and prayers have been carefully selected and designated to achieve the over-all purpose of the course.

Mrs. Raymond Long, director, will be assisted in the worship periods and other areas by the Reverend Dickson Taylor, pastor of the church. Other members of the staff are:

Nursery: Mrs. Darrell Helms and Mrs. George Fairfield.
Kindergarten: Mrs. Richard Gilmore, Mrs. Roger Rowell and Mrs. Cecil Nelson.
Primary: Mrs. Carl Taylor, St. M. H. E. Wilkins and Mrs. Fred Jones.
Junior: Mrs. A. H. Hood.
Senior: Mrs. Carl Taylor, Jr., Mrs. Paul Lutz and Mrs. M. H. E. Wilkins.
Recreation: Steve Goranson, Chiora Amburn, Kathy Fairfield, Denia Bennett, Jeanne Plunkham, Diana Geiger, Lynn Halvorson, Susan Gerhard and Jane Gerhard.

REV. EMURIAN AT PEMBROKE CHURCH

PEMBROKE MANOR — The Rev. S. K. Emurian, prominent Tidewater minister from Armenia who recently celebrated his 50th birthday, will be the guest preacher at Pembroke United Church Sunday.

The Rev. Mr. Emurian has preached in Tidewater area since the close of World War I, when he came here as a Y.M.C.A. worker. He is a musician, composer and singer of note besides being a minister greatly sought after for many occasions.

Following his retirement at age seventy, he assumed pastored of churches which were either small or feeling unable to employ full time leadership, and successively brought seven churches to such prosperity as to employ full time pastors and some of them either relocated or promoted building improvements. He will preach at Pembroke Manor Elementary School Sunday at 10:30 a.m. The Rev. Chas. F. Pegram is the minister.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four actual reasons why every person should attend services regularly and improve the Church. These are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

There are men who carry the weight of the world on their shoulders — but this isn't one of them.

There is no burden so joyous as the responsibility of being DAD.

But — hold on there! Don't forget it is a burden. Someone's future is on your strong back.

And that someone's future involves soul as well as body.

If you want your boy to become a good ballplayer ... well, you go out and catch with him.

And if you have hopes for his character, his courage, his commitment to things Right and True ... yes, a boy loves to walk into HIS CHURCH with HIS DAD.

THE NEW IDEA HOME DECORATIONS

A new concept in pantryware storage—wedge-shaped canisters—are said to be the answer to the problem of making the most out of kitchen counter space for storing food staples.
These stylish canisters may be stacked, if desired, or arranged in some "just fit" counter areas that heretofore were not usable. They are available in chrome with handsome identifying black and gold monograms, and in satin finish stainless steel (to match stainless steel appliances) with black and silver monograms. Units provide compact storage for 7 pounds of sugar, 2 pounds of coffee, 6 pounds of flour and 26 tea bags. A fifth unit—a matching canister for 2 1/2 pounds of cookies—may also be purchased.

The Mixing Bowl

It's Fun To Cook

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

King-For-A-Day Cake!

Make a cake for Dad's Day! Make it a "king" for Dad the "ruler" of the household. Frost a round cake made with a mix and sprinkle with chocolate-coated flaked coconut—leaving a "part" in the middle of those glossy tresses! To prepare coconut: melt a package of sweet cooking chocolate and mix in a can of flaked coconut, toasted. Spread on cookie sheet, separating flakes with a fork. Chill.

Other Decorations: (1) Dad's "face" is a round pan or box for the cake to rest on. Cover it with pale pink paper and make pink paper ears... fastening them on with Scotch tape. Make features with colored pencils; or cut from colored paper and paste on. (2) The crown is cut from gold paper and fastened with tape. (3) The bow tie would make a fine Father's Day gift.

You'll need: a round cake made with a mix a can of Angel Flake Coconut a package of sweet cooking chocolate

June 21st! A great day for Dad. Now that you have a dessert suggestion, why don't you surprise Dad with Cape Cod chicken with cranberry sauce.

CAPE COD CHICKEN

1 broiler chicken, cut in serving pieces
1/4 cup cooking oil
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon sugar
1 cup cranberry juice cocktail
1/4 cup cooking sherry
1 orange (including rind)

Preheat fry pan containing oil to 250°F. Place chicken in pan, meat side down, raise temperature to 350°F. Cook, uncovered, for 10 minutes, turning so chicken is light golden brown on all sides. Pour oil into container for reuse. Combine cornstarch, sugar, cranberry juice and sherry.

Pour into fry pan, and cook stirring constantly till slightly thickened. Simmer, covered, for 25 minutes, turning chicken several times to glaze on all sides. Add thinly sliced orange to pan and cook 5 minutes to glaze. Serve, garnished with glazed orange slices. 4 servings.

Cranberry Almond Chicken is another find. Garnish this gourmet main dish with slivered toasted almonds.
CRANBERRY ALMOND CHICKEN
1 frying chicken (about 3 lbs.) cut up
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon paprika
1/2 cup butter
1 cup cranberry juice cocktail
1/2 cup slivered almonds, toasted
Combine salt, pepper and paprika. Rub into chicken until coated. Melt butter in frying pan. Saute chicken pieces until golden brown on both sides. Cover frying pan, reduce heat and cook for 25 to 30 minutes, or until chicken is tender. Remove chicken to warm platter and keep hot in warm oven. Pour cranberry cocktail into frying pan, stir to loosen all browned particles. Cook over high heat until it is reduced by half. Pour over chicken. Sprinkle with toasted almonds. Serve at once.

Here's a cranberry glazed chicken that you can bake in the oven. For added flavor marinate before baking.
OVEN GLAZED CHICKEN
1 cup cranberry juice cocktail
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/4 lb. butter or margarine
4 teaspoons salt

3 broiler chickens, halved, quartered, or disjointed
Combine first 4 ingredients in a saucepan and bring to a boil. Remove from heat. Place chicken skin side down in a shallow baking pan. Pour cranberry barbecue sauce over chicken. Bake in 400°F. oven for one-half hour. Lower heat 350°F. and bake for an additional hour. Turn chicken occasionally to keep coated with sauce and brown evenly.
—Note: If time permits, marinate chicken in sauce for an hour or so before baking. Keep chicken refrigerated during marinating period.

This party pink cranberry mold takes but a minute to blend in the electric blender and it gels in 1 to 2 hours. Garnish with cubed pineapple or mint leaves.

CRANBERRY BAVARIAN

1 cup Cranberry Juice Cocktail
1 3-ounce package raspberry flavored gelatin
Dash salt
1 cup slightly softened vanilla ice cream
Canned pineapple chunks
Heat 1/2 cup of the cranberry juice cocktail to boiling. Pour into blender; add gelatin and salt. Process on low speed until gelatin is dissolved. Blend in rest of cranberry juice and ice cream with blender on low speed. Process until ice cream is liquidified and mixture is light and fluffy (about 1 minute). Pour into mold and refrigerate 1 to 2 hours... until firm. Unmold on serving dish. Surround base with chilled drained pineapple chunks. Serves 4 to 6.

QUICK CRANBERRY CREAM

1/2 medium lemon, seeded and peeled
2 tablespoons gelatin
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup cranberry juice
1/2 cup light cream
7 oz. can whole berry sauce, drained
1 1/2 cups chilled ice
Combine lemon, gelatin and sugar in electric blender. Heat cranberry juice to boiling; add to gelatin mix. Cover. Blend on high until gelatin is dissolved. Add cream and drained berries; process covered, until blended. Pour in chilled ice; process on high with cover until mixture begins to thicken slightly. Turn off and let sit for 10 minutes. Pile in sherbet glasses and serve immediately. Cream may be held in refrigerator for several hours. 4 to 6 servings.

NOTES FROM YOUR AGRICULTURAL AGENT

SELECTION, OPERATION OF POWER SPRAYERS

Like three legs of a stool, there are three factors which determine the effectiveness of a spraying operation on the farm. These are proper timing, use of the correct dosage of the proper chemicals, and the use of suitable application equipment—properly adjusted and operated.

Maximum benefit from herbicides, fungicides, and insecticides is dependent on proper timing. Too little may be a complete waste of time and money, and too much may cause serious injury to crops. The use of proper equipment is important for good coverage and to obtain proper dosages.

Each of these factors depends on the other two, so, when you select a sprayer, several points should be considered. First, what will you spray—livestock, orchard, row crops, pasture? What is the maximum pressure and gallonage needed? Remember, on many of the less costly pumps (such as gear, roller, and centrifugal pumps) the gallonage will decrease as the operating pressure increases.

There is a wide choice of distribution equipment, such as booms, with or without drop nozzles; boomjet nozzles; and hand guns. Simplicity of adjustment and service is another important point.

The pump is the heart of a spray system. The gear pump is the one of the less expensive types, but is unsatisfactory for ventable suspensions. The piston pump is more costly, has long life, and is a positive displacement pump delivering approximately the same gallonage, regardless of the pressure. Piston pumps are also resistant to wear, and most parts can be easily replaced.

All sprayers should be equipped with strainers to remove foreign material which may affect the operation of the pump, check valves, and nozzles. Strainers are especially important in the suction line and at the nozzles.

Nozzles are available in a wide choice of sizes and spray patterns. Extreme care should be given to the selection of the proper nozzle for even distribution, and the correct rate of discharge. Fan-shaped spray patterns are considered best for spraying herbicides in the control of weeds, while hollow cone spray patterns are generally recommended for insect control.

I recommend nozzle check valves to prevent dripping of spray material after the sprayer is stopped. They also aid in keeping the boom and lines full, ready to spray the instant the sprayer is started. While many sprayers are sold without check valves, they are available for most sprayers at a very low cost. Ask your dealer about them when purchasing a new sprayer or nozzle strainers for your present sprayer. The check valve is built into the nozzle strainer.

Cleanliness is most important for satisfactory operation. Tanks should be clean and free of rust and scale.

Care should be given the proper cleaning of sprayers before and after each use. For correct application, calibrate your sprayer frequently under the same conditions under which it will be operating. A change in the size nozzles being used, operating pressure, or forward speed calls for recalibrating.

Calibration may be done in a number of ways. One way is to measure off a given area, $\frac{1}{4}$, $\frac{1}{2}$, or 1 acre of the field to be sprayed and check your sprayer, using water, to find the application rate at the pressure and speed you will be operating.

Satisfactory operation of your sprayer will depend on how well you follow the instructions of the manufacturer of the sprayer and the chemical manufacturer's instructions on the label of the chemical.

Virginia Summer School For Town and Country Ministers

On Monday, June 29, a four-day summer school for town and country ministers will open on the campus of VPI. This will be the 35th such summer school held at VPI. It is perhaps the oldest continuous interdenominational summer school of its kind in the country.

Judging from past registrations, ministers and their wives from at least 11 different Protestant denominations, as well as from the Roman Catholic Church will attend. A large per cent will be sent on scholarships provided by their local Ruritan Clubs. The school is also sponsored by the Virginia Council of Churches and Southern States Cooperative, as well as by the Virginia Agricultural Extension Service.

Cut Grain Losses During Harvesting

How much grain are you leaving in the field after harvest? Field losses may run as high as 10 per cent or more.

Most of these losses can be eliminated by proper timing of harvest and proper combine maintenance, adjustment, and operation. Harvest as soon as your grain is ripe. Delayed harvesting increases weather risks.

Needed repairs and adjustments should be made before harvest, or you risk losing good harvest days while making repairs. The combine should be adjusted for the crop to be harvested. If harvesting small grain, be sure it is adjusted for grain and not soybeans.

Follow the manufacturer's recommendations for your particular combine for servicing and operating instructions. Proper adjustment of a combine requires experience, and understanding of fundamentals, careful observations, and good judgment. Accurate adjustments can only be obtained by careful measurement of yields and seed losses.

To estimate field losses, count the kernels left on the ground at several randomly picked places in the field. Ten to 12 kernels of oats per square foot represent approximately one bushel per acre. An average of 20 kernels of wheat per square foot represents about one bushel of wheat per acre.

Harvesting losses may be classified according to where they occur, such as cutterbar, cylinder, straw rack, and shoe losses. Factors affecting these losses are ground speed, reel speed, shoe sieve opening, and air blast.

The ground speed should be such that a uniform full flow of material is maintained to the cylinder at all times. Avoid overloading.

Reel speeds should be slow enough to minimize shattering, and the height high enough to prevent throwing of cut grain.

Cylinder losses may be reduced by preventing unthreshed or partially threshed heads from being carried out over the rear of the straw rack. Greater speed and less clearance between the cylinder and concave will prevent some of this. However, the speed should be the minimum required to do a good job of threshing. Too much cylinder speed and cylinder-concave settings too little clearance should be avoided to prevent cracking of kernels and excessive breaking up of the straw. During a dry season, one kernel left in every 15 heads is considered good. Cylinder-concave clearance must be the same on both ends of the cylinder and all bars should be maintained straight and replaced as they become worn or damaged. Worn cylinder bars can cut capacity by 30 per cent.

Rack losses, consisting mainly of kernels of grain passing over the cleaning shoe sieves. This may be caused by overloading, overthreshing (breaking up of the straw), incorrect shoe speed and improper direction and air blast from the cleaning fan.

The lower shoe sieve should be kept open to prevent an excessive amount of tailings from being returned to the cylinder.

Dented auger housings and bent auger shafts should be straightened or replaced.

Remember, readjust the combine as the condition of the crop being threshed changes. Conditions vary from field to field and morning to afternoon.

Make this a safe harvest. Keep safety shields in place. Do not allow extra riders on machinery, especially children. Always stop machines before lubricating or adjusting. Wear tight-fitting clothes. Take a short break or rest stop in mid-morning and mid-afternoon.

4-H Activities and Events
C. FRANCIS LAY
Assistant Agent

"Circumstances are the rulers of the weak; they are the instruments of the wise."

Hello, there! Now that school is out, you 4-H'ers will have more time to spend on your 4-H projects and activities. You will want to get your garden or lawn in better shape, complete that lamp or bird feeder that you planned to do, or finish up on that dress or pair of shorts that you have designed. You will want to get together with your fellow club members and leaders to plan that picnic or field trip. The Extension Staff will help you plan these events with technical advice or educational literature from VPI.

4-H Fits in With the Family Situation
One of the complaints heard about the 4-H program is that it takes young people away from their homes so often. Well, if you think about it a little, 4-H actually fits right in with the family activities. 4-H emphasizes projects that are related to things around the home, things that most young people have to do anyway. 4-H just gives the easy and efficient way to do it. Most young people have to learn to keep their room in good order—4-H has the room improvement project. They have to clean house—4-H has the home grounds beautification project. They help to keep lamps and cords in good repair—4-H has the electric project. Many young people help their parents in the vegetable garden—4-H has the Garden project. Girls especially, have to learn to sew, to cook, to wash and iron clothes—4-H has projects for these. Young people like to teach dogs tricks and how to mind—4-H has the Dog Care and Training Project. Many people these days are taking pictures of their family and friends—4-H has the Photography project.

As you can see, 4-H can fit right in with what young people have to or want to do at home. 4-H provides the incentive and technical know-how to do a better job of it, or as we say in 4-H, it enables young people "to make the best better."

Form a 4-H Club in Your Community
So why don't you form a 4-H Club in your community? All it takes is 10 to 15 boys and girls and several interested parents to help out. The young people (10-19 years of age) elect their own officers, conduct their own meetings, and plan their own program.

Besides having your own club in your community, you become eligible to participate in the City-wide, District, State and National 4-H activities.

4-H is fun, and 4-H is educational as more than 2,000,000 4-H club members can certainly tell you.

State 4-H Short Course
Next Monday, June 22, eleven 4-H club members from Virginia Beach will leave the City to spend a week at the State 4-H Short Course. They will be among the more than 1,200 members attending from all over Virginia.

The delegates from Virginia Beach are Theresa Pecsek, Joe Pecsek, John Moulton, Jerry Moulton, Donna Murphy, Ruth Anne Oliver, Jim Brickhouse, Lee Durham, Lee B. Parker, Jr., George Lee, and Sharon Kelly.

During the week these club members will participate in state contests in Share-the-Fun (Talent), Livestock Judging, Land Judging, and Forestry Demonstration, and Public Speaking. They will also attend classes on 4-H organization, leadership, recreation, and project instruction.

Hunter Spence, a former 4-H Club member from Virginia Beach, will be directing the State Share-the-Fun Program.

ROOF REPAIRS

Roof leaks and loose shingles do occur occasionally so it is important to know just how to make quick repairs if and when this happens to your roof.

Inspection is always the first step. You'll find that the area around your television antenna is the first place to check. Wind and rain will cause trouble here after a while. Other things to look for will be loose nails and shingles.

When you have located the trouble spot clean it thoroughly with a wire brush or any other stiff bristled brush.

Experts at the Thor Center for Better Living have found that the plastic cements sold at most hardware stores do a fine job of sealing. If the hole is one-inch or smaller you may apply the cement directly over the hole at a thickness of approximately one-half inch. Work it down to a smooth edge.

For larger holes you'll need a piece of roofing material or canvas. Use nails to hold it down, spacing them about two-inches apart. The cement should then be worked over the patch down to a very fine edge.

Thor Tip — Cement works best in warm weather.

Handyman Questions

Q. How often should I change brushes in my electric drill?

A. When they are two-thirds worn or when undue sparking is noticed. Inspect regularly.

Q. How far apart should studs be placed when building a recreation room?

A. Most experts recommend a 16-inch span.

(Address handyman problems to Thor Center for Better Living, Aurora, Illinois.)

Plaque Unveiled To Memory Of Bridge Workers

BAYSIDE — A bronze plaque honoring the six men who lost their lives in the construction of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel was unveiled at the south toll plaza Wednesday afternoon.

Unveiled by Tidewater Construction Co. President S. E. Liles Jr., the plaque bears the words "The men who lost their lives building the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel: Donald P. Cartwright, Johnnie Davis, Hubert B. Dycus, John A. Fedorowicz, Will A. Sawyer Jr., James A. Werner."

AMPHIB BEACH ASSAULT HERE THURSDAY

CAMP PENDLETON — The beaches of Virginia Beach are about to be invaded! An amphibious assault will be staged at Camp Pendleton by 2,000 Marine Reservists Thursday starting at 9 a.m.

These reservists are the first of three groups to undergo amphibious war fare instruction with the Landing Force Training Unit at the Little Creek Naval Amphibious Base.

An evening regimental parade and review will be conducted at the Little Creek base parade ground 7 p.m. Friday.

Brigadier General J. C. Miller Jr., LFTU Commanding General, has announced that the public is invited to view both the parade at the amphibious base and the landing at Camp Pendleton.

This "spearhead" group of Marine Reservists comes from Philadelphia, Raleigh and Winston-Salem, N. C., Baltimore, Chicago, Charleston and Greenville, S. C.

NEW TOUR SERVICE AVAILABLE HERE

VIRGINIA BEACH — An interest in the resort, an understanding of children and a little ingenuity and determination has created a new tour service for Virginia Beach that should be a boost to visiting parents.

The newly organized Heritage Tours are designed to give youngsters a taste of history at Colonial Williamsburg and Jamestown while their parents relax and enjoy the surf and sand of Virginia Beach.

The tour idea was conceived and developed by two well-known community-minded mothers and civic leaders, Mrs. L. C. Brennan and Mrs. J. L. Strole Jr.

Realizing that vacationing parents are usually limited to their children's schedules while visiting here, they felt that a day-long activity for the youngsters would give parents a chance to relax, yet know their family was taken care of.

But it should also be something the children would enjoy, something more than a baby-sitting service. After all, the children are on vacation, too. It might just as well be something educational. So the tours were organized.

Starting last week, the trips by air-conditioned buses will be conducted each Tuesday and Thursday through September 8 and will pick up all participants in front of their respective hotels or motels. There will be chaperones along who will not only keep the youngsters in tow Granby Street Church of Christ delivered the spiritual message during the brief ceremonies.

Families of four of the men killed attended, including Mrs. Maureen Fedorowicz and her 10-month-old son, John, from Warwick, R. I. Her husband became the fifth fatality January 26, 1963 when a cable slipped while a tunnel section was being lowered into Thimble Shoals Channel.

The first two fatalities were Davis and Dycus. They were killed December 4, 1961, when a crane boom snapped on the north Thimble Shoals Channel island.

Next were Cartwright and Sawyer who died January 25, 1962 when a boiler exploded on the dredge Virginia where they were working.

After Fedorowicz was Werner. He was electrocuted July 12, 1963 while plugging in an electric tool as he stood in water. Another victim of the bridge-tunnel construction was William E. Shue but his name was not included in the memorial since he was killed in Texas while working on the fabrication of a tunnel section.

Lucius J. Kellam of Belle Haven, chairman of the tunnel commission said: "The bridge-tunnel itself stands as a mighty and enduring tribute to these men. They dared greatly. They built well." He added that the bay span will forever stand as a monument to men "who are willing to stake their lives — and lose them — in the pursuit of human progress."

Three Injured In Auto Mishap

CHESAPEAKE — Three people were injured Wednesday morning when an automobile sideswiped a car driven by Judge Richard B. Kellam of Virginia Beach and crashed into a railing on the west end of the Gilmerton Bridge on Military Highway.

Judge Kellam escaped injury and was taken by police to Smithfield to sit in Isle of Wight Circuit Court.

Three people in the other car were admitted to Portsmouth Naval Hospital.

Patrolmen Luther J. Davis and E. W. Connor identified them as Lorraine E. Fairweather, 38, of 5261 Henneman Drive, Norfolk; Edna Adece, 28, of 2401 Burgess Court, Norfolk; and PO 2 C. Richard Lee Warden, 41, of the repair ship Orion.

A Naval Hospital spokesman said Mrs. Fairweather and Mrs. Adece were in fair condition and Warden's condition was good.

Patrolman Davis said the driver of the car was Mrs. Minnie Clara Deal, 41, of 427 Columbia St., Portsmouth. She was charged with driving without an operator's license and reckless driving.

Stagecoach Due On Schedule Here July 4

SUFFOLK — Frank Luter and his stagecoach caravan is coming in the home stretch and will arrive in Virginia Beach July 4 on schedule.

In a telephone conversation Friday, Luter told the Sun-News he had landed in Suffolk, his hometown, and was going to leisurely make his way into Virginia Beach by going down through Deep Creek and "the long way around."

The western film star left this resort city about five months ago for a promotion trip that took him and the Frontier City stagecoach over 900 miles. He had the coach shipped down to Florida and has made his way up from the Sunshine State along the coast to Virginia.

"This has been the greatest experience of my life," Luter said. "I have met thousands of people along the way, many of them from Norfolk and Virginia Beach on their way to Florida. I still have the same team of mules I started out with and have had no breakdowns or troubles of any kind."

He stopped in Suffolk for a minor eye operation Thursday but said it was not holding up the trip.

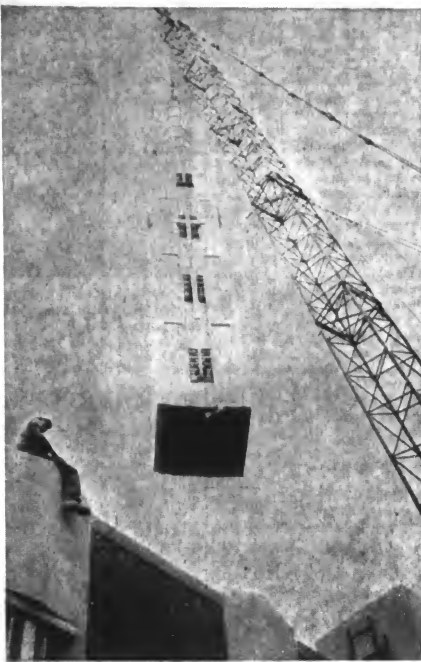

Luter will hit Virginia Beach sometime between 11 a.m. and noon July 4th and will take part in a big rodeo at Frontier City that afternoon.

Eagle Scout 12 Years Old

VIRGINIA BEACH — Albert Arthur Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. Brown of 4062 Leyte Court, has the distinction of holding the Eagle Scout award at the early age of 12.

The award was presented Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at a meeting of Scout Troop No. 191 in the Benmorel Welfare and Recreation Center by Harold V. Pace, executive of the Tidewater Council of Boy Scouts of America.

The average age for Eagle Scouts is between 13 and 14. An eighth-grade pupil in Kellam High School, Brown earned 22 instead of the required 21 merit badges to be eligible for the Eagle Scout rating.

STEEPLE RAISED ATOP BAPTIST CHURCH HERE

By Robert Hardy

VIRGINIA BEACH — The steeple was raised on the First Baptist Church last Thursday, marking the near completion of the new addition to the church, located on 35th Street at Holly Road.

Newsmen and photographers mingled with the crowd of spectators along 35th Street to witness the erection of the steeple. Sloping front yards in the neighborhood made a ready "arena" and dozens of people gathered in each patch of shade.

When the actual moment of raising came, many spectators broke into applause.

The steeple resembled a huge Christian missile about to roar off into the heavens. For a second, many in the crowd thought it was about to speed in the opposite direction.

On the way up, the steeple suddenly lunged downward for a breath taking moment. Then all went smoothly for the rest of the operation.

Construction foreman Bill Hanbury explained that "when the boom operator put on the brakes while lifting the steeple, the cables naturally stretched a little bit. This always happens and was nothing to worry about."

"Yeah, but it sure added a dash of excitement," a spectator remarked.

Chairman of the Building Committee E. Guy Robertson said "the furniture will be going in about early July. Since the foundation was laid in April of last year, progress on the building has been satisfactory."

The inside is being finished now. Members of the church expect to hold their first service in the new building on August 15.

Architect George Van Leeuwen said "the building is designed to fit in with the architecture of the Beach. There is no wood except doors and the altar. The pulpit is brick and limestone."

Van Leeuwen said the steeple weighs about 12 tons.

Shop foreman Bill Alfred of Roof Engineering placed the aluminum cross atop the aluminum steeple, both of which were built in his shop.

"It's the only all-embossed cross and steeple in this section," Alfred told the Sun-News. The section being raised is about 60 feet. When the cross is placed on top, the structure will stand 135 feet above the ground. It took about two months of actual construction to build the steeple.

Baggett Construction Co. of Virginia Beach is the contractor. Members of the building committee are: Chairman E. Guy Robertson, Mrs. Roy Abbin, R. Harold Baker, A. R. Bunting, J. P. Coates, F. L. Fentress, K. L. Jardi, J. Q. Parnell, Mrs. W. D. Sessoms, E. S. Tarrall, and Mrs. E. S. Tarrall.

Workmen estimated that at one time about noon, several hundred people gathered to watch.

ST. LOUIS GRAD

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Judith L. Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Walker, Jr., 1501 McCullough Lane, Alantown, was graduated this week from Principia Upper School in St. Louis.

During her senior year she was a member of the girls' governing board.

Council Approves Future Complex Of City Offices

VIRGINIA BEACH — At the City Council meeting Monday, a model of the new City Governmental Complex was presented. Designed to fill the projected requirements of the City until the year 2000, the complex would be built in four phases:

- 1) 1970 - $896,750
- 2) 1975 - $1,475,100
- 3) 1975 to 1980 - $1,776,350
- 4) 1980 to 1985 - $1,309,200

As each phase is completed, some offices would relocate, while others would remain in the same building.

City Council voted to accept the above proposals of the Planning Commission as a guide. City Council approved the following applications:

- use permit to Dr. and Mrs. John Anderson to construct an eight unit motel on the East side of Pacific Avenue.

- use permit to Mr. and Mrs. James Proffers to construct a four unit motel on 10th Street.

- use permit to Lacy L. Redd to operate two temporary borrow pits in Bayside Borough. Granted subject to recommendations of Planning Commission and $100,000 bond.

City Council denied the following applications:

- use permit to Colonial Outdoor Advertising Corp. to maintain a sign board on the West side of Pleasure House Road.

- use permit to Diamond Springs Motel Association to maintain a signboard at the intersection of Route 13 and Northampton Boulevard.

- A. E. Thrift's application for a change of zoning from Multiple-Family Residence to Retail Business District of Lot 8, Block 50, South side of 22nd Street.

City Council deferred until the fourth Monday of July an application of Hollomon Brown Funeral Home for a use permit to operate a funeral home on Independence Boulevard. Over a dozen people had come to oppose the granting of this use permit.

In other action, City Council:

- Approved about $92,942 to three fire departments — Davis Corner, Chesapeake Beach and Ocean Park.

- Approved $10,000 for the Industrial Development Office.
- Approved that $110 from the City Manager's budget be used to purchase a file cabinet.
- Granted for welfare cases

$2871 per day to Norfolk General Hospital, and $2471 per day to Norfolk Community Hospital.

- Accepted the bid of $56,830 for cleaning and relining of pipe line bought from the Navy.

- Passed a request for the extension of water mains at Princess Anne Plaza.

- Approved $2,050 for three radio mobile units for the Planning Commission.

- Approved claims for the Volunteer Fire Department of $105.79 for the period November 16 to April 30.

- Approved the permanent closing of the first cross over East of Chinese Corner and the first cross over East of the ferry.

- Requested the State Forestry Department to give the same fire protection to Virginia Beach City as was given to Princess Anne County.

- Granted Public Works Department Director Richard J. Webbon's request that $1192 be transferred from the operating fund to the capital outlay fund so that air conditioners may be installed in the Engineering Department, the Highway Department, and the Inspection Division.

- Approved $7,000 for street signs.

- Approved $3,000 to cover outside legal assistance.

- Approved $20,000 for the Volunteer Fire Department, $15,000 for Civil Defense, $15,000 for erosion, and $11,411.64 for school scholarships.

- Passed an ordinance to allow the City Attorney to settle claims up to $5,000 which the city may have from time to time for property damage or loss covered by fire or casualty insurance.

Council resolved (1) that the Hampton Roads Sanitation Commission is requested to expedite the Little Creek Sewage Treatment Plant, and to start construction as soon as possible. (2) That Virginia Beach offer services in assisting in the construction. (3) That copies be sent to Little Creek, Hampton Roads Sanitation Commission, and Thomas Downing.

Lloyd Murden resigned from the school board effective June 30. Appointed to fill Murden's place was Frank Williams.

ONE CLEARED IN AUTO THEFT

VIRGINIA BEACH — Spec. 6 Robert E. Johnson, 25, one of five adults accused of implication with a gang of auto accessory thieves, was acquitted in Juvenile Court Thursday.

Johnson, a soldier at Fort Story, was cleared of contributing to the delinquency of minors and accessory after the fact of grand larceny.

Seven youths and four other adults were accused of participating in a gang that stole over a period of six months auto accessories and parts valued at more than $1,000.

The other adults are: Thomas A. Verhovsek, 29, a Marine stationed at Oceana, charged with five counts of possession of stolen property; Hal N. Stata, 19, a mechanic of 1924 N. Alantown Drive, charged with larceny and possession of stolen property; Sterling S. Wood, a student, 214 67th St., charged with larceny; and Robert F. Caldwell, 20, a laborer, 2505 Lynriver Drive, charged with two counts of larceny.

The hearings were in Juvenile Court because of the juveniles involved.

Bandmaster's Son Sets The Pace

Maybe Bandmaster W. T. Binion Jr.'s young son didn't set the pace for the entire Third Annual Virginia Beach Music Festival Parade Thursday morning, but he sure kept in step with "his" band, the Sidney Lanier High School group from Montgomery, Ala. Wearing the same uniform as his father, the youngster was a favorite with the crowds along the way as he marched proudly beside the older band members. (Staff Photo by Hardy)

Sorority Group Holds Meeting

BAY COLONY — The Virginia Beach Alumnae of Pi Beta Phi national sorority met recently at the home of Mrs. Benjamin Huger II in Bay Colony.

Guest speaker was Mrs. William Veasey who, with her husband, owns and operates the House and Garden Shop. She related humorous anecdotes about persons choosing gifts and gave a few tips on how to select gifts.

Mrs. Veasey suggested that a gift should not be what the donor or prefers to buy but what the receiver wishes to have. "Keep the person for whom the gift is bought in mind; consider his likes and dislikes, his taste in colors, etc., not yours," she said.

On display at the meeting were many attractive, carefully selected gifts.

Members of the sorority are: Mrs. P. W. Ansell, Mrs. John E. Anderson, Mrs. Don Bookler, Mrs. J. Davis, Mrs. E. Doolin, Mrs. P. W. Estes, Miss Nancy Gilliam, Mrs. Porcher Gregg, Mrs. Huger, Mrs. K. L. Jarr, Mrs. Ed Joyner Jr., Mrs. Joseph Kemp, Mrs. V. A. Lascara, Mrs. W. C. Overman, Miss Carolyn Roosevelt, Mrs. Richard B. Smith, Mrs. Nicholas B. Temple, Mrs. Marvin Thomas, Miss Judy Weber, Mrs. J. D. Wilson and Mrs. Richard Barnes.

TEEN TOPICS . . .

By Lucy S. Oliver

Asst. Home Demonstration Agent

Hot sticky days and nights have already set in. With all the hot weather, appetites seem to dwindle.

Summer can be a wonderful time to add or subtract inches.

Of course your figure is especially important at this time of year because of figure-revealing swim suits, dresses, and shorts. Swimming, water skiing, surf boarding, playing beach ball, rowing, tennis, golf—all are wonderful muscle-toners. Take advantage of warm weather to exercise outdoors in the fresh air.

Sensible eating is easy in the summer. Plentiful are freshly caught fish, grilled hamburgers, barbecued chicken, cold meats, green salads, fresh fruits, and raw vegetables. Be careful not to spoil your diet with rich snacks and drinks.

Perspiring makes you thirsty and hungry for salty tidbits (like pretzels and potato chips). If you're overweight, substitute water or skimmed milk and low-calorie sodas for sugar-loaded soft drinks, iced tea with sugar, or sweetened fruit juices. Salted cucumber slices, carrot sticks, celery stalks, and melon balls with satisfy the craving for salt. If you're underweight, supplement your basic meals with mid-morning and mid-afternoon snacks, but avoid the temptation to sip or nibble all the time. Fruit juices and icy cold milk are excellent thirst-quenchers; cubes of cheese or a handful of salted nuts make good snacks.

Speaking of "cool" things—this year you will eat an average of 21 quarts of ice cream, ice milk, water ice, and other frozen treats. That's the estimate of the International Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers, which reports that Americans will consume over a billion gallons of frozen sweetness during 1964, most of it in the summer months when milk production is at its peak and the product is heavily promoted.

Although plain vanilla, chocolate, and strawberry (in that order) are the national favorites, there are more than 200 different ice cream flavor combinations available under twice that number of fanciful names. New flavors appear every year. They include nut mixtures, all kinds of fruits, and candy flavors like peppermints and toffee. At the present time there are three dozen chocolate variations, a dozen versions each of cherry and strawberry, and coffee in half a dozen blends. In addition, sherbet comes in fourteen flavors, and ice cream is combined with baked goods (cakes, rolls, tarts) to make the selection almost limitless.

Here are definitions for the delicious looking frozen desserts that you have been thinking about trying.

French ice cream (frozen custard) is ice cream with eggs or egg yolk solids added to the mix before it's frozen. Closely resembling plain ice cream, it is frequently "premium," with a high milk-fat content.

Bisque refers to ice cream to which a bakery product has been added before freezing. Commonly used are macaroons, lady fingers, grape nuts, and sponge cake. "Biscuit Tortoni" is probably the most famous bisque.

Pudding is a frozen dessert (frozen custard, ice cream, or ice milk) with more fruit than ice cream.

Mousse is frozen whipped cream to which sugar, flavoring and/or fruits have been added. Usually molded it is somewhat richer than ice cream.

Frappe is an ice, frozen to slushy consistency, and served in that condition.

Spumoni is a fancy ice cream commonly made in a cup shape. The "cup" is usually vanilla ice cream, which is the filled with chocolate mousse (or ice cream) and another flavor (usually strawberry).

Baked Alaska is an ice-cream cake or pie frosted with meringue which is quickly browned in the oven.

Souffle is sherbet with egg yolks added.

By the way, a restaurant dip of vanilla ice cream (1/9 quart) contains slightly less protein than half a hot dog or half an egg, plus small amounts of vitamin A, B-complex, calcium, and phosphorus. It has about 135 calories, approximately 20 calories more than ice milk, fruit sherbet, or water ice.

You can see ice cream should be planned as part of a day's meals, even when it's a snack, and not counted as an "extra."

NAVY HONORS ARMY WIFE

LITTLE CREEK — An Army wife was honored here last week for her voluntary work with the Navy.

Mrs. Iz Hollerbach was honored for her efforts in maintaining a Bargain Shop on the Amphibious Base. She is the wife of Colonel H. J. Hollerbach, former Army liaison officer on the staff of Commander Amphibious Force, U. S. Atlantic Fleet.

During the luncheon, Vice Admiral John S. McCain, Jr., Commander of the Atlantic Fleet Amphibious Force, and Captain Nelson P. Watkins, Commanding Officer of the Naval Amphibious Base, presented her with a certificate of achievement and expressed their thanks for the outstanding job she had done.

Mrs. Hollerbach joined the Bargain Shop over three years ago, when her husband reported to the Amphibious Force. At that time, the shop was doing only a token business. Today over $800.00 a month is taken in. Profits from the shop are used to provide funds for youth activities sponsored by the Amphibious Base.

Mrs. Hollerbach has resigned as Secretary-Treasurer of the Bargain Shop, but is staying on until a replacement can be found.

Colonel Hollerbach is currently serving with U. S. Forces in Vietnam.

Suggestions For Safe Operation Of Boats

- Do not overload your boat.
- Do not leave shore in a leaky or poorly constructed boat.
- Liquor and safe boating do not mix.
- Observe the pilot rules.
- Instruct at least one member of the crew in the rudiments of handling the boat should you become disabled.
- Use caution choosing equipment and supplies.
- Familiarize yourself with the locale you're boating in.
- Have life preservers handy and wear them when conditions warrant.
- Check weather and tides before going out and have due regard for them.
- Have adequate water filter.
- Do not use gasoline stoves.
- Do not operate near swimmers in the water.
- Don't use kapok-filled life preservers to sit on.
- Do not fail to provide life-belts for children.
- Do not forget your wake can damage others.
- Do not fail to reduce speed through anchorage areas.
- Check all electrical equipment and fuel tanks.
- Do not lie at anchor with short cable; allow sufficient scope.

SAFE BOATING
BY JIM KERRICK, SAFETY OFFICER
Virginia Department of Game and Inland Fisheries

WATCH THE WEATHER

So you planned to go out in your boat, but the weather is bad. What do you do? Stay in port, of course.

But what do you do if you are caught out on the water and bad weather comes up? First, don't panic. Don't stay out hoping the weather will clear, but head for the nearest shore.

In the event you should be caught out in a flash storm and the water becomes rough, have your passengers don life preservers, and sit on the lowest part of your boat as close to the centerline as possible. Head into the wind and waves at a reduced speed.

If your motor should fail, and the water is too deep to anchor, sea anchor attached to the bow of your boat will keep your boat headed into the waves. A bucket or a shirt with the sleeves tied together and attached to your bow line will serve.

Before you plan a boating trip or a day on the water, take time to check out the weather through your local newspaper or radio station.

P.A.'s Bowes Enrolls In Hargrave

CHATHAM, Va. — William A. Bowes, Jr., an outstanding athlete at Princess Anne High School, has enrolled at Hargrave Military Academy for the 1964-65 school session. Having graduated from high school, he will enter a post graduate college preparatory course at HMA this fall.

The 6-7, 208 lb. 18-year old played football, basketball and baseball. Under the guidance of football coach Pete Sachon, he played end offensively and defensively in PAHS's Wing-T formation. He lettered two years in varsity basketball and this past season was team captain. He also lettered in baseball in 1963.

Hargrave is a member of the Virginia's Military School League and the Tigers' 1964 football schedule includes four VMSL contests: Fork Union Military Academy, the defending champion; Staunton Military Academy, Augusta Military Academy, and Greenbrier (W. Va.) Military School. Three North Carolina opponents are on the '64 slate: home contests with the Carolina Military Academy, and the annual HMA-Pepper Week-End game. The test this year is with the Guilford College Freshmen and the Tigers will travel to the Davidson College Freshmen. A home contest with powerhouse Frederick Military Academy, Lions rounds out the present eight game schedule with one open date yet to be filled.

EDITORIAL SPEAKING

The War From Within

The ability of the international communist movement to find support inside the United States is said by liberals to be virtually non-existent. The liberals consistently take the position that "superpatriots" see Reds under the bed all the time.

But the liberals will find it extremely difficult to avoid recognizing attacks that have been made recently by young Americans against their own country.

I refer, in the first instance, to the Associated Press report of June 12 which stated that destruction of the U. S. government was advocated by four Negro American students visiting Cuba in defiance of State Department regulations.

In a statement denouncing the United States, the students said: "We realize the United States government is the biggest force in history and must be destroyed." Another member of the student group arriving in Havana identified himself as the leader of the visitors and a communist.

That a group of American citizens would go to Cuba, in defiance of U. S. law, and speak in condemnation of their land from the soil of a country drenched with the blood of anti-communists killed by a communist regime, should shock the American people into new vigilance against the enemy within our gates.

In fact, if this particular group of people are ever allowed to re-enter this country, it will be definite proof of a terrible weakness in our State Department that must be eliminated if we are to remain a free nation.

The student group in Cuba is not the only instance of radical youth turning against our country's stand. In May, The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin disclosed the fact that five students at Haverford College in Pennsylvania had formed an organization to raise money to send assistance to Communist Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam. The Bulletin printed the facts after it learned that a Chinese Communist propaganda agency had announced the student support for the communist cause in Southeast Asia.

The Haverford students called their organization "The Front of National Liberation of South Viet Nam." They admitted that they had been in contact with Nguyen Van Hieu, secretary of the Communist Viet Cong in Communist Czechoslovakia. And they accused the United States of "persecution of a people fighting for their national independence."

As might be expected, liberals on the Haverford faculty rushed to the defense of these youths, saying they had a right of free expression. The American Civil Liberties Union jumped to their side, giving them legal assistance. In Pennsylvania, leaders of veterans' groups rightly condemned the students, pointing out that support for the Communist Viet Cong was the ugliest of insults against the memory of more than 200 Americans who have died in combat against communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

The whole free world knows that the Viet Cong are but one of the satellite armies under the direction of Communist China. Brave Americans are daily risking their lives—and many are losing their lives—to prevent the defeat of the cause of freedom. And these scandalous youths at Haverford dare say that the fight in South Viet Nam is a struggle between "the U. S.-sponsored dictatorial regimes and the victims of these regimes."

These students should be firmly advised that what they are doing is closely akin to treason, if not treason itself. They should be strongly told there is no place for treason in any nation, much less our own.

While Americans fly over Cuba, searching for missiles, and while other patriots fight the Viet Cong in the rice paddies of South Viet Nam, there is dirty work being done at home. This dirty work calls for searching investigation by U. S. agencies. In total war, the communists never neglect the fifth column method—the war from within. (From Southern States Industrial Council) Doctor's Panel On Heart To Be Aired Tues.

RICHMOND — "A 'Doctors' Meet the Press' panel discussion on progress anticipated in heart disease control during the next ten years, sponsored by Virginia Heart Association and open to the public, will be held at 3:00 p.m. on June 30 at the Hotel Jefferson in Richmond.

Making up the panel of physicians will be Dr. William H. Muller, Jr., Chairman and Professor, Department of Surgery, University of Virginia Medical Center, who will answer questions on Cardiovascular Surgery; Dr. David W. Richardson, presently occupying Virginia Heart Association's Chair of Cardiovascular Research at the Medical College of Virginia, who will discuss heart research; and Dr. William H. Higgins, Jr., of Richmond, whose discussion will deal with internal medicine and heart disease.

The panel of working press practitioners who will direct questions on the heart diseases to the doctors will be Beverly Orndorff, Science Writer for the Richmond Times-Dispatch; John D. O'Connell, News Director, WJEX-TV, Channel 8 in Petersburg; Brick Rider, News Director, WRVA-Radio, Richmond; and Mrs. Frances Schools, Reporter for the Richmond News Leader.

The panel discussion will directly follow the Heart Association's Annual Membership Luncheon, to be held at 1:15 p.m. on June 30.

Robert C. Goodman, Jr.

Beach Youth Dartmouth Graduate

HANOVER, N. H.—A Dartmouth College senior from Virginia Beach, was among the some 700 members of the senior class to participate in commencement exercises held here Sunday in Dartmouth's 195th year.

Robert C. Goodman, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Goodman of Goodspeed Road, received a bachelor of arts degree from President John Sloan Dickey, Jean Lesage, prime minister of the Canadian province of Quebec, delivered the commencement address.

At Dartmouth, Goodman majored in economics — urban studies, and was a brother of the Sigma Nu Delta fraternity. He was also active with the Dartmouth Outing Club. He is a graduate of the Norfolk Academy.

Clinic Dates Announced

RICHMOND — The Crippled Children's Hospital announces the date of its next quarterly clinics. The Plastic Clinic will be held July 5 and the Orthopedic Clinic, July 12. The Hospital holds quarterly orthopedic clinics in January, April, July, and October. These clinics are held in cooperation with the State Orthopedic Clinics which are under the direction of the Crippled Children's Bureau, Virginia State Department of Health.

Previously treated and newly referred patients are examined and an average of one hundred patients are seen at each of these clinics.

Provisions are made at these clinics for laboratory work, X-rays, shoes and braces, when indicated. The Hospital follows all orthopedic and plastic patients until they are eighteen years of age. This is necessary, since most of these patients require post-hospital treatment for years, rather than months.

SHOPPING CENTER

Beach V.M.I. Chapter Is Organized

VIRGINIA BEACH — At a recent meeting of local alumni of the Virginia Military Institute, the Virginia Beach Chapter of the V.M.I. Alumni Association was organized.

The following officers and directors were elected: President, George D. Brooks; First Vice President, Reuben E. Trant, Jr.; Second Vice President, Harold B. Webster; Secretary, Treasurer, G. G. Phillips, Jr.; Chapter Representative, John W. Squire; and as Directors, Walter L. Renn, William C. Overman, Evert H. Irby, Dr. John A. Mapp, Rutherford B. Spessard, Jr. and William A. Wood IV. This is the 51st chapter of local alumni organized. Mr. Jack Tice, Secretary of the V.M.I. Alumni Association, was the guest speaker.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr. Mailles:

This month brings to a close a very successful season for the Norfolk Symphony Orchestra and Choral Association. This success is due to the collective efforts of many firms and individuals including your excellent public service feature and news stories of the Association's activities.

We firmly believe that the cultural development of our area must move forward simultaneously with our industrial and educational progress. We know you share our belief, and for this reason it is most gratifying to report that our Association has concluded the most outstanding year in its history.

Thank you for your generous assistance in promoting the Norfolk Symphony Orchestra and the Norfolk Civic Chorus during the past season.

For the Board of Directors
M. Lee Payne
President
Norfolk Symphony and Choral Association

G.I. Bill Now In 20th Year

Twenty years ago—on June 22, 1944—the GI Bill was signed into law by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The GI Bill had passed the 78th Congress without a dissenting vote.

This month, the 20th anniversary of that date, will be observed by veterans everywhere, according to William J. Powers, manager of the Roanoke Veterans Administration Regional Office.

Two decades ago a little band of legislative stalwarts, including the late Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers, of Massachusetts, Chairman of the Veterans Affairs Committee; the late Senator Alben W. Barclay, of Kentucky; the late Senator Robert F. Wagner, Sr., of New York, and other notable, assembled at the White House to witness the signing of the bill into law.

The bill became law just 16 days after the invasion of Normandy. Few at that time could have foreseen the tremendous impact the law was to have upon colleges and universities throughout the nation.

During the past 20 years more than 7,800,000 World War II veterans—nearly half of the 16,500,000 who participated in the conflict—have taken some form of training under the GI Bill, a factor which has left its beneficial imprint on millions of Americans and on the American way of life.

Powers said the GI Bill provided three major benefits for veterans. They were: (1) education and training, (2) guaranteed loans for housing and business, (3) unemployment pay, and three lesser benefits: (a) job-finding assistance, (b) military review of dishonorable discharges, and (c) top priority for VA to build hospitals.

At one time more than a million men per month were separated from the service and channeled back into peacetime pursuits, after having been away from their livelihoods from two to five years.

FUNERALS

JOHN ALLEN DRINKWATER

LONDON BRIDGE — John Allen Drinkwater, 73, of 479 London Bridge Road, died in a Norfolk hospital, Tuesday at 8:05 p.m. after an illness of six months.

A native and lifelong resident of Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach, he was the son of the late Horatio and Mrs. Nellie Rodgers Drinkwater and the husband of Mrs. Emmie Leopard Drinkwater.

Surviving besides his wife are two step-daughters, Mrs. William V. Simmons of Virginia Beach and Mrs. Sandy MacDonald of Mount Holly, New Jersey; two stepsons, Melvin Eugene Anderson of Augusta, Georgia, and Billy Anderson of Washington, D.C.; and one sister, Mrs. Nell R. Drinkwater of Norfolk.

A funeral service was conducted at the Maestas Funeral Home, Thursday at 4 p.m. by the Rev. Beverly Felty, pastor of the Virginia Beach Methodist Church. Burial was in Nimmo Church Cemetery.

MRS. JESSIE A. MILLER

NORFOLK — Mrs. Jessie Angeline Miller, 72, of 212 Colonial Avenue, Norfolk, died in a Norfolk hospital Monday at 1:45 a.m. after a long illness.

A native of Salem, Pennsylvania, she was the daughter of the late James and Mrs. Hattie Armer McClelland and the widow of John B. Miller. She had been a resident of Norfolk and Virginia Beach for the past eight years.

Surviving are three sons, Clarence E. Miller of Norfolk, Charles D. Miller of Virginia Beach and Hart A. Miller of Irwin, Pennsylvania; one daughter, Mrs. Viola Harding of Phoenix, Arizona; 10 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

The body was removed to the Maestas Funeral Home. A funeral service was conducted Thursday at 11 a.m. in Princess Anne Memorial Park by the Rev. Dickson W. Taylor, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd.

JOHN A. DRINKWATER

LONDON BRIDGE — John Allen Drinkwater, 73, of 479 London Bridge Road died in a Norfolk hospital Tuesday after illness of six months.

A lifelong resident of Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach, he was the son of Horatio and Mrs. Nellie Rodgers Drinkwater and the husband of Mrs. Emmie Leopard Drinkwater.

Besides his widow, surviving are two stepdaughters, Mrs. William V. Simmons of Virginia Beach and Mrs. Sandy MacDonald of Mt. Holly, N.J.; two stepbrothers, Melvin Eugene Anderson of Augusta, Ga., and Billy Anderson of Washington, D.C.; and a sister, Mrs. Nell R. Drinkwater of Norfolk.

A funeral service was conducted in Maestas Funeral Home Thursday at 4 p.m. by the Rev. Beverly Felty of Virginia Beach Methodist Church. Burial was in Nimmo Methodist Church Cemetery.

GEORGE E. WATSON

VIRGINIA BEACH — George Edmond Watson, 97, of 4809 Lake Bradford Lane died Thursday in a hospital.

Chief Junaluska of the Cherokee Tribe struggles with a Creek Prisoner of War who had attacked General Andrew Jackson during a lull in the Battle of Horseshoe Bend, one of the exciting episodes in the Indian Drama, "Unto These Hills". The play, which depicts the tragic history of the Cherokee Nation, opens at Mountaintop Theatre on June 23rd, and will be presented nightly, except for Mondays, through September 2nd.

GREAT SMOKEY PARK NOW 30 YEARS OLD

CHEROKEE, N. C. — This year marks the 30th anniversary of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park. Its celebration will focus national and international attention on an area so majestic that, since its establishment as a park, over 65 million visitors have viewed its grandeur.

Amid all of this natural splendor again comes the ghost of Tsal, the now famous Cherokee Indian martyr, to walk in the valley of Oconaluftee, together with such historical figures as Junaluska, Sequoyah, John Ross, Andrew Jackson, Sam Houston, Daniel Webster and Major W. H. Davis.

This is a part of the true saga of the Cherokee Indians as presented in the popular outdoor classic, "Unto These Hills".

The play, a colorful blend of authentic Indian dances, original music, comedy and drama is written by Kermit Hunter, the renowned author of over eighteen outdoor dramas.

"Unto These Hills" opens its fifteenth summer season on June 23, at 8:00 p.m. It will run through September 2, with performance every night except Mondays.

"Unto These Hills" is performed in the center of the 54-thousand acre Cherokee Indian Reservation. It is "staged" in a natural mountaintop amphitheatre, over which towers the ageless, brooding Smokies, a setting that moves back time to the days when the first white men saw "Unto These Hills" is the exciting, fast-paced story of the Arsene Thompson, a full-blooded Cherokee Indian, will again play the role of "Elias Boudinot". A minister in real life, Thompson has been given national recognition for his stirring performance, the climax of which is his recitation of the 121st Psalm in the Cherokee tongue. "I will lift up mine eyes unto these hills".

Since 1950, here in the "Land of the Sky", nearly two million Americans have seen the nation's greatest outdoor drama—"Unto These Hills".

This season, with the added observance of the 30th anniversary of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, it is expected to bring additional thousands of vacationers to the area. And seeing "Unto These Hills" is a "must" for visitors and home folks alike.

Banks Report

Coin Shortage Becoming Acute

VIRGINIA BEACH — The coin shortage is growing worse. On Friday, the Bank of Virginia Beach didn't have a single roll of dimes in any of its five branches.

Although half-dollars in themselves aren't too scarce, the Kennedy half-dollar is seldom, if ever, found in circulation.

Miss Peacock, head teller of the Bank of Virginia Beach, said "Each bank was allotted a certain amount based on deposits. For our bank that meant $800 worth of the new halves. Even though we tried to ration them, not allowing one person to have too many, the entire supply was gone in two days. We haven't seen any more."

Reasons given for the increasingly serious shortage were: the record breaking rates of business activity the past few years, vending machines, parking meters, state and local sales taxes, and the run on silver dollars by coin collectors.

The Treasury estimate of the shortage is about four billion coins—one year's supply at the new stepped-up rate of production.

Silver dollar sales have been stopped by the Treasury. A ruling has also been made that permits the silver certificate to be redeemed only in bullion—not for the silver dollar.

To mint more new silver dollars as proposed would mean a reduced production rate of the small coins that are so badly needed.

E. R. Amburn of the Virginia National Bank said Monday his dime supply isn't so bad, but the pennies are in short supply. "We order $500 worth of cents and get $50. Today we have only $20 worth of cents in the bank."

Being able to supply the coin needs of the city is a day to day proposition with every local bank.

"Nickles and quarters aren't a problem. We don't need many halves," said Amburn. "But the pennies and dimes grow worse all the time. When Norfolk goes on its sales tax it'll be really bad."

And the Kennedy coin at Virginia National? They received a shipment of 550 coins and these were gone in no time—one at a time.

"Only one Kennedy half dollar has come in over the counter," said Amburn. "That one was a part of a church collection."

Some dealers are selling $100 worth of silver dollars for $135. Banks have been asked by the Federal Reserve in Richmond to report any unusual requests for silver dollars.

Miss Peacock, noting that city banks get little coin return over the counter, said that each day's supply must be ordered from Seaboard Citizens in Norfolk, who in turn must order from the Federal Reserve Bank in Richmond.

"Seaboard gets only about 8% of their coin order," said Miss Peacock. "When that dwindles down to other banks it becomes practically nothing."

Both city banks urge people who have coins to put them in circulation.

Max Moore Heads Beach Lions

VIRGINIA BEACH — Max T. Moore was installed president of the Virginia Beach Lions Club Monday night during the 13th annual Ladies Night dinner.

Harold Parks, project chairman for District 24-D, served as installing officer.

Other new officers include: H. Webster Brown, first vice president; Reeves E. Johnson, second vice president; Charles Field IV, third vice president; Jack Wilder, secretary-treasurer; Walter Pankiewicz, lion tamer; and William McKnight, tail twister.

Two-year directors are Robert Coulthard and R. Homer Morton. James E. Lee and Ervin Murden are one year directors.

Outgoing president Giles G. Dodd called the meeting to order and served as master of ceremonies. William M. Snider did the introductions.

Horace Simmons, international counsellor, gave the invocation and Leon Johnson served as song leader. Kenneth Cruser, another international counsellor,

Navy Identifies Drowned Man

OCEANA — The Navy late Monday afternoon identified the sailor who drowned Saturday night off 17th Street as AMS3 August David Demoe, 21.

The sailor's name had not been released earlier pending notification of his next of kin.

Demoe and three other people were scuba diving in the Atlantic Ocean off 17th Street when the drowning occurred about 8 p.m.

A witness reported that when Demoe failed to emerge a companion dove in to find him. The body was recovered by Virginia Beach police and taken to the dispensary at Oceana Naval Air Station.

Marines To Parade Fri.

LITTLE CREEK — Marine Corps Reservists will step off Friday (June 26th) evening for the first parade of the summer season.

The public is invited to witness more than 2000 Marine Reservists pass in review at the Little Creek Naval Amphibious Base.

These citizen Marines, representing 10 Reserve units, are currently undergoing two weeks amphibious assault instruction with the Landing Force Training Unit.

The review will begin at 7 p.m. on the amphibious base parade ground, just east of Rockwell Hall. Spectators may gain access to the site through the base's main gate.

Maj. General Rathvon McC. Tompkins, Deputy Chief of Staff to the Commander in Chief, Atlantic, will be the reviewing officer for the parade.

The parade participants will be competing with others for laurels as the best marching Marine Reserve unit of this summer season opening review.

Marine Reservists participating in the parade come from as far as the Chicago area. Others are from Philadelphia, Baltimore, S. C., Raleigh and Winston Salem, N. C.

They will conduct a provisional brigade size amphibious landing at Camp Pendleton, near Virginia Beach, as a climax to their training at 8:00 a.m. on July 2.

Brigadier General J. C. Miller Jr., Commanding General of the Landing Force Unit, has announced that the public is cordially invited to view both the parade and amphibious landing.

CHURCH GROUP HEARS HOWELL

VIRGINIA BEACH — "The City of Virginia Beach appears to be one of the most malapportioned governmental bodies in the United States," Del. Henry E. Howell Jr. of Norfolk told members of the St. Nicholas Catholic Church Men's Club.

The new City Council consists of one man from each of the former magisterial districts in the county and five men from the Borough of Virginia Beach.

"Blackwater, which had a 1960 population of 733 was given one councilman, with one vote to cast on the council with respect to any issue, including taxes and schools," Howell said. "Bayside had a population of 28,045 and was given one councilman."

"You can see that the vote of a citizen living in Blackwater is worth over 28 times that of a person living in Bayside," he said.

Howell represents restaurant Clayton Davis and three other Virginia Beach residents who want the City Council to be reformed.

The case is before the Virginia Supreme Court and a decision is expected this fall.

In a talk last Friday before a group of civic leaders, City Manager W. Russell Hatchett commented on Virginia Beach's disproportionate council.

"In order to get Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach consolidated, this was felt to be the only way at that time," Hatchett said. "If we hadn't acted fast, many of us would now live inside Norfolk city limits."

In addition to Howell's talk, the Men's Club elected the following new officers: Horace Cistola, President; Joseph Gawrys, Vice President; Jack Todd, Secretary; Russ Goff, Treasurer; and Jim Morrissey, Sgt. at Arms.

President Cistola immediately appointed the following members as committee chairmen: Nick Vomero, stewardship; Dick Guy, by-laws; Bob Haner, program; Alford William Wells, publicity; Joseph Garra, ushers; Dave Duggan, ways and means; John McIntyre, youth; and Tony Thomas, membership.

Boats Run Afoul From Pipeline

LYNNHAVEN — Several large boats reportedly suffered damage over the week-end by a pipeline from the city's new dredge extending under the boat channel in Lynnhaven Inlet.

An unusually low tide Saturday apparently left the line too near the surface and scraped the bottoms of heavier boats as they passed.

The newly purchased dredge is operating 24 hours a day to enlarge the shallow channel through the inlet into Chesapeake Bay.

The dredged material has already formed a small island between the channel and the shoreline.

George Freeman, chairman of the Dredge Commission, said he had no official release on the boat damage but "we are very concerned from an operational point of view."

He said the submerged line has been removed. The material is now being discharged toward the west which will keep the line out of the boat channel.

Freeman pointed out that the scraping was caused by a "very, very low tide."

Around noon Saturday the water level was so low that much of the inlet was left high and dry.

The dredging operation comes under the jurisdiction of the Dredge Commission and the supervision of City Engineer Charlie Kiley.

CORRECTION

The amphibious assault will be staged at Camp Pendleton on JULY 2 not on June 25 as printed in Tuesday's paper.

FIREMEN SEEK FUNDS

The annual fund raising drive for the city's volunteer fire departments opens Wednesday and will continue through the month of July. These volunteers are on call 24 hours a day to serve their communities. They seek financial support only once a year to better the fire fighting equipment and services. Won't you support them?

Navy Pilot Dies In Crash Here

By Ruby Jean Phillips

OCEANA — A Navy pilot was killed Wednesday about 10:30 a.m. when his light attack bomber crashed in a thickly wooded area off Seatack Road about one mile east of the Oceana Naval Air Station.

Navy officials identified the pilot as Lt. Robert M. Robinson who lived with his wife at 413 Patton Lane in Thalia. He was the son of Mrs. M. G. Robinson of Hooversville, Pa.

Lt. Robinson was attached to VA43 based at the Naval Air Station here. Officials identified the plane as an A4E Skyhawk.

Cause of the crash was not known Wednesday afternoon but a Navy spokesman said there were no indications that the pilot had any advance warning of aircraft difficulties.

"The pilot was on a routine training mission and was circling the field prior to landing at Oceana," the public information officer said.

Ejected Too Late
Lt. Robinson ejected from the plane but was unsuccessful in parachuting to safety because of the plane's low altitude.

His body was recovered a short distance from the crash site. The parachute and cushioned section of the ejection seat were reportedly still strapped to him.

"Apparently the pilot was killed upon impact," the Navy spokesman said. "Some witnesses near the scene said they had seen the parachute. Others disagreed."

"I saw the man falling," a young boy reported. "He didn't have a parachute. He was just falling."

The plane lay in two pieces among the fire-charred trees at the crash site, about 500 feet off Seatack Road. The smoldering engine was about 50 yards from the crumpled tail section. The shell of the ejection seat, still intact, was a few yards beyond the engine.

Oceana fire units were on the scene within minutes after the crash occurred, preventing flames from the burning fuel from spreading through the woods to nearby homes.

Virginia Beach Police were also on the scene, directing traffic and keeping crowds away from the crash site.

Investigators for the Navy and the aircraft company were already probing the wreckage while firemen continued to spray the area with foam.

The scene was stifling and unbearably hot as the sun beat down overhead and the heat rose from the wreckage.

Small groups of curious on-lookers, many of them children, gathered along the road but were restricted from the crash site by military and civilian police.

"This is our second call this week," an Oceana fireman commented. "We had a jet with defective brakes on the runway Monday but there wasn't any damage. It didn't amount to much. And now this."

Bayside High Expects 1,400 Or More Pupils

ARAGONA — The new Bayside High School will open this fall with about 1400 to 1500 students.

Grades the first year will be the 8th, 9th, and 10th. The 11th will be added the second year, and the third, the 12th grade will be added.

Until the 11th and 12th grades are added, these students will continue going to Princess Anne High School.

There are now about 5000 school children in the Pembroke-Aragona area.

According to Harold Whitehurst, Superintendent of Parks and Recreation, the cost to send a child to school for one year is $260.

Superintendent of Schools Frank W. Cox said "We have to build three classrooms each week just to keep even. Few departments feel the population explosion of our city more than the one I belong to. Two thousand acres or more a year are being built upon in our city."

"Virginia Beach has been cited nationally for passing school referendums by the highest margins. This is because our people believe in education."

Bayside High School will employ about 45 of the 1250 teachers working in the city. There are 33,265 students in the city's schools.

In addition to Bayside High, there will be two new elementary schools opening this fall. These are Hermitage with 950 students and Arrowhead with 850 students.

Dog Training School Opens

HILLTOP — The Virginia Beach Dog School opened this week. It's the only dog training school in the city.

The school was founded by P. J. MacKinnon, Princess Anne Police K-9 trainer; and John F. McGowan, former commanding officer of the Norfolk K-9 Corps.

Located next to the Virginia Beach Drive-in Theater on Laskin Road, the school will be open three nights a week.

Hours are 7 - 9 p.m. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Fridays.

MacKinnon may be reached at HO 4-2054 and McGowan at JU 7-5531.

BULLETIN

VIRGINIA BEACH — Radio Station WBOF will be back in operation in about 30 days. It was sold Wednesday to C. Braxton Vallentine of Washington for $136,102. WYFI-FM sold for $36,200 and was bought by the owners of WRAP—Continental Broadcasting, Inc.

The shell of the ejection seat was found about 20 yards in front of the engine. The cushioned section and parachute were still strapped to the pilot. (Staff photo by Hardy)

BEHIND THE DAZZLE
Here's what's "behind" this newest hair coloring find: semi-permanent hair colors are actually partial tints. Instead of just coating the outside of the hair strand (as temporary color rinses do) these new miracle-workers partially penetrate the hair cuticle, to cling longer and give more vivid color changes. Each shampoo removes just the slightest bit of semi-permanent color tone... so little, you won't even realize any richness has gone. We recommend semi-permanent color rinses to any lady who wants to glorify her hair shade! And we're a special group for those who are "going grey."

MISS NEWMAN BACK FROM MUSIC CAMP

VIRGINIA BEACH — Miss Gay Carol Newnam represented Virginia Beach High School at the week-long Virginia Music Camp near Harrisonburg which ended Sunday.

Miss Newnam is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gaidner Newnam of Ivy Drive, Virginia Beach, and is well known in this area as a vocalist.

ENGAGEMENTS

NEWMAN — HAMPTON — BIRCHWOOD — Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Thelma Frances Newman to Mr. Raleigh Hampton on June 27, 1964 at the Thalia Methodist Church, Virginia Beach, Virginia.

Her attendants will be Miss Beverly Jean Newman, sister of the bride, who will be her maid of honor. Bridesmaids are Miss Marsha Halstead, Miss Nancy Helfrich and Miss Sheryl Jones. Lower girl is little Miss Bonnie Ray Parks, niece of the bride.

Miss Newman was recently entertained at a linen and lingerie shower by her mother's sister, Mrs. Carl J. Eavenson of Birchwood Gardens and by a miscellaneous shower held at the home of her aunt, Mrs. W. J. Jones and daughter Sheryl, at 4704 Fairway Avenue in Kempsville.

A wedding rehearsal dinner will be held on June 26 at the Pine Tree Inn by Mr. Hampton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hampton of Kingsport, Tenn.

A bridal brunch is being planned by another aunt, Mrs. M. W. Davidson of Suffolk and her aunt, Mrs. Leo Gratton of Norfolk, who will be mistress of ceremonies at the Pine Tree Inn on June 27 at 11 a.m.

BACON — RHODES
VIRGINIA BEACH — Mr. and Mrs. Ben L. Braswell announce the engagement of her daughter, Miss Jeanie Diane Bacon, to Darryl Wayne Rhodes. Mr. Rhodes is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Harold W. Rhodes of Clifton Forge.

Miss Bacon is a graduate of Princess Anne High School and Old Dominion College where she was a member of Alpha Xi Delta social sorority. She is a member of the faculty of Leesville Road School, Campbell County.

Mr. Rhodes is a graduate of Victoria High School and Lynchburg College where he was president of Sigma Omega Chi and a member of Sigma Mu Sigma. He is employed as a social service worker with the Welfare Department of Campbell County.

An August wedding is planned in the Diamond Springs Christian Church, Disciples of Christ.

Plaza Auxiliary Holds Meeting

PLAZA — The monthly meeting of the Plaza Volunteer Fire Company's Ladies Auxiliary was held at the Fire Station on Rosemont Road Thursday.

A short welcome speech was given by the president, Mrs. Walter Britton, to members and their guests. Invocation was given by Mrs. Robert Yon.

Subjects discussed were the MS boxes placed in the Plaza by Auxiliary members. Mrs. Britton was selected to attend the June 25 MS dinner in Norfolk, where she will receive a letter of commendation for the Auxiliary's help in the recent fund drive.

A White Elephant Sale was held with Robert Myer as auctioneer and a committee of three was named to assist the firemen in planning the annual picnic scheduled July 25.

The meeting was closed with the presentation of a check for $275 toward purchase of equipment to the Fire Co. President Robert Bottom and Fire Chief Burnis (Red) Todd.

GETS AWARD

CAROLYN BOSHERS

BIRDNECK — The Princess Anne County Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution presented the D.A.R. Citizenship award to Miss Carolyn Boshers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Boshers of Birdneck Point, Virginia Beach.

Miss Boshers was honored at a luncheon given by the chapter at the White Heron. She was chosen because she is loved and respected by all those with whom she comes in contact at her church and Sunday School, the First Presbyterian Church of Virginia Beach. She is a leader and a good influence in any gathering. She has earned and kept the respect and devotion of her associates, both faculty and classmates, at Virginia Beach High School. Some of the honors accorded her are as follows: SCA Representative 1963, Vice President of Homeroom 1962, Secretary of Junior Civitan Club 1963, Projects Chairman—Sale of Fruitcakes 1963, Homecoming Queen elected by her peers 1963, National Honor Society 1963, Business Manager of Annual Staff 1963, Tri-Hi-Y 1962, 1963, Corresponding Secretary, Tri-Hi-Y 1963, Winner of Spanish Award 1962-63, Junior Varsity Cheerleader 1961-62, Voted Most Popular Girl in Senior class. She is a good neighbor. When asked by a friend what the neighbors thought of Carolyn, she said simply, "Why everyone loves Carolyn." This describes her, "To know is to love." The award was presented by Mrs. Owen Moore, Jr., regent of the Princess Anne Chapter during graduation.

The 'Y' of It

Guest Writer

May Berry

On June 22 through June 26 children's swimming classes will be held again at the Cavalier pool. Classes have been filled for several weeks.

At Thoroughgood private pools loaned to the "Y" at the request of Mary Helen Thomas, Mrs. Ellis G. Thomas, Swimming Director of the YWCA, classes are scheduled from July 6 through July 30. There may be a few vacancies for a child who is not a beginner, but the desperately needed beginner classes are filled there too.

Do you wonder where we can get instructors? Are our teachers adults with time on their hands looking for something to do?

Meet our instructors for the June classes! Mary Payne Cole (Mrs. M. Ward Cole) has been the person everyone has always called to find out when the "Y" will teach swimming. She is chairman of Health and Recreation Committee of the Virginia Beach Branch of the YWCA. Her husband "backs her up in her "Y" swimming classes as well as the exercise classes. She teaches synchronized swimming and tennis. She has three young children and a large house complete with summer guests. She took time off from her family during the summer of 1963 to attend the Red Cross National Aquatic School at Milford, Pa.

A second instructor, Mary Ann Dee (Mrs. Delmar J. Dee) is a busy mother of five children with a husband, large home, and many other activities. She admits that, "in the beginning, two years ago with no previous swimming classes, that she really had her own children in mind." Later she realized the need for instructors as she said, "there are so many non-swimmers and so much water." The more you learn, the more respect you have for the water." Lois Nelson, Mrs. Karl G. Nelson, is a busy chairman of the Blood Program of the Red Cross. She is also vice-chairman of the Virginia State Conference of Red Cross Chapters to be held in Norfolk in September. She had a Girl Scout Troop last year. Her husband, as other husbands of instructors, feels as she does about water safety and swimming and he is a "good sport" about her many hours away from home doing Red Cross and YWCA work. Mrs. Nelson said, "We, of all people, should be cautious." She warned of the great danger of floating objects compounded by the added hazard of an off shore breeze. We should never turn our backs on children in the water. It is interesting to note that Mrs. Nelson passed a Red Cross Instructors course in Tucson, Arizona, 23 years ago. On April 20, 1963 she passed a Water Safety Instructors test at the Cavalier pool. She was very much impressed with recent improvements in techniques of teaching. These three busy ladies will be our instructors June 22 through June 26. They also exemplify all of our qualified teachers. They are all Red Cross trained, and are all "Y" minded.

Suggestions For Safe Operation Of Boats

- Do not overload your boat.
- Do not leave shore in a leaky or poorly constructed boat.
- Liquor and safe boating do not mix.
- Observe the pilot rules.
- Instruct at least one member of the crew in the rudiments of handling the boat should you become disabled.
- Use caution choosing equipment and supplies.
- Familiarize yourself with the locale you're boating in.
- Have life preservers handy and wear them when conditions warrant.
- Check weather and tides before going out and have due regard for them.
- Have adequate water filter.
- Do not use gasoline stoves.
- Do not operate near swimmers in the water.
- Don't use kapok-filled life preservers to sit on.
- Do not fail to provide life-belts for children.
- Do not forget your wake can damage others.
- Do not fail to reduce speed through anchorage areas.
- Check all electrical equipment and fuel tanks.
- Do not lie at anchor with short cable; allow sufficient scope.

EDITORIAL SPEAKING

Apparently Virginia Beach Does Not Count With Some People

We were particularly struck with an editorial appearing in the Norfolk Ledger-Star on Tuesday, June 23, 1964, in which the problem of the City of Chesapeake in facing up to the need of changing the names of streets and eliminating duplication of street names was discussed.

It was not the quality of the editorial that caught our fancy, but it was the wording and phrasing and the general discussion of the subject. Among other points brought out in the editorial was the fact that Chesapeake had more reason than most communities to get the job done. It was stated that Chesapeake is a case where two entire political subdivisions have become one, creating duplications where none existed before and multiplying some of the duplications that already had created confusion.

The editorial went on to say that fortunately Chesapeake can look to two successful precedents in its immediate vicinity—Norfolk's massive street name re-ordering of some eight years back, and then Portsmouth's of 1961.

We wonder what happened to the tremendous job the City of Virginia Beach has just completed in this direction. We wonder if the Norfolk newspaper merely overlooked the fine job this city's planning commission has done in re-naming and re-numbering the many streets in the new City of Virginia Beach. For here, too, was a case of two entire political subdivisions becoming one.

If the Norfolk paper won't commend the officials of the City of Virginia Beach for the splendid job they have done in this regard, we certainly will. It is not necessary for Chesapeake to look back eight years to Norfolk's program, or even back to 1961 to the job Portsmouth did. They can be more up to date and look at the remarkable job the City of Virginia Beach has done and has just completed.

Maybe with some people Virginia Beach just does not mean too much, or it would appear she doesn't mean a thing in this case of the Norfolk editorial.

REV. BEW GOING TO YOUTH FORUM

WASHINGTON — The Rev. Robert Bew of Avalon Hills, Virginia Beach, is a delegate to the 1964 National Youth Forum of the United Church of Christ which opens Saturday in Washington.

The forum will be held at the First Congregational United Church of Christ in downtown Washington and will continue through July 3.

More than 80 delegates will participate in the forum which will have as its theme "The Christian Person in Political Action."

American Veterans—Thursday evening at the regular Chapter meeting.

Other officers elected were William E. Green, 208 Neptune St., Virginia Beach, Sr. Vice Commander; Millard W. Ackles, 897 Justis St., Virginia Beach, Jr. Vice Commander; Richard R. Smith, 838 Greensboro Ave., Chaplain; Emmett Herman Allen, 613 Goldsboro Ave., Treasurer; Guy S. Hillers, 912 Toy Ave., Adjutant.

Elmo Lang reorganized the local Chapter several years ago while serving as State Department Sr. Vice Commander. After his year of State Commander he moved his membership to Virginia Beach. He is the present adjutant of the State Department of Disabled American Veterans.

Cubs Planning Olympic Meet

PLAZA — Cub Scout Pack 435 will hold Greek olympic style competition starting 9 a.m. Saturday at the Plaza Elementary School.

Rev. Herbert Hobbs of the Plaza Methodist Church will deliver the invocation.

After a flag ceremony and awards and advancements for Cub Scouts, there will be a grand march.

Competitive events will be a tug of war, javelin throw, hurdles race, shot-put, broad jump, relay race, and 60-yard dash. Visitors are welcome.

Savings Firm Observes 30th Insurance Year

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Federal Savings and Loan Association is taking part in a nationwide birthday celebration this month.

As one of the more than 4,400 associations whose savers are protected by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, the institution is helping mark the 30th anniversary of the FSLIC.

The FSLIC, which insures accounts of savers up to $10,000, was created by Congress on June 27, 1934. The growth and extent of the FSLIC system can be shown by the fact that insured associations now hold 96 per cent of all the nation's savings and loan assets.

W. H. Terry, who is executive vice president of the Virginia Beach Federal, said establishment of the FSLIC was "a milestone in federal legislation regarding financial institutions in this country. It provided savers with the same protection accorded depositors in banks; and it contributed toward the development of a system of specialized thrift institutions capable of meeting the home-financing demands of the busy post-war years."

"Our association is proud and privileged to help the FSLIC observe its 30th birthday," Terry said.

Retired Official Now Taking It Easy

by Helen W. Crist

FOLKS up around 85th Street in North Virginia Beach know him as a dapper distinguished gentleman, with pockets full of candy for neighbor children as he walks tall and takes his daily stroll on the invigorating ocean front. But folks in Norfolk knew him as the outspoken and popular Colonel Charles B. Borland, public servant of Norfolk City government for twenty-seven years before his retirement in 1958.

His life contains a heap of living. A Norfolk native, the Colonel saw overseas duty with the 29th Division of the Virginia National Guard from 1918-1919, becoming National Commander in 1928.

He entered public office in 1919, when he was appointed the first Inspector of Police in Norfolk, and the following year, Chief of Police. In 1922, he succeeded Admiral A. C. Dillingham as Director of Public Safety. The Ledger-Dispatch, July 18 issue of that year, stated, "He is courageous, morally and physically, and he does not play politics. If he is let alone and allowed a free hand, being held responsible for results, he will make an ideal Director of Public Safety."

In 1938, in addition to his safety duties, the popular Colonel was appointed City Manager and Director of Finance, successfully guiding the City of Norfolk through the difficult war years.

Humanitarian accomplishments were numerous among them: he established the first bloodmobile in Norfolk, was chairman of the Red Cross from 1933-36, president of the Boy Scouts of America in the city and director of the Boys Club of Norfolk.

Upon retirement from the city government in 1946, he was presented a testimonial read by Tazewell Taylor, prominent Norfolk attorney and signed by 200 friends and leading citizens.

The Colonel then became affiliated with the Hampton Roads Sanitation District Commission as general manager, remaining there until his retirement in 1958. In his honor, an annual Charles B. Borland award is presented to the person who has contributed most to the abatement of pollution in the Tidewater area.

A trip around the world followed his retirement. In 1960, the Colonel, a widower, married the charming Cornelia McBlair Stribling, who will be remembered as the gracious hostess of the Norfolk Yacht and Country Club for fifteen years.

In commenting on his philosophy of life, this gentleman with the ready smile and friendly handshake, recalled an incident that occurred on his fiftieth birthday. Members of the city departments, the bar and bench, and many friends had gathered to honor him with a surprise party in the City Council chambers. There were fine words spoken and gifts presented, but most important of all was a scrap-book they had prepared. On the first page, under his picture was written in large letters, "Here is a Man We Can Trust"—and the Colonel thinks that's just about the finest compliment could be paid to any man.

Comfort ye, comfort ye my people.—(Isa. 40:1).

We can provide a measure of comfort to our friends and relatives who are faced with adversity, simply by praying for them. Prayer, spoken in love, will always find a welcoming response in the heart of the one for whom that prayer is said.

Oliver Opening Home This Week

LONDON BRIDGE — The new Oliver Funeral Home, located next to Eastern Shore Chapel, will open this week.

One of the outstanding features of the new location is the ample off-street parking.

"We can park cars for an entire funeral on our own grounds," said vice-president James B. Oliver Sr. "In the rear we have a 100 car parking lot."

The 300 seat nondenominational chapel is in colonial decor. To one side of the front is an organ room and to the other side is a small minister's room.

If desired, the family may enter through a side door to the private family room without ever being exposed, to those seated in the chapel. This family room will hold about 30 people.

An intercom system with piped music can be cut on or off from each of three private parlors.

To provide someone on the premise 24 hours a day, an apartment was built.

The public is invited to tour the facilities this weekend. Hours will be 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Saturday and 2 to 10 p.m. on Sunday.

Oliver's is a member of the Order of the Golden Rule.

SEASIDE ACT IS HELD OVER

VIRGINIA BEACH — Myrian France, who inaugurated the Seaside Amusement Park, Virginia Beach, 1964 schedule of free circus attractions with her spectacular aerial demonstration, has been held over for another week. Her "Cloud Swing" may be seen daily at 2:30 and 10 p.m. through Sunday.

The Fireside Quintet is the newest orchestral sensation at Seaside Park. This big band, coming direct from two months at Lennie's in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, furnishes the music for dancing every night in the ballroom, along with two other orchestras, the Shadows, and the Ivy Tones. They also are on the stand for the all-day Jam Sessions Saturday and Sunday. The ballroom, completely air-conditioned, has been enlarged to accommodate increasing attendance this season.

Seaside Amusement Park's beaches swarmed with bathers during the recent spell of 100-plus weather, and the modern bathhouse provides every conceivable facility for the thousands seeking relief from the soaring mercury in the exhilarating surf of the Atlantic Ocean. The beach is patrolled at all times by an experienced crew of lifeguards.

For holiday-makers who would just as soon stay out of the sun, Seaside Amusement Park offers a completely roofed mid-way area. You can get from any part of the Park to any other without exposure either to the noontday glare or an occasional shower.

Admission to Seaside Amusement Park is always free.

BASKIN IN THE SUN

By GORDON BASKIN

I see in the papers that coin collection is a big thing with people these days. I'm not talking about collecting enough coins to eat. I mean the kind of collections of coins that people sit and look at but do not spend. I have never been able to have enough money left over at the end of the month to look at, so I have never been interested in such things. However, it is done on a very grand scale, and people enjoy it.

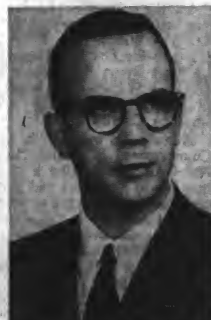

I have never known a real collector. Not just a coin collector, but any kind. That's not really true, as I once knew a guy who collected dimes, but he got caught and there was a large sign of relief throughout the state. Other than this poor man's Romeo, I have no friends who collect. I hear tell that people collect bugs, china, silver, butterflies, hats, furs, beer mugs, railroad time-tables, marbles, pictures of baseball players, chewing-gum wrappers, match boxes, dolls—not dimes, but real dolls, ash trays, whiskey bottles, ice cream wrappers, hotel stationery, stamps, and anything else that comes into your mind.

I have decided that I will from this point on collect something of my own. I'm gonna collect excuses. There are plenty of them around these days. Some people I know are experts. They can come up with an excuse even when they don't need one. I'm gonna write them all down instead of getting mad. Getting mad at these dolls doesn't do any good, so collecting their excuses might be a way to keep from belting them in the mouth.

I am not fond of excuses under the best of circumstances, but I seem to be hearing more and more of them lately. I'm inclined to accept an excuse that is original in thought, and I dearly love to hear a new and exciting one. I don't get many of these, of course. Most of the people who make excuses are too lazy to tell a good lie, they just roll an ancient one out on the ground and expect you to buy it. The best one I ever heard concerned a baseball player. When asked why he let a hot grounder go between his legs, he said, "I lost it in the sun!"

Since I'm now in the excuse-collecting business, I would like to warn the people who give them to me continually. If you are gonna give me one; for goodness sake, entertain me!

Attorney Opens Fisher Ends Tech Course

FRANK E. BUTLER VIRGINIA BEACH

Frank E. Butler III, a native of Suffolk and an annual summer resident of Virginia Beach, has opened a law office in Virginia Beach in Suite 3-A of the Beach Theatre Building, 25th Street and Atlantic Avenue.

After attending Suffolk public schools, Butler was graduated in 1958 from McIntyre School of Commerce at the University of Virginia. Mr. Butler received his law degree from the University of Virginia Law School in 1962 and in the same year was admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of Appeals.

Prior to opening his office in Virginia Beach, Butler was an officer in the Trust Department of the United California Bank in Los Angeles.

A member of both the Virginia State Bar and the California State Bar, Butler is the son of Frank E. Butler, Jr. of Suffolk, a senior vice-president of Seaboard Citizens Bank.

Butler and his wife, Norvell, and son Frank, IV, are residing at 207-66th Street, Virginia Beach.

Miss Kennet Is Lake Erie Grad

PAINESVILLE, Ohio—Miss Beverly Kennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Lynn Kennett, 203 75th Street, was graduated June 15 at the 105th Commencement ceremonies of Lake Erie College, Painesville, Ohio. She was awarded a bachelor of Arts degree.

During her four years at Lake Erie, Miss Kennett majored in English, was active on the college social board, the student-faculty committee, the year-book staff, and as a faculty assistant, both in general studies and physical science.

She spent eleven weeks of the winter term of her junior year studying at the University of Göttingen, West Germany. The winter term abroad for juniors is a distinctive feature of the four-year liberal arts curriculum at Lake Erie College.

Rick Fisher, 309 Lillian Ave., has returned from a one-week product technology course conducted by the Zonolite Division of W. R. Grace & Co. in Evanston, Illinois, for its sales personnel.

Fisher, who represents Zonolite to architects, contractors, and building supply dealers in Norfolk and eastern Virginia, said the course was highlighted by a visit to the firm's research laboratory. Extensive technical discussion covered Zonolite's line of concrete, plaster, and insulating products.

LITTLE LEAGUE HIGHLIGHTS

VIRGINIA BEACH — The American Little League's four teams clashed in two double-headers Friday and Saturday at the Virginia Beach High School Athletic Field.

Friday

Tigers 14, Cubs 1

The Tigers made their runs on 4 hits with only two errors; the Cubs had 3 hits, 8 errors. John Johnson was the winning pitcher, striking out 11, walking 4; Skipper Etheridge was the loser, striking out 6, walking 11. Doubles were hit by Cubs Rhoads and Dave Shedivy.

Sports 6, Rotarians 3

The Sports made all 6 of their hits good with only 3 errors; the Rotarians had 7 hits and an equal number of errors. Mike Dennis was the winning pitcher. He struck out 9, walked 6; Billy Almond was the loser but struck out 11, walked 7. Doubles were hit by Dennis and Tommy English, Sports, and Rotarian Dave Donahoe.

Saturday

Rotarians 11, Cubs 4

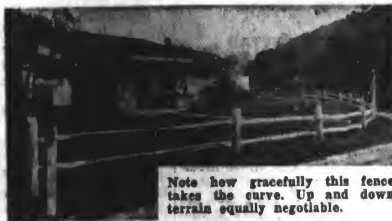

Ira Spector pitched his team to victory by fanning 9, walking 1; Doubles were hit by Billy Almond, Butch Palmer, Billy Johnson and Jeff Snodgrass. On the Cubs side, Dave Shedivy was the losing pitcher, striking out 7 and walking 3, but had a homer in the 6th with two on base. Skipper Etheridge also chalked up a homer. The Rotarians had 7 hits, 1 error; Cubs, 3 hits, 8 errors.

Tigers 8, Sports 5

Tiger Charles Martin hit a grand slam homer in the first and John Johnson had homers in the 3rd and 5th innings with no one on. Mike Martin was the winning pitcher. He struck out 6, walked 1. Meade Kampfmüller doubled in the 6th. Tommy English and Mike Dennis had homers for the Sports. Dennis also doubled in the 3rd and Sanoucy doubled in the 5th. The Tigers had 9 hits, 4 errors; the Sports, 10 hits, 5 errors.

Outside Play Being Stressed

VIRGINIA BEACH — "We are striving to place more emphasis on outside play, trying to make outdoor activities more appealing," So stated Louis Breedlove, City Playground Supervisor. "Everyone loves competition and past experience has shown us that as more levels of competition are offered, more children participate in our playground contests and tournaments."

Mr. Breedlove explained that beginning on July 14, competition on a City-Wide basis will be offered twice a week in the following areas: Chess & Checkers; table tennis; volleyball; T-softball (girls); T-baseball; kickball; track & field; football skills; and horseshoes.

Individual and team winners will be awarded certificates and the individual playground receiving the most points in a particular tournament will be declared City Champion for that activity.

Each tournament will offer more than one age-bracket and competition will be offered to both boys and girls.

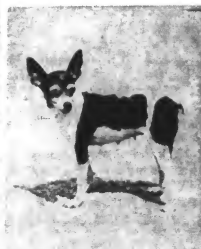

In order to be eligible to compete in these activities, a child must be registered at the playground he will represent and have competed in the local playground tournament.

STATE OPEN STARTS TODAY AT CAVALIER

VIRGINIA BEACH — The cream of Virginia's professional golfers and many outstanding amateurs tee off today at the Cavalier Golf and Yacht club in the 37th annual Virginia State Open golf tournament. The 72-hole event will end on Sunday. Defending champion Tom Strange, the Bow Creek pro, is a strong favorite to repeat, but he will be faced with stiff competition from his fellow professionals and some hot shot young amateurs.

D. A. Barnes, of Charlottesville, and Jim Walker, the amateur, captured the pro-am event on Tuesday with a best ball of 59. Strange teamed with Richmond amateur Ricky Napier to take second place in this event with a best ball of 60.

Practically all area pros are entered in the tourney with the possible exception of Chandler Harper, who was forced to pass up the event because of illness.

Strange is at the top of his game at the present time and will be hard to dethrone. He fired a methodical 67, two under par in the pro-am. The Bow Creek professional hit 17 greens and was just two feet shy of the other green. His putting left something to be desired so that if that part of his game comes around he will be hard to beat.

Young Mike Wynn, the pint sized Portsmouth amateur, fired a 66 Tuesday for the lowest score of the day. The first group goes off at 7 a.m. today and the final threesome is slated to tee off at 2:35 p.m.

Beach Teacher Participating In W-M Institute

WILLIAMSBURG — Ralph Sykes of Virginia Beach is participating in William and Mary's sixth Summer Institute for high school teachers of science and mathematics now underway in Williamsburg.

Sponsored by The National Science Foundation, this year's grant of $123,000 will enable 114 high school teachers from 27 states to up-grade their background in the fields of biology, chemistry, mathematics and physics. Participants showing much promise are allowed to return for a second and third summer. There are 33 such enrollees present this summer.

A few outstanding participants are able to secure a Master's degree in the Teaching of Science after three summers participation. Thirteen students in this year's institute are scheduled to receive the MTS degree in August.

City Program Includes All Ages In Sport

VIRGINIA BEACH — The sports programs sponsored by the Virginia Beach Recreation Department is keeping pace with the growth of the new city. With an increase in population, there has been an increase in the number of leagues to include all age groups in the various sports. An increase in the number of the leagues required an increase in facilities.

When the summer baseball and softball program for the boys and girls opened on Monday, June 15, 1964, three new additional fields were ready for play—one at Seatack and two at Newlight.

A new age group 9 and 10 now comprises the midjet league for the boys. This league and the women's league are the big attractions so far this year. Blackwater is the newest area to join in the city-wide program. Their entry is in the Jr. High League.

The duffer league that opened on May 20 has Seatack leading with a 5 and 2 record, followed by Bayside 5 and 3, Lynnhaven 3 and 3, and Newlight 1 and 6.

BAYLAKE CHURCH GETS NEW PASTOR

BAYSIDE — Baylake Methodist Church welcomed their new pastor Sunday morning, June 21. Rev. Raymond E. Musser is now serving the church. He comes to Baylake from Oak Grove Methodist in Chesapeake. The Rev. Oscar Goode, former pastor, has been assigned to Asbury Methodist Church, Richmond, Va.

Vacation Bible Class gets off to a start this week at Baylake Church. It is being held Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday this week and the same days next week. The hours are from 9:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. Mrs. W. W. Meadows is the superintendent.

The Junior High age group of the church are having Christian Adventure Week this week, Monday through Friday starting at 5:30 p.m. and continuing until 9:00 p.m. G. F. Heuser is counselor in charge.

Their project this year is to collect records, comic books, toys etc. for Eastern State Hospital. The young people will go on an all day trip Friday to Williamsburg and deliver the items they have collected, in person.

Bayside Baptist Bible School Well Attended

BAYSIDE — The Bayside Baptist Church is in their second week of Vacation Bible School. Rev. Tom Miller, Minister of Education at the church is in charge of the school. This school is for the 6 to 12 year olds. According to Rev. James DeFoe, pastor, 237 children enrolled last Monday and the daily average attendance was 207.

Thursday night, June 25, will be Family Night, at the Vacation Bible School with exercises commencing at 7:30 p.m.

The School will conclude with a picnic Friday morning at 11:30. The church will observe Baptismal Sunday, next Sunday night at 8 p.m.

Commencing July 2, Rev. James DeFoe and family will attend Baptist Training Youth Week at the Baptist Assembly, Ridgecrest, N.C.

Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Dixon and son will attend Sunday School Week at the Baptist Assembly, Eagle Eyrie, Va., on June 29.

MRS. VAUGHN IS COLLEGE TRUSTEE

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mrs. W. J. Vaughan of Virginia Beach was one of 10 new trustees of Virginia Wesleyan College elected by the Virginia Annual Conference of The Methodist Church last week in Roanoke.

Mrs. Vaughan's term will run until October of 1965.

Sidney S. Kellam of Virginia Beach was previously elected as one of the initial trustees of the new institution. His term of office expires in October, 1966.

Summer Sand Playhouse Opens Here Tuesday

VIRGINIA BEACH — The passing last season of the Sandpiper Playhouse from the Virginia Beach entertainment scene left a definite void in the summer activities but that gap will be more than adequately filled this year by the newly organized Summer Sands Playhouse.

Opening Tuesday with the highly acclaimed Virginia Beach Civic Chorus presentation of "Carousel," the new playhouse will be located in the same spot vacated by Sandpiper, at 19th Street and Arctic Avenue, and will also use a gaily colored tent for its in-the-round productions.

This resort area greatly needs a summer theatre. This was proved some years ago by the enthusiastic reception of Leslie Savage's Theatre-Go-Round. It was even more emphasized by the success of the Sandpiper Playhouse, which made a lasting mark with theatre goers for its many outstanding dramas and musicals.

The theatrical torch was picked up last season by John Chester, a Sandpiper alumnus who has been associated with nearly every Tidewater drama group, and he began a search for property in the Virginia Beach area to carry on this type of theatre-in-the-round.

Assisting Chester in the early plans was Mrs. Alice DuBois, another active thespian, and the two decided to set up the new playhouse at the site already established by Sandpiper. A corporation was formed when Mr. and Mrs. Robert Simmons and Mrs. Shotzy Margolis came into the picture and it was given the name Sea Chest Productions, Inc.

The background of all these principals has been extensive in Tidewater theatrics, but they looked further than their own talents for a general manager—and they came up with one of the best, Ted C. Hook of New York City. Hook is no stranger to Virginia Beach, having directed the 1962 Virginia Beach Princess Anne Junior Woman's Club Follies. Formerly a social secretary and manager to Talulah Bankhead and Joan Blondell, Hook is currently affiliated with Jerome Cargill Productions in New York.

The summer of '64 season is in full swing, and with four productions currently rehearsing, the area becomes a beehive of activity.

The season begins with Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Carousel" for six performances with a gala opening scheduled Tuesday evening.

Charles Oliver will repeat his directorial chores for this production which he recently staged at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center. Oliver in the past has been extremely active in Virginia Beach activities and his background included appearances with the Robert Shaw Chorus, the Perry Como Show, the Hit Parade and NBC's Opera Theatre.

Mark Thomas will direct two productions: "Oh Men, Oh Women" and "Two for the See-Saw." He is currently associated with the Little Theatre of Portsmouth and was one of the guiding forces in the popular Theatre-Go-Round.

Tiny Hutton is in rehearsal at the present with "Guys and Dolls." Hutton was formerly associated with the Hampton Little Theatre, the Peninsula Community Theatre and producer-performer with the Horace Heidt Show. At present he serves as special projects director for WVEC Radio and Television.

"Gypsy" is to be directed by Jon Dawson, a professional director and actor who came to the Tidewater area in 1950 and who with Leslie Savage was founder of the Theatre-Go-Round, a graduate of the Carnegie Tech Drama Department. Mr. Dawson has also been active with the Norfolk Little Theatre and is currently director of television continuity for station WTAR.

On June 15, the stakes were laid and the tent erected, new chairs have been delivered, a new stage is under construction; Maynard Allen will design all of the lighting; performances will be nightly except Mondays, from June 30 until Labor Day.

BARBARA EILBERG (Carrie) Barbara Eilberg's experience in the Old Dominion Opera Workshop included the announcement in "Gallantry" and Mrs. Mullin in "Carousel." In the Norfolk Little Theatre she was Ruth Winters in "Plain and Fancy," Mable in "Three Men on a Horse," Alice in "Majority of One," Shelly in "Fifth Season" and Nancy in "Little Mary Sunshine." She sings at Christ and St. Luke's Church in Norfolk. She has her B.S. Degree in Elementary Education from the College of William and Mary.

RICHARD HOFF (Jigger Craigh) A triple-threat performer is Richard Hoff, appearing in "Carousel" as singer-actor Jigger Craigh, and also as danseur in several choreographed scenes.

Mr. Hoff, a native of the Chicago area, has been living at Virginia Beach for 2½ years, stationed at Little Creek Amphibious Base with COMNAVOP-SUPGRULANT, all of which means that Lt. Hoff leads the rugged life of a frogman. A bridegroom of four months, this versatile young man, looking far into the future, says he hopes to make Virginia Beach his permanent home.

JANE GARRISON (Julie Jordan) Jane Garrison is a familiar figure on local stages. The role of Julie in "Carousel" is the latest in a string of musicals to her credit. Jane has appeared with the Norfolk Little Theatre in "The Boy Friend" and "Plain and Fancy," and in the Old Dominion Opera Workshop production of "The Mikado." Virginia Beach Little Theatre goes have seen her in a straight dramatic role in "Happy Birthday" and the Sandpiper Theatre starred Jane in the successful "Brigadoon" of two years ago.

In private life Mrs. Warren W. Garrison, Jane has started three of her four children on the stage. Eleven year old Patsy who has already had a featured role in "Plain and Fancy," will appear with her sister Carol and her brother Billy in scenes in this production.

FRED P. WATKINS (Billy Bigelow) Fred P. Watkins, appearing as Billy Bigelow, is a baritone from Tyler, Texas. A reserve in the Navy, he is currently attached to VP-56 at the Naval Air Station in Norfolk. He has been in this area just one year, and has sung two roles in productions of the Old Dominion Opera Workshop, one in last spring's "The Student Prince," and recently in "Cavalleria Rusticana." Mr. Watkins is also a soloist at the Freeman Street Baptist Church.

Prior to Mr. Watkins Navy tour his musical career was in his native southwest, where he has sung everything from national ally aired television commercials to leading roles in grand opera. While at Southern Methodist University in Dallas he also studied under Norman Farrow of the Bach Aria Group of New York. Mr. Watkins had his first real opera training while singing in the chorus of the Dallas Civic Opera Company. Winning a scholarship apprenticeship took him to the Santa Fe Opera Company. His professional debut was with the Fort Worth Opera Company in "The Bartered Bride." Since then, besides solo work in major oratorios, he has sung roles in several operas, including "Die Fledermaus" and "Amahl and the Night Visitors" with the East Texas Symphony.

VI RAGAN (Mrs. Mullin) (Mrs. Mullin) Watching Vi Ragan, the vociferous Mrs. Mullin in "Carousel," it is hard to realize that she has had a vacation from the stage since her marriage. Vi's husband, retired Navy Commander Malcolm Ragan, has been a singing member of the Civic Chorus for several years, and its able treasurer.

Getting her start in dramatics in the Greenbush Summer Theatre in Nyack, N.Y., Vi then moved on to New York City where she danced in choruses, including the Roxyettes, while studying in the New School Dramatic Workshop, doing experimental theatre under Stella Adler, among others. On Broadway, Vi was an understudy in a revival of "Connecticut Yankee." During World War II Vi toured the Pacific area with the USO for two exciting years.

SHIRLEY FENTRESS (Louise) In the part of Louise is Shirley Fentress, ballerina known to local audiences for her performances in all things danceable. After graduating from Sarah Sadler's School of the Dance, Shirley had her first ballerina lead in "The Common Glory" in Williamsburg. Since then she has been an active contributor to dance roles in every local theatrical endeavor, including the Sandpiper Theatre's "Tea-house of the August Moon" and "Brigadoon," and most recently in "Happy Birthday" of the Virginia Beach Little Theatre.

Shirley was choreographer of last year's Civic Chorus production of "The Merry Widow."

WELTON SMITH (Mr. Snow) Old Dominion Workshop—"South Pacific," Joe Cable; "King and I," Lun Tha; "Kismet," Caliph.

New York Summer Stock—"Oklahoma," Cord Elam; "Guys and Dolls," Benny South Street; "Paint Your Wagon," Jacob Woodling; "The Boyfriend," Bobby Van Huse; "Carnival," Choreographer.

Lafayette Players—"Paint Your Wagon," Julio and Musical Director (Norfolk). Norfolk Little Theatre "Plain and Fancy," Jacob Yoder; Sandpiper Playhouse (Virginia Beach) "Brigadoon," Charlie Dalrymple and musical director; Norfolk Jewish Community Center, "Finian's Rainbow." Og and Choral Director; Tidewater Drama Association, "Confederacy," singer dancer; "Lil' Abner," Dr. Sleefitz.

MICHAEL HENEGHAN (Starkeeper)

Ireland's stages only saw abilities while he was in school as a child. But Ireland's loss is Virginia Beach's gain. A local restaurateur since 1941, Mike has appeared in character roles starting with the Virginia Beach Little Theatre's "Claudia," in which he was Fritz, the butler. Next he played a Catholic priest in "Jenny Kiss Me." He was Judge Gafney in Leslie Savage's Theatre-Go-Round production of "Harvey," switching to the role of Dr. Chumley when the same play was given by the Little Theatre. His two previous roles with the Civic Chorus being in "Trial by Jury" and a nobleman's emissary in "The Merry Widow." Mike this year adds two new characters at once to his repertoire, both roles called for in the plot to be played by the same actor—he plays the other-worldly "Starkeeper," and the very earthly Dr. Seldon.

Fire Units Launch Annual Drive

Drills, drills and more drills keep the volunteer fire departments throughout the city prepared for any emergency. It was only a container of blazing materials in this fire drill, but next time it may be a home.

VIRGINIA BEACH—Fire is a terrifying thing. A faint whiff of smoke or the flicker of a small flame can be preludes to tragedy, symbols of death and destruction. Fire can strike anywhere at anytime, sweeping away in its furious roar a home, business, farm, office building or just the natural growth of the countryside.

Yet assistance when fire erupts is only as far away as the telephone. One call will have equipment and trained men on their way within minutes. This service is the one that must be ready and waiting at all times. The public expects it. And rightly so.

But too few Virginia Beach residents realize that the men who give their time to fire-fighting throughout this resort city are strictly volunteers, contributing their efforts purely for the benefit of the community and its inhabitants. Nor do they realize that the expensive equipment necessary for this protection costs not one penny of the taxpayers' money. It is paid for by the private citizen who donates to this service once a year and by the firemen and the auxiliaries through spaghetti suppers, or bake sales or whatever you.

A fire company in this city is usually organized when an area grows to such proportions that the need for fire protection is obvious. Men within the community volunteer as firemen. They take first aid courses, fire fighting instructions and have drills at least once a month to keep themselves and the equipment in shape for emergencies. Funds for equipment for a new or expanding department are borrowed from the city but must be repaid.

Eleven of the city's 12 volunteer fire units are joining together this year for one big fund raising drive which will run through the month of July. Each unit will keep its own funds but the combined venture was planned in hopes of more complete coverage.

Most of these fire companies have rescue units, also manned by volunteers, and the funds raised in this annual drive will be used for both services within the respective communities.

The 12th unit not participating in the drive is the Princess Anne department located at the Court House. The chief is Robert Lee. This unit will conduct its own drive later.

A brief resume of the other units follows:

PRINCESS ANNE PLAZA
Located at 415 Rosemont Road, this relatively new unit was organized May 1, 1962 and is headed by Chief B. C. Todd. It has 40 members and has grown tremendously to meet the community's needs, having just recently purchased a new rescue salvage truck. Address: P.O. Box 2124, Linnhaven Station, Virginia Beach.

DAVIS CORNER
This 33-member unit is one of the more established departments, dating back to July of 1943. Vi Wilson stepped up from first assistant chief to the top position this past February.

BLACKWATER
Blackwater Borough is one of the city's furthestmost areas, extending to the North Carolina line. Its isolated location makes its fire department even more indispensable. Now in its sixth year in operation, the company boasts of 30 members. John Contas has been fire chief for the past two years. The mailing address is: Rt. 4 Box 4225, Virginia Beach.

CREEDS
Also located in the middle of the city's agriculture area is the Creeds Fire Department. When it was organized May 1, 1950 Leroy Dixon went in as chief and he still holds the reins after 14 years. There are 33 volunteers in this company.

THALIA
Thalia, Pembroke Manor and Birchwood Gardens all come under the protection of the Thalia department and there are 60 active and honorary members on roll to keep up with these fast growing communities. Organized in 1952, the unit moved into its own quarters in 1958 and just this past year worked its way out of debt. But this won't last. The department is hoping to update all of its equipment and purchase a new fire truck. Thomas R. Kay is chief and the department is located at Virginia Beach Boulevard and Thalia Road.

SEATACK
Another progressive unit is the Seatack department, organized in July 1948 with the Rev. David T. Wright as president and Cylvester Show as chief. These positions today are held by Joseph V. Grimstead and

The Seatack department boasts a gleaming fire unit.

An efficient fire company is important to the city's outlying communities, such as Blackwater.

Chief Aaron A. Parsons, now in his 13th year in office. In 1951 the department remodeled its building at 143 South Birdneck Road, and purchased a $5,499 pumper. It has since added a salvage truck. There are 28 members.

OCEANA
Chief Ellis Mills has headed the Oceana Volunteers for the past six years. The department was organized in 1942 and today boasts a membership of 14. The address is 204 First Colonial Road.

LONDON BRIDGE
The London Bridge company started out with five volunteers when it was organized in 1942 and has grown in membership to its present 48. Growth is the key word with this group. The company moved from a business garage into its own station in 1945 and now has a building with four bays and a complete kitchen. The firemen also built a scout cabin at the station and sponsor Troop No. 65, one of the city's oldest scout troops. The first piece of equipment was primitive compared to today's outfit. It was a 500-gallon water tank mounted on a 2-wheel trailer with a gasoline pump and was transported to a fire by the best available means. Today the company has three pumpers, a salvage truck and a jeep and plans to soon buy a 3,000-gallon water tanker.

KEMPSVILLE
The first meetings of this unit were held at Yoder's Dairies in 1951 but today it has its own station and is now putting a new addition on the building. An ambulance service was added in 1954 and made 75 calls that first year. In 1963 there were 616 ambulance calls and 230 fire calls. The department's first piece of equipment, a 750 pumper, is still in use along with a 1,000-gallon pumper, a salvage and rescue truck with light plant and two ambulances. George Held is fire chief and C. R. McGinley is president. Address: 5144 Princess Anne Road, Virginia Beach.

CHESAPEAKE BEACH
The Chesapeake Beach department started out in 1942 with a tank and pump mounted on a truck which was kept in a private home. In 1946 a station house was built and a better truck with an 85-gallon tank was bought. This was the only fire truck along the coastal section and served all of East Ocean View to the old Virginia Beach city limits. Another truck was added in 1955, a jeep and 12-ft. boat and ambulance in 1958. The station, however, did not keep up with the equipment. The two trucks were housed in the building but the other pieces weathered the elements. Chief Fred Quist took office in 1959 and the department started expanding. The Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel took the old building and a more complete one was built to replace it. All of the pieces now have a home. Each of the 30 members give about 20 hours a week to serve the public.

Rountree Joins Empire Firm

NORFOLK—Tommy Rountree, former operator of Rountree Paint & Supply Co., last week was named head of the new paint and supply division of Empire Machinery & Supply Corp.

H. P. McNeal, Empire Machinery president, said the paint and supply company, formerly at 909 W. 21st St., has been merged with the organization he heads and will operate as a separate division.

Homemakers Want To Know...

PICNIC SUPPER TRAVELS WELL PROTECTED BY PLASTIC WRAP

By CECE ALLISON, Scott Home Service Center

Dear Cece: Now that the days are getting longer we like to pack up and take the children out for a picnic supper. Can you give me some suggestions for an easy to carry meal that's a bit more substantial than sand-wiches?

Mrs. R.B.

Dear Mrs. R. B.: I find that al-iced, cooked meats and cheeses travel well and remain handsomely arranged on a disposable plate that is lightly covered with plastic wrap. Assorted breads, spread with flavored butter can be kept fresh en route in wax sandwich bags. Ripe, plump tomatoes, sliced and spread with a cream-cheese olive filling, carry securely in plastic wrap which shapes around the tomato. Melons, ready-cut and bearing a wedge of lemon or lime travel well also wrapped in moisture-proof Cui-Kie plastic wrap. When you go off on a picnic, carry along handy inexpensive Scott Family Paper Placemats and disposable Plastic Cups for your favorite beverage. Then you can "burn your dishes behind you after the picnic."

Dear Cece: My son's eighth birthday is coming up and I'd like to give him an outdoor party to which he may invite 6 or 7 friends. Will you suggest an interesting theme suitable for children of his age?

Dear Mrs. L. T.: Summon the "buckaroos" in the neighborhood to a Ranch-style party. Give each guest a kerchief lined with plastic wrap which opens to reveal a hearty child-pleasing meal of Ranch-Hand Chicken Drumsticks, Western Coleslaw in Orange Cups and finger sandwiches in a choice of favorite flavors. After oven-frying, cool the chicken drumsticks, wrap each individually in plastic wrap and refrigerate until you put them in the kerchief just before the party. Sandwiches, too, can be prepared in advance and refrigerated, protected by economical wax paper. The birthday cake, whether homemade or from the local bakery, may be decorated in a western motif to carry out the theme. Set a "less work for mother" table with Scott Family paper placemats and "brand" a refillable plastic cold cup with each guest's initials so he'll know his own cup when it's time for seconds.

Dear Cece: During the summer I like to entertain on the terrace. Can you give me some suggestions for a menu a little more sophisticated than a barbecue and one that will hold if everyone does not arrive on schedule.

Diana

Dear Diana: For a delay-proof dinner plan, choose foods which wait well and maintain their original freshness until you're ready to serve. Start with piping hot clear tomato madrilene to be sipped from insulated plastic cups. For a main course, serve lobster tails which have been cooked, removed from shells and marinated in a flavorful dressing and returned to shells. The lobster tails can be given a garnish of a lemon wedge and covered with strong puncture-proof plastic wrap and left to wait on the serving tray in the refrigerator. A curry mayonnaise is delicious served with the lobster tails. A piping hot casserole which combines consommé flavored rice and frozen peas can be held over a warmer. Relishes or a tossed salad are good accompaniments. To save time, pre-assemble buttered sandwiches of whole wheat and white bread and wrap them in wax paper, to hold in perfect condition until serving time.

Questions and comments should be addressed to Scott Home Service Center, Room 1440, 420 Lexington Ave., New York 17, N.Y.

The Mixing Bowl

It's Fun To Cook

By LUCILE CLARK

SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

June is Dairy Month—This year for the first time an American Dairy Princess is being chosen.

Milk and milk products play a key role in meal planning in this country. Milk is important to every child and adult. Do plan well balanced meals—and be sure to include milk at every meal for those who like it.

Cottage cheese, sour cream, butter, cheese, whipping cream, coffee cream, and ice cream—are all perfect in all your meal planning. Each plays an important part.

1964 is a big year in the American Dairy Association's promotion of all Dairy products.

Cottage cheese for salads?

Sour cream for instant dips and cooking too!

Whipping cream for desserts!

Butter for flavor—in all recipes—butter broiled chicken is a good example!

Butter on those luscious ears of corn! Oh! boy what a treat!

Cheese! cheese! cheese! so good in sauce, in casseroles and cheese with apple pie!

"Ice cream—we all scream for ice cream"—A cool, refreshing summer treat, and every season of the year ice cream is a popular treat.

SURPRISE HAMBURGERS

Preheat oven to 350°—eight sandwiches.

4 brown & serve French rolls softened butter

4 teaspoons prepared mustard

8 teaspoons catsup

16 tomato slices thin onion rings
8 slices cheddar cheese 2x4"
2 pounds ground beef
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste

Cheddar cheese—sliced for garnish

Split rolls in half, butter and toast lightly under the broiler.

Spread each half with ½ teaspoon mustard, then 1 teaspoon catsup. Top each half with 2 tomato slices and several onion rings, cover with slice of cheese. Mix together beef, salt and pepper, divide into 8 parts. Shape into oblong patties, place on top of cheese, spreading to edge of roll to prevent cheese from running out. Place on large baking sheet or in shallow pan, bake 25 minutes or until meat is desired degree of doneness. When sandwiches are removed from oven, slices of cheddar cheese may be placed on top of each as garnish.

GREEN PEPPER-CHEESE BROIL

32 appetizers — preheated broiler.

bread

2 strips bacon, cook & drain

½ stick butter

2 3-oz. packages cream cheese

1/8 teaspoon garlic salt

1 egg slightly beaten

3 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper cherry tomatoes

pimiento stuffed olives

Trim crusts from bread, cut into squares, circles and rectangles. Toast on one side, set aside. Meanwhile, cream together cream cheese and butter until well blended, add garlic salt. Gradually add egg and beat until mixture holds shape. Fold in green pepper and bacon. Mound on toasted sides of bread, top with slices of cherry tomato or olives. Broil 2 or 3 minutes until lightly brown, or place in 450° oven for few minutes—that's my preference—for its so easy to spoil them under the broiler unless you watch every second.

FIVE BEAUTIFUL BUYS AND ONE GREAT PLACE TO BUY

(NOW at your Chevrolet dealer's)

Been waiting till now to buy that new Chevrolet? You've struck it rich! Want to know why?

Because right now it's "Trade 'N' Travel Time" at your Chevrolet dealer's. The greatest time of the year to get the most travel fun from a new car.

And those five beautiful buys? 1—The big luxurious Jet-smooth Chevrolet. 2—Chevrolet's latest, the youthfully styled, highly accepted Chevelle. 3—Chevy II for families who appreciate economy along with high style. 4—The unique rear-engine Corvair with its road-hugging traction and easy handling. 5—You can go all out (that's for sure!) with the sensational Corvette Sting Ray.

FOR THE GREAT HIGHWAY PERFORMERS

Any one of these can be just what you want, too. Sleek Super Sport models dressed up with soft vinyl interiors, shift sticks, great choice of power plants and other optional extra-cost equipment right on up to air conditioning. Roomy wagons for camping, World's Fair travel or what have you. Plus as solid a choice of sun-loving convertibles and coupes as you'll ever get to see.

And here's the greatest thing about Trade 'N' Travel Time—whichever of these five great highway performers you pick, you've got yourself a great way to go. And the first way to go is to your Chevrolet dealer's and that's right now—during Trade 'N' Travel Time!

Rev. ROBERT H. HARPER

AFTER FATHER'S DAY
While I was pastor of a certain church in New Orleans, a bright little girl waited at the close of a service on Mother's Day and asked me why we did not have a Father's Day service. By this you will know that was quite a few years ago. I do not remember what I told her. And to this day I do not know why the Christians world had been honoring only one parent of the home. Did you remember your father last Sunday?

Now let us be glad that we have a Father's Day observance. We find warrant for the observance in both the Old and New Testaments. The long lists of genealogies in the Old Testament are familiar to all readers of the sacred pages. And these indicate the high place of Father in the ancient home.

Certainly every reader of the New Testament knows of the high place of Father in the home. Every day let us honor him as Father. Of course we should except a father who is unworthy of the name. But we look to the ideal father as a symbol of the One whose name is above every name. It is so sacred a name that we are to use it when we pray. When we pray we are to say, "Our Father which art in heaven."

Surely, this is glory enough for our earthly fathers and a mandate to them to strive day by day to be like God.

Witnesses To Hold Meeting In Richmond

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses are sending 60 teachers and ministers to school for four days. Earl H. Jacobs, Jr., presiding minister, announced today that local delegates will be among more than 10,000 attending a district convention in Richmond, Virginia, July 9-12.

Jacobs said it will be held at Parker Field, home of the Richmond baseball club of the International League. The overseer said people from 16 states have registered to attend, but most of the delegates will come from Virginia, North Carolina, Maryland and the District of Columbia.

"The theme of the convention is 'Fruitage of the Spirit' and it denotes the very basic thing that makes Jehovah's Witnesses unique among religious groups — that religion should be an active force in one's life, changing his way of living to conform to Bible standards," Jacobs said. "Ministers throughout Christendom have decided the fact that numbers of churchgoers are largely passive in their worship and that religion seems to be weak as a force to change men's lives; but Jehovah's Witnesses are different, and this assembly program will emphasize how their study of the Bible affects them in home life, business life, and religious life," he said.

According to Jacobs, one of the aims of the convention is to help Christians to serve their own communities as teachers of the Bible. He said the Virginia Beach congregations spend about 540 hours a month in free home Bible instruction here. The

What a shot! Photographers love to find a scene like this. Flowing water... a background of trees... a church spire in the distance... these always make an outstanding picture.

Wherever we travel we see Christian churches in harmonious settings, and there's a tendency to think of them as "part of the scenery."

But what an important part they are! Every one is a House of God, dedicated to His service. Every one is a community focal point, helping in a thousand ways to broaden and beautify the lives of its members. And every one is a vital link in the shining chain of Christian belief that stretches around the world.

Not far from where you live, there's a church that could give your life a new dimension. Whatever doubts and fears you may have, bring them to God in His House. You can rely on His promise that He will not leave you comfortless.

Control Insects, Diseases In Gardens

As soon as garden vegetables emerge and start to grow you should take measures against insects and diseases.

Insect control with chemicals requires use of recommended material for the specific insect, early application repeated at regular intervals, good coverage of the entire plant, and the use of correct amount of insecticide.
Malathion, methoxychlor, and sevin will control most garden insects. Malathion gives good control of aphids; methoxychlor controls flea beetles; and sevin will control such insects as corn earworm, tomato fruit worm, Mexican bean beetles, and many others.

Apply dusts when the foliage is damp and sprays when it is dry. Both dusts and sprays should be applied when there is no wind. This insures better coverage.

Disease-control requirements are the same as listed for good insect control. The fungicide maneb may be used to control blight and mildew on several garden crops. Copper dusts or sprays will also control late blight on potatoes and tomatoes.

It is important that pesticides be used only on the crops, in the amounts, and under conditions recommended on the label.
These materials should be kept in their original containers and stored in safe places.

State Law For Disposal Of Dead Poultry
Virginia poultrymen are advised to make sure they are complying with the state law pertaining to the disposal of dead poultry.

The present law enacted by the 1962 General Assembly applies to any farm where 2,000 or more birds are kept at any one time. The 1963 Assembly amended this law to apply to farms having 500 or more birds kept for profit from the sale of poultry meat or eggs. The amended law goes into effect on June 26, 1964.

Poultry farms will be subject to inspection by a Virginia Department of Agriculture representative. He will check for proper disposal pits of incinerators and explain provisions of the law.

Poultry diseases are spread readily by improper disposition of dead birds. Since poultry disease organisms can be transmitted easily from one flock to another these diseases can be overcome only with the cooperation of an entire community.

Two methods for disposing of dead poultry are approved by the law. No other method is allowed, and disposal must be done on the farm.

Birds may be burned in a metal or masonry firebox if it will produce the heat necessary to burn the carcasses to an ash.

The other approved method is use of a disposal pit. The pit must be at least six feet deep, at least 150 cubic feet in capacity, covered with at least 12 inches of dirt, and have one or more tightly covered openings.

It is unlawful for any person to keep poultry or to enter into a contract with any other person involving the raising or keeping of poultry on any premise not equipped with a disposal pit or incinerator. Violation is a misdemeanor under the law.

Virginia Regains Scabies-Free Status

Virginia regained a scabies-free status recently when the U.S. Department of Agriculture declared Augusta and Highland Counties free of this sheep disease.

Virginia was designated a scabies-free State in August 1963, and retained that status until January 23, 1964, when Augusta County was redesignat-ed an eradication area because of four outbreaks of the disease. On February 27, Highland county was redesignated an eradication area as a result of one outbreak of the disease.

Cooperators in eradicating the disease from Virginia were the Virginia Department of Agriculture, the State sheep industry, the Agricultural Extension Service, the Extension County Livestock Committees, the Virginia Veterinary Medical Association, and USDA's Agricultural Research Service.

The scabies-free designation, announced recently in the Federal Register, means that precautionary dipping of breeder and feeder sheep being moved from Augusta and Highland Counties to other areas is no longer compulsory. However, inspection of sheep for symptoms of the disease will continue.

Grounding Fixed Electrical Equipment

The lack of proper grounds on fixed electrical equipment can lead to a shocking state of affairs!

Just what should be grounded? All exposed metal parts of switches and outlet boxes, metal conduits, metal frames or enclosures of electrical equipment, and appliances. Examples are ranges and dryers, dishwashers, clothes washers, air conditioners, water heaters, motors and their controls, hay and grain elevators, milking and milk cooling equipment, stanchions, etc.

There are several acceptable methods of grounding. In general "grounding" consists of connecting one end of a copper wire to the exposed metal of the equipment and the other end to a metal object known to be in permanent contact with moist earth. This metal contact with the earth is called an "electrode."

Two types of electrodes are in common use. Long lengths of all-metal underground water piping are preferred because of the large earth contact surface. Another type is a three-fourths inch galvanized steel pipe driven eight feet into permanently moist earth.

Circuit cable with an additional bare ground wire has been available in recent years. Properly installed it provides a grounding wire at each outlet for the grounding of the box, the receptacle, and equipment cords plugged into it. Outlet boxes grounded in this manner may also be used as a "ground" for grounding fixed equipment supplied from such boxes.

All newly wired premises should use circuit and feeder cables having a separate bare ground built into them. Connecting all ground wires solidly together at all outlets and connection boxes bonds the grounding system together. The entire interconnected ground wire system must then be grounded to the "system electrode" at the building's service entrance or switch box. Connect grounding wires to the neutral bar in the main box only.

The ground wire should be connected to equipment by a bolted or pressure connector and not with a strap or soldered joints. Connection to water pipes should also be by a bolted pressure-type clamp designed for the purpose — iron clamps should be used on iron or steel pipe and bronze clamps on copper or brass pipe. Properly installed, they give a solid, positive contact and retard corrosion.

Broken, rusted, or corroded connections and conductors should be repaired or replaced for maximum protection. Assistance of your electrician or power supplier representative should be sought if in doubt about grounding.

Tractors Can Flip Rapidly

You may be quite an athlete, but you can't move fast enough to get off a tractor seat if it starts to flip backward—as many farmers have found to their sorrow!

Time and motion studies show that a rearing tractor give you just two-fifths of a second to get out of the way.

The recommended practice, to hitch below the axle tractor line, is not in itself assurance against tipping backward. Racing the engine with the drive wheels mired deep is almost certain to cause trouble.

When drive wheels are mired as much as 10 to 12 inches, it is much safer to back out. The forward climbing motion exerts a terrific lifting action on the front of the tractor. DON'T TAKE A CHANCE; BACK OUT.

Local 4-H Youths At V.P.I. Meet

VIRGINIA BEACH — Nine
4-H Club members from the City of Virginia Beach are among the 1200 4-H'ers from all over the state who are attending the Annual State 4-H Short Course at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, in Blacksburg.
Seven of these 4-H'ers are competing in State contests.
They are as follows: Ruth Anne Oliver, Share-the-Fun
Talent Contest; Lee Durham,
Johnny Moulton, and Lee B.
Parker, Jr. — Livestock Judging; and Joe Pecsek, Jerry Moulton, and James E. Brick-house, Jr., Soil Judging.

The other two delegates who were selected for their outstanding contribution to the 4-H Program in Virginia Beach are Theresa Pecsek and Sharon Kelly. Theresa Pecsek has been selected to be a member of the State 4-H Chorus. C. Francis Lay, Assistant Agricultural Agent, is accompanying the delegates.

In addition to the State contests in which they are participating the delegates are attending classes on 4-H Organization, Recreational Leadership, and subject matter pertaining to the many projects available to 4-H Club members. On June 26, all of the 4-H'ers will have the opportunity to meet T. Marshall Hahn, President of VPI, and other VPI officials.

Junior 4-H Members Will Attend Camp

VIRGINIA BEACH — Nineteen Junior 4-H Club members (ages 10 to 13) and four Junior leaders from Virginia Beach are among the 180 club members and leaders who will be attending the Junior 4-H
Camp at 4-H Camp Farrar, 85th Street, Virginia Beach, from June 29 to July 4.

The Junior campers from Virginia Beach attending are:
Jim Kelly, Chris Kelly, Jimmy Basquar, Frank Avery, Elizabeth Bungard, Clifford Bungard, Ross Fulcher, Gerald Fulcher, Susan Brotherton, Vickie Rushing, and Debbie Scott.

The Junior leaders are: Johnny and Jerry Moulton.
Mr. C. Francis Lay, Assistant Agent from Virginia Beach, and Mrs. Lucy Oliver, Assistant Home Demonstration Agent from Virginia Beach will be co-directors of the Camp, and two agents from each of the other city and counties attending will assist in carrying out the program.

Club members and leaders from Chesapeake, Isle of Wight County, and Brunswick will also be attending.

4-H Activities and Events

C. FRANCIS LAY
Assistant Agent

"Coming together is a beginning.
Keeping together is a progress.
Working together is a success."

Hi there! As you read this, nine 4-H Club members from Virginia Beach are having the "time of their life" at your Land Grant College, Virginia Polytechnic Institute in Blacksburg, Virginia. They are among 1200 4-H'ers attending the 1964 State 4-H Club Short Course.

During this week they have been taking part in classes such as Broaden Your Leadership Horizons, The Art of Presiding, World Neighbors, Tips for Teens, You and Your Soil, Your Career—A Big Decision, Car and Car Safety, and Game Leadership. They are also competing in such State contests as Share-the-Fun Talent Show, and Soil and Livestock Judging. There are also many social and recreational activities, and many of the State contest winners are being named this week.

Short Course delegates are selected on the basis of their participation in and leadership of the local 4-H programs. All Club members are eligible for consideration for selection as a Short Course delegate. Perhaps you will be going next year.

A SUCCESSFUL 4-H CLUB?

Do you consider your 4-H Club to be a successful one? Now is a good time to take a few minutes to check and see if you meet the earmarks of a successful 4-H Club.

327 VIRGINIA BEACH BLVD.

UNUSUALLY heavy Spring rains, following months of drought, have blessed much of the Eastern seaboard and other sections of the country with an above average supply of water. But in spite of the abundant rainfall there will still be sections of the country on water restrictions this Summer.

To be surrounded by a plentiful supply of water and not have enough for normal usage may seem a paradox but, in the arid summer months ahead, many Americans will hear the familiar refrain, "No watering the lawn between the hours of . . . or 'No washing cars on . . ."

The question thunders home! With overflowing reservoirs, why should there be a water shortage?

Perplexing? The National Water Institute may have some of the answers. Foremost is the lack of efficiency of present water facilities. The NWI estimates that watermain and pipes in many areas of the country were antiquated years ago, thus permitting only a small utilization of the available supply. Another factor is the construction of modern sewage and water treatment plants has not kept pace with our expanding economy.

The increasing needs of industry have overtaxed existing water systems and the constant growth of our sprawling suburbs has exacted its toll. Consequently, some watermain capable of 500 pounds pressure will at times deliver only 300 because of the excessive demands placed on them. The result is trickling faucets and squirting lawn hoses.

Future bonus rainfalls can be fully utilized by every community. Support must be given to water officials in their quest, through bond issues or other means, to obtain the equipment they need to supply an abundant amount of water when it is needed and in the quantity needed. If we've had any restrictions in recent years we should be prepared to start now to remedy the situation.

LADDER SAFETY
You'll have much more peace of mind when working from ladders if you'll take a few minutes each year to check your ladders and make sure they are in safe condition.

It's surprising how many people risk their lives on step and extension ladders which experienced carpenters and painters wouldn't go near. You should make a periodic check of your ladder steps or rungs and the supporting frame to catch any dangerous deterioration before it is too late.

As an added precaution with steps and rungs, before they have had time to become loose or weak, it is frequently advisable to reinforce the ladder with wood or metal. This can be done with wood by nailing a support board to the inside of the ladder frame, after wedging the board between two rungs or steps. Or you can use flat stock steel, in the case of a rung ladder, nailing the steel to the side frame and bending the ends of the metal so they fit the contour of the rungs.

A reader recently wrote us about the value of painting ladders to protect the wood and give longer life. Specialists at the Thor Center for Better Living do not advise painting because it covers defects and can prevent detection of any signs of cracking. For a safe protective finish on your ladder they suggest a clear varnish or wood preservative so the wood will be visible.

Thor Tip — Use your power sander to quickly smooth any chips or splinters on the ladder. Immediate attention will prevent personal injury and further damage to the ladder.

4-H Clubs Exchange Delegates

VIRGINIA BEACH — The 4-H Clubs of the City of Virginia Beach will participate in a two-way delegate exchange as a part of the 4-H International Farm Youth Exchange Program (IFYE).

Hunter Spence, a former 4-H Club member and a graduate of Creeds High School has been selected to represent the City of Virginia Beach, the State of Virginia, and the Nation as our "grass roots" ambassador to Thailand for six months. Spence will begin his assignment in September after a short orientation at the 4-H Club Demonstration, VPI, and the National 4-H Center in Washington, D.C.

Spence, the son of Mrs. Charlie H. Spence of Norfolk, and the late Mr. Spence was active in 4-H, F.F.A., and Church Youth Work. A native of Back Bay, he has been a state winner in 4-H Club Recreation, a delegate to the National 4-H Club Congress, drum major of the National F.F.A. Band in Kansas City, Missouri, and has served as director of the Creeds Ruritan Minstrels, and the State 4-H Share-the-Fun Talent Contest at Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

He is past vice-president of the Virginia Chapter of 4-H All Stars (an honorary 4-H Club).

MISS UTE RINGELING

Organization) and is now serving as President of the Southeast Virginia Chapter of 4-H All Stars.

Presently employed at the Armed Forces Staff College in Norfolk, Spence also attends evening classes at Old Dominion College.

Miss Ute Ringeling, of Germany, will spend six weeks in Virginia Beach beginning August 13. She is a farm girl having spent her life on a 55-acre crop and livestock farm in Post Augustfeln, Germany. Miss Ringeling has been a member of the Rural Youth Organization and states that her future occupation will be Master Housekeeper.

Her hobbies are horseback riding, music, and sports, and her special interests are horse breeding, cattle breeding, and rural youth work.

Miss Ringeling arrived in this country and after a short orientation at the National 4-H Center, she departed for North Dakota where she will be visiting families in that state until her departure for Virginia.

While in Virginia Beach, Miss Ringeling will be staying with the families of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Creekmore, Bayside, and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bungard, of Thalia.

The Creekmores are owners and operators of the Rideaway Riding Stables in Bayside. Both Mr. and Mrs. Creekmore have been leaders of the Rideaway 4-H Club for the past three years and they have three of their seven children in 4-H Club work. They are Ellen, 16, Paul 14, Pam 13, and Mike 10. Project interests have centered around horsemanship, showing, training, and management.

Mr. Bungard is employed by the Systems Division of Remington Rand and Mrs. Bungard has been a leader of the Thalia Community 4-H Club for seven years. She was also a 4-H Leader for 5 years and a Home Demonstration Agent for 10 years in West Virginia.

The Bungards have three children in 4-H: Mary 16, Libby 14, and Cliff 10. Their projects have been in cooking, sewing, money management, and wildlife appreciation.

Both Hunter Spence and Miss Ringeling will spend most of their time with their "adopted" families, learning of their habits and customs — working when the family works and playing when the family plays.

The IFYE Program is made possible by the contributions of club members, and civic, social, and civic organizations. The City of Virginia Beach was required to meet one third of the expenses of this two-way exchange. This was made possible by the generous contributions of the following groups:

Princess Anne Ruritan Club, Creeds Ruritan Club, Bayside Lions Club, Virginia Beach Home Demonstration Club, the Virginia Beach Rotary Club, the Oceana Lions Club, the Kiwanis Club of Virginia Beach, the Kempville Ruritan Club, the North Thalia Lions League, the Kempville Lions Club, George Tait & Sons, Inc., the Virginia Beach 4-H Clovers, the Blackwater Community 4-H Club, and the Thalia Community 4-H Club.

Girl Can't Talk To Boys On Phone, Nor Go Steady

By C. D. Smith

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I am fourteen years old and am having trouble with my parents. They refuse to permit me to talk to boys on the phone or even go to the movies with them, nor go steady. My mother doesn't believe me when I say that some of my girlfriends are going to see a movie. If I do, mother buys the ticket and watches me until I get in the movie house. What can I do to make them trust and believe me? I will be fifteen in July."

OUR REPLY: Your problems will not cease when you turn fifteen. In fact, things won't "just change overnight" when you reach any particular age. If you are wise, you will begin now to earn the confidence and trust of your parents. Begin by showing some appreciation for their efforts and interest, rather than objecting to the fact they want to know where you are going and who you are with all of the time. Your age is showing when you object to parental authority at fourteen!

Rather than consider your parents "mean" because they won't let you talk on the phone with boys, or have dates, or go steady, remember they are interested in your welfare and responsible for you. Accept their decisions. Discuss with them, as often as possible your future so far as talking on the phone and dating are concerned. Don't show resentment — but a willingness to cooperate and to follow the wishes of your parents.

Show your parents that you have an understanding of their problem and, chances are, you will find them more understanding of yours.

ART SHOW HERE WILL SET RECORD

VIRGINIA BEACH — A record breaking number of exhibiting artists will push the Ninth Annual Boardwalk Art Show about 14 blocks along the ocean front when it opens here July 9. Entries hit the 345 mark before the deadline ended Thursday.

Mrs. Gordon Atwill, chairman, said Monday.

"This is the largest number we have ever had," she said, "and will probably run the length of the show from 7th Street to about 21st Street."

There are 12 states represented in the final tally, ranging from Florida to Illinois.

Germany, Canada

Germany and Canada will be represented in the exhibits although the artists will not be here in person. Genia Rickerson of Canada, who has participated in the show since its beginning, will be unable to attend because of an illness in the family but her paintings will be exhibited. The art from Germany is being handled by a local friend of the artist.

Many of the longtime favorites will be back this year along with numerous new exhibitors, some of them with extremely good backgrounds in art with many exhibits and prizes to their credit.

The hobby artists come from such professions as: postmen, carpenters, pawn brokers, teachers, retired military personnel, service station attendants, waitresses, beauty shop operators, bakery owners, laundrymen and students.

As in previous years, most of the works will be oils and watercolors but there will be more ceramics and sculpture this year than usual.

Plans for the big show are now pulling into the home stretch under the guidance of Mrs. Florence Turner, general chairman.

Mrs. Turner has announced the hostess committee for the 5-day show.

Hostess Chairman

General chairman of the hostesses will be Mrs. James Powell Watson Jr. and Mrs. S. E. Liles Jr. Day chairmen are: Mrs. W. P. Kellam, Mrs. Jerome J. Wyle, Mrs. W. P. Woodley and Mrs. H. P. McNeal, July 9; Mrs. C. M. Baylor, July 10; Mrs. Marjorie J. Mitchell, July 11; Mrs. Roy C. Needham, Mrs. William Reuser III, Mrs. Virginia A. Wilkerson and Miss Betty Donohoe, July 12; and Mrs. Lloyd H. Burton, July 13.

The annual show is under the sponsorship of the Virginia Beach Art Association.

CASON HEADS DAY GROUP AT MEET

VIRGINIA BEACH — Commander Thomas W. Cason of Virginia Beach Chapter No. 20 Disabled American Veterans headed a six-man delegation to the Department of Virginia, Disabled American Veterans State Convention in Richmond at the Jefferson Hotel Friday.

Other members attending the 3-day convention were Richard R. Smith, C. Elmo Lang, William E. Green, Millard W. Ackles and Guy S. Hillers.

Firemen In Action

38 BICYCLES AUCTIONED OFF

PRINCESS ANNE — Safety Chief Reeves Johnson called Friday's bike auction a big success. The 38 bikes and two spare wheels which were sold were all unclaimed property held by the police six months or longer.

"The bikes were sold individually to give each person an opportunity to buy," said Johnson. "The prices ranged from 25c to $25. The total to the city came to $352."

This was the first time the new City of Virginia Beach has held a sale of unclaimed property. Although only bikes were sold at this sale, all unclaimed property held six months by police will be sold twice a year.

A crowd of about 75 people gathered near the court house for the sale. Among them were many department heads and city employees on their lunch break.

The opening bid was $2, but the price went up quickly. J. E. Strawbridge of Greentree Drive bought this first bike for $12.

The second bike was bought by City Sergeant John Marr. Roger Sawyer, William Byrum, Deputy City Sergeant H. C. Shirley, Mrs. R. C. Scharff, Mrs. E. L. Cattau, and a Mr. Webb also bought bikes.

Buying two bikes each were: M. R. Worrell, Justice of the Peace A. L. Rogers, Albert Whitesel, Police Officer Pace, and a Mr. Frost.

Police Sergeant Bucky Moore bought three bikes. But the really big buyer of the day was Bland Vestel, who runs the Court House Easo Station. Vestel bought six bikes to rebuild.

Employees of Virginia National Bank Wallie Bornemann and M. O. Cayce each bought one bike.

Dr. Madge May of the Health Department stopped by and bought a girl's bike, as did Miss Hudgins, a clerk in the Treasurer's Office.

Two more policemen were successful in their bids—Lt. C. R. Bailey, commanding officer of the Traffic Division, and Sergeant Capps of the Youth Division.

Chief Johnson was such a good auctioneer that even his own son, Eddie Johnson of the Traffic Engineering Department, bought a bike.

City Hall Day Here July 8

VIRGINIA BEACH — City Hall Day will be celebrated by an Open House at Princess Anne Court House from 3 to 9 p.m. July 8.

The public is invited to tour the various offices and meet the city officials.

Guides and hostesses from each department will show the visitors around. The hostesses will be dressed in colonial costumes.

City Council members and other elected officers of the city will be introduced.

Once an hour, Milton Holland will narrate the history of the court house.

Frank Kellam is chairman of the open house committee, and co-chairman is John Fentress. Others on the committee are: Secretary - treasurer Floyd Waterfield, Recording Secretary Mrs. Nell Roes, B. W. Wroton, Millard Strickler, Mason Gamace, and Police Chief J. E. Moore.

Other chairmen and their committees are:

Clean-up—B. W. Wroton
Refreshments—V. A. Etheridge.

Program—F. M. Gamage

Guides & Hostesses—Mrs. Nell Boggs

Parking and traffic will be handled by the police.

Majors and city managers of other Tidewater cities have been invited.

CROMWELL NAMED SUBSTITUTE JUDGE

VIRGINIA BEACH — Attorney Robert B. Cromwell Jr. has been appointed substitute judge of both Municipal and Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court by Circuit Court Judge Robert S. Wahab.

Previously Municipal Court Judge J. Davis Reed and Juvenile Court Judge L. Travis Branch had acted as substitutes for each other.

Ferrell May Fill School Board Post

VIRGINIA BEACH — While the resignation announcement of Lloyd Murden as chairman of the Virginia Beach School Board is only a few days old there is speculation as to his successor in that post going the rounds at City Hall.

Consensus of opinion on who will be the next chairman of the city school board seems to center on George R. Ferrell, a veteran member of the board.

Murden's resignation was announced Monday. He had served as chairman since the merger of Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach on January 2, 1963.

There is no definite word that Ferrell will be the next chairman of the school board, but all indications point to his selection. Ferrell previously served as vice-chairman of the Princess Anne County school board. Ferrell lives on Salem Road in Virginia Beach.

Beachcombing Popular Dam Neck Pastime

By Jim Pugh

DAM NECK — Beachcombing along Dam Neck's sand dunes is a popular pastime during the summer months.

For Cmdr. Samuel A. Martin, Officer-in-Charge of the Missile Weapons Systems Training Unit, U.S. Atlantic Fleet, located here, it may well turn into an interesting hobby.

He recently returned from one of his walks with the news that he had found part of the rigging of a wrecked ship.

Slightly larger than the usual office conversation piece, Cmdr. Martin left his find with the station Security Department until a suitable place could be found to display it.

A place was soon found. On June 16, Lt. (j.g.) David D. Dickerson, Dam Neck Public Information Officer, presented the article to Robert H. Burgess, the Curator of Exhibits for the Mariners Museum in Newport News, Va.

Cmdr. Martin believed the relic to be a deadeye from the rigging of a three-masted Downeaster ship. This fact was verified by Burgess at the museum.

According to Burgess, there is a strong possibility that the deadeye was part of the ship Henry B. Hyde which was driven ashore at Dam Neck during a heavy gale and snowstorm on February 11, 1904.

Named after the president of the Equitable Life Insurance Company at the time of its building at Bath, Maine, the Hyde was used primarily in intercoas-

SCHOOL PROBLEMS SAME AFTER 31 YEARS — COX SAYS ON ANNIVERSARY

By Robert Hardy

VIRGINIA BEACH — Frank W. Cox will complete his 31st year as superintendent of schools today. "And I hope to serve a while more," he said.

When Cox first came to work in the school system here, it was as principal of Oceana High and Elementary School. The school had grades from first through eleventh, which at that time was the senior year.

After serving as principal from 1929 to 1933, Cox became superintendent of schools.

"The biggest problem then, as now, was money," Cox said. "The very first communication I received after becoming superintendent was from Governor John Pollard ordering a 30 per cent state-wide reduction of funds."

The year 1933 marked the beginning of the depression in Virginia—perhaps not the best time to start a new job as school superintendent, but Cox stuck it out.

"In those days, we had 90 teachers, two or three people in administration and a few bus drivers and janitors for a total of just over 100 employees."

"Now we have 1250 teachers and a total work force of 1600."

"Back in 1933 there were 2000 white students in seven schools. There are now 29,000 in schools. There were 1500 negro students in 22 small (often one room) schools. They now have four large schools with 3500 students."

Cox has seen the 16 school buses with 1000 riders in 1933 grow to 190 buses and over 30,000 riders. "The school board took over transportation in 1934 in hopes of saving money," he said.

From a slow growing community to what may be the fastest growing one in the nation—population-wise and school enrollment-wise, Cox has been an active participant in molding a top-notch school program.

"It was slow at first," Cox told Sun-News. "The school plant in 1933 was valued at a half-million dollars. In 1952 it was $1 1/2-million."

"Then came the Korean War and we really started growing. From then until now we had about a $24 million increase. About $10.5-million of this came from the Federal Government because of the large number of government employees coming into the area."

"Today the school plant is valued at $26 million."

"Princess Anne High School opened in 1954 with 1400 students. Now it has between 2200 and 2300. And don't forget, there will be seven high schools this fall. That's over 10,000 high school students."

"We have a 3000 to 3500 increase in the student population each year, which we expect to continue. About 50% of our students are federally connected as the government is the biggest employer in the city."

"During the period 1950-53 there were only about 1500 government connected students. But now it would be about 15,500!"

"We enjoy a national reputation for the percentage of favorable votes for school referendums," Cox continued. "Most communities think they've done something when a referendum passes by a simple majority—it only takes one vote to carry."

tal services and in the California to Europe grain trade during its 19-year-life.

Members of the Coast Guard Life Saving Station which was here at the time and wrecking steamers were unable to refloat the ship during the storm, so the crew and ship's stores were removed leaving the hull stranded at the waters edge.

In an effort to salvage the remains of what was considered the finest of the Downeasters, the ship was sold and refloated on September 23 of that year only to be heaved up on the shore again during another storm a few hours later.

After this failure, the Hyde was abandoned as a total loss. By October 4, she had broken in two and the wreck was eventually blown up with dynamite in an effort to save the masts.

The explosion strewn small pieces of the ship over a wide area of the beach, and wind, sand and water have covered the remains of the once proud sailing ship.

A severe storm in March 1962, washed out many of the sand dunes at Dam Neck and uncovered many pieces of ship wrecks. Repair operations after the storm revealed still more. Whether these were all parts of the Hyde is undeterminable. Many went unnoticed by the construction crews in their haste to make repairs and are now buried in the rebuilt dunes.

But few articles will get past the watchful eyes of the lunch-Neck.

"But ours pass by a wide number of votes. The closest was several years back when the votes were five to one in favor."

"The largest vote was 13 to one about four years ago on a $5 1/2-million referendum. The last one, May 1963, was for $4 1/2-million and won nine to one."

"Our people have been mighty fine to work with over the years. There have been some heartaches, but our people do believe in education."

Frank W. Cox is expected to be superintendent of schools for a long time yet to come.

Ill Youth Is Improved

KEMPSVILLE — The prayers of many interested Virginia Beach residents have undoubtedly been answered. The malignancy of two-year-old Rodney Messenger is apparently under control for the time being.

This was the word from Mrs. Charles Messenger when she and her son returned from New York City last week after undergoing routine treatment at a clinic there.

"The doctor told me we are very fortunate that Rodney is progressing so well," Mrs. Messenger said. "Other children who have been going on the same schedule as Rodney have been arrested for 12 years and broke out again recently."

"But our Rodney is doing fine. In fact, the doctor extended our next visit to four months instead of the usual three. We don't go back until October 14."

Rodney's illness caused considerable interest earlier this year when an article appeared in the Sun-News telling of his parent's attempts to combat, or at least arrest, the malignancy. The family must get their son to New York every three months for specialized treatments if he is to live and several organizations have given them financial assistance.

FORMER RESIDENTS WED IN CONNECTICUT CHURCH

Mrs. Michael Paige Folck

HALL — FOLCK

DARLEN, Conn. — Miss Dorothy Patricia Hall was married June 20 to Michael Paige Folck in Saint Luke's Episcopal Church in Darlen with the Rev. Robert Nelson Back officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Davis Hall of Darlen. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Edwin Folck of Darlen, formerly of Virginia Beach.

Mr. Hall escorted his daughter, who wore a princess gown of white silk organza, fashioned with short sleeves and scoop neckline. Pearl embroidered imported lace appliques were scattered on the bodice, and her skirt ended in a chapel train. She wore an heirloom lace mantilla, and carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis. Her attendants wore floor length blue chiffon gowns with matching headpieces.

Miss Hall's sister, Mrs. Frank Karl Bochenstein, was matron of honor. Other attendants were Misses Pamela Folck and Susan Bolton of Fairfield, Conn., and Mrs. Gordon Marshall Shoemaker of Virginia Beach, Va.

Mr. Phillip Scott Folck, brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were Messrs. James Wesley Pickins, Jr., of Orangeburg, South Carolina, William Edward Dodson of Durham, North Carolina, and William Thomas Woodard of Coral Gables, Florida.

Out of town guests included the grandparents of the couple: Mrs. Webster N. Wofford, Abilene, Texas; Mrs. Phillip Olsen of Junction City, Kansas, Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Folck, Sr. of Junction City as well as Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Folck, relatives of the groom.

Mrs. Folck attended Mary Washington University in Fredericksburg, Va., and was a June graduate of the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill.

Mr. Folck, an alumnus of Duke University, Class of 1963, will enter Dental School in the fall at the University of North Carolina.

After a honeymoon trip to Bermuda, the couple will reside in Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

CAROLYN LEE DAVIS BRIDE OF LOWERY D. FINLEY, III

DAVIS — FINLEY

ASHLAND — Miss Carolyn Lee Davis became the bride of Lowery Douglas Finley III Saturday, June 20, at 4 p.m. in Gwathmey Baptist Church, Ashland, Virginia.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Irving Davis of Ashland. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowery D. Finley Jr., of Virginia Beach.

The Rev. Eugene M. Buchanan, pastor of the church, officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Newk Pepper of Newport News was matron of honor.

WEDDINGS

HILL — MAHONEY

VIRGINIA BEACH — The home of Dr. and Mrs. George R. C. McGuire was the setting for the marriage of Mrs. Virginia Winkler Hill and Dr. Lawrence P. Mahoney June 19 at 6:30 p.m. The Rev. H. G. Hobbs performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moss Gibson Winkler of Franklin, Ohio. The bridegroom's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Merle Mahoney of Windsor, Conn.

The bride was given in marriage by Dr. McGuire. Mrs. Millie McGuire, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and only attendant.

Dr. Barry Saunders of Washington, D.C., was best man.

A reception was held in the home of Dr. and Mrs. McGuire. After a wedding trip to Connecticut the couple will live at 1610 West 49th St., Norfolk.

KUYK — LYNCH

VIRGINIA BEACH — The wedding of Miss Virginia Christian Kuyk and Maurice Patrick Lynch Jr. took place June 20 at 3 p.m. in the Star of the Sea Catholic Church. The Rev. Al Snella performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Flournoy Kuyk of Richmond. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Patrick Lynch of Whitman, Mass.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Mrs. James Calvin Boyd of Richmond sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Miss Anne Elizabeth August also of Richmond was maid of honor. Miss Anne Lynch of Whitman, sister of the bridegroom, was junior bridesmaid.

John Joseph Lynch of Whitman was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Stephen Grant Young of Morgantown, W. Va., and James Barco Jr.

A reception was held in the Oceana Officers' Club. The couple will live at Virginia Beach.

Delegates To Y-Teen Meet Are Chosen

VIRGINIA BEACH — Miss Katherine A. Peck, Assistant Program Director in Training for the Virginia Beach YMCA, announced that delegates have been chosen for the Virginia-Carolina Y-Teen Conference at Black Mountain, N.C., July 2 through 8.

Attending will be two officers of the Interclub Council: Chairman Pat Goss of Kellam High School and Vice-chairman Barbara Robinson of Princess Anne High School.

Nannette Kutz, a member of the Virginia Beach High School Club will also be a delegate.

The theme will be "Match Us To This Hour."

Delegates will come from Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina. Purpose of the conference is to demonstrate the world-wide scope of the Y.

Miss Peck told Sun-News.

The American Cancer Society says some cancers can be prevented. Research has shown that most lung cancers are caused by cigarette smoking. Skin cancer can be caused by over-exposure to direct sunlight. However, one of your best protections against death from cancer is an annual health checkup.

A reception was held at the Hermitage Country Club.

The couple will make their home in the Mayflower Apartments, Virginia Beach.

MORRISSEY — WOLCOTT

VIRGINIA BEACH — Star of the Sea Catholic Church was the scene Saturday at 3 p.m. of the wedding of Miss Barbara Lee Morrissey and James Walter Wolcott III.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lawrence Morrissey, 3308 Tudor Court, Virginia Beach. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Walter Wolcott Jr., 700 24th Street, Virginia Beach.

The nuptial rites were performed by the Rev. Francis V. Bambrick.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length sheath gown of tuckered peau de soie with a shoulder-length veil of French illusion. She carried a semi-crescent bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Margaret Paula Morrissey, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Jacqueline Inna Wolcott, sister of the groom, Miss Mary Ann Lovett of Long Island, N.Y., cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Carol Finer Grove of Virginia Beach.

The bridesmaids wore full length gowns with pale pink bodices and white bell-shaped skirts and carried cascade bouquets of pink carnations. The maid of honor wore blue and white and carried white carnations.

Nicholas Michaels of Virginia Beach was best man. Ushers were John E. McCombs, Frederick Derring and Jerry Goff, all of Virginia Beach.

The couple will make their home at the Mayflower Apartments, Virginia Beach.

Mrs. James Walter Wolcott III (Beice Photo)

MRS. OLIVER WILL RESIGN HD POST

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mrs. Lucy S. Oliver, whose informative feature TEEN TOPICS has appeared each week in the Sun-News, will resign her position as Assistant Home Demonstration Agent.

Mrs. Oliver's resignation will be effective July 15. She has held the position since July 1, 1963.

Mrs. Oliver said "I'm leaving to be a full time homemaker. When I married last September, I promised to stay on another year."

She and her husband hope to buy a farm.

MRS. DENNIS IS V.F.W. PRESIDENT

Mrs. Claude Dennis was recently installed as president of Ladies' Auxiliary V.F.W. Dept. of Virginia in Winchester. Other officers installed from the Tidewater area were Mrs. Jack Haddaway, Dept. Sr. Vice president, Mrs. Christine T. W. Dept. Treasurer, Mrs. Gladys Russell, District president and Mrs. Earl Garrett Dept. color bearer. Mrs. Mildred Emanuelson, National Patriotic Instructor, installed the officers.

CLUB PRESIDENTS TO BE HONORED

PLAZA — Both the incoming and outgoing president of various garden clubs throughout the city will be entertained at a luncheon today at noon at Bow Creek Inn.

The guests of honor will represent clubs belonging to the Council of Garden Clubs of Virginia Beach which is sponsoring the luncheon.

The Council's board of directors will also be honored at the luncheon.

Suggestions For Safe Operation Of Boats

- Do not overload your boat.
- Do not leave shore in a leaky or poorly constructed boat.
- Liquor and safe boating do not mix.
- Observe the pilot rules.
- Instruct at least one member of the crew in the rudiments of handling the boat should you become disabled.
- Use caution choosing equipment and supplies.
- Familiarize yourself with the locale you're boating in.
- Have life preservers handy and wear them when conditions warrant.
- Check weather and tides before going out and have due regard for them.
- Have adequate water filter.
- Do not use gasoline stoves.
- Do not operate near swimmers in the water.
- Don't use kapok-filled life preservers to sit on.
- Do not fail to provide life-belts for children.
- Do not forget your wake can damage others.
- Do not fail to reduce speed through anchorage areas.
- Check all electrical equipment and fuel tanks.
- Do not lie at anchor with short cable; allow sufficient scope.

READ AND HEED

Water is a good friend but a deadly enemy
Follow these safety rules

1. Learn to swim. You can't think of a better sport to save your life.
2. Never swim alone. Make sure someone is nearby who can help.
3. Swim at a safe bathing place, preferably one with life guards.
4. Don't swim when overheated, overtired, or right after eating.
5. Before diving make sure the water is deep enough and has no hidden objects.
6. Know your ability. Distance over water is misleading.
7. Take a boat along for distance swimming in open water.
8. Be courteous. Consider the safety of others.
9. Beware of sunburn, even on a cloudy day. Take it easy.
10. Learn safe handling and self-rescue before going out in boats.
11. Stay with your boat or canoe. Most small craft will float when upset.
12. In case of a drowning, start artificial respiration at once.

Strange Wins State Open Golf

GOLF—SPORTS

VIRGINIA BEACH — Dependable Tom Strange, the affable Bow Creek professional, successfully defended his State Open golf title Sunday as he made a strong surge on the final few holes to beat out Herb Hooper by a single stroke. Strange's winning 72-hole total was 281 over the picturesque Cavalier Golf and Yacht Club course.

The final round was a thriller Sunday as it appeared Hooper all but had the title wrapped up. He led Strange by six strokes with seven holes to play. The defending champion made his move by sinking a birdie putt at the 12th hole and Hooper's game started coming apart at the seams.
Hooper played the final seven holes in five over par while Strange played the same holes in two under par. That pretty much told the story of the final 18 holes. The win was worth some $900 to Strange and Hooper collected $512.

The tournament was well organized and Cavalier officials are to be congratulated. The course was in excellent condition and only difficult pin placements prevented sub-par scoring.

The event proved somewhat of a nightmare to the rules committee. There were numerous incidents whereby rulings had to be made. Most noteworthy was the one involving Wynsol Spencer, the Ft. Eustis pro, whose ball struck the cup and pin at the 9th hole during the third round while a caddy pulled the flag stick the cup came out with it and Spencer birdie putt struck the cup. This cost him two strokes. Spencer finished third behind Strange and Hooper.

The low amateur prize resulted in a tie at 286 between Hampton's Wayne Jackson and young Mike Wynn, of Portsmouth.

National Safe Boating Week

National Safe Boating Week, proclaimed by President Lyndon B. Johnson for June 28 - July 4, pays tribute to those who have continued to keep boating safe.

In his proclamation of the 1964 observance, President Johnson notes that "the education of the boating public in safe practices contributes to the enjoyment of the sport and reduces the likelihood of accidents."

Even though recreational boating has become the nation's number one family sport, there has not been an alarming rise in boating accidents.

A major reason for the favorable trend in Virginia is the continuous education in the sport by your Game Commission, Coast Guard Auxiliary, U. S. Power Squadrons and other interested groups.

The boating public is asked to observe Safe Boating Week by paying particular attention to the observance of safety rules and regulations, and by making a mid-summer check of all boating safety equipment and devices. Have an approved life-saving device in good condition for each person on board. Have proper lights, and if required, a fire extinguisher and sounding device, all in good working order.

Use common sense and courtesy while you are on the water, and let the safety precautions you take during National Safe Boating Week become a safety habit that you will follow all the rest of your boating career.

Remember the life you save may be your own.

Double Winner

BETTY CURLING BIG HORSE SHOW HIT

VIRGINIA BEACH — The boys took a back seat Sunday in the first annual Virginia Beach Horse Show as Betty Curling, of Virginia Beach, was awarded two blue ribbons.

The mount, owned by J. R. Coltrane of Norfolk, won in the Ladies' Western Pleasure Horse and Reining Stake classes, while Miss Coltrane was awarded a first in the Children's Western Equitation Division.

Riding Stoney, her big buckskin grey, the Virginia Beach teenager beat out a field of male riders in the second of two scheduled quarter horse races held on the Aldo Farms show site.

She fractured male egos earlier by winning the barrel race championship in record time.

The biggest winners in the western division of the two-day horse show were Maxine Butch and her rider, Chris Coltrane, who teamed up to take home three first place ribbons.

Another big winner was Fanny, owned by Pineridge Stables of Virginia Beach, who won two firsts, a second, two thirds and a fourth place. Ponderosa, owned by W. B. Peebles of Virginia Beach and ridden by Nancy Von Elm, took home two first place ribbons.

The two quarter horse races around a dusty quarter-mile track, put a lively finish to the show. The first race (for registered horses) was won by Happy Mayo. The unregistered race was Miss Curling's all the way.

Local Pistol Expert Enters Maryland Meet

VIRGINIA BEACH — Master Sergeant Walter Wetherton of Virginia Beach is among a team of 16 reservists representing the Army in the 25th Annual Maryland State Pistol and Revolver Championships underway at Sparrows Point, Md.

The men are firing in matches for the .45 calibre pistol, centre fire pistols and revolvers, and for .22 calibre pistols and revolvers during the three day Championship.

Firing includes slow fire, timed fire, and rapid fire. In addition, the men will fire the National Match Course and an aggregate championship of all the previous individual and team matches. The final day, the XXII U.S. Army Corps team will shoot in the State of Maryland Grand Aggregate Championship and in the National Rifle Association's International Shooting Fund Aggregate.

The matches are being fired over the Sparrows Point Police Department Range, with members of the Police Department and officials of the National Rifle Association supervising.

KEARNEY SCORES BOW CREEK ACE

VIRGINIA BEACH — Bob Kearney scored his first hole-in-one Saturday at Bow Creek with an eight iron shot on the par-three 137-yard 18th hole. The witness was Ed Gray.

Morris Casey (83-43-70) and Burt Nusbauer (77-73-70) were blind bogey winners.

EDITORIAL SPEAKING

The Sea Commands Respect

Although the summer season here is just getting underway and Mother Nature has been most kind with perfect beach weather, it is regrettable that so many lives have been lost to the sea through an unusual number of drownings.

It seems that the whole Tidewater area this year has been hard hit by drownings for one reason or another. In most cases it might be attributed to carelessness on the part of the victim. Far too many persons seem to regard swimming and the rules of safety too lightly.

Certainly here in Virginia Beach the lifeguard patrol has an enviable safety record through the years. Many seasons have come and gone without a single drowning and this is a tribute to the experienced lifeguard patrol here.

The lifeguard system here is a good one.

The young men who patrol the beachfront are well trained and usually if their advice is accepted by the public there will be no mishaps. Whenever the sea is rough the lifeguards warn the public of the danger. They are constantly warning the swimmer not to go out too far in the ocean. They take their jobs seriously and indeed they should. We believe the Virginia Beach lifeguard patrol is second to none among the nation's beaches.

It is our opinion that drownings in most cases are the fault of the individual swimmer. We believe that visitors, not accustomed to the ocean, lack a healthy respect for the surf. The sea commands respect and if the average bather would realize this there would be less unfortunate incidents of the sea.

NEWS REPORT FROM THE UNIVERSITY

TROUBLE IN SOVIET RUSSIA

The economy of the Soviet Union is passing through a time of troubles reports Dr. Warren G. Nutter, chairman of the department of economics at the University of Virginia. The American public is gradually becoming aware that many conditions in the Soviet economy are the reverse of what they were widely reported as being only a short time ago, he says in an article in a recent University of Virginia Alumni News issue. This is not due to any sudden change, but to more accurate reporting of the situation.

Dr. Nutter's "Growth of Industrial Production in the Soviet Union," published in 1962 by the Princeton University Press for the National Bureau of Economic Research, attracted world-wide attention for its premise that Russian economic development has been slower than many Western economists have maintained.

Here are some of Dr. Nutter's points:

Having secured a great propaganda victory with the first Sputnik, Soviet leaders pressed ahead in 1958 and 1959 with a massive expansion in the output of military and space products, shifting many resources from investment and other uses.

In the initial phase of this buildup, Khrushchev might have believed he could borrow resources from agriculture without serious consequences.

In 1958, the Soviet Union had the most bountiful harvest of the century, but unfavorable weather in succeeding years, and general inefficiency of the agricultural system, brought about a crisis culminating in the disastrous failure of the wheat crop last year.

As agricultural difficulties mounted, the Soviet leadership reversed the cutback in agricultural investment and the overall industrial growth rate now had to suffer. Growth in output fell sharply in the case of food and clothing and came to a virtual halt in the case of consumer durables.

The problems of the Soviet economy are traceable to the inflexibility and obsolete methods of economic organization, and it has grown weary in the race for sheer growth. Soviet industry has a long way to go before it could equal the United States in production and it is making headway more and more slowly.

The Soviet Union claims that its industrial production is 65 per cent of that of the United States, while Western analysts claim that it is about 50 per cent. Dr. Nutter says that it is more like 33 per cent.

On the other hand, he says, military and space products are probably at least 80 per cent of the United States.

"Therein lies the dilemma confronting the Soviet leadership, whose major goal is still, as always, to enhance Soviet power," Dr. Nutter says.

"In the past, Soviet leaders have resolved many problems by simply squeezing the consumer, but to the man in the street promises of future glory and paradise have ceased to be acceptable substitutes for 'more now.' His demands could only be curbed by a true reign of terror which is no longer as safe as it used to be. Therefore this way no longer seems open."

Soviet leaders are seeking a new resolution to their problems in a detente with the west, preferably accompanied by economic aid. Dr. Nutter maintains. This would allow them to divert resources from strengthening power now to strengthening it over the long pull.

OF INTEREST TO VETERANS

(By Thomas A. Moore, Area Director, Division of War Veterans' Claims, Commonwealth of Virginia, Suite 218, Professional Arts Building, Norfolk, Virginia, at 142 West York Street.)

Memorial Day brings to mind that America has lost a total of 1,189,000 wartime dead. The Civil War was the most costly. Union deaths totaled 364,000, and Confederate dead were more than 200,000.

There were about 4,000 deaths in the Revolutionary War and 2,000 deaths in the War of 1812. In the Mexican War of 1846-48 there were 13,000 deaths in service, and 1,000 Americans died in the various Indian Wars between 1880 and 1890. Deaths in the Spanish-American War totaled 11,000.

World War I deaths from service were 131,000, and there were 409,000 deaths from service in World War II.

The Korean Conflict caused 54,000 deaths in service.

More than 300,000 widows and children of veterans who died from service-connected causes are now receiving compensation payments from the Veterans Administration.

Please visit my office on any claims or problems regarding benefits for veterans and their survivors.

Repairs Make Progress

Road repairs were made on Kellam Road, between Aragona and Pembroke, this week. Work is now being done in Kempsville. This re-surfacing is a part of the city-wide road improvement program started last month. (Staff photo by Hardy)

IT NEVER FAILS

At Beach

FOUR GIRLS LIVING LOG CABIN STYLE

VIRGINIA BEACH—There are two real log cabins near the beach—not that you'll see the likes of Abe Lincoln in either. But the one on 81st St. is the one of real interest.

Inside live four girls not long out of college. Three teach. The fourth is employed by Seaboard Citizens Bank.

Since 1961, girls from Longwood College have been living in the cabin, but it's now being taken over by graduates from William and Mary.

The log cabin was first built as the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Link. "Mrs. Link was an artist," said Mrs. Mason W. Johnson who handles the rental of the cabin. "She designed the cabin herself."

After Mr. Link died, the cabin was rented.

"The first couple to live there was a young couple I rented the cabin to about 25 or more years ago," said Mrs. Johnson.

"They saw two homes for rent on the same street. One had heat and I felt sure they'd choose that one. But they chose the unheated log cabin. The wife was an artist and was quite happy to face the cold weather with only the one huge fireplace in the living room."

"This couple, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Walker, Jr., lived there for about 10 years. When they moved in, they had no children. When they left they had two. Now they live in Spain."

"Mrs. Walker is considered quite a good artist now," said Mrs. Johnson. "Years ago I remember seeing her going out early in the mornings with a bandana around her head, an old satchel, and her easel. She'd be gone for hours and hours sketching and painting the ocean and park scenes."

When the cabin was built, Mrs. Link wanted to save a large tree. To do this, she had to build the porch around the tree. As the years passed on, moisture from rain forced her to have the tree cut down.

Living in the log cabin now

Hypertension Not Feared As Much Today

NORFOLK—So much has been learned in recent years about how to treat high blood pressure that the outlook for people with hypertension is now more favorable than ever before, Tidewater Heart Association says.

One measure of this progress: From 1950 to 1962, the death rate from hypertension (high blood pressure) and heart disease associated with it dropped more than 55 percent among women 45 to 64 years old and almost 50 percent among men in the same age bracket.

A booklet entitled "High Blood Pressure," available from Tidewater Heart Association, explains what is known today about high blood pressure—a condition affecting at least 5,000,000 Americans—and stresses how the patient can help his doctor treat him most effectively.

The booklet warns against trying to decide for yourself whether you have high blood pressure or not. It also warns against being overly concerned about the numbers the doctor writes down to record the height of your blood pressure.

More important than the numbers as such is how well the patient's heart and arteries stand up to an elevated blood pressure. For this reason, the doctor will want to see patients with high blood pressure at regular intervals. Some people, especially women, seem better able to withstand high blood pressure than others.

The booklet dispels the common misconception that hypertension inevitably leads to a stroke or blood vessel damage in the brain. Serious strokes do occur in a small percentage of persons with hypertension, but they also occur in persons with normal pressure.

For a free copy of the booklet, "High Blood Pressure," write to Tidewater Heart Association, 702 Duke Street, Norfolk 10, Virginia.

NORRAN L. GODLEY

VIRGINIA BEACH—Norrnan L. Godley, 49, of 4629 Princess Anne Road, son of Mrs. Sheila Williams Godley Bishop and the late Norban Lee Godley Sr., died in a Norfolk hospital Thursday at 3:10 p.m.

A native of Bath, N.C., he lived in the Norfolk-Virginia Beach area 30 years.

Besides his parents, surviving are maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Hutchins Jr. of Woodbridge; and paternal grandmother, Mrs. Marjorie Wallace of West Virginia.

The body was taken from Hollomon-Brown Funeral Home to Forest Lawn Cemetery for a funeral service Saturday at 3 p.m.

MOSES L. CHAMBLEE

ARAGONA—Moses Langley Chamblee, 64, of 913 Cunningham Road, Aragona Village, manager of Colonial Avenue Foods, died in a Norfolk hospital Saturday at 9:45 a.m.

He was the husband of Mrs. Lillian Vaughan Chamblee and son of James H. and Mrs. Annie Dillard Chamblee.

A native of Hertford County, N.C., he had been living in the Norfolk-Virginia Beach area for 33 years. He was a member of First Baptist Church, Ahoskie.

Besides his wife, he is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Maye Merritt and Mrs. Gwendolyn Fay Rountree of Virginia Beach, and Mrs. Ruth Lillian Vaughan of Norfolk; a son, Larry Thurman Chamblee of Virginia Beach; two sisters, Miss Eunice Chamblee of Virginia Beach and Mrs. Mary Hughson of Colerain, N.C.; four brothers, J. J. Chamblee and J. L. Chamblee of Aulander, N.C., and W. T. Chamblee of Cofield, N.C.; 12 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

A funeral service will be held in Hollomon-Brown Funeral Home today at 2 p.m. by the Rev. B. G. Campbell Jr. of Westwood Hill Baptist Church. Burial will be in Rosewood Memorial Park.

ORION H. BARNES

LYNNWOOD—Orion H. Barnes, 65, of 1220 Sycamore Road, Lynnwood, husband of Mrs. Julia Skipper Barnes and son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Barnes, died in a Norfolk hospital Friday at 4:40 a.m.

A native of Southampton County, he lived in the Norfolk-Virginia Beach area 44 years. He was a member of Virginia Beach Community Chapel and retired from the Norfolk & Western Railway in 1963.

Besides his widow, he is sur-

LT. ROBERT M. ROBINSON

VIRGINIA BEACH—A memorial service for Navy Lt. Robert Merle Robinson of 413 Patton Lane, Birchwood Gardens, killed Wednesday when his jet plane crashed at Seateack, was held Friday at 3 p.m. in Eastern Shore Chapel.

In lieu of flowers, the family suggests contributions to St. Aidan Episcopal Church, 3046 Bray Road, King's Grant. Burial was Monday at 1 p.m. in Arlington National Cemetery with full military honors.

REFINISHING DOORS
The ravages of time, heat, and children will eventually call for refinishing of the doors in your home. With a little patience and a power sander you can do a highly professional job.

boxes and be sure to pad the contact points so you don't put new scratches on it.

Use your power sander with a medium grit paper to remove the old finish. When the bare wood begins to show switch to a fine grit. Always sand with the grain and don't go down any further than is absolutely necessary to remove scratches and nicks.

Remove all dust and powder with a damp cloth or vacuum cleaner. Then apply a regular wood filler or sealer. Sand again with a fine grain and remove powder residue.

If a specific color is desired apply a stain varnish of your choice. For natural wood tones use clear varnish. Remember to use a heavier exterior varnish for doors which face the weather.

When you have waited recommended drying time turn to hand sanding. This time gently sand with an extra fine grit. Remove residue and apply a second coat of varnish. When this has dried rub with a fine steel wool to remove dust and other fine particles.

Thor Tip — When rehanging door all the hinges for smoother operation.
